

Dr. Martin Shively on "Devotion and Service"

Dr. Martin Shively, addressing the student body in Chapel Tuesday morning stressed the value of appreciation for the less tangible and more spiritual parts of the human personality.

Dr. Shively told the story of a doctor who died a few months ago and who a whole city honored. This man had lost his only child and had from that time forward given himself to the services of other children.

When the news was spread that he was seriously ill throngs of people visited the hospital and offered their all for his recovery. Dr. Shively then compared this man's devotion to humanity to that of the Savior and expressed the truth of overwhelming goodness as against selfishness.

People of all religions and races attended the funeral of this great man and revered him for his devotion and goodness.

Father: "I've told you time and again not to see that young man, and now for the last time I tell you not to have anything to do with him."

She (sobbing): "Oh, father, I want Jack, I do want Jack."

Father: "All right. Here's a hundred dollars, but remember what I said."

Prof.: "Can you suggest any means whereby I can improve my lectures?"

Voice from Rear: "Have you tried selling them as lullabys?"

Chapel Talk by Prof. Wolford

The necessity of a oneness in the lives of men was asserted by Prof. Wolford in a brief Chapel address Monday morning, January 22.

World fellowship must be the ultimate aim of humanity today. That ideal thru Christianity is the remedy which remains still untried. The binding of men together in a lasting tie must be thru Christianity.

Humanity has tried war, commercial enterprise, industry, parliaments of men and a multiplicity of other means that have failed.

It has been said that it is within the power of the United States to shape the destiny of the nations in a world fellowship but this is doubtful. The tremendous task can be accomplished only with the combined efforts of the thinking peoples of all nations thru Christianity when it is linked with the power of God. "The world will then know that oneness even as the prayer of Jesus comes to pass and all peoples become unified as Christ and the Father are one."

Prof. (during quizz to student with book open): "Do you generally have your book open during examinations, sir?"

Student (taken unawares): "Yes, sir, I generally try to."

During the grammar lesson:

Teacher: "Now take this sentence for example—'Let the cow out of the lot.'—What mood?"

"The cow."

Remove the Cause--and You Remove the Effect

For years others have been treating the effect of your troubles instead of adjusting the cause of disease.

The Science of Chiropractic disregards the effect and locates the cause and adjusts it.

Many take all kinds of drugs trying to cure some human ailment, but merely get temporary relief, when a Chiropractic would immediately remove the cause for time and all.
