WELCOME, STUDENT VOLUNTEERS!

Ashland extends to you a most cordial and hearty welcome. We take pleasure in receiving and entertaining representatives of such an organization as yours. We assure you that whatever we can do to make your stay with us the most pleasant shall be done. We regard it as a high honor to place our facilities at your disposal during your visit. Your movement merits the profound respect of every student and we hope that the time which you spend here may be both pleasant and profitable.

BE IN ASHLAND ON NOVEMBER 11

There are a large number of students at Ashland, living in nearby cities who make it a rule to return to their homes almost every week end. One cannot help but feel that a student who spends the week end away from the College loses one of the most productive periods of his college course. It is a time when sober, reflective study may be pursued and closer friends made among fellow students.

Apart from personal reasons there are other reasons why students should not go home each week end. The students' support for the school is often needed and when a number of students are absent their presence is sadly missed.

This Saturday is Armistice Day. The American Legion is planning a large patriotic parade in which the College is to have a prominent part. This week end, above all others the student should remain in the city. His or her assistance is needed in three things: First, the Student Volunteer's Fall Retreat will be in session and your presence and greetings will add to their enjoyment of the occasion and inci-

NOVEMBER

When stark November comes, 'tis strange to find

Her decked in the habiliments of May
And bringing with her flowers so gorgeous gay

That spread their perfume on the Autumn wind.

Her frigid rainstorms usually remind
Us even how the years must tread the way
From youth to senile age, then to decay,
And leave the glittering joys of life behind.

But when she comes on faerie pinions dancing

And bringing with her May's delightful weather

We wonder if the year has stopped advancing

And found perchance the fount of youth, or whether

She's been bewitched by some wild witch's wand

Or has been treated with a monkey gland.

A BI-FORTNIGHTLY JOURNAL

We have had so much to crusade about lately that we have been forced to defer our answers to the communications of P. D. and Blue Eyes until this time. We sincerely hope that our lack of punctuality has not in any way inconvenienced either of these esteemed questionaries. P. D.'s query reads: "Please give me the correct derivation of the words 'abstinence' and 'legislature.' There are several pages missing from my dictionary and I am anxious to acquire this information."

P. D. The word abstinence is derived from the Persian ab, water, and stein, tankard. Hence water-tankard or water-wagon. Legislature is derived from two Latin words, lego, to bring together, and latro, to bark, or bluster. Hence, a company of men brought together to bluster.

The other communication (that of Blue Eyes) was addressed in care of one Martha Lee, but as there happens to be no one answering to that name on the staff of this paper the editor has seen fit to refer this communication to us for attention. It reads, "Dear Martha Lee: I am a young girl of eighteen and am considered very good looking. Now, Mrs. Lee, I wonder if you could help me. I am in love with a young man three years my senior who is also very good looking, and who goes to the same college that I do. But every time he says good-night to me he wants to kiss me. What shall I do?"

Blue Eyes: In view of the foregoing facts it really is not necessary for you to
