

Each year the College opens its doors to the visitors and extends its best hospitality to them. This year is no exception. The College extends a welcoming hand to all who gather for the tournament. Let us hope earnestly that the best team wins and that we may all derive benefit from the competition.

The number of entrants this year is larger than ever before and by all indications this should be by far the best tournament that has yet been held.

The Pacific Coast Debating League, consisting of the Universities of Oregon, Stanford, and Washington, have agreed to debate the question, "Resolved, that the Federal Government should legalize the manufacture and sale of beers and light wines." That's the idea—Let the students settle it!

"The government of this country is not at Washington. It has never been at Washington. The government is where the people are. The court of last appeal is what the people think and feel, and that upon which they highly resolve. Therefore, the development of this finer quality of soul in every community, on the college campus, in the church, in the polling place and in the place of business, is an obligation that rests upon us all."—Dean Charles R. Brown, Yale.

FUNNY BONE TICKLERS

A FRIEND IN NEED

She (Anxiously)—"Please leave me alone."

He (Sorrowfully)—"I can't. I tried to secure a loan myself the other day, but failed absolutely."

Manager, to applicant for job: "Well, you can have the place if you show us references from your last employer."

Applicant: "That's impossible, he's been dead for ten years."

Dumb: "When you laugh, you show your teeth."

Dumber: "Well, when you laugh, you show your ignorance."

"Opposites attract opposites," remarked the tall man as he ordered short cake.

Excited husband (to doctor over the phone): "Hello, doctor, my wife has appendicitis. What shall I do?"

Central (breaking in): "Operator."

A has-been is a person whose coat shines and whose shoes don't.

If the organization of labor continues, the time may not be far distant when a prisoner fearing a verdict of guilty can order the jury out on strike,

Prof.—"What does Darwin's Theory say?"

Stude.—"Darwin says that our ancestors came from monkeys, but my mamma told me that mine came from Wales."

"Friends and feller citizens" shouted a loud-mouthed orator: "Lend me your ears." A hail of cabbage fell about him.

"I did not ask for your heads; I merely asked for your ears," spoke the recipient. Whereupon the audience got up and left in disgust; they had not thought to bring any corn.

"Jim lost a Liberty bond."

"Did you keep the number of it?" asked a friend.

"Sure, I wrote it down."

"What is it?"

"I don't know. I wrote it on the back of the bond."

Pat fell from the fourth story of a building and caught telephone wires on the way down.

Mike ran for a ladder to get him down. When he got back Pat was lying in a heap on the sidewalk.

"An' whoi didn't ye hang on?" said Mike.

"Oi was afraid them wires would break," replied Pat.

They were seated on a little rustic bench. The moon shone through the trees. All at once the girl timidly said, "Jack, dear, I can't understand why you lavish your affections on me above all the other girls in the world. Why is it?"

"Hanged if I know," he replied, "and all the fellows down at the house say that they can't make it out either."

Pat C.—"Your cream is very good."

Patsy—"It ought to be; I just whipped it."

Policeman—"But didn't you feel the pickpocket's hand in your pocket?"

Absent-minded Prof.—"Yes, but I thought that it was my own."

A TEST

It has been suggested that the best proof that a girl is getting old is when she begins to sigh over the pictures in the album.

Mother—"As I passed the parlor door last night I saw Mr. Percy's face very close to yours."

Daughter—"Yes, ma, he's so near-sighted."

South Sea Island posters. The show, as a matter of fact, could hardly have been any worse but there was this redeeming feature among the advertisements which saved the evening. As nearly as we could get it it read something like this: PIANOS TUNED, VOICE DIRECTED AND REPAIRED. ALL WORK GUARANTEED. Prof. Bohal, M. B.

O TEMPORA! O MORES!

This from the Bellevue (Ill.) Gazette: Mr. and Mrs. Lewman Kline, of Franklin Heights Apartments, were hosts at a costume party and dinner. There were fifteen guests. The decorations were butterflies.

Not to mention the Body Show recently held in New York in connection with the Automobile Show. Something really ought to be done about these shocking affairs.

ANOTHER THING

In the Ashland College Quarterly just published there is this: "Ashland is easily reached by automobile." Understand further that this is contained in an advertisement in behalf of the Summer School. We would like to know what useful purpose under the shining sun an automobile could possibly serve at Ashland College. Unless by some rare chance she lives outside the dormitory.

"I want a nice birthday present for my husband."

"How about a nice humidior, ma'am?"

"But I don't know what size he wears."

"What's this," roared the farmer, as he observed the newly-employed hand basking in the shade of an apple tree with the hired girl at 11 A. M. "I thought you said you never got tired."

"I don't," came the nonchalant reply. "This doesn't tire me."

Scene: Blockley Nut Clinic.

Professor—(to a "nut" with a tendency to mental confusion)—"Where do you live?"

Inmate—"I don't know."

Professor—"What is your name?"

Inmate—"I don't know."

Professor—"How old are you?"

Inmate—"I don't know."

Professor (under his breath)—"Reminds me of a student in an examination."
