

PHILOMATHEAN

Philomathean will re-open activities this week after their suspension during the Thanksgiving vacation. The program for this Friday night is not yet complete but further numbers are to be added.

The society is planning a further extension of activities embracing more branches of the art literary. A number of debates will appear on subsequent programs. The program for this week will be:

Owls Quartette

Argumentation Milton Puterbaugh
Playette.

HESPERIAN

Hesperian, this week will take the form of a debate with Koontz and Kinzie defending the right of Mongolian immigration while Ullom and Presnell will talk for the prohibition of such immigration. This is the first of a series of debates which will take place in the society during the year. The debates will be mostly on the popular topics of the day as the interest increases. If all plans carry, the program for next week will be a short play. However, these plans have not materialized sufficiently as yet to assure this dramatic display.

Musical numbers this week are:

Vocal Solo Miss Crofford

Piano Solo Miss Heppard

REV. BAER TO PREACH SUNDAY

Church services next Sunday morning will be addressed by Rev. George S. Baer.

Y. W. HOLDS TEA

A Thanksgiving tea Tuesday afternoon, November 28, was given in place of the usual meeting in the evening.

Under the leadership of "Katie" Teeter the meeting took the form of an Episcopal church service, songs supplanting the usual talk. Several vocal numbers were given.

Tea and wafers were served to the girls before they disbanded. Memory book items in the form of cards resembling turkeys with the name on it were given to the girls for remembrances. About 30 girls were present.

Basketball Hopes Mount High

Wood who hails from the Hoosier state is a strong contender for the pivot position. Al is a player who has no end of endurance and should be heard from somewhere along the line.

Among other candidates who put in a strong bid for a position on the varsity squad are Miller, Rupert, Smith, Hastings. Miller is a player with good form and ability who is capable of playing either guard or forward. Rupert is a good guard and formed stiff opposition for the forwards against whom he played last year. Smith and Hastings are old team mates and both developed much last season. Smith is a forward and Hastings operates at the pivot job.

Other men who were present at the first practice were Hunter, Dilgard, Thudium and Lower.

At Tuesday night's practice Coach Murray put the squad through more drills on the fundamentals and tried a new formation which may be adopted.

GOSPEL TEAMS HOLD SUCCESSFUL SERVICES

Teams Visit Canton, Bowling Green & Sullivan

Two Gospel Teams under the direction of the Extension Department of the Y. M. C. A. returning from fruitful trips to the Canton Brethren church and the Bowling Green Congregational church report inestimable success. The teams were out five days.

Results Remarkable

The team to Bowling Green was made up of four men, George Pontius, Homer Kent, Herman Koontz and Harold McAdoo, besides the regular pastor, George Walton, who is a student at Ashland College. The results of this team are remarkable. Besides making a name for Ashland College, the team reports seven accessions to the Christian Faith besides one re-consecration for full-time Christian life service. The men were extended a hearty invitation to return again to Bowling Green. It is said that the efforts of the men to make the Gospel of Jesus Christ more real and more thoroughly inculcated in the hearts of the people of Bowling Green was appreciated beyond words.

Canton Team Also Welcomed

Four men, Florizel Pfeiderer, captain; Leslie Lindower, Orville Ullom and Chas. Mayes represented Ashland College on the team at the Brethren church at Canton, Ohio. Fred C. Vanator, a graduate of Ashland College in the class of 1920, is now successfully holding this pastorate.

This team also received a royal welcome. The men returned realizing still more the importance of such service. The services were held in the church until Sunday night when they were conducted at the Union Mission where John Derrick is superintendent. This was the climax of the trip. After a rousing song service, enjoyed by two hundred and fifty people, Captain Pfeiderer brought the message on the subject, "What Will You Do With Jesus?" at the close of which five people manifested themselves as being seekers after the light.

Gospel Team at Sullivan

The week-end of November 24-25-26, the Gospel Team made up of Florizel Pfeiderer, captain; George Pontius, Thomas Presnell, Leslie Lindower and Hubert Hammond held services in Sullivan, Ohio. The community was much impressed with the young men who are always free to assert themselves for Christianity. This is the second team to go to Sullivan from Ashland College. The community was pleased with the meetings throughout and realized the value of entertaining these consecrated young men who so creditably sowed good
