

in the early part of the season.

This game should also present to the fans the very best that both teams have to offer of their basketball wares. Baldwin-Wallace has two forwards that will bear watching in Robinson and Tubbsing and Ashland boasts the best offense that has been developed so far.

Y. M. HOLDS ANNUAL SOCIAL IN GYMNASIUM

Games and Good Time Indulged in by Guests

Once in every man's life there comes opportunity. Tuesday night, February 6, 1923 some college men missed the opportunity of their life. Mr. Cashman and Mr. Petit had charge of the annual Y. M. C. A. social. The meeting was held in the gymnasium where there was plenty of room for the games which were part of the entertainment. It was nine o'clock before anybody thought of the time, simply because everybody was having too much fun to look at a watch. Most of the games took the form of contests. Among them were: eating blackberry pie, drinking milk in the infant style and getting apples out of a tub of water in record time. After everybody had taken part in the games, and were to some extent in need of a rest, refreshments were served, consisting of cocoa, cakes and apples, all you could eat. A short devotional service was then held and the President, Mr. Barnard, gave a few remarks. President Jacobs then addressed the men and Prof. Wolford closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Jacobs Speaks On "Building A Home"

At Y. W. C. A. Meeting of This Week

Mrs. E. E. Jacobs gave an interesting talk to about 40 girls last Tuesday evening. Her topic was "Building a Home." "First of all, a girl must be prompted by self betterment and companionship of fellowmen before considering marriage," she said. She pictured the foundation of the house as companionship, the 4 walls as health, and happiness; thrift and prosperity; conscientiousness and neatness; and Godliness and intellectual attitude. The thing that blends these together, or the roof, is the children. "A house can be built in a short time but it takes a lifetime to build a home" she said. She closed her talk by reading the famous poem of Edgar Guest, "It Takes a Heap of Living in a House to Make It Home."

Miss Ida Weaver led the devotions and read. Miss Ethyl Johns sang a vocal solo.

Chapel Tuesday morning Dr. Charles A. Bame declared that, "Stalwart, unflinching leadership is needed now more than ever before and will have more demands upon it in the future than the present demands."

Dr. Bame was here for a conference relative to the Forward Movement for Ashland College and accepted the opportunity to address the student body in Chapel. Dr. Bame is a forceful speaker and carries the conviction of sincerity with his speech.

The speaker frequently broke off from his narrative to illustrate his points with stories and anecdotes. He reviewed the present world situation with regard to Europe and America and challenged his hearers to prepare themselves for the opportunities of leadership which are to be their heritage.

"The United States chooses brainy men, spiritual men, men who believe in the message of the great Book. The United States dug the grave of autocracy, gave her women the right to vote, buried John Barleycorn and then what occurred? America became drunk with money and power. For the first time in the history of America we have had time to play. We have inaugurated the eight-hour day. What does it mean? It means that a man now works eight hours, sleeps eight hours and plays eight hours."

"Two of the greatest industries in this country are devoted to play. The movie is one and the automobile industry is the other. Altho fifty percent of our automobiles are used for commercial purposes the fact remains that the remaining fifty percent are used for pleasure alone. People prefer riding in an automobile to going to church."

The speaker further warned of the dangers of the dance and stated that cards and the Bible were incompatible and could never exist together. "If you have a deck of cards and the Bible together throw one or the other away. They are opposites and cannot flourish together."

In conclusion Dr. Bame said that the pleasures of America must be sanctified if this nation is to continue to exist. "Nations dig their own graves with swords of pleasure as their tools. If our beloved America is to have balance we must learn to co-ordinate our pleasures with work and religion. The task lies with Youth. Will you be equal to the task?"

STUDENTS ATTEND CONCERT OF BALDWIN-WALLACE GLEE CLUB

A number of students attended the concert of the Men's Glee Club of Baldwin-Wallace College which was given here Monday evening at the High School auditorium.

I'll never give up,"—but she did!

furnace for school the next day and classes were forced to be suspended.

The furnace is so constructed that the break in about the middle of the machine necessitated the tearing down and rebuilding of nearly one-half of the boiler. To get to the defalcation, it was necessary to move ten sections of iron which weigh considerably over a half ton each. The task of refitting these sections after the leak was repaired was one which demanded much patience and skill. Each section had to be so perfectly fitted to the adjacent section so that not the slightest amount of water could seep through between them. Some of the sections required chipping with a chisel to make them fit snugly. The task of tearing down and rebuilding the new furnace which was started upon the discovery of this leak, was a still more tedious task.

Once when the entire boiler was finished, a fresh leak was discovered and several sections had to be drawn away to repair the perforation.

Three men were busy about 25 hours in placing the plant in working condition. In spite of their efforts, classes had to be suspended during the last two days of the week. Whether or not, these lost classes will have to be made up is still a matter of conjecture as no definite announcement has as yet been made.

such as the team conducts everywhere they go will be the big feature of the evening. George Walton will bring the message and appeal of the evening. The subject will be "Life's Challenge." Mr. Walton is one of the most promising preachers of the seminary. Leslie Lindower will preside at the piano and Charles Mayes will lead the singing.

The team has several definite dates and several that are indefinite. Over the Easter vacation several teams will be out and at considerable distance from here. Among the churches which will be visited in the next few months are Sterling, Smithville, Fostoria, Oakville, Indiana, Pleasant Hill, Springfield Center, and Homerville. Plans are under way at this time whereby a team will make during June and July a six weeks' tour of the Brethren churches in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia. This will be a big advertisement for the College and will doubtless be the means of bringing many students to Ashland from these districts.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA MAKES MUSIC AT GAGE CONTESTS

Hard Work Done by Members Results In Good Music

The past few weeks have witnessed decided progress in the musical line at Ashland College. During that time, the orchestra which has been under constant drill for some time, has been furnishing music at the basketball games. Their work has been chiefly confined to this because of the numerous other activities which are demanding a portion of every student's time.

The idea of a band is being sponsored and the arrival of a tuba which has been purchased by the college, assures us that martial airs will soon float across the campus. Other horns and necessary instruments will arrive in due time and progress will be made in this line.

This is the first time that Ashland has had both an orchestra and a band which can be truly claimed as her own.

DORM GETS MORE USEFUL GIFTS

The Girls' Dormitory has received some more splendid gifts from the same two friends of the College whose gifts were mentioned in these columns last week.

Mrs. U. J. Shively and Mrs. P. A. Early of Nappanee, Indiana, for the second time have come forward with valuable additions to the equipment of the Dormitory.

This time the gift consists of sixteen table napkins, two comforters and a centerpiece for the reception room at the Dormitory.

These donations are certainly appreciated by those residing at the Dorm and the girls are expressing their gratitude and pleasure at the spirit manifested by these two friends of Ashland.

spectators as well. Charles Weber made his first appearance on the varsity squad. He plays a forward position and has uncanny ability to cage the ball from almost unbelievable angles.

Ashland displayed much better shooting than the normalites. Ashland made 8 out of 32 long shots and 11 out of 24 short shots. Bowling Green took more shots than Ashland. They made 7 out of 58 long shots and 5 out of 19 short shots. The upstaters had the ball out of bounds 28 times to the Purple's 17.

Lineup and summary is as follows:

BAME AND GEARHART HERE FOR IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

Dr. Chas. A. Bame, of Plymouth, Indiana, who is the traveling Secretary of the Ashland College Forward Movement, and Rev. Wm. A. Gearhart, of Dayton, who is Secretary of the Home Mission Board of the Brethren Church were in Ashland Monday and Tuesday for an important conference on the future of the Forward Movement for Ashland College. Dr. Bame came here from a recent speaking tour among the Churches in Pennsylvania.

The Forward Movement, which these men represent, was begun as a bicentenary movement and expires this year. The purpose of the Forward Movement was to put Ashland College on a more secure financial basis and has been turning several thousands of dollars in for the support of the school each year. With the expiration of the Forward Movement this source of income will cease. The conference was relative to the adequate means by which a similar sum as the Movement secured could be secured. Without this the College cannot continue to support itself.

Of the seven members of the committee, five were present. Those present were: Pres. E. E. Jacobs, representing the College, Dean Miller representing the Foreign Mission Board, R. R. Teeter representing the publishing interests and Dr. Bame and Rev. Gearhart representing their respective interests.
