

Three years ago the College adopted the "by-laws and regulations for the management of student publications" by which elections are governed. This provides that the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager be elected by the student body from candidates nominated by a committee composed of one representative from each organized class, one representative from the retiring staff and a committee of five from the faculty. This year the members who are elected will work with the present staff for the last five issues in order to become accustomed to the nature of the work of the publication so that they will be able to assume their full duties at the opening of the next school year.

The committee will meet for the nomination of candidates the first of next week and the candidates will be announced in the following issues of the "Collegian." Election will be held at Chapel time the last week in April as provided for in the by-laws.

The by-laws and regulations are reprinted here so that students can refresh their minds and vote intelligently for the candidates at the election.

Good Services At Pleasant Hill

Nine Conversions and Many Reconsecrations Received By Gospel Team

Eight days of Ashland College Gospel Team Evangelistic services, resulting in nine conversions and many reconsecrations were held at the First Brethren Church of Pleasant Hill, Ohio, beginning March 24 and ending April 1. The members of the team were Florizel Pfeleiderer, captain, Claypool, Indiana; Homer A. Kent, Long Beach, California; Herman Koontz, Waynesboro, Pennsylvania; Chas. W. Mayes, Sullivan, Ohio.

The first service on Saturday night was introductory in its nature. All the members of the company gave short talks. The crowds, although small at the beginning of the week increased until the last service, which was a community feature just previous to the Easter Cantata and which was held at the Christian church, numbered nearly six hundred.

After the first evening some particular member of the team brought the message at each service.

At High School Chapel

Wednesday morning the Chapel service at the High School was conducted by the Gospel Team. Each member took a part. Supt. Bohner expressed his gratitude to the Team for spending the morning at the High School.

COPPERS CATCH CO-EDS?—ALMOST

Days of dainty damsels are fraught with terror.

Recently two fairest co-eds departed for a downtown movie palace. Previous to their departure they had regaled themselves as sisters, buffed their noses, applied the lip stick, penciled their eyebrows, rouged their chubby cheeks and with borrowed clothes and dainty aplomb sauntered forth in search of romantic recreation via the cinema.

The play was supreme. They ambled from the portals of the palace with the surpassing joy of springtime in their hearts, anticipating an unadventurous return to their abode. Imagine their surprise when confronted by a blue-coated, brass-buttoned pillar of the law who gruffly interrogated them as to their identity. Consternation reigned. Horrid visions of judges, iron bars and stern sentences passed in jumbled revue through their bewildered intelligences. The co-eds became desperate, frantic. Persuasion, pleas, indignation and tears proved of no avail. The officer was obdurate. But ah! Succor came into sight when a fellow student was perceived. He was hailed and charged with proving the identity of the damsels. Explanations were hastily made, apologies more hastily received and the inebriated ones scurried Dormward.

The Ashland police had been notified that two young sisters had surreptitiously left their home in a nearby city and were on the lookout for the absent ones. The ticket seller had informed the police that two answering to their description were within.

College Debaters Ready for Contest

Affirmative Will Compete With Findlay Here Next Week—

Ashland debaters will be in readiness in plenty of time for the triangular debate which will be staged with Findlay and Bluffton Colleges on next Friday, April 13.

Intensive preparation has been going on in the five weeks since the contracts were entered into. Most of the men who are to speak have speeches in readiness and in the hands of the coach, Dr. L. L. Garber. Work on the arguments for refutation has also been begun by both the affirmative and negative teams.

The affirmative team will compete with Findlay here and the negative squad will go to Defiance. The question which will be argued is as follows: "The United States should cancel the war debt to the extent that the Allies cancel the debt of the Central Powers."

ANNUAL STAFF REPORTS GOOD PROGRESS ON PINE WHISPERS

Cuts Received and Material Gathered for New Year Book

Recent reports from the Annual Staff show that the 1923 edition of "Pine Whispers" is rapidly working into shape. The general plan and outline of the book is complete. Orders have been placed for the covers and paper. The cover this year is to be a special design similar to the one that appeared last year.

One special feature is the number of unique cartoons which will be printed. These are expected to add to the general appeal of the year book.

The advertising contracts have all been sold and copy has been turned over to the printer. The subscription price this year is three dollars which is paid in two installments. One-half when the order is taken and the remainder when the annual is delivered. Students have been solicited in the past two weeks and a response of nearly one hundred percent has been reported. All pictures have been taken except a few views of the campus that will be taken as soon as the weather permits. Nearly all of the cuts have been received from the engraver.

The Brethren Publishing Company of this city is doing the work of printing.

was awarded merely upon the basis of first choices. The balloting will take place at Chapel time on next Friday, April 13. Former students who have been honored by selection as May Queen are not allowed to be considered as contenders for the honor this year.

Campus Setting for Pageant

The front campus forms a natural and ideal setting for the pageant. The broad expanse of the green lawn and the trees lend a natural atmosphere to the festivities of the day. The ceremonies, ending with the May pole dance and the crowning of the Queen, are impressive and conform to the season of the year.

Spectators are grouped around a square in which the ceremonies are held. Large attendance in the past has proved the success of the annual pageant.

MRS. W. L. KERSHAW ADDRESSES Y. W. THIS WEEK

Hopeful Notes Given By Wife Of Sec. Of Ashland Y. M. C. A.

Using "God's Plan and Ours" as her topic, Mrs. Kershaw spoke to the Y. W. girls in their meeting which was held in Philo Hall, Tuesday evening, April 3.

She showed how God's plan oftentimes seems harsh to us, but if we make God's will our will we can have what we want. Using Joseph as an example, she pointed out that he had prospects of having his every whim satisfied since he was his father's favorite son, but we recall the trials which he underwent. Through these trials, however, he kept his human sympathy. Love and faith in God during all of his troubles helped him to translate Pharaoh's dream and thus become great. She said, "If we bear our disappointments bravely, God will help us." There are some days when everything that we do seems to be wrong. But these are only tests. The successful man is the one who has taken the most bumps. She closed by saying, "Great efforts yield great success. God, with our co-operation, will point out the plan he has for us and will aid us in the carrying out of this plan."

Miss Nellie Dively lead the devotionals and Miss Virginia Haun favored the girls with a vocal solo.

Bill Smith, a country shopkeeper, went to the city to buy goods.

They were sent immediately, and reached home before he did. When the boxes were delivered, Mrs. Smith, who was keeping the shop, uttered a scream, seized a hatchet, and began frantically to open the largest one. "What's the matter, Sarah?" asked one of the bystanders who had watched her in amazement. Pale and faint, Mrs. Smith pointed to an inscription on the box. It read: "Bill inside."
