

Christ.

George Hildebrand, prominent manufacturer of this city, and trustee of the College in a short address reminded those present of the splendid equipment which Ashland now enjoys.

"But," said he, "as John Hopkins on one end of a log and a boy on the other end would make a University, so could it be said of the faculty of Ashland College."

Mr. Hildebrand called to the minds of his hearers incidents in the former days of the school which tend to warm our hearts for Ashland, and then he said, "Let us not forget the solid things that back this College."

Miss Braurer, instructor in piano, rendered a selection which caused the audience to highly appreciate her talent. Mrs. Haun, instructor in voice, sang two solos which did not in the least fall short of her high standard of musical productions. Mrs. Cole Steele, the instructor in expression, was on the program for the evening, but having contracted a cold, was not able to appear. The Poorman orchestra of this city aided also in furnishing music for the evening's entertainment.

Another event which cannot be forgotten here is the hearty handshake of the faculty and students. At the appointed hour the faculty was found standing in one long line on the gymnasium floor. The students then in passing had the opportunity of pausing at each instructor to shake hands. Sometimes the students feel acquainted with their professors and teachers from contact in the class room. This is only the more true when people come together to eat. The refreshments, punch and nabiscos were enjoyed by everyone. The supply of each was unlimited. Besides there was no account of the amount which one person could have. It is believed that few if any left the place without first being filled.

For some time in the past the students have looked forward to that notable day when the new library building would be ready for actual use. It seems also that the students are not the only people who have dreamed of that day. Dr. Jacobs in his welcome address mentioned the fact that the Faculty had planned last year that the next reception would be held in the new building, but there are some projects over which even the faculty do not have complete control. So we find that the new building it not fit for occupation. It is now that that next year the second floor may be the scene of an event such as this.

It should be remembered that the purpose of the meeting of those connected directly with the College is not simply to make history, nor to give one more evening to social engagements, but to bind, unite, fuse and make a lasting friendly relation between all friends of the College.

The memories of those former students who now lie in Flanders' Fields, of those former students who are now in service in the professions out in the world are brought to the minds of the new students at a time like this.

must be good payment for a good also," said President Jacobs.

In the absence of Rev. J. A. Garber, some member of the faculty will fill the pulpit in the College Chapel every Sunday morning.

Y. MEETS FIRST FOR THIS YEAR

First program of Y. M. C. A. was given Tuesday evening, October 2. President Barnard in his welcome address outlined something of what the Y. M. C. A. is to mean in the future. "Our organization this year," said Barnard, "must stress the C in the name still more than ever before."

Loren Black, chairman of the committee on membership, gave the conditions for membership as differing somewhat from former times. This year there will be a card of recognition given to each member. When by signing this properly the student has expressed his intention to become a member he will be so called. There are no dues in this organization.

Florizel Pfeleiderer, chairman of Y. M. C. A. deputation committee gave a brief epitome of the plans for Gospel Team deputation work.

A training school will begin next Monday evening. Dr. Jacobs will speak on some phase of College Deputation. Fifteen men have signed for certain, but thirty will be needed to successfully carry on the work.

This is a rare opportunity for the men of the "Y" to gain some excellent experience in active Christian work over the brotherhood.

There is no finer avenue thru which a College may become popular than this.

It is said that there will be little difficulty to muster the required number of men to make this branch of Y. M. C. A. work a complete success.

FRESHMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Freshmen in a meeting after Chapel Monday morning organized and elected officers for the year. Paul Kellogg was elected resident and Miss Ruth Lewis was chosen secretary and treasurer. Miss Lewis is a graduate of the Falls City, Nebraska, high school of the class of 1922. She was valedictorian of her class.

Mr. Kellogg hails from Ashland high school and was eminent in the various activities there.

Mr. Milton Puterbaugh, instructor in Chemistry, was accorded the position of Faculty Advisor of the class.

DEAN MILLER TO OCCUPY PULPIT SUNDAY

Dean J. Allen Miller will preach to the church and students next Sunday. Dean Miller has a sermon of special interest this Sunday and students should endeavor to hear him. Morning service at 10:30.

The next year he entered Ashland College and Murray placed him on the right wing in his old position at end.

Schmuckie guards his side of the line as jealously as a verdant freshman guards the peach of the class. Woe betide the runner who attempts to scamper around Freddie's end. And that's not all—he has the profound respect of every tackle he has encountered. He has with him play the Irishman and then run 'em out.

Schmuck's dependability is not his only asset. He is also capable of brilliant playing when occasion demands it. Fans remember him as the man who caught the pass that buffaloeed Otterbein and sent Ashland home from Westerville with the big end of a 7-0 score.

Freddie enjoys the unique distinction of holding two captaincies in one year. Besides being the leader of the gridiron warriors he is the astute and experienced captain of the baseball team. Evidence of his popularity is easy to find. Besides holding down two jobs as captain he is the Sport Editor of "The Collegian" and Business Manager of "Pine Whispers," the college annual.

Ashland pays homage to the man who Coach Murray expects to lead the team in the arduous season ahead.

Purple Gridders Tackle Mount Union This Week

The next team on Ashland's schedule is an Ohio Conference school of high caliber, Mount Union at Alliance. Mount Union is rated as one of the best colleges athletically in Northern Ohio, and always turns out good teams in all branches of sport. Mount Union has turned out some mighty fine athletes, among them Kelly, McBride, an all around athlete of nation wide fame.

Little is known of Mount Union this year except that she won from Kent last Saturday in a game in which she appeared to have a powerful offense. Mount Union this year has a green team with only two letter men around which to build her eleven. How well Coach Thorpe has been able to do this will be demonstrated first hand next Saturday when Ashland faces them.

Every man on the Ashland squad is eager for this game and much confidence is expressed that this is going to be a better game than the Wooster battle.

Mount has been coached for the last two years by Eddie Casey, All-American back of Harvard. This year John Thorpe recently of East High, Cleveland, holds the reins at Mount Union. This is Thorpe's first year and the kind of tactics which he employs is unknown to the Ashland sages.

This is the second of the four Ohio Conference teams on Ashland's schedule this year and is also one of the strongest. The outcome of this game will give us some light on the relative strength of Ashland as compared with Ohio Conference schools.

against Wooster's big line when Ashland's forwards failed to open a hole thru which he might plunge. On the defense Fox was a tower of strength and in backing up the line aiding greatly. Ashland's forwards is stopping the rush of Wooster's backs.

The Ashland line played good football on the defense. The most note worthy was the work of Norris at center, who was good on offense as well as on defense. O'Neal at left guard also played a great game on the defense.

THE GAME PLAY BY PLAY

Capt. Layport of Wooster won the toss and chose to kick and defend the east goal. Flattery kicked to Freese on the ten yard line. Freese returned eighteen. Fox hit right guard with no gain. ### SECOND QUARTER—

Starn opened the second quarter with a two yard gain thru left tackle. Two bad passes from center proved costly for Wooster and Welty punted to Freese. Fox tried the Wooster line twice but failed to gain. Fox punted to Swigart who was downed in his tracks. Starn gained a lonely yard at Junkin tackled Freese and Wooster was penalized fifteen yards. Weber carried the ball on an off tackle play and gained two yards. Freese tried to gain thru center but failed. Fox punted thirty yards to Swigart who made six on the return. Welty made four thru right guard and Hurst bucked left for one. Swigart fumbled and recovered. Welty punted and Freese received on Ashland's twenty-six yard line. Fox punted out of bounds on Wooster's forty yard line. Swigart made a nice gain around end to Ashland's ten yard line. Hurst bucked for two. Swigart made three around one end and two and a half around the other. This placed the ball within two yards and a half of the goal line but when Welty smashed center on the fourth down the Ashland line became a stonewall and Wooster was forced to halt. Fox booted the ball out of danger and Swigart was only able to return three yards before he was tackled. Swigart ran right end but progressed only a yard. Hurst made a bare two yards at center and Sears was squeaked on the line when he tried to buck thru left guard. Swigart tried a drop kick that went wild. From the twenty yard line Fox made two thru center and six thru right guard. Wooster was penalized for off side. Weber lost a yard on a run around left end. Quarter ended with the ball on Ashland's twenty-eight yard line. Score Wooster 0—Ashland 0.

FOURTH QUARTER—

Ashland drove center for a yard. Fox punted and the ball bounced on Starn and rolled free. Ashland recovered on the forty-four yard line. Ashland passed but the runner was downed on the line of scrimmage. Ashland passed again and H. Layport intercepted. Wooster's ball on the forty-seven yard line. Starn ran off tackle for three. Starn passed to Junkin with a gain of nine yards. Hurst went around left end for four. Hurst hit guard and failed to gain. Swigart passed to Starn and made six yards. Hurst was sent at right guard but was smothered with no gain. Wootser passed twice and failed to complete. Al Wood broke thru the Wooster forwards and blocked Swigart's attempt at a drop kick. Swigart recovered on Ashland's forty yard line. Starn went into the line for five yards. Starn hit guard for two. Welty passed to Hurst but lost a yard. Welty hit guard for first down. Starn made four thru the line. Wooster passed but failed as the Ashland forwards held three thru guard. Swigart ran right end for fourteen yards and Keplinger gained sixteen around left placing the ball on Ashland's five yard line. This gave Wooster four downs to make five yards. Starn made two thru guard and added two more on the next play. The ball was within one yard of the goal. With but one minute to play Welty tried to gain on the third down but failed as the Ashland forwards held firm. With thirty-five seconds left Welty hit off tackle and scored. Swigart drop kicked from the five yard line for the extra point.
