CREAM STATIONS SHOW INCREASE

Milk Shows High Test and Good Price is Paid Producers

That Collierville is "The Dairy Town" is further evidenced by the fact that three cream stations, which began doing business here last September have enjoyed a steadily increasing patronage and are shipping cream into Memphis every day.

The Sunlight Produce Company's Station, under the management of Mr. Claude Harris handles the cream for the Sunlight people and Mr. Harris says that from the beginning, the station has done well and the cream has been of a high test quality. His average test has been from 35 to 40 percent which is the best for commercial purposes.

The Morning Glory Creamery of Memphis opened a station here about the same time and it also has had a good business. Mr. T. L. Treadwell, Jr., is the manager of this plant and says the cream they have handled has been of the highest quality. He has averaged from 80 to 100 gallons per week. While the amount handled at the present time is a little less, it has shown a gain the past two weeks.

The Clover Farm Dairy of Memphis also have a Cream station here operated by the Collierville Cash Feed Store. Their average shipments run from 80 to 100 pounds from April to June. They also report a high test of the cream they have bought. Mr. Cook says the best commercial test is around 35 to 40 percent. Cream tests vary at different times of the year and from different causes. Variation in the speed of the separator is one; the temperature of the milk, another, the rate of the flow of milk into the separator, and many other things determine the test.

That Collierville and its territory is ideally situated for dairying has been demonstrated by the records of the past year and the cash returns from the sale of cream has meant quite a lot to our people. The industry seemingly has gone through the experimental stage and our people are learning the many advantages of having dairy cows on the farm.

Poultry is also coming in for its share in the earnings of the farm and proving a paying proposition.

ROBBERY

The local office of the Memphis Light and Power Company, located in the Harrell Drug Store, was entered sometime during the night Thursday and robbed of about ninety dollars in cash, taken from the desk of the manager. Entrance was effected thru a window at the back of the store and nothing else was taken or bothered. The loss was discovered Friday morning when the store was opened and City Marshal Lowe was called at once.

Mr. Lowe had a finger print expert out from Memphis at once and has been at work on several clues this week.

LOCAL SCOUTS GO TO MEMPHIS

To Hold Rally With Troop Saturday Night.

Troop No. 50 Boy Scouts of America will rally with Troop No. 54 in Memphis on Friday, March 16, at seven-thirty o'clock at Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church. All Collierville people interested in our troop are asked to attend this rally and back the boys. They will appreciate it and you will enjoy it, as well as learn something.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

People passing the corner at the Christian Church, no doubt, have seen boys waving red and white flags and have wondered what it was all about.

It was just the Boy Scouts of Wolf and Black Bear patrols practicing for a rally with Troop 54 of Memphis. The boys are working hard on semaphore and Morse code signalling, on First Aid and Knot-tying, because they have not been able to find any flint, they cannot practice fire building, by flint and steel.

Friday night, March 18th, the troop held an inter-patrol rally. The Black Bear won by a margin of two points.

Also on Friday night, Scout Leo Hill was presented a second class badge and Scouts Aubry Guy and Frank Coyle were given embroidered first class badges. Scout Howard Clayton has passed the tenderfoot requirements and several second class requirements.

The rally with Troop 54 is to be staged Friday, March 15th at the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church. The teams which will participate are: Black Bear patrol, Morse code, sender Leo Hill, reader Howard Clayton, receiver Frank Coyle, writer Floyd Strong; Semaphore code, sender Frank Coyle, reader Howard Clayton, receiver Aubry Guy, writer Floyd Strong. First Aid team is Leo Hill and Frank Coyle.

The fire making team is undetermined. The teams of the Wolf patrol are:

Morse Code, sender Franklin Hughes, reader Claude Selmon, receiver Lawrence Elliott, writer, Henry Rutledge; Semaphore Code, sender Henry Rutledge, reader Claude Salmon, receiver McCowan Flemming, writer Franklin Hughes.

First Aid, Henry Rutledge and Davis Leake.

The Scouts of Troop 50 extend the handclasp and welcome of the Boy Scouts of America to John Kirk.

Onward Scouts and win the rally.

PIANO TUNER HAS LONG RECORD

A record of fifteen years, tuning and repairing pianos in this section, is enjoyed by Mr. W. W. Clay, who lives in Collierville and represents the Baldwin Piano Company. He has made this place his headquarters, doing work over this entire section, and has become well known. He is carrying an ad in the Herald.

The First Bit of Green

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

The Federation of Young Peoples' Societies will have its first regular meeting on Saturday evening, March 16th at eight o'clock at the Collierville Christian Church. A good program is promised and all young people especially urged to attend. B. Y. P. U. and Epworth Leaguers are expected to join the celebration. It is not for Christian Endeavorers alone, but just what the name implies, a Federation.

EASTERN STAR INSTALLS OFFICERS

At a call meeting held Monday night, of Collierville Chapter, No. 255, Order of the Eastern Star, the following officers were installed: Mrs. F. Houston, Worthy Matron; Mr. F. Houston, Patron; Mrs. Willie McCall, Associate Matron; Mrs. John Neely, Conductress; Bessie Clay, Associate Conductress; Mrs. Leland Jameson, Secretary; Mrs. Franklin Kelsey, Treasurer; Mrs. D. S. Kilpatrick, Marshall; Mrs. Tommy Moore, Ada; Mrs. Dalma Dowdy, Martha; Dr. S. W. McCall, Chaplain, and Mr. Phil Hilton, Sentinel. There are three more Star Points to be installed.

A good attendance of the members was present and delightful refreshments were served. Mrs. Josie Tyler, Past Grand Matron, Mrs. Kenton, Kenton, Past Matron and Mrs. King, Past Matron of Memphis were visitors to the Chapter. Much interest is being shown by the members and the coming year to be a good one for the Chapter.

MICKIE SAYS—

EVER NOTICE THAT THE LIVE BUSINESS FIRMS DON'T SKIP ON PRINTING? THEY HAVE PLENTY OF STATIONERY, STATEMENTS, NOTEHEADS, DIFFERENT SIZED ENVELOPES, SHIPPING TAGS, GUMMED LABELS, BUSINESS CARDS AND PRINTED FORMS—TO BE A LIVE ONE, DO AS THE LIVE ONES DO!

WILL REPAIR STREETS, LAYING MORE MAINS

Old Water Mains Being Replaced With Larger Ones

Work on the city streets will be done as soon as the gravel arrives. The recent laying of new mains around the business section and part of the residential section of town, caused some bad places to be left along the curbs. These are being leveled this week and prepared to be covered with gravel.

Six and eight inch mains were laid around the square with four inch mains along Railroad street and to the Pike and the school. Later new mains will be laid all over the residence section, furnishing better protection against fire. The city has fire hose and with the installing of standard fire hydrants and the large mains, the fire hazard much less.

Collierville enjoys a splendid water service, a good pressure being maintained at all times and the water of a good quality.

SCHRADER FARMS

That good sweet potatoes can be raised here easily is shown by Mr. Henry Schrader who has made a splendid crop on his place two miles north of town. He averaged 150 bushels per acre and has 300 bushels of good yams for sale and is also offering Certified Nancy Hall seed potatoes for planting. Note his ad in the Classified Column of the Herald this week.

ATTRACTIVE SERIES OF ADS

The Purina Feed People are running an attractive line of advertising in the Herald beginning with last week. These ads tell the advantages of the Purina line of feeds, which is handled here by the Hinton and Hutton Company. Records of results are being kept by Field selecting the feed best suited to Men of the Company and every assistance is given patrons in their use.

AUTO ACCIDENT

A Ford touring car driven by Mr. Tilton Bryant, on his way to Memphis Sunday afternoon, collided with a car coming toward Collierville, near Ridgeway on Park Avenue. In avoiding striking a car which had stopped suddenly, Mr. Bryant's car was struck by the other one, resulting in smashing the front wheel. The driver did not stop and later when caught up with by Mr. J. L. Dean, who happened along at the time, and with J. L. Irby, gave chase, the party refused to give his name. They secured the number, which was a Mississippi license. No one was hurt in the accident.

YOUNG PEOPLES SOCIETIES OF GERMANTOWN MEET

The Epworth League will be entertained at the home of Mrs. P. E. Gorman with a St. Patrick's Day party on March 21st. All Leaguers are cordially invited and a good time has been promised everyone who comes. We'll have something to eat, too. Leaguers, so let's all be there at 8:00 o'clock sharp.

The Christian Endeavor Social has been postponed until a later date. We're looking forward to this party because we always have such good times at their socials.

LOCAL TEAM WINS FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Play Second Game With Millington Here Tonight

By John E. Leake

Collierville Boys won the first game with Millington, played at Millington Tuesday night, of the series to decide the championship of Shelby County. The game was closely contested throughout, the final score being 12 to 14.

The boys are coming around again. They looked mighty good and their playing showed fine team work, as did everyone on the team. The winning score came in the last three minutes.

George R. James Girls defeated the Collierville Girls for the championship of the Southern Division in a good game, also played at Millington, Tuesday night. Both teams played well.

Friday night, (tonight) the Boys will play Millington here, and should Collierville win, it will end the series, giving them the first two games.

PARKVIEW THEATRE

The Parkview Theatre is offering for tonight and Saturday night, a William Haines picture, "Excess Baggage." This tells a story of Vaudeville actors, behind the scenes, giving highlights of the movie studios in California and telling a story of interest interspersed with comedy and dramatic situations. It is a picture of the better kind and follows the policy of the management in bringing to Collierville, the best of pictures.

Tuesday and Wednesday of next week will see a feature picture, "Behind Closed Doors," with Virginia Vallis and Gaston Glass. This is a mystery picture and filled with thrills, one you will want to see.

Fred Rutledge is able to be out again after being sick for the past week.

CAPITOL GUIDE CAN GIVE THE ANSWER

Old-Timer Has Ready Reply for Every Tourist.

Washington.—A little girl of seven came down from Massachusetts the other day to visit her grandfather. He met her at the train. As the two emerged from the Union station the little girl glimpsed the dome of the National Capitol in the distance...

"Grandpa, I know what that place is." He looked at her with interest. "That's your capitol," the little one said. "Your capitol."

And "grandpa"—Capt. B. J. Cady, chief of guides for more than 50 years at the National Capitol, admits that he regards the building in pretty much the same way.

Book Post in Hayes' Regime. Rutherford B. Hayes was President of the United States when Captain Cady took up his post in the rotunda of the Capitol building. That was 50 years ago...

To sit and talk with Captain Cady is to obtain an unforgettable picture of the great events and outstanding figures in the last half century of America's national life. He has observed all of them at close range during this 50-year period...

Always an Answer Ready. Until the other day he thought he had been asked every possible question about the Capitol building, but one visitor popped a brand new one. He was asked: "How much does this building weigh?"

"No daunted, the captain gravely answered: "Approximately 999,783,210 pounds." The chap walked away, perfectly satisfied.

He is frequently asked, after a party has been shown both the house and senate chambers, to point out the place where congress meets. More than once a visitor has requested an introduction to a senator or representative from his home district when that senator or representative is not a member of congress, but the state legislator.

Couples on their honeymoon flock to Washington and Captain Cady entertains them. He has become an expert in picking out the bride and groom from among the others in the party.

Would Inflict 10,000 Goats on North Carolina

Kinston, N. C.—D. Eugene Wood, Kinston sportsman, would have the general assembly of North Carolina spend $10,000 to buy 10,000 goats and turn them loose in the eastern and western part of the state in the hope that the number would increase to 100,000 in ten years.

He believes, does Mr. Wood, that the goats would: Rid the state of weeds and undergrowth and thus beautify woods and natural parks.

Eradicate snakes and other pests by eating up weeds and things that snakes lurk in.

Give the mosquito population a wallop by eating weeds in marshes and allowing the sun to dry up the water puddles.

And another thing they would provide a new supply of game, he says, adding: "If you don't believe it try to catch a tame billy goat when he doesn't want to be caught."

French Rush to Defend the Innocent Oyster

Paris, France.—France has rushed to the defense of the oyster against attacks by British medical scientists F. Borde, a French oyster magnate on behalf of the republic takes vigorous issue with the British position that oyster vitamins are of "little importance."

The research work, said M. Borde of Madame Randuin and Doctor Porter of the Sorbonne had proved to a skeptical world that the oyster contained a large quantity of vitamin C. He added that American experimenters had disclosed the existence of vitamins A and B.

EVERY DISEASE FOUND IN CHINA

Sanitation in Western Sense Completely Lacking.

Washington, D. C.—In China every known disease exists, and floods, wars and famines are common. But the political and economic situation affects the people's health more than any of the diseases, in the opinion of an official of the United States public health service who has recently returned from China. Ignorance and terrific poverty are of course responsible for the prevalence of tuberculosis, smallpox, cholera, intestinal diseases and diseases resulting from faulty diet.

Sanitation in the western sense is completely lacking for all but the wealthy mandarin class. In fact, vast numbers of the Chinese population have not even a roof to cover them while they sleep, or to protect them from the elements. Their entire property consists of the rags they wear as clothing. The rickshaws, coolies, hot and sweating after their last run have nowhere to sleep at night but the pavement. Such exposure combined with underfeeding makes tuberculosis especially prevalent among them.

No foreigner dares to eat uncooked food in China. Salads of raw lettuce, celery, tomatoes, etc., are so dangerous as to be prohibitive. In spite of all precautions, foreigners nearly always get dengue fever if they are in the country for any length of time.

A fungous infection of the feet, known as Hongkong foot, is very common. It is spread by the barefoot coolies, but shoe mandarins and foreigners also acquire it.

The civil wars are of course responsible for great loss of life. This is due not so much to the numbers killed in battle as to the starvation that results when all the able-bodied men of a large district are called from the fields to the armies. Crop failure is the first consequence and famine the second. In a country as thickly populated as China, failure of one crop spells disaster far more completely than in other less densely peopled countries.

Traces of Ancient Race Unearthed in Nevada

Los Angeles, Calif.—Traces of the oldest Americans are being sought in Nevada and eastern California by an expedition from the Southwest museum. The expedition which is led by M. R. Harrington, is exploring a region that is almost unknown to the archaeologist's point of view.

Scattered discoveries made in Nevada show that the early Pueblos lived and farmed that far northward. Traces of the old basket makers, who preceded the Pueblos and lived many centuries before Christ, have also been found.

The territory chosen by the expedition may yield evidence of Americans much older than this, according to James A. R. Scherer, director of the museum for it is generally accepted that the original Americans entered this country by way of Bering strait and migrated down through the West, crossing the valleys where the expedition will camp. Special attention is to be given to caves of the region, according to Mr. Scherer, because in these dry and protected recesses the remains and possessions of the early Americans are found best preserved. The caves are being rapidly looted by irresponsible relic hunters, scientists have found, and must be explored soon or never.

Cuba Quits Bongo Drum as Incitement to Savagery

Havana.—The Cuban government has prohibited the beating of the African bongo drum.

The restriction carries heavy penalties on the ground that the monotonous reverberations induce a state of savagery in ignorant listeners and a state of irritation in others.

To those who have studied the history of Africa the bongo drum is well known as the wireless system of African tribes and herts from these drums, sometimes 25 miles apart, send messages throughout the densest jungles. To those who have studied voodooism the bongo drum is like wise known, for it is used to incite dancers to a dangerous state of savagery.

Britain Has Lifeboat for Disabled Aircraft

Dover, England.—A new type of motor lifeboat specially designed to go to the aid of air planes which may come down while crossing the English channel is to be stationed at Dover by the Royal National Lifeboat Institution.

She will be the first British lifeboat to be fitted with wireless. Sixty-four feet long, with a speed of 17 to 18 knots, the craft will be the largest and fastest lifeboat in the world. She will have two cabins to hold about 50 people, be lighted by electricity and have a searchlight and flare-throwing gun.

BUOYS 'LL BE BUOYS OR MAY BE GHOSTS

Strange Adventure on Staten Island Ferry.

New York.—Buoys will be buoys until they mistake their vocation in life and become pugilists or ghosts, depending on the point of view.

The trip on the Staten Island ferryboat where men are men and ferryboats merely transportation problems is long and interesting. So interesting that the captain who was still young and susceptible paid more attention to two pretty girls walking along the saloon deck than he did to the steering of the boat. He unconsciously steered the vessel toward the shore.

Along the shore, or rather some little distance out, the government authorities have placed nice large white buoys. These buoys mark the line inside which is safe anchorage. That is, it is safe if there is no ferryboat with a susceptible captain steering.

Down in the Cabin. The boat drew nearer and nearer to the line of buoys and finally hit one of them a glancing blow sufficiently hard to knock the buoy on its side.

Now it is necessary to go below to the cabin. The passenger list was small. It consisted of one man, who was dejectedly seated on the side of the boat nearest to the shore. This passenger had been celebrating something or other. He imagined he was at sea. He lurched every now and then as the boat rolled and every once in a while he picked himself off the floor and replaced himself on the seat. He muttered to himself continuously, "Dirty weather," or "It's a wild night at sea."

He had just picked himself up for the sixth time when the ferryboat, unknown to the captain, had struck the buoy. As the boat veered off, the buoy, which was long and high, swung back and on the rebound smashed straight through the window of the ferryboat and then as rapidly heeled over the other way.

The buoy was painted white and it selected the window under which the passenger was sitting for the one to be broken, and then to make the job complete it tapped the passenger on the head and disarmed as quickly as it had arrived. The passenger saw nothing but a ghostly white object hitting him when he was not expecting it and then going away before he thought of its conduct. He was annoyed and not a little frightened.

If the shattered glass hadn't been there as visible evidence he would have concluded that it was all a dream.

Besides, he had a bump on the side of the head and he went on deck to remonstrate gently with the captain or anyone else he could find. He found the mate.

"What the h—l do you mean," he said, "hitting that window over my head and then hitting me without telling me first?"

Mate Is Worried. The mate began to get worried. He didn't know anything about the buoy and he didn't know how to handle a case of delirium tremens. He did the best he could. He persuaded the passenger to show him where the window had been broken.

"Why," he said, "you're liable to get into trouble for that. If anyone finds out that you broke that window you'll have to pay for it and maybe go to jail for causing wilful damage."

"But," protested the passenger, "I didn't break the window. Some one broke it from the outside and hit me over the head."

"They couldn't break it from the outside," replied the mate, "there is no deck outside the window. You go to sleep again and get off the boat when she docks before the captain finds about this."

The passenger looked out of the window and sure enough there was no deck. He seemed mystified. Then he walked over to the other side of the boat, sat down and as he fell asleep again he murmured "Then it was a ghost. I thought it was at first, but what did he want to hit me for. He ain't a friend of mine."

Tons of Plant Food Extracted From Air

Columbus, Ohio.—In 1928 scientists captured nearly 1,000,000 tons of nitrogen out of thin air—a source that is inexhaustible.

The process is known as "fixing" air nitrogen and is the basis of an industry that rapidly is developing in this country.

Dr. Elmer E. Bear of the soils department of Ohio State university says the amount is equivalent to more than 4,000,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia, or more than 5,000,000 tons of nitrate of soda.

All Those Who Sell Gifts Can't Escape Tax Laws

Washington.—Those who sell their gifts cannot always escape the all-embracing tax laws. The Supreme court has decided that if the price received for a gift was higher than the donor paid the difference was taxable. The question was brought before the court by the wife of Chief Justice Taft's nephew, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Taft, who lost the case. She sold stock in a motor company given her by her father and received $11,709 more than it cost him.

Physician Not Needed Through a Glass Darkly

Henry Miller, a farmer near Altoona, Kan., heard a cracking sound every time he drew a breath, and it worried him. He was afraid his heart was affected and went to a doctor for an examination. The doctor, in addition to pronouncing his heart all right, located the source of the noise. It came from a small buckle on Miller's suspenders.

COLOR CONTRAST IN LIGHT COATS; NEW MOUNTINGS IN NECKPIECES

COLOR contrast and fabric contrast are two controlling elements in apparel design for spring. Sometimes it is the one, sometimes the other and often both fabric and color contrasts occur at the same time.

One sees the two-fabric and the two-color contrast theme interpreted by the milliner who works felt with straw, or either of these with a different fabric, playing up just now plaids and checks and other scarf baby scarves as can be imagined, they are tremendously smart and exclusive. —these thin supple furs made into narrow scarves or tiny capelet effects which tie in front, also detachable collars which finish with a cravat bow. It's a taking idea—this of a removable fur collar—and is a strong argument in favor of buying a furless coat for spring. With a detachable collar the coat is tuned to the early chilly midseason days and silks, or if not silk then gay cotton or linen prints or fanciful woven weaves—all of which go to make up the much talked of hat and scarf sets.

In the case of the blouse contrast is again the govt—two colors of jersey, a light and a dark tone, or print with plain and so on. No style item is more loudly heralded than that of white with a touch of color. A white jersey or crepe blouse is piped, per haps, with chartreuse green or very likely bright red, for red and white is a combination much exploited.

Not alone as to hats and the blouse, but coats and frocks—in fact in its every phase does fashion emphasize the contrast theme. The coats in the picture happily interpret contrast both in matter of color and fabric. The model to the right employs diamond shaped insets of cloth of a different color also bordering the revers and sleeves with the contrasting weave.

The coat to the left is interesting not only because of its contrast trim ming, but the fact that it is double breasted is significant. Double-breast fastenings are again in fashion. Very when warmer weather comes unnap the collar and there you have it—a seasonable practical summer wrap.

Between the ever handsome single-skin fox and the multi-skin choker of sable or marten there is considerable rivalry this season. The variety of new mountings makes the new chokers almost irresistible. In the picture Barbara Kent, one of screenland's favorite daughters, demonstrates the effectiveness of a multi-skin choker with the steviness mode.

The individual notes acquired by the scarf illustrated typify the new trend in arrangement of marten and sable scarves. In very luxurious models as many as twelve sable skins are inter-worked, although the majority are styled with from two to five skins.

Single-skin fox pieces are not out-rivalled by the season's novelties. Advance spring models highlight them in a wide color range in silver, cross and pointed varieties, also the white fox scarf loses none of its prestige.

The beauty of the new fox pieces is that they are tuned to become an integral part of the ensemble costume smart mode cuts for double-breast un-furred coats plentifully stitched, some with cape collars, of colorful cloth, for coats this season take on new char acter because of their colorfulness.

Short jackets of flannel either plain or blazer-striped or of velveteen are fashioned with the popular double breast openings.

Going back to the coats pictured with them it becomes a simple matter to carry out the ensemble idea through selecting one's frock of light woolen or silk to match the coloring of the cloth trimmings on the coat.

The separate fur neckpiece has come into its own. With furless coats and one-piece lightweight woolen street frocks heralded for spring, the fur scarf or choker becomes a neces sary luxury.

One is by no means obliged to select from a few conventional types. Judg ing from the fascinating collections on display, the fur neckpiece is about to play a role as versatile as the gay, silken scarf has been staging this many a season. In fact some of the most intriguing furs take the triangle or kerchief form. Of course in this event the pets are the thin fabriclike sort, such as geyak, shaggy lamb and

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

SUN'S COMPLIMENTS

The robins and orioles and song sparrows and members of the gold-finch family all agreed to furnish the music for a concert, while the members of the trillium and hepatica flower families said they would give the stage.

They asked the crows if they would act as ushers at the concert and show the birds who were not taking part to their perches—for the birds always say perches and not seats.

The flowers thought that there were some nice ones along the ground in some of the low shrubs, and of course the fence was always the best and finest for the boxes held by the mother and father birds.

The crows were delighted to be asked to act as ushers, for they were much flattered.

They went around caw-cawing in a very proud manner.

"They asked us to act as ushers, caw-caw," they said. "They wanted smart, handsome black shiny ushers, caw-caw," they boasted.

"They knew we must make the concert seem very grand, caw, caw," they bragged. And so on.

The day for the concert came, and the birds all arrived on time.

But long before the time for the concert to begin the crows reached the out-door concert hall.

The flowers were hardly awake when the crows came cawing along, saying,

"We are here. We are ready to show the people to their perches.

Soon the Birds Began to Arrive.

Must they show their tickets? Is it to be a pay concert?"

"No," said the flowers, shaking their heads, "it is not to be a pay concert.

"It is to be a free concert, for we have invited everyone."

"All right," said the crows. "Caw-caw, we only wanted to know."

As a matter of fact they only wanted to talk and make a great deal of noise.

They wanted everyone around to know that they had been chosen as the ushers at the concert.

Soon the birds began to arrive. And such a burst of color.

The orioles were looking very lovely with their bright, gay coloring, and the goldfinch family looked like bright gold.

The robins had such handsome red waists on, and the song sparrows were shining merrily and saying,

"We are happy and gay and free, even if we are not much to see, for though our colors are not very bright,

We can play by day and sleep at night, and we, without fine feathers and tails, will sing you now our very best trills."

To be sure the song sparrows sang beautifully, and all the other birds were saying,

"Twee, twee, cheep, cheep," which was their way of saying "Bravo."

All the birds sing and the crows showed all the guests to their perches.

The flowers were the stage, and how proud they were to give their beauty for the decorations.

The butterflies came because Mr. Sun had invited them. And Mr. Sun's guests were always welcome.

The humming birds and thrushes came too, and before the day was over, Mr. Sun said,

"Well, I don't know when I have had such a noted gathering to shine upon, for I have had the lovely flowers, the birds, butterflies, and the handsome crows."

So everyone was very happy, as the great Mr. Sun had paid them such fine compliments.

Percy's Own Fault

Two small boys returning to their schoolroom after recess showed evidence of having been crying.

Teacher—Percy, why are you crying?

Percy—Harold kicked me in the stomach.

Teacher—Harold, did you mean to kick Percy in the stomach?

Harold—Now, I didn't, but he turned around just as I kicked.

Didn't Say Anything

Bobby, aged four, was taken by his mother to visit his cousin, Donald, aged eight months.

When daddy came home that night he asked Bobby, "Did Donald talk to you?"

Bobby answered, "I talked to he and he talked to me, but he didn't say anything."

First Aid—
Home Remedy Week

The Good Samaritan figures in the 1929 "First Aid—Home Remedy Week" and is designated as the "First First Aid." This annual merchandising festival arrives with St. Patrick's Day, continues March 17-23 and marks the eighth anniversary of the plan dedicated to Drugdom by Sterling Products, Incorporated, in 1922 and immediately sponsored by the National Association of Retail Druggists. Seeing the great advertising and sales possibilities in the plan and its helpfulness to humanity, the National Wholesale Druggists' Association has swung behind it with the enthusiastic suggestion that druggists use local newspapers, and providing them with suggestive advertising copy tied to the National slogan, "Fill That Medicine Chest Now!"

Coming at a time when housewives are thinking of house cleaning, the command has added psychological sales value. Secretary S. C. Henry of the N. A. R. D., out of long experience says: "No one knows better than the average retail druggist how much needless suffering there is because most people are neglectful in the matter of making provision for the hour of need which is sure to come when sudden illness or unforeseen accident calls for immediate attention."

"Quick Relief Insurance" is the new definition of First Aid—Home Remedy Week's objective and is thus bringing the nation's "Health Service Stations" into closer every day life.

Flying Accidents

Let us not get the idea because we read of airplane accidents that amazing progress is not made in safe flying. As a matter of fact, flying is becoming increasingly safe. The reason, of course, that our attention is called to a number of accidents is that the use of the airplane is increasing at a tremendous rate. Thousands of people are now flying, as a matter of course, when but a few years ago the flyers could hardly be numbered in hundreds. In proportion to the number of machines in the air, the mishaps are far less frequent than formerly. The traveler by plane is probably as safe today as in almost any other common form of travel.

Help Kidneys After Grip

Don't Neglect Kidney and Bladder Irregularities.

HAS grip or flu left you stiff, achy—all worn out? Feel tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney excretions too frequent, scanty or burning? Too often this indicates sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

Thousands rely on Doan's Pills. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the activity of the kidneys and assist in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Says One of America's Greatest Children's Physicians . . .

"When you serve children This Wonderful Health Food"

"KARO syrup is the ideal food for the under-weight child," writes an eminent children's physician.

And he explains why:

Two tablespoonfuls of Karo in a glass of milk improves its taste and doubles the food value of the milk.

There are 120 calories per ounce in Karo—which means Karo is a great energy food—containing nearly double the energy value of eggs and lean beef, weight for weight.

Don't say "the town" but say "Our Town" in speaking of Collierville -- Get interested in your home town -- talk things over with your Councilmen and City officers. With your Chamber of Commerce officers. To make a town grow and improve it takes co-operation. We have everything that goes to make a good town. Let's just take advantage of our location, our surrounding territory and boost and then you'll see things happen and happen fast.

"It won't be Long Now" till Spring Gardens in Collierville will be supplying fresh vegetables for dinner. Everything to make a garden can be found in the stocks of Collierville stores. Garden tools and seed for planting and with Spring weather setting in it will only require a little time each day to make a nice garden. Another thing that we want to think about right now is planting trees and shrubbery. In other words let's get "Spring Cleaning" started and make our town look better.

We have on our Exchange desk, copies of The Carthaginian of Carthage, Miss. The Durant News, of Durant Miss. The Covington Leader of Coventon, Tenn. The Fayette Falcon of Somerville, Tenn. and The Dilley Herald, of Dilley, Texas. A new addition this week is the Chester County Independent of Henderson, Tenn. We appreciate these exchanges very much and will be glad to have others exchange with us. An exchange we enjoy very much is The Messenger, a monthly High School paper, edited by the Collierville High School Students. We consider this one of the best school papers we have ever seen. The last issue was an Athletic Numer, covering the District Tournament recently held here and carries a nice line of advertising as well as many interesting items of the school. We acknowledge with Thanks a nice write-up given the Collierville Herald, welcoming us to Collierville and we want the Staff of the Messenger to know that we appreciate it. We also thank them for the use of the Basketball cuts printed in our last issues.

Dairy Farming Will Be Feature of Weekly

Walter H. Harris has started the Collierville Herald as editor, with I. M. Hooper as business manager, in the Dairy town of Tennessee. Development of the town and its resources, service for dairy farmers and their surrounding territory are aims and objects.

A good country newspaper is the aim of Editor Harris. His first number shows enterprise in the news and advertising departments. The typographical arrangements in bold type, and easily readable. —Durant (Miss) News.

We appreciate the above comment very much. The Durant News was a regular Exchange with us down in Texas, where we were just getting into the Dairy Farming and we found many interesting items in it each week. The editor promised us a visit out there but never came, we hope he will visit us in our new location.

Collierville Paper Makes Debut

The Falcon takes this method of congratulating and welcoming The Collierville Herald which made its debut to an expectant public for the first time last Friday.
Mr Walter H. Harris and I M Hooper deserve to be lauded on the appearance of the initial issue of their paper in our sister town. The paper is a neat, newsworthy sheet that is full of boosts for Collierville and Tennessee, and we predict many years of growing and service for it and its management.—The Fayette Falcon.
We thank the Falcon for the above good wishes and while the flowers are being tossed, may we say, Brothers Paul E Phillips and James E Wilkinson, Editor and Business Manager, are getting out a nice paper and showing an improvement in each issue.

THE ALUMNI OF GERMANTOWN HI

Looking back at our old school notes we find John Wallace of Class '23 at Southwestern, and a member of the Freshman Class, Joe Sullivan and Wilbur Wright are in business college. Katherine Jones is a nursing student at Germantown High School.
Miss Frances Artman Class '27, is one of the outstanding students of Southwestern, especially in the literary work. She contributes regularly to the Southwestern papers, and has received honor for mention on her thesis and essays.
Mr. Howard Chandler is studying electrical engineering at the University of Tennessee.
Mr. Lawrence Colebank has done well in the University of Tennessee studying agriculture.
Mr. Shemund Cole is attending Harvard University and will graduate this year.
We wish that all of our alumni would visit us frequently. Anyone having further news about our alumni please let us hear from you.
—By Bill Smith.

YES, WE HAVE BASEBALL

Talking about baseball? Well, we'll tell you what's happening in Germantown. Coach Seiff has thirteen young husky fellows signed up for service. Last week the coach had his charges at work on the diamond. It is now in fair condition, but the coach refused to get up on the work. He says it must be smoother than a life insurance salesman's tongue.
Although the boys were rating to go coach held them down to build penance this week, as it is not want a flock of snoring, charley horses, and bruises.

HI-Y NEWS

The Hi-Y Club has been very active this year in the betterment of school and community life. The boys consider their work so far this year a big success and have greater plans for the future.
One of the big objects the club has done this year was to install a banking system in the school. The banking system has worked out wonderfully well and has attracted much attention for the school.
A first aid medicine cabinet is to be provided by the club, and placed in the main hall of the school where it will be available for all who need medical attention.
The club has been very active in the school's social activities. The boys were entertained in the home of Mrs. J. T. Wallace Friday night with a delightful dinner party. Every one reported a wonderful time.

WILSON LITERARY SOCIETY

Last Wednesday the Wilson and Grady Societies had an indoor basketball game instead of a regular meeting to see who would get the study hall for their program.
It was a good game in spite of the high score. Several girls got three baggers, but there were no home runs. The Grady won with a score of 23 to 4.
Subscription Contest
The Wilson Society won the subscription contest for the Herald. The Wilson Society got 57 and the Grady got 18. Mr. James let six of us go two months and we went all over town and had one to admit every house in Germantown. We got our 50 subscriptions to the Herald first and won the $10 that was offered.
—Billy Drake.

GRADY SOCIETY NEWS

Well, well, well, we lost a contest to the Wilson Society. Who would spoil our perfectly good wood. Shame on you, Grady, blame on you!
Well, anyway, we won a perfectly good ball game over them with a high score of 23 to 4. Thanks, girls, for redeeming yourselves.
Joint Meeting
The Grady's will have the pleasure of putting on the program for the next joint meeting. The members are working hard to make this one of the best joint meetings of the year.

WIDE TO HOUSEKEEPING

An epidemic of "going to housekeeping" hit the Germantown Home Economics club early in the fall. We decided to do as much as we could to do that the first thing was to put some way to raise our funds. We started out by selling our own materials made by the girls and Uncle Tom's devices, which the parent man graciously let us have a room. We made several dollars that way. Then one day through the kindness of Miss O'Neil the various-avaurman people offered to give a free demonstration at our school, allowing us 25 cents an hour that we could get to go. We purchased for a price of this lovely equipment for our laboratory. Through our own efforts and the kindness of our Parent-Teachers we have W-P-Ware china, imitation cut glass, glass, mops, spoons, and other equipment we needed. We were fortunate enough to get cabinet tops for our desks made by the Manual Training department. Whitehaven. We designed them and our designs were carried out perfectly.

It was a short time after the holidays that we really started to work getting some color in our room. We enameled the desks and cabinets Seagull green and our equipment, consisting of coffee cans and mayonnaise or mustard jars donated by the mothers, we enameled a lovely harmonizing orange. The painting was done entirely by the girls and teacher. Mrs. Harrison gave us a screen frame which we painted green and put orange and white curtains on it.
We raised enough money to buy new curtains for the windows of white marquisette by having a bean guessing contest. This contest aroused much interest as there was a box of Whitman's Sampler offered to one guessing the nearest to the number.

The good work can not stop, we must keep it going and your support will be greatly appreciated. "Every little bit helps."

You should have been at the Germantown High School during the chapel period Friday morning. The Kiowa Indians, namely, "Woman Heart" and "Lightfoot," gave us an interesting program. They were dressed in typical Indian costume. Woman Heart gave the history of the family and tribe the home life, and the school life in the early days as compared with today. He gave a description of the two weapons, the spearhead and the bow and arrow and the use of each. After this the peace pipe scene was presented. They gave four of our early Indian dances, "Ghost Dance," "Snake Dance," "Ceremonial Dance," "Yo Ho." A demonstration of how the Indians were called to council by a pipe made of cedar. On hearing this tale the Indians came singing or playing on a flute "From the Land of Sky Pine Waters." Woman Heart demonstrated an Indian wedding and the interesting part is that he sang and Indians in early days ate only meat and bread, but now they have learned to eat greens. He doubts whether they will ever eat grapefruit or not. The Indian never shaves, but pulls out whiskers with tweezers hammered out of steel. The most interesting part of the program were the scalp dances and the war dances. The last scene they presented themselves as English, Frank and Harry, and gave two interesting numbers, "Shine on Harvest Moon" and "Happy Words." After the program we served them lunch, which they enjoyed greatly. We hope to have them in our school again soon.

Mr. Jones: (to Mr. Seiff) You ought to see my new dining room furniture. It goes back to Louis XIV.
Mr. Seiff: (turning aside) Urh! That's nothing, mine goes back to Sears-Roebuck on April 1st.

Grady Sandridge to Miss McIntyre: Is the end of time near?
Miss McIntyre: I do not know. My advice to you is keep busy using the time as it comes and let the future take care of itself. It is in good hands.

Robert Downs: Can you imagine anything worse than being a cornstuck and having your ears pulled by farmers?

Willard Colebank: How about being a potato with your eyes full of dirt?

Dora: "Come, you shouldn't refuse to lend me money. One friend should always be willing to help another."

Cornelia: "Yes, but you will insist on always being the other."

Madlyn: Six years ago I could not sing a note.
Grace: Well!

Madlyn: Now I can sing one note. And she is a "senior."

Frederick knows a boy so dumb that he thought "No Man's Land" was the girl's gymnasium.
First Pig: I never sausage heat.

Second Pig: Yes, I'm bacon.

THE ADVANTAGE OF HOLDING TOURNAMENTS

The development of sportsmanship among the players and teams is an outstanding feature of a tournament. The officials in charge of the tournament put much stress on clean, fair playing and the taking of defeat as it is meted out without showing ill humor. Trophies are offered to the teams showing good sportsmanship and it is a signal honor to win one of these trophies as all the teams are working and the winning team has the assurance that it has done mighty well.

Tournaments instigate a spirit of loyalty and discipline among the players. Each member of a team is filled with a desire to see his school come first. They are loyal to their school and then too they must be loyal and co-operative among themselves. They have to work together and have confidence in one another to win. The players have to learn to be obedient to the coach of the team for he is in the best position to know what is best for them. They have to carry out his orders if they are to be successful.

Participation in the different games develops the players physically because they have to adhere to strict training rules and keep themselves fit before they can reach the peak of their ability. Everyone is ashamed to be awkward or ungraceful in playing and they try to improve their form until they become active, smooth players.

Those who participate in the tournaments have a chance to make a name for themselves, their team and their school in athletic circles by brilliant performance. Anyone should be proud to make the all-star team or get honorable mention.

Another benefit to be derived from a tournament is the recreation and fun. All players enjoy going off to the tournament. They can meet other boys and girls and have a very good time.

Famous Sayings

Mr. Jones—"My demerit class will meet in the library at 12:20."

Miss Pearl—"Today is debt day, everybody will please see me."

Mr. Setliff—"That was a close call, class."

Miss Hughes—"I will meet my class at 12:30 please."

Miss McIntyre—"I just got back from Germany. Ah that beer, that cheese."

Miss Hughes—"How did you like the Rhine?"

Miss McIntyre—"I usually cut that off."

"Here's where I loose Ground," said the tramp, as he stepped under the shower.

Mr. Setliff—"What's all that noise?"

Cornelia—"I just dropped the perpendicular sir."

Cordova Notes

Mr J. E. Carter has sold the little home he built on the lot just south of the Depot to George L. Keeton who expects to move there in the near future.

Mrs E. C. Humphreys spent last week end in Memphis as a guest of her daughter Mrs J. T. Burrows.

Mr and Mrs E. R. Peel accompanied by Miss Mattie Mc Clain were visitors of Mrs J. W. Carter and Miss Sadie Carter Sunbay. Mr and Mrs Callis were numbered among their guest also.

Miss Adele Carl is making her home with her sister Mrs J. L. Arrington.

Miss Eula Allen Post Mistress is spending a few days in Memphis this week with relatives. Miss Sadie Carter assistant is in charge of the office.

Charlet Schwan and family of Bartlett were dinner guest in the home of John Schwan Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Horace Womble who spent several weeks in Houston, Texas returned last week for a few days visit with Mr and Mrs W. T. Rash. They are now in Miss where Mr Womble has taken his old territory.

Mrs J. E. Bazmore spent several days last week as a guest of Mrs Thompson and daughter in Highland Heights, Memphis.

Friends of Miss Rosamond Allen in the Cordova High School where she had a class in Expression a few years ago will be interested in knowing that she will be married on the evening of the 16th to Mr Joseph Peacock of Atlanta, Ga. She will have a very simple wedding at her home on N. Waldran Memphis. The ceremony will be said by the Rev. A. U. Boone. Miss Elizabeth Creath will render the nuptial music.

Improves Service Station.

The Seward Bros. Service Station at Fisherville is being improved this week by the addition of an awning and another tank and pump. They carry a neat line of Staple and Fancy groceries and also installing a Grist Mill and will be prepared to grind meal and feeds. The Station has enjoyed a splendid business since opening last September and has made friends in this community, and with the traveling public by their efficient and courteous service. They also handle cold drinks and lunchea.

PURPOSE OF ATHLETICS IN HIGH SCHOOL

The purpose of athletics in high school is a debatable question at present. There are many fair minded people, who insist that athletic activities constitute the primary factor, and that the scholarship phase of school life is secondary. They maintain that the good athlete, even though a poor scholar, receives the honors of the school.

This is true, perhaps in schools where too much emphasis is placed upon athletics. Any good thing if carried to the extreme becomes harmful. Eating is necessary for the preservation of life. Yet excessive eating becomes gluttony and is detrimental to life. Mental activity is necessary for happiness, yet excessive mental activity may go beyond bounds and become insanity. Likewise with athletics. If the proper balance is maintained between it and the other phases of school life, it is a potent factor in bringing health and happiness, and in developing high moral principles. It is with this proper balance in mind that the real purpose of athletics in high school should be considered.

High school activities should develop a pupil physically, mentally, and morally. If one of these three phases of growth is neglected the result is a stunted, subnormal, eccentric personality. Athletics is a vital factor in the development of all three. Thus, the purpose of athletics in high school is a three fold one.

Health to a great extent determines happiness and success. The mind and body are so interdependent that if the body is diseased, the mental activities suffer. There is no surer road to the goal of perfect health than regular exercise in the open air. The use of simple wholesome food not only strengthens the body for the present time but also develops habits of diet which do much toward promoting health in later life. A strong, sound body is built, trained gradually and steadily. If disease germs are present, the fresh air, regular habits, and simple diet build up resistance. Slight deformities are corrected, and more serious ones are overcome to a great extent. Theodore Roosevelt by steady faithful exercise grew from a weak sickly boy to a man, noted for strength and physical fitness.

Participation in athletics trains not only the body but also the mind. The athlete must think quickly; he must comprehend instantly; he must be able to act in emergencies. Many a game has been won because of quick wit and decisive acting. The mind of the athlete must be alert; else the opponent will take advantage of the momentary inattention. The ability to learn signals and to follow them instantly and accurately requires a clear memory, trained for action. The boy or girl who refuses to exercise his mental capacity sufficiently to do this loses ground not only for himself but for his team.

A student is required to maintain a certain scholastic standard in order to hold his place on the team. It is true that this sometimes causes better school work only because it is necessary for participation in games, but the habits of study developed in this way gradually cause the student to become interested in knowledge for its own sake.

Last and most important of all athletics develops a student morally. If only physical development is considered, we have a person of strength with no means of guiding that strength correctly. With the development of the second phase only, we have either a recluse, content to live apart from the world and its interests, or an educated criminal, a menace to society. Athletics does as much as any other one thing in the development and cultivation of high principles, which regulate the physical strength and guide the mental processes. This is proved by the fact that the expression, "A true sportsman," is synonymous with noble, upright behavior.

The athlete learns the lesson of co-operation with his colleagues; he learns the real meaning of team-work. He learns the laws of obedience; he realizes that he must do his best in the face of defeat, and that he must hold no grudge against his victorious opponent but admire him for his skill. He learns to control his temper, for he knows that the man who loses his temper usually loses the game. Babe Ruth, the world renowned baseball player, once gave a good exhibition of temper control. In the seventh inning of the last game of the 1928 World Series, when he returned to the field after the umpires had failed to call a strike on him, the crowd began to hurl bottles at him. Babe Ruth merely picked up a bottle and pretended to throw it back. This covered the crowd because they knew his skill in aiming. Then he smiled his broadest smile and dropped the bottle. This completely won the crowd to his side.

Association with other players gives a boy or girl experience in the difficult art of forming friendships. The player learns to choose the right associates and to cultivate the right type of friendships. He overcomes timidity and a disinclination to meet strangers on the one hand or conceit and snobbishness on the other. By his association with others he cultivates the traits of justice, reason, loyalty, obedience, and self control.

These rules which are learned on the athletic field are good rules for the game of life. Play the game hard, play it fairly and squarely, win with no thought of arrogance, lose with a smile, try over and over again; and the result is a joyous and successful life.

Thus, athletics has a purpose in high school, and a purpose difficult to refuse—the development of students with strong, healthful bodies, keen, alert, active minds; sane, moral principles and the grit and determination to carry on in the face of all obstacles.

Leonard Rogers won first place on the above essay, "The Purpose of Athletics in the High School," in the West Tennessee Athletic Association. His essay will be sent to Knoxville to be judged with the essays from the other districts.

Their Lives In Your Hands

SO MUCH depends upon the care you give them. Now... when they're so helpless and dependent on you to keep them alive... now, when their whole future depends on the feed you choose... is the time to feed Purina Chick Starters and Purina Baby Chick Chow.

They'll repay you for it many times in the months to come. Purina has all the proteins, minerals and vitamins it takes to strengthen and develop their tiny frames and start them on the way to early and profitable maturity.

Mrs. John Durrum Says Could Write All Day and Not Say Enough Good About Milks Emulsion

"Have been thinking for some time of writing you in regard to Milks Emulsion.
"When I wrote you last fall I was very much discouraged. Doctors had told me for five years that I had T. B. Five doctors told me last fall that I was in advanced stages of T. B.
"I have taken your wonderful medicine all winter. Sometimes I would neglect taking it every hour, but would take several doses a day, and this is the first winter for seven years that I haven't spent most of the winter in bed. I haven't been in bed since this winter, and for two years I had been so sore across my abdomen I couldn't bear to press on it. That is all gone. I do all of my housework now except washing; weight 117 pounds, and feel fine.
"I can't praise your Emulsion enough. I tell every one I talk to what it has done for me and feel ashamed if I neglect it sometimes when I know what it has done for me and what it means for me.
"I could write all day and could never write enough good words about Milks Emulsion." Yours truly, Mrs. John Durrum, 451 W. Green St., Frankfort, Ind.

Poor Sight

The car was crowded and many were standing. An elderly man with poor sight was sitting, and before him was standing a young woman who dropped her handkerchief accidentally into the man's lap. Another man saw the handkerchief, touched the old man and called his attention to the handkerchief in his lap, whereupon the old man, looking down and mistaking it for his shirt, quickly shoved it into his trousers and rode peacefully on, the woman being none the wiser for her loss, as she had not known the handkerchief fell.

Plans Outlined to Kill Weeds

Farmers Advised to Plant Smother Crops in Infested Places.

Plans for fighting noxious weeds which cause losses of many thousands of dollars annually to the farmers of Colorado are outlined by Walter Ball of the botany department of the Colorado Agricultural college.
The actual loss due to weeds is not known, but the presence of weed seeds and the large number of weeds actually harvested each year indicate a very high loss, Mr. Ball says.
Principal weed pests on the farms are the perennials such as the wild morning glory, bindweed, poverty weed, Canada thistle and Russian knapweed.
Plan Smother Crops.
In planning crops for this coming spring and summer farmers would benefit by planting smother crops in those places that are heavily infested with bindweed, poverty weed or any of the other more noxious perennial weeds, it is suggested.
"If the weed area is rather large, it should be isolated or farmed alone; if planted in row crops, the rows should be far enough apart to allow thorough and clean cultivation, for eradication of weeds in such an area is more important than the crop produced," declares Mr. Ball.
"If eradication is successful the production of good crops will be possible thereafter.
"If alfalfa is planted on a weedy area, it will suppress the weeds, weaken them and make it possible to kill the weeds after the alfalfa is plowed and cultivation is started again.
"Sweet clover is a very good smother crop and in some cases has eliminated the field bindweed or wild morning glory. By planting sweet clover two years in succession, that is planting the same area twice, a good stand is assured. Being a biennial, clover will give a very effective three years' smother crop."
Pasture Grass Helps.
Tame pasture grass planted in weed-infested areas will be helpful if pastured to sheep, for the weeds will be taken first. Competition for growth, and close grazing by sheep will make it extremely difficult for weeds to grow. If a tame pasture is planted, a good seedbed should be prepared for grass seeds are very small, and should not be covered deeply. A good seedbed will insure a better stand of grass and therefore greater competition for the weeds.
Much work and trouble with weeds could be avoided by eradicating perennial weeds while in small patches. Everyone confronted by the weed problem should make an effort to learn to distinguish the noxious weeds in order to be prepared to get rid of them when they are first noticed.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.
One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.
Any drug store has the genuine, prescription product.

Low-Headed Trees Most Desirable for Handling

After the orchard is set it is wise to cut the trees back? It is. With such fruits as peaches and plums the bark is very thin, and if the trees are allowed to head out several feet from the ground it is likely that the exposed body and lower branches will be sun scalded during July or August. When a tree is sun scalded the bark (usually on the west side) peels off and insects enter and damage the trees. To avoid sun scald cut the peach and plum tree back when they are planted to a height of 18 to 20 inches so that the head will start from this height, and the shade furnished by the foliage will protect the body of the tree. Low-headed trees are desirable not only because the possibility of sun scald is eliminated, but because the fruit may be harvested more easily and quickly, and spraying and pruning can be done more thoroughly.

Agricultural Hints

It's the early pruner who gets all his trees in shape.
Sudan grass is no good for early temporary pasture but it is splendid from July 15 on until frost.

About three pounds of bright alfalfa or clover hay a day or 400 pounds for the season is usually sufficient for a cow.

There is a general rule that it takes 100 tons of alfalfa and about 50 tons of grain to put a 30-pound gain on 1,000 hinds.

Vaccination or humanization against cholera cannot be safely performed during the last two or three weeks before farrowing.

Pigs, as also other live stock, seem to be doing better this year on corn of good quality than on what we had to feed them the two previous years.

The best thing to do for swine flu, which is apparently increasing, is to maintain a high degree of resistance in the herd. Swine should be kept in dry and well-ventilated quarters.

When it comes to suit the lower animals are "humans." They want salt and must have it. Lower animals don't get salt sprinkled on their foods as humans, but they need it, nevertheless.

Drink Water If Back or Kidneys Hurt

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for March 17 THE CHRISTIAN'S SABBATH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Matthew 12:1-8. GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is Lord even of the Sabbath Day.

The designation "Christian's Sabbath" is a misnomer. The word "Sabbath" has a definite meaning. It signifies rest, cessation from action.

1. To commemorate the work of creation (Gen. 2:3 cf. Ex. 20:11).

2. To keep alive the knowledge of the true God. Creation witnesses of a creator. Keeping the Sabbath in mind kept in mind the creation, and the creation made real the Creator.

3. A forward look to the time when man shall enjoy full fellowship with God (Heb. 4:1-10).

4. To Israel it was a sign of the covenant between them and God (Deut. 5:12-15).

5. It was made for man's well-being (Mark 2:27).

At least while man's earthly condition continues, the Sabbath is needed to keep a proper balance between his body and his soul.

1. Obligations enjoined (20:8, 10). (1) Work through six days (v. 9).

The command to work six days is just as binding as the command to rest the seventh day. In fact, there can be no rest unless there first be work.

(2) Rest on the seventh day (v. 10). There must be cessation from all work on the Sabbath. Since God gave the example and then sanctified the day, it should be kept holy.

(3) Christ's reply to the Pharisees (v. 27). They asserted that Christ's disciples were breaking the law, when in reality they were only violating the traditions with which the law was encumbered.

(1) He is greater than their greatest king (v. 3-4). David, when rejected, was forced to do that which was unlawful for him to do (1 Sam. 11).

(2) He is greater than their sacrifice and priesthood (v. 5). If the priests, because of their position and services, could violate the Sabbath laws and be blameless, much more the One greater than they in performing His work of sacrifice and redemption for them should be considered guiltless.

(3) He is greater than the temple (v. 6). The temple, with all its gorgeous rites and ceremonies, was typical of Christ. Much more than did He have the right to do what He did.

The RETURN of ANTHONY TRENT

by WYNDHAM MARTYN

STORY FROM THE START

Anthony Trent returns to New York after nearly four years' absence. Once known as the master criminal, Trent is going straight.

Anthony Trent crossed the room to a trunk and took from it a photograph in a black morocco frame. Brunton Warne looked at it with respect.

"Surely that is the earl of Rosecarrel?"

Lord Rosecarrel was England's secretary of foreign affairs, a statesman and diplomatist of international renown.

Trent drew the photograph from its frame and showed the pursuer the inscription on the back. On it was written, "To my dear friend, Anthony Trent, the most chivalrous and courageous gentleman I have ever known."

"It was to meet Lord Rosecarrel's son that I made that suspicious jump at Liverpool. He saved my life in the war, and I simply had to see him. If it will ease your mind you can write and ask him."

"My dear sir, I should not dream of it," said Warne, much impressed. "This inscription is sufficient to satisfy me. I'm exceedingly sorry I've bothered you."

Trent watched him close the door and then sank into a seat. He had lived an hour which had been more filled with dread and fear of the future than the amiable pursuer would ever guess but now for a moment clear weather seemed ahead.

Then he thought of his city of New York, where most of his exploits had been achieved. During his absence, what piercing together of scraps of evidence might not have been made which should at length fashion Trent's own self into definite clues to his undoing?

CHAPTER II

The Man Who Made Himself at Home.

No inconveniences attended Trent's debarcation. He went to the rooms he had engaged by wireless in a fashionable hotel.

In Central Park, West, his own apartment had awaited for some years his coming. It was in those rooms at the top of a brown stone mansion now converted to flats, that he had begun his predatory career and continued it until he had gone with his regiment to France.

had made his exit and entrance this way to demonstrate its practicability. The maker of coffee in his kitchen could only have entered by this unauthorized method.

He strained his ears to catch what noises were coming from the kitchen. A group might be taking its evening meal for all he knew. His hearing was acute, and he had little difficulty in recognizing the sounds of footsteps.

Along the corridor, with a silence and stealth born of a hundred desperate situations, Trent made his way to the kitchen.

Sitting at the white kitchen table, his back to the house's owner, was a man in a purple dressing-gown. Trent recognized the garment as one of his own. The room was illuminated solely by a reading-lamp placed in the center of the table, against which was propped an evening paper.

"Come in, Mr. Trent," he said courteously. "I have been expecting you for a long time."

In answer to this amazing greeting Trent took a few paces forward and looked his visitor in the face. He was certain he had never seen him before.

"Now," said the stranger, rising, "let us adjourn to that delightful front room, where we can discuss those problems which puzzle you as to my presence here and its effect on your immediate actions."

"The immediate effect may be that I shall invite the police to investigate you."

The stranger did not immediately answer. Apparently he was fearless, for he turned his back on the younger man and walked calmly through the dining room to the target room in front. He settled himself in Trent's favorite chair after lighting a floor lamp.

"You were speaking of informing the police, were you not? I suggest that would be most ill-advised. An investigation is a double-edged weapon which often turns upon the one who wields it. You would make your case good to a certain point. Then your difficulties would commence. I should cast doubts upon you. I should demand an investigation. You would do one of two things. You would permit this or you would fight against it. If you permitted it, you would be lost. If you fought against it, you would be suspected. I should admit a natural curiosity about you. I should inform the police that the ways of Mr. Anthony Trent had interested me for some years."

The younger man uttered a little. There was an air of perfect fearlessness and serenity about him.

Miss Bliss Dunn was the attractive hostess to the Young Ladies Bridge Club Thursday evening, when she entertained the twelve members in her home. A course of violets to which were attached tally cards was presented to the guests. Bonbons were enjoyed as game progressed, after which a dainty salad course was served.

Miss Margery Craig won the high score prize, a lovely box of stationery, The Consolation, an attractive package of fragrant ball powders, was out by Miss Louise Williams.

Miss Dunn received her guests wearing a Spring gown of green dotted crepe.

The approach of St. Patrick's Day was daintily suggested when Mr. and Mrs. Winston Jones entertained at Bridge Monday evening in the home of Mrs. J. H. Burkam. Shamrocks decorated the ice and cakes served at the close of the game. The high score prize, a handmade guest towel, was won by Mrs. Thos. Dean. The gentleman's prize, silk stationery, was captured by Dr. Roy. Twenty guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr and Mrs Jones.

Mrs. M. L. Mangum and Mrs. Ben Buford entertained the ladies of St. Andrews Guild Wednesday afternoon. Among the members present were: Mesdames Holden, Ward, Jones, Marcelliot of Memphis, Mesdames Swoope, and Loft, Miss Louise Williams. Miss Davis of Memphis and Mrs R D Wilson were pleasant guests. After the business delightful refreshments were served.

One of the loveliest parties of the season was enjoyed Friday afternoon when Mrs Cecil Elliot and Mrs Charles Davis Jr jointly entertained the Ladies Bridge Club and Young Matrons Club in Mrs Elliot's home in Bailey. Mrs Elliot was charmingly wearing black georgette with green trimmings. Mrs Davis wore delft blue georgette with a garniture of eurl lace. Mrs Ralph DeShang of Wichita Falls, Texas, was an attractive guest gowned in an ensemble of brown transparent velvet.

Golden juncos in bowls and the bright costumes of the guests gave a Spring touch to the lovely room. St. Patrick Day motif was effectively carried out with favors of green hats, ornaments with shamrocks containing green mints, and larger shamrocks shadowing gay ladies on the tally cards. After four games of bridge the thirty guests were served a delicious salad in green pepper rings, strawberries, garnished with green icing, topped with whipped cream, sandwiches and coffee.

Miss Ruth Rush of Philadelphia Miss is in the Dry Goods Department of Hinton and Hutton Co. Miss Rush made many friends here on her visits who will be glad to know she will make her home in Collierville
