

it was pointed out that although the sum secured in this drive would not be sufficient to complete the stadium there was no reason why further plans should not be made for the stadium. It was also pointed out that Ashland College would be unable to secure the best Ohio Conference teams on her home schedule next fall if a better field were not provided.

This splendid move for an adequate field for the College's teams has been made by the Retail Merchants' Board with the assistance and backing of the Lions and Rotary clubs. To them Ashland College extends its gratitude and thanks.

Hurrah for Chicago!

The following telegram was received here last Friday from the Chicago Chapter of the Ashland Alumni Association:

Dr. E. E. Jacobs,
Ashland College.

The Chicago Chapter of Ashland College Alumni Association is watching with keen interest the growth of their Alma Mater. We take this means of congratulating all of you who are making Ashland better known, especially football squad on its big season, and pledge our absent support for Dad's Day game.

W. O. NISH, President.

RECESS BEGINS THURSDAY

With the end of the last class at three o'clock on next Wednesday afternoon the Thanksgiving recess will begin. Many students are planning to spend the brief time from Wednesday to Sunday at their homes and others, whose homes are distant will spend the week end with friends.

Not The Place He Meant

"I was awfully sorry to hear that your father's partner died last night," said Tompkins to the business man's pretty daughter. "I am sure he will be missed!"

He was still thinking about the matter when he left his fair companion, and made up his mind to see the girl's father without delay.

After expressing his sympathy in a few well-chosen words, he suggested that it might be found possible for him to take the former partner's place.

"An excellent idea!" replied the business man. "I'm quite willing, if you can manage to fix it up with the undertaker."

A CHEERFUL GIVER

A colored revival was in full blast, and one old fellow was exhorting the people to contribute generously.

"Look what de Lawd's done fo' you all, bredren!" he shouted. "Give him a portion of all you has. Give him a tenth. A tenth belongs to de Lawd!"

"Amen!" yelled a perspiring member of the congregation, overcome by emotion. "Glory to de Lawd! Give him mo'. Give him a twentieth!"

ness of purpose."

Dr. Jacobs said that society owes more than food and clothing to her youth; it owes them high ideals and ideas. "Pity the boy who cannot be his father's friend," he said. He explained that 83% of the inmates of the reformatories are orphans. "Fathers are better friends to their sons now than they were 5 years ago," he said, "the distinction of dress is less now."

"The child is influenced by the street, the school, the church and the home and the greatest of these is the home. If the American home is breaking down, it is because obedience is missing," he said. "Every man must obey the law and America signs her death warrant when she cannot enforce her organic law. If America is the hope of the world, the hope of the world is in our youth," he said. "The way to bring about reforms is to inculcate the ideals in the minds of the youth of today."

"A father should never give up his son but should stay by him and try to help him," he said. He said that wanderlust is often created by some trivial quarrel at home. He said further that every youth deserves the influence of a Christian home. "I would rather be a good father than a rich or famous one," he said in closing.

DEAN MILLER TO OCCUPY PULPIT NEXT SUNDAY

Dean J. Allen Miller will deliver a special missionary sermon on next Sunday morning in the Chapel. The subject of the sermon will be, "The Message of the Gospel to Our Day."

The automobile turned a corner and the dog rushed out and entered into combat with it.

The driver did his best to dodge, but was unsuccessful, and, being a decent sort, got out of the car and carried the remains of the unfortunate beast into its owner's garden. The latter, a fiery woman, raged at him as if he had committed a deliberate murder.

When he could manage to get a word in he tried to pacify her.

"I am very sorry, madam, I assure you," he said, "and I shall be happy to replace your dog."

The woman glared at him.

"You flatter yourself," she said.

pulled the string.

The College sing which was to have been given at seven o'clock Saturday evening was called off because the weather would not permit. The visitors attended church Sunday morning. The week end festivities were concluded with a dinner in the dormitory at one o'clock.

Recital Pleases Large Audience

Voice, Piano and Expression Departments Furnish Select Program

Orchestra and Glee Club Take Part

Ashland College can be justly proud of its voice, piano and expression departments. No better recommendation for these departments could be furnished than the recital which was given as a part of the Dad's Day program last Saturday.

The recital drew a large attendance which filled the Chapel and forced many to stand during the entertainment. Visiting parents and students were in attendance and a large number of the elite from the city were also present.

The program was opened with a selection by the orchestra which was followed by a duet by Mrs. Haun and Miss Brauer. The ability of Mrs. Haun is well known to Ashland critics and Miss Brauer won the approval of all who heard the duet.

Miss Brauer then played two piano solos which were well received. Mrs. Katherine Cole Steele gave a reading, "Dad" and was called back for two further selections.

Mrs. Haun sang a solo and the program ended with the rendition of "Barcarolle" by the Women's Glee Club. The complete program is here given:

Orchestra.

Duet—"Song of Praise" G. Goublier
Mrs. Haun and Miss Brauer

Piano Solo—"Country Gardens" Grainger

Social Held After Recital

At the conclusion of the recital program the guests, at the invitation of Dr. Jacobs, adjourned to the third floor of the main building where refreshments were served and further introductions were made of the attending parents to members of the College.

prison of which Dr. Kiplinger spoke, there are at least 35 occupations being taught. This means that these men seldom waste their time.

When a prisoner leaves the prison there are two things which he needs above anything else—a job and a friend. Today the released prisoner is assisted to find a job, suitable living conditions and to be kept in touch with friends. The public must soften its attitude toward the prisoner, who upon being released goes into the world to be a new man. It should be remembered that all prisoners are not criminals.

Shively Stresses Religious Education

Urges Students to Plan Life Deliberately

Dr. Martin Shively in his Chapel address November 20, stressed the attitude toward God as the foundation of education. The speaker called attention to the fact that the apostle Paul also stressed the necessity of correct religious attitude when he said of the body that it is the temple of God.

The speaker encouraged the students to cultivate the will to believe and to build upon the firm foundation, choosing deliberately the course to pursue which will be the most nearly in harmony with the teachings of the Master.

Men by effort have risen above environment which tended to hold them down. "Life holds for you and me, success in proportion to the effort which we put forth."

NO "COLLEGIAN" NEXT WEEK

There will be no issue of the "Collegian" next week because of the Thanksgiving recess.

WITH SUDDENNESS

Investigator for the Anti-Smoking League (eagerly): "So cigarette smoking killed your sister?"

Blinkers: "Yes, ma'am. It was while she was working for the Thunder Gunpowder Company."

line plunges to the goal line. Fox took the ball across. Ashland failed to register in the second period but had the ball on Orrville's nine yard line when the whistle blew.

The Orrville line put up a good scrappy game and seemed to know how to stiffen when the big Purple machine neared their goal. L. Shoemaker played most of the game at right end and was easily the star of the game for Orrville. Shoemaker repeatedly muffed up Ashland plays that started around his end.

The Ashland line demonstrated their superiority by ripping holes through their opponents' defense almost at will. The Panthers were slightly outweighed by the Collegians.

Murray Shift Works Again

The Murray shift which was first used in the Defiance game was called into action again and plays were run in every direction off of it. The outstanding feature of the College play was that the team played like a well oiled machine—each man with a part to do and each doing it.

The ball was in Ashland's possession almost the entire game and the Ashland forty yard line was never crossed by the visitors. The Purple made twenty first downs against their opponents' none.

Fox, with the consistency of a steam roller, was Ashland's most reliable ground gainer. Captain Schmuck showed brilliant flashes when he snagged two passes from Curry, one of the passes being caught over the goal line. Rupert also put up a great game on the other end.

THE GAME PLAY BY PLAY

Norris kicked off to Coyer on the twenty yard line and Coyer with good interference made ten upstream. Eshelman was sent at right tackle and tore thru for six. Shoemaker made two at right guard. Eshelman tried right guard and O'Neal smashed thru and stopped him. Beck punted to Ashland's forty-eight yard line. Fox hit right tackle for five. Curry ran right end for three and Fox made four more at tackle. Wharton garnered two at left guard and Fox made three at the same place. Wharton ambled at left end and made a yard. Fox ploughed thru right tackle for seven and first down. Curry fumbled and recovered on the line. Curry made one off right tackle. Fox made two and on the fourth down with seven to go tried a kick from placement that failed.

Orrville's ball on the twenty yard line. Beck made one off left tackle and Eshelman made three at the same place. Eshelman punted to Wharton who returned twenty-four yards and put the ball on the Panthers' sixteen yard mark. Fox ploughed thru center for seven. Wharton hit right tackle for two. Fox made three thru center and added two on the next play. Wharton went off right tackle but the Panther defense stiffened and he failed to gain. Fox hit left guard and bounced over for the first score. Fox also kicked goal from placement.
