SMITHVILLE AND PLYMOUTH WIN SEMI-FINALS

Contending Teams Fight and Lose Close Games

By securing a lead in the early part of the first period and keeping it the Plymouth High basketball team eliminated the fast Wellington quintet and went to the finals to win. When the final gun sounded leaving the score sixteen-eleven in Plymouth's favor the crowd was confident that Plymouth would win the cup.

Kepler, later chosen all-tournament center, was the high point scorer of the game, making all but two of the eleven points for the losers. Becker, all tournament forward, was next with eight points chalked up for him. Much is to be said about the teamwork of the Wellington five and the effective defense of the champs.

Plymouth secured a four point lead at the start and were never headed. Waters, of the losers, was an outstanding player of the tournament and especially in this last game with his accurate passes. Lofland, of the winners, displayed some very neat shooting in ringing four shots during the game.

Smithville Defeats Lucas

By the scant margin of one point Elmer Weins' Raisin Eaters defeated the strong Lucas team seventeen to sixteen and were assured of a chance at the cup. Starting off the first quarter with a bang the Smithville team secured a six point lead and maintained it until the last few minutes of the period when Lucas rallied and secured enough buckets to tie the score.

Hartzler and Bupp of the Smithville team soon brought the score up and put the runners up ahead. Fulton, big center of the Lucas outfit, came through in fine shape but

April under the able leadership of Dr. W. S. Bell, of Dayton, Ohio. The campaign is to raise the endowment of Ashland College to $500,000 in order that Ashland may keep up to the North Central Association of Colleges requirements. The requirements are filled in every respect except that of endowment, and it is expected that that one requirement will be brought up to standard soon.

At the regular yearly session of the Board of Trustees held next week there will be a re-organization which takes place every year at this time. At the present time Hon. Orion E. Bowman, of Dayton, Ohio, is the president and he is assisted by Vice-President E. L. Kilhefner, of Ashland, Secretary R. R. Teeter, and Treasurer E. J. Worst also of Ashland.

Pastor Returns After Extended Evangelistic Campaign

chapel Sunday morning, March 7. The pastor has been absent from his pulpit for 6 weeks on an evangelistic tour. Sunday morning Rev. Bame preached on the subject "New Wine in Old Bottles."

He said in part, "Christianity is something new in the world, and seems to be one of life's difficult lessons. The question of the disciples was insubstance 'Why are we not like other folks?' The answer of Jesus was, 'old bottles can not contain new wine.' Christianity is not something to be patched on to something else. Even today we know that the Genius of Christianity is not easy of discovery or it is too easy, or men do not care. We are so slow to learn; so prone to think that Christianity is like something else. Five thousand nine hundred years have not sufficed to remake man, to restore harmony or to reclaim the disaster of one fateful blunder, and bring to the world the thing that God intended from the start. Our trouble is to let go of the old. We have proven unable to let go of what has some good in it and so we have all the old religion plus the make-shifts of modern men. The new wine which Jesus said was too strong for the old bottles was that salvation is by grace and not by works: that God is in Christ reconciling the world to himself, and that Christianity is God's final message which will overcome sin, purify man and defeat the kingdoms of the world for the Kingdom of Heaven and of our God.

On the second team Lofland, Plymouth, was made forward in company with Zeigler of Sterling. Donley, husky Polk center, was given his regular position and Carter of Plymouth and Burkholder of Smithville were chosen guards.

As a generous recognition of their sterling work the following were given honorable mention: Harris, Lucas, forward; Van Campbell, Big Prairie, forward; Smail, Shreve, guard; McVickers, Chatham, forward; Glesner, Creston, guard; Fulton, Lucas, center; Long, Seville, forward; Harter, Rittman, center; Waters, Wellington, forward.

Tournament Review

Starting the tournament series off with a bang by the defeat of Perrysville by the Ruggles five, the winners gained a good lead in the first half and ended the game with the score 22 to 4.

The Perrysville team arrived just in time to dress for the game after having ridden 25 miles in the cold. Perrysville did not seem to be able to collect its offense and the first half ended 14-4 in their opponents' favor. Miller of Ruggles starred and made five field baskets and three free throws. It is Perrysville first year of basketball.

Ruggles Trounced by Nova

In the Ruggles-Nova combat, 'Til' Kiefer's crew rated themselves another crack at the much desired cup. The game was hotly contested and all were playing every minute of the game. Miller of Ruggles did all the scorning for his team while Biddinger and Petit made the racket for the Nova outfit. The final score was 9 to 4 in Nova's favor.

Shiloh Fatal to Albion

Shiloh High School successfully outscored Albion in a loosely played close game, 11 to 9. The score at the end of the first half was 5 to 1 in favor of the Shiloh aggregation and at the beginning of the second half it looked as if Albion would recover from its first showing and defeat Shiloh after all. But the Shiloh warriors were able to keep their lead and the game was won. Buckman stands high for Shiloh, having made 8 points.

Lucas Outclasses Seville

Seville fell before the Lucas team at 10:35 Friday morning to the tune of 10 to 9. The contest was closely fought, but the big Lucas center, Fulton, was allowed free rein in the first half. The half ended with the present today. In striking contrast, however, to the wealth of natural resources of the country, its ancient civilization, and the present civilization is the condition of degradation, immorality and ignorance not to be found in the "interior" of that great continent.

After describing these conditions, only 14 days' journey away, Dr. Taylor made an appeal for a concern on the part of the youth, especially the college youth, of America, for the welfare of the people to the south of us, that the neglect of South America's great possibilities may soon be mitigated. Dr. Taylor's talk, besides being entertaining and humorous, presented the importance of the problem in South America in an entirely new and practical light and hence made it of immense value to the students here.

Mable Zehner to Head Piano Department

Will Fill Vacancy Caused by Resignation

Since the resignation of Mrs. Lyon from the piano department of the college, Miss Mabel Zehner has been selected to take her position in the department. Miss Zehner is from Ashland, and has been studying this winter in Chicago Music School under Boguslawski and will graduate this year by returning at regular intervals to continue her work in part. Miss Zehner will begin her work here next week with the beginning of the last term. Because of her splendid ability and winning personality Mrs. Lyon has many warm friends in the college and she will be greatly missed from the music department. However, we are fortunate to have Miss Zehner to take her place and welcome her to her new work.

Debaters Clash with Baldwin-Wallace

Contest is Dual Disputation

Ashland debaters clashed with Baldwin-Wallace in a dual debate Wednesday evening, March 10. Lutz, Stahl, and Gingrich upheld the negative at Berea, while the affirmative team, consisting of Taber, Scott, Wharton, and Mikel ably outclassed their opponents at Ashland. The subjects of the evening concerned itself with the much debated Child Labor problem which confronts the United States as well as the whole world. Extended arguments took place during which this vital problem was quite fully discussed. Various members of the teams of both Colleges displayed trained oratorical ability, in addition to developing capacity in the art of argumentation.

Correction

Due to an oversight in last week's issue of the Collegian, the paragraph in the article on the basketball team's season about the work of the coach was omitted. The team owes much of their success to their coach. The team represents Ashland College and therefore the school, as well, owes much to him. When a team is successful the general assumption is that the coach is all right, but when they have a losing streak everyone is entirely too ready to criticize the coach. "Bill" Meredith was exceedingly persistent in his efforts to build up a winning team from this year's material. He gave the squad plays that have proved successful by the best teams in the country. He studied each player's style of passwork and shooting and placed those on the team who best demonstrated their ability. His emphasis on clean playing, as well as clean living, was such that everyone knew that if they intended to play basketball they must play it right. All in all, there is no cause for anyone to bemoan the results of this season's basketball and to Bill should go a generous share of the honors.

George "Skibbie" Riblett and Myron Kimmel journeyed to Delaware last Saturday. They visited Ohio Wesleyan University, and met several of Mr. Riblett's friends that are attending school there. A very good time is reported, but the boys returned with exceedingly warm feet as a result of their happy adventure.

ing which this vital problem was quite fully discussed. Various members of the teams of both Colleges displayed trained oratorical ability, in addition to developing capacity in the art of argumentation.

their favor. Becker, all tournament forward, scored fourteen points for Plymouth, Rhine, with his neat underbasket shots and Lofland were tied with ten points each.

Bupp of the runnersup, led his team with nine points. Smithville was unable to find the hoop consistently and missed many shots from the foul line. The Plymouth five, with their whirlwind offense and impregnable defense well deserved the honor of being counted the best and most consistent team entered in the tourney.

Student of Nature Lectures

Gripping Address Fascinates Audience

Lew Sarett, woodsman, poet and professor, presented an interesting lecture on the "Out of Doors" as the fourth lecture of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum course. The number of students were fascinated by his thrilling experiences, character descriptions, and interpretations of nature.

His character sketches of the Indian and French-Canadian were especially typical of those people. For a setting for these character sketches, Sarett literally painted the scenes on the minds of his audience as he described and indicated with body and voice, the action and background for these scenes.

In closing he reproduced, for the lover of nature, one of those ecstatic evenings of whispering quietness when all nature seems to speak. As the sun fades, the squirrel, owl, coyote, bear, moose, deer, and frog all add their words with the coming night. The sun dies out and the evening star burns brighter, with the mellow moon raising and throwing its rays across the silvery lake and over giant pines, whispering as they toss heavily in the tides of air.

This description was one of surpassing beauty and with the close imitations of animal actions and calls, Sarett added an effect which only an artist could produce.

Sarett has spent many years in the great out-of-doors and is well fitted to bring such a realistic lecture. He is widely known for his poems and writings in magazines, featuring outdoor life. At present he holds a professorship in Northwestern University School of Oratory acting as professor of argumentation and persuasion.
