

to assure a better grade of Laboratory work," Mr. Puterbaugh declared recently. Mr. Puterbaugh married his classmate, Miss Lois Arnold on the day of their graduation.

Mr. Loren Black, John Lichty scholar 1931-22, a promising young senior in the department of English, has been elected student assistant in English and Education. He has charge of Sub-freshman English and one hour of Education. Mr. Black's competence is assured by the fact that during his three years at Ashland College, he has made untiring research in these two fields. He has the mental ability and the comprehensive capacity necessary to make a successful teacher and his efforts already show marked signs of being successful.

The piano department is now headed by Miss Anna Brauer of Texas, and shows signs of great material improvement over former years. Miss Brauer is a graduate of the Chicago School of Lyceum Arts and has studied under Rudolph Reuter. In addition, she has done coaching under Elias Day. Miss Brauer has traveled two years in Lyceum and Chautauqua work. In this time, her efforts have yielded an unbroken chain of successes. Before her election to the Ashland College Faculty, Miss Brauer taught private lessons in Beeville, Texas. In spite of the "rundown" situation in the piano department, she already has sixteen students and the promise of many more at the beginning of the next term.

Mrs. Katherine Cole-Steele, newly elected head of the Expression department, has been recognized for some years as the best expression teacher in the vicinity of Ashland. Mrs. Steele is a graduate of Tucker School of Cleveland, Greely School in New York, and has been a special student in various other schools. She has been a member of The Famous Temple Quartet, Cole-Steele Concert Co., Meistersingers of Boston and in addition has been a member of three separate lyceum bureaus. For some years her time has been employed in private tutoring in the city of Ashland. She already has 22 students in her department which shows signs of advancing to a stage where it will be much stronger than it has ever been in the history of the school. Mrs. Steele is a member of the Professional Woman's Club of Boston.

In speaking of the ability of the heads of the three special departments of Ashland College, Dr. Jacobs said, "If I were to name them in order of their excellency, I would name them all at the same time." These departments show signs of being the strongest ever connected with Ashland College.

In spite of the conspicuous absence of Prof. J. A. Garber, the current opinion seems to be that never in the history of the college has the faculty been quite as strong as this year. If every year shows the improvement that this year has shown, it will not be long until Ashland College will be able to handle efficiently the enrollment of 600 which is expected in 1927.

ples. A prayer was given by Prof. H. H. Wolford and the speaker was introduced by Dr. E. E. Jacobs. Following the address the service was concluded with a vocal solo by Miss Brauer.

PROF. J. A. GARBER LEAVES FOR STUDY COURSE IN EAST

Professor J. A. Garber, who has secured a leave of absence from active work at the college for one year, preached his last sermon as pastor of the First Brethren church, which holds services in the chapel, Sunday, September 24.

Prof. Garber, one of the most liked and perhaps the most agreeable person on the campus, but who has not yet completed his master's degree announced last year that he intended to accept the leave of absence which the College offered him so that he may be able to secure a higher degree and consequently a better grade of work. The professor is a graduate of A. C. in the class of '10. He took post-graduate work in other schools immediately upon his graduation and soon proved himself worthy of the position of Professor of Bible to which he was elected by the Ashland College Faculty.

Ashland College will feel the effect of the absence of this big man from their faculty. J. A. was always ready for any kind of good clean sport which the student body might suggest. His influential personality will be very conspicuous by its absence. A student of All Campus Renown upon hearing of the plans of Mr. Garber, remarked, "J. A. is probably one of the greatest determining factors in the spiritual life of every student." Prof. Garber leaves early this week for Hartford Theological Seminary where his school starts Wednesday. The student body wishes him success and waits anxiously for his return with the next school year.

Y. W. Hike & Sack Lunch

Twenty Y. W. C. A. girls, who are interested in Eaglesmere projects, hiked to Moss Hill for a sack lunch and reports of last year's Eaglesmere conferences from the representatives, Monday, September 25.

The party left the girls' dormitory at about four-thirty and returned about seven o'clock. The devotions were led by Mrs. Puterbaugh and conference reports were made by Vernice Bond and Shirley Price. This was the first event of this kind held for several years and the small attendance was no doubt due to the conflicting of other social functions.

which we cannot afford to lose," he asserted in the course of his talk. He made an urgent and concisive appeal that every person co-operate heartily with the "Y" in its work. Prof. DeLozier gave his personal testimony of the work that the Y. M. C. A. had done for him during the year.

Ashland. He said that its welcome had made a lasting impression upon him. He said the present day organizations need more emphasis upon the "c." "There are plenty of "Y" organizations but not enough Y. M. C. A. organizations" he remarked. He further stated that this is the pre-eminent day of organizations but the Y. M. C. A. grew out of the war, despite much adverse criticism. He asserted that the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. is the largest field of work for the students of the colleges of America.

Coach Murray was the next member of the faculty to mount the soap box and address the august assembly. His first remark was an emphasis on the remarks of the first two speakers. He tried to point out to the Freshmen in plain and simple terms the wonderful privilege of being a student at Ashland, a growing and progressive Christian school. He pointed out the worth of the Y. M. and the Y. W. C. A. to students and outsiders. "Even though I received nothing from the Y. M. C. A. until after the war was over," he said, "I am willing to bury the hatchet for I realize that it had a big proposition on its hands, almost as big as Uncle Sam himself had, and I see that it is now trying to do its best." He also made an appeal for hearty and loyal co-operation.

After singing a college song, the party expressed its appreciation of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and promptly broke up into parties of twos.

As is always the case on Ashland College hikes, more cats than necessary were taken along and some were reluctantly carried back.

One of the interesting factors of the hike was the unusually small number of men. They seemed, from all appearances, to be outnumbered at least two to one. Some method is needed to arouse the interest of the men in the social functions of the school.

Committee on Social Activities Appointed

A committee on Social Activities was appointed by President Jacobs to work on the system for the proper conduct of the social activities of the College.

Social functions have been so numerous of late that in order to prevent any interference of the dates of the activities to follow and also to prevent the occurrence of too great a number of social occasions in one week, the committee was appointed.

The committee consists of Prof. R. R. Haun, chairman; Miss Mull and Coach Arthur Murray.

year and is keenly anticipated by music lovers of the college and city.

Many persons were forced to stand throughout the entertainment and others were turned away, not being able to secure even standing room. This was the largest crowd that has been present at the Faculty Recital for a number of years. The audience was of the most critical type, composed largely of persons accomplished in music and dramatics.

The program was classical and complete in every respect. The College is considered especially fortunate to have the strong departments of voice, piano and expression which it has this year. The various instructresses are of such ability as to be a credit to any faculty. The following program was offered:

Anna Brauer—piano.
Catherine Cole Steele—reader.
Amy Genevieve Haun—soprano.
Gladys Kottmeier—accompanist.

FRESHMAN FALLS, IS INJURED

Miss Virginia Haun, a freshman from Virginia and sister of Prof. R. R. Haun, sustained a sprained ankle when she tripped and fell while coming out of her brother's home on Grant street last Friday.

The unfortunate accident will probably keep Miss Haun on crutches for two weeks or more.

year should be a valuable addition to the team this year. Weber shows promise of developing into a high class backfield man, in addition to being a punter of rare ability; he is fast and shifty on his feet. Hunter is big but lacks experience, nevertheless he is showing the determination which is going to put him in more than one game this year.

Men on the second squad of last year who are looming up good, are: Ullam, guard, Rupert and Hastings, ends. These are showing the dash and pep essential in football and lack of experience is all that keeps them off the first squad. The team this year is heavier than last, Rowsey at guard leads in weight, tipping the scales at 192. Baylor, Wood, Piper and Hunter all tip the scales near 180. The backfield men although comparatively light, make up their lack of weight by speed. The squad has gone through the usual preliminary football work of passing, catching punting, blocking, tackling and other fundamentals of the game. Ashland is lucky this year in having a wealth of good punters, and Murray has already begun to worry over which one to use. O'Neal, Weber, McClintock and Fox are getting about fifty yards to their punts. Weber especially is kicking in good form. His spiral kicks are almost impossible to catch and should give opposing quarters much trouble. In the kicking line the team lacks a good drop-kicker and place-kicker. Several men are showing ability in this department.

More seriousness and earnestness is manifest by the men in practice this year than last. The fact that there are several men capable of filling each position is making the practice snappy and interesting. The team will go into action against Wooster September 30, equipped with plays which require dash and snap to execute and toward this end the men have been working for several weeks. The line is charging low and hard and the backs are getting the plays off with machine-like smoothness. Ashland has been lucky in regard to injuries. Rowsey, tackle, was off several days with a bruised shoulder. Outside of this and a few other minor injuries the team is in good shape. On account of the Wooster game being the first game of the season the entire squad will probably be taken to Wooster for this important contest. The team now lacks a captain, owing to the fact that Samuel Wilcox, fullback of last year, underwent a serious illness this summer and will be unable to play this season.

PRESIDENT JACOBS TO PREACH AT CHURCH ON SUNDAY

In the absence of Rev. J. A. Garber, who has secured a year's leave of absence from the college and church, Dr. Jacobs, President of the College will deliver the first sermon Sunday.
