NEW ADDITIONS TO FACULTY IMPROVE COLLEGE

Four New Members Chosen

The Ashland College Faculty, owing to the rapid increase of the student body, has been greatly strengthened by the election of four new members who began their work at the beginning of the present school year. These new members are: Mrs. Katherine Cole-Steele, Expression; Miss Brauer, Piano; Mr. Milton Puterbaugh, Chemistry and Mr. Loren Black, Student Assistant in English and Education. With these additions, the Faculty of Ashland College now numbers 15. It is the strongest Faculty ever employed at the institution, it is said.

Mr. Puterbaugh, '22, was laboratory assistant at Ashland College during the last two years of his A. B. course. His work was one series of successes after another and owing to this fact, he was given charge of the New Laboratories on the second floor of the present administration building. Mr. Puterbaugh spent his summer in diligent work in advanced Chemistry in Des Moines where he is taking his Master's degree. His degree will be a decisive major in Chemistry, so that he will be able to progress rapidly with that phase of the college course in Ashland. His ideas are progressive and his sole interest lies in GREATER ASHLAND COLLEGE. "I will be more than satisfied if I secure fully equipped laboratories so as to assure a better grade of Laboratory work," Mr. Puterbaugh declared recently. Mr. Puterbaugh married his classmate, Miss Lois Arnold on the day of their graduation.

Mr. Loren Black, John Lichty scholar 1921-22, a promising young senior in the college, has been elected student assistant in English and Education. He has charge of Sub-freshman English and one hour of Education. Mr. Black's competence is assured by the fact that during his three years at Ashland College, he has made untiring research in these two fields. He has the mental ability and the comprehensive capacity neces-

DEAN J. ALLEN MILLER ASSERTS CHRISTIANITY IS HOPE OF WORLD

Convocation Address Before Student Body

Dean J. Allen Miller, in his Convocation Address before the student body last Friday, vigorously asserted that the day in which we live is a new day and one in which there is more agitation, uncertainty and unrest than ever before, and that the college man and the college woman are the ones to which the world must look for the leaders in the yet more perilous times to come. He also declared that the supreme test of Christianity was at the present, and that the next few years would decide whether Christianity was to fail or to remain supreme as the fundamental truth of the world. The text was taken from the second book of Samuel and the 18th Chapter. Dean Miller further exhorted the students to grasp their opportunity to render service, and to lift themselves from the thousands who fail.

Dean Miller spoke with conviction and his words visibly impressed the audience. Numerous references were made to statistics and opinions gathered from great modern men who stand staunch for the cause of right and feel keenly the need of the times.

The service was opened with a prelude by Miss Katherine Teeter and the entrance of the faculty in gowns. The invocation was given by Prof. DeLozier and followed by a song. Prof. Garber read the Scripture lesson from the Book of Proverbs and commented upon the fact that the exalted adoration of wisdom has been the characteristic of all great peoples. A prayer was given by Prof. H. H. Wolford and the speaker was introduced by Dr. E. E. Jacobs. Following the address the service was concluded with a vocal solo by Miss Brauer.

Y. M.-Y. W HIKE IS LARGEST EVER

115 Students Attend

The annual "Y" hike which took place on the evening of September 19 was the largest event of its kind ever recorded in the annals of Ashland College. 115 students and freshmen packed their sorrows in their trunks and laid their troubles and worries on the bookshelves for the evening, while they proceeded to enjoy themselves to the best of their ability.

The hike, an annual affair, serves to acquaint the neophytes of the school with the work of the two organizations. The hike is promoted to welcome the freshmen into the fellowship of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Owing to the hostility of the owner of the Fossil Beds, the hike took the form of a three mile walk out the King Road to a newly-discovered spot. The place is ideally situated for such an affair, being a low spot in a clearing in the midst of a rather dense growth of timber. An open space, large enough for two fires, lies between two hills. Weiners, buns and pickles constituted the menu of the evening.

After everyone had satisfied their appetites on physical nourishment, they were allowed to feast their mental capacities on speeches by members of the Faculty. Prof. Wolford spoke on the help of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. and the value of friendships formed in the associations in the "Y." He outlined briefly the help and training which the organization has in store for every student. He spoke of wasted gains and the wasted friendships of life. "Do not waste friendship for it is one of the gains of life which we cannot afford to lose," he asserted in the course of his talk. He made an urgent and concise appeal that every person co-operate heartily with the "Y" in its work. Prof. DeLozier gave his personal testimony of the work that the Y. M. C. A. had done for him during the years that he had spent in Ashland.

He said that its welcome had made a lasting impression upon him. He said the present day organizations need more emphasis upon the "c." "There are plenty of "Y" organizations but not enough Y. M. C. A. organizations," he remarked. He further stated that this is the pre-eminent day of organizations but

ASHLAND ROOTERS TO BACK TEAM AT WOOSTER

A bumper crowd, in fact the largest to ever attend an athletic contest on a foreign field, is expected at the Wooster game Saturday.

The upper classmen with scarcely a lag are pledged to attend in a body. Every member of the faculty with his immediate family is said to be going to this game. In the Freshman class however, the prospects for unanimous attendance are not so bright. Since so many of the neophytes are normal students and go home over the week end, the proportion from the first year class will not be so large as the proportion from the upper classes.

The crowd, nevertheless, will be large and Wooster will not be the only team to be cheered from the bleachers of Severance Stadium.

Hatfield is the new cheerleader and if everyone does his part, successful cheering is assured.

FACULTY RECITAL GREAT SUCCESS

Heads of Special Departments Present Program

Before an audience which filled and overflowed the Chapel, the first Faculty Recital of the year was given Thursday, September 21. Dr. E. E. Jacobs, president of the College, opened the program with remarks and expressed gratification at the number assembled for what was the first musical program of the year. This recital is one of the eminent events of the year and is keenly anticipated by music lovers of the college and city.

Many persons were forced to stand throughout the entertainment and others were turned away, not being able to secure even standing room. This was the largest crowd that has been present at the Faculty Recital for a number of years. The audience was of the most critical type, composed largely of persons accomplished in music and dramatics.

The program was classical and complete in every respect. The College is considered especially fortunate to have the strong departments of voice, piano and expression which it has this year. The

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR GREATEST GRID SEASON

Team In Fine Shape As Wooster Contest Nears

Football under the direction of Coach Art Murray is well under way and prospects for the season are much brighter than last year. The squad, numbering about 28 men are working out daily on the college field and much promising new material has been unearthed besides the material from the second team of last year. Several of these men are showing up good and are going to give some of the old men a run to hold their positions. Plenty of last year's letter men are on hand to form a nucleus for a good eleven. The letter men in school are Curry, Freese, Teeter, and Wharton of the backfield; Baylor, Wood, and Garber, tackles, Rowsey and O'Neal, guards; McClintock and Schmuck ends. Sam Wilcox who starred at fullback last year has been lost to the team on account of illness. Wilcox was captain of this year's eleven and was counted on to show up opposing lines this fall. In this respect his weight and driving power will be missed in the backfield.

Ellwood Fox, a husky chap from Fostoria, is being groomed for the full back's job and is showing up good in practice, he hits low and hard and possesses weight with speed. Norris seems to have the call for the center position, being the possessor of a good head which is an essential in that position. Other men looming up good are: Weber, half and end; Piper, tackle, and Hunter, guard. Piper is a tall rangy boy with plenty of weight and with his experience on the Wooster freshman last year should be a valuable addition to the team this year. Weber shows promise of developing into a high class backfield man, in addition to being a punter of rare ability; he is fast and shifty on his feet. Hunter is big but lacks experience, nevertheless he is showing the determination which is going to pay him in more than one game this year.

Men on the second squad of last year who are looming up good, are: Ullam, guard, Rupert and Hastings, ends. These are showing the dash and pep essential in football and lack of experience is all that keeps them off the first squad. The team this year is heavier than last. Rowsey at
