IMPROVEMENTS IN BUSINESS SECTION

Many Stores Being Remodeled and Newly Painted

A new awning is being erected this week by the Harrell Drug Company. It is of the swinging type, doing away with the old time posts. With the metal ceiling hanging below the upper windows, of the front, a much better appearance is given the store and more light allowed in the store. The gasoline tanks have been removed, the front newly painted giving the store a modern appearance. Mr Harrell is to be congratulated on making this forward move and such as this makes "buying at home" easier and more pleasant. The awning is being built by Mr. E. B. Ashford.

The entrance to Dr Parr's Dental office has been repaired, repainted and a window put at the head of the stairs. Other improvements have been planned to be made at an early date.

H W Schrader has recently refinished the interior and repainted the front of the White Cafe. He has also put in some fans so that the cafe is cool, inviting and ready to furnish good things to eat.

The Hinton and Hutton Company are repainting in white the grocery department this week giving a much newer, fresher appearance to the store.

The Collierville Service Station installed another gasoline tank last week, enabling them to give still better service to their customers.

Now that pleasant weather is here let's keep up such good work. With the recent work on the streets around the square, and the park looking so pretty it is possible to have an attractive business section.

New Money on Display

The Peoples Bank received samples this week of the new currency that is to be placed in circulation soon. They have bills of the $1, $2, $5 and $10 denomination and they are attracting much attention. The new bills are smaller than the old ones and each denomination is of a different design and color, making counterfeiting harder and also making it much easier to handle and count but so far we have been unable to find out what there is about it to make any easier to get hold of.

Concrete Block Machine

In our rounds the past week we discovered another manufacturing business in our town; a concrete block machine at the Collierville Lumber Company. Concrete blocks make good foundations for houses and as it took time for carpenters to build forms, Mr J M Glenn planned and built a form which moulds 17 concrete blocks at one time. It is rather a unique machine, built with partitions and is easily operated. It carries a supply of blocks off hand.

EDITOR VISITS ONE OF LOCAL DAIRIES

R. L. Cox Combines Dairying and Farming to Advantage

Tuesday morning we cranked the old bus and drove out Railroad street a few blocks, turned a couple of corners and just at the City limits line came to one of the R L Cox Farms. We found Mr R R Duscoe and son busily engaged in cleaning up from the morning's milking and he carried us through one of the most modern little dairy plants we've seen. A milk house is equipped for handling milk and we found a Grade A Certificate on the wall from the last inspection. The next point of interest was a large milking barn, well ventilated and modern in every respect. It is equipped with four Surge Milking machines that are operated by compressed air, generated by an electric motor. One man operates two machines and milking is quickly done in this dairy. It is electrically lighted and has every convenience. They are milking at present sixty-two cows and shipping an average of 850 pounds of milk daily.

We were then shown the feed barn, stalls where cows may be kept in bad weather, a feed grinding machine and feed storage lots. Mr Duscoe says that the job is a steady one but with the modern equipment, the work is done much more easily than with man power alone.

In addition to raising alfalfa, corn and hay for feed, quite a lot of land is planted in cotton which is growing nicely, despite the rain making the planting late. There is also a mighty nice garden a number of fruit trees and several nice pecan trees on the place, all contributing in making it an ideal home, farm and dairy. This is one of Mr Cox's place and, another proof that Collierville is indeed "The Dairy Town."

Local Boy Awarded Scholarship

William H. McMahan of Collierville, a junior in the University of Tennessee College of Agriculture, has been honored with appointment to a summer fellowship by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, will be spent at the Danforth summer camp at Shelby Mich.

Mr McMahan transferred to the U. of T. Junior College at Martin, Tenn., during his Sophomore year. There he made the football team, was vice-president of the All Students' Club and made the Cum Laude honor roll in the third quarter.

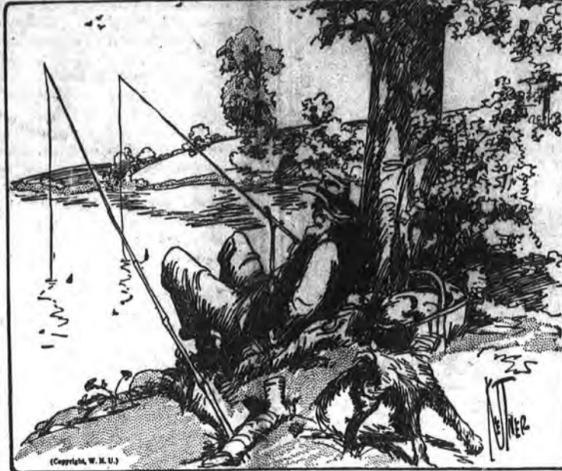

The past year he returned to the U. of T. as a junior in College of Agriculture.

METHODIST CHURCH

The regular services at the usual hours. We want to build up our Sunday School. Will you help? If you are a member of this church, I want to make an appeal to you. Come out Sunday and let us reason together. All others are cordially invited. Preaching by Pastor.

What June Days Are For

Miss Dean in Recital

One of the Recitals given during the past week, which attracted much favorable comment in musical circles, was a Recital given at the Sun-Parlor of the Parkview hotel in Memphis, last Thursday evening, when Miss Susie T Booker presented her artist pupil, Miss Martha McClean assisted by two of her pupils from the advanced class. Misses Fulk and Simmons in Pianoforte and Miss Katherine Mai Dean, Contralto, a pupil of Madame Tumaszkaya. The guest list included many prominent people in musical circles of Tri States, who received the program with much appreciation. Miss Dean's lovely contralto voice was at its best in two groups of songs. Her first numbers were: Amarilli, by Caccini, English Song by Rachmaninoff, By the Waters of Minnetonka by Lieurance in which her tones were full and sweet. Her last number, the well known Aria from Mignon, "Connais tu de Pays", by Thomas, her voice was of the richest, with full-rounded and appealing tones. Her work throughout the program showed careful training, splendid study and gave promise of a brilliant career for the talented young artist.

Mr. C. P. Kast

Mr C P Kast died suddenly at his home North of town, Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock. He moved here some eight year ago from Carruthersville, Mo., first living in the Kirk Community until about two years ago, when he moved to his present home. Interment was made at Magnolia Cemetery, Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. services being conducted by Rev Coyle, Pastor of Christian church. Mr Kast is survived by his wife and two sons. He had many friends here who join in extending their sympathy to the bereaved ones. The funeral arrangements were under direction of Hinton and Hutton, Funeral Directors.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be Regular services at the Presbyterian church Sunday; Sermons by Pastor. A Revival Meeting is in progress at Germantown, services being held every night, Rev. Turner H Reddy of Memphis doing the preaching, Rev Cowan is assisting in the meeting.

Can You Find Your Name?

Someone Who Reads Carefully is Going to be Guests of The Herald at The Parkview Theatre

Beginning with this week, some where in the advertisements appearing in the Herald, is someone's name and the information that they are to be the guest of the Collierville Herald, through the courtesy of the advertiser, at the Parkview theatre one night the following week. There are no strings tied to this proposition. You simply read the ads and when you find your name, bring the paper to the Herald office and get your ticket to the theatre free. There maybe one or two names each week. Part of the line may be in one or more ads. If you find the name of a friend of yours, phone them, they may not see it. Tickets are good for the week, the name is printed only so watch carefully for your name; it may be in the very ad you read first.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY SUCCESS

Commencement Week Closes With Presentation of Delightful Comedy

On last Friday night at the auditorium, the Senior Class presented their annual class play, "The Three Graces" to a large and appreciative audience. From the rise of the curtain on the first act, on thru to the climax of the last act, each one of the cast received a very liberal share of the applause. The play was a three act comedy of college life and the audience was quick to grasp the plot and a well rehearsed cast made the evening very enjoyable. The Three Graces played by Misses Mannie Neville, Aileen McCandless and Mary Francis Leake were the principal characters and were ably supported by James Taylor Jones as the College Football star, B.F. Teague as a cub reporter, Mack Looney as one of the Professors, Richard Kelsey as the coach, Lee Ballard as the Dean, Warren McMahan as the football captain, Bill Ballard as Cheer Leader, and Willie Neville as the Home Economics Teacher. Dorothy Glenn did excellent work in supporting Ruth Craig, who played the part of "Miss Smyth" in a most convincing manner. Others in the cast were Elizabeth White, Burns Pleasants, Elaine Wilkins, Pauline Earnhart, Olivia Brooks, Beatrice Rives, Watt Powell, Gailor Mai Hurdle and Frank Wilson, who played the parts of College students. Every member of the cast did splendid work, especially Miss Mary Francis Leake, who "had an awful appetite and a lot of good humor." Her character portrayal was good and her work would be a credit to a professional. The production showed the careful efforts of the coach, John Hall Jacobs, who demonstrated his ability, both in the casting of the characters and the stage setting.

The house receipts were $135, which will be used by the class in purchasing equipment for the school.

Health Banquet at George R. James School

The Health work of the George R James school came to a close Tuesday evening at a banquet given in honor of those who had the necessary dental work done to award them certificates. Miss Morris presented Mr Connell, the principle speaker. The certificates were presented to the 43 students and teachers by Dr Vinsant of the University of Tenn. Music was furnished by Mrs Connell, Misses Connell, Craig, Turnage, and Mr Everett. Dr. and Mrs. Vinsant were honor guests.

The dining-room where the three course menu was served, beautifully decorated in white and pink.

Boy Accidentally Shot

Elton Jones, aged 17, of near Mt Pleasant was accidentally shot early Thursday morning. He was camped with some friends on a river near Rossville and a gun leaning against a tree fell and shot Elton in the hip. A Hinton and Hutton ambulance rushed him to the Methodist Hospital in Memphis, where he died about 2:30 P.M.

COLLIERVILLE HAS GOOD ICE PLANT

Serving Surrounding Territory With Splendid Product

Collierville and surrounding territory need not worry about hot weather. About five years ago Mr H W Mann saw the need of an ice plant so he put in one which he has improved each year until it is modern in every respect with a 10-ton daily capacity and a 25-ton storage vault. The ice is of the best quality and not a white block has been turned out this season. A well 24 feet deep furnishes 60 gallons of water per minute and the new type machinery is electrically operated.

The plant is now running day and night and supplying ice, handled by the Collierville Delivery Company, under the management of Mr Hugh Mann, as far as Ridge way on the Pike, north as far as Eads and east as far as Moscow and Slayden, Miss. The plant is being run to full capacity and is kept busy supplying the demand with the best of ice.

Mr Mann also operates a very modern gin plant in connection with ice business. This plant is equipped with four Murray All Steel 80 Gin stands, run by a 120-horsepower, Diesel engine which has a direct connected dynamo furnishing lights for both plants. This engine has a record of 90 days and nights continuous running with out a stop. Fuel oil is shipped in in car load lots and pumped into a tank at the gin, direct from the cars on the tracks. All cotton is run thru a cleaner before going into the stand and a very high grade staple is turned out. 1,983 bales were ginned last season, and Mr Mann is looking forward to a splendid season this year. He paid $26,000 for seed last season, which was quite an item in itself. With two gins, the other owned by Switt and Co. and operated by Fred Evans for the past seasons, our people have found Collierville a good place to bring their cotton.

Attends Veterans Reunion

Mr M S McFerrin left Sunday for Charlotte, N C to attend the Annual Confederate Veterans Reunion. He is 83 years of age and was a member of Company A, Forest's Cavalry and holds the record of not having missed attending a re-union for the past twenty years. Mr McFerrin is in splendid health and takes a keen interest in these re-unions. He called at the Herald office Saturday morning and told us of his trip and has promised another visit on his return and will give us full particulars of the meeting. About two year ago he had his picture taken in his uniform, in an orchard that was planted over a hundred years ago by his great grandfather, who was a soldier in the Revolutionary War and who settled in Mareball county, Miss. a short time afterwards. A pear tree planted then was still growing in this orchard at the time the picture was made.

"Lost: 500 Congressmen!"

The "Congressional Burying Ground", Washington, D. C.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

LOST: 500 Congressmen! Such is the wording of a headline or a want-ad, which might have appeared in the newspapers throughout the country recently, thereby providing newspaper paragraphs with ample material for one of their well-beloved jests at the expense of our representatives in the national legislature. Although such a statement has nothing to do with the 530 men and women who are now in session at Washington, it is true, nevertheless. Ask Anson Wold!

Anson Wold is the man who has just seen his great work, "Biographical Directory of the American Congress—1774-1927," go to press. Mr. Wold, who was brought to Washington from Minnesota 29 years ago by Senator Knute Nelson, was for many years a clerk in the census bureau. Four years ago the congressional joint committee on printing, headed by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, authorized the publication of a new congressional directory, and Mr. Wold, secretary of the committee, was assigned to the task. For the last four years he and his assistant, F. L. Fridley, have been at work on the gigantic task of compiling the biographies of 9,000 men and women who have served in the two houses of our national legislative body. Now their work is done, and within a few weeks libraries throughout the country will receive copies of the work, which libraries say is one of the most used volumes in their collections.

But despite the fact that Mr. Wold and Mr. Fridley have sent out something like 35,000 letters, communicated with persons in nearly every part of the world and toiled unceasingly to make the directory complete in every detail, there are in it 500 biographical "blanks" that they still are trying to fill. The roster of those who served in congress, of course, is complete. But the "blanks" have to do with birthdays, burial places, professions and politics.

Take, for instance, the case of William Wilson. He is listed in the directory thus (and his is the shortest biography in the book): "Wilson, William, a representative from Pennsylvania; was elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth congresses (March 4, 1815—March 3, 1819)." Or this one: "Woodruff, Thomas M., a representative from New York; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth congress (March 4, 1845—March 3, 1847); engaged in the furniture business in New York city, where he died about 1854 or 1855." Here are some other unsolved mysteries: Alexander Wilson was a representative from Virginia in the Ninth and Tenth congresses but neither the date of his birth or the date of his death is known. For that matter it is not even known where he lived in Virginia. Asariah Body, a representative from New York, died as recently as 1885, and yet his burial place is unknown. Alfred Moore Gatlin, of North Carolina, served in the Eighteenth congress. Then he moved to Florida, which was then a wilderness, and no further trace of him has ever been found.

As an illustration of the difficulties which the two congressional biographers have experienced, take this case: for two years they searched for a granddaughter of Francis Scott Key, who wrote the "Star-Spangled Banner," hoping that she might be related to or know something about two other Keyes who were Maryland representatives in congress. They found her eventually but learned that she knew nothing about either of the two men. Then there is the case of a distinguished Marylander, John Hanson, who was president of the Continental congress in 1781-82, and who is often referred to as "the first President of the United States," since he served as President under the Articles of Confederation. The directory says that Hanson is buried at Oxon Hill in Prince Georges county, Maryland, but Mr. Wold admits that this may be only tradition, since Hanson's grave has never been found. Maryland historians have tried to solve the mystery without success, and a Boy Scout organization has dedicated itself to make a search and help locate the grave.

Not only has the progress on the directory been hampered by the absence of reliable information but by receiving information which turned out to be misinformation. Frequently this was supplied to them by well-meaning relatives or descendants who had no more authentic data than that offered by family tradition, which is notoriously unreliable. Curiously enough some relatives or descendants refused to supply any information at all, declaring that the congressional relative or ancestor had dishonored the family name. One such case concerned a representative who had withdrawn from congress when his state seceded from the Union at the opening of the Civil war.

Other difficulties are explained in the foreword to the biography by Mr. Wold. Prior to 1800 apparently no effort was made to publish a directory of congress. The earliest known directory is entitled "Places of Abode of the Members of Both Houses of Congress, First Session of the Eleventh Congress." This was a pamphlet of 15 pages, published by R. C. Weightman in 1800, and contains the names and locations of boarding houses, arranged alphabetically, which are followed by names of senators and representatives residing therein.

"Directories, containing added congressional information, compiled and printed under contract by private firms," the foreword continues, "appeared from time to time. Though still printed by contract, the congressional directory for the first session of the Thirtieth congress, issued in 1848 by J. & G. S. Gideon, assumed an official air by bearing the title-page words 'Compiled and published for the use of Congress by the Postmaster of the House of Representatives.' Similar information was carried on titles up to and including the first session of the Thirty-eighth congress.

"At the beginning of the second session of the Thirty-eighth congress, a joint resolution, approved February 14, 1865, was unanimously adopted, providing for the compilation and publication of the first congressional directory under the supervision of the joint committee on public printing. The committee held numerous sessions, obtained and examined like publications issued in foreign countries, and finally decided upon a work similar in essentials to The House of Commons, published in London since 1852.

"Biographical sketches of senators and representatives appeared in 1867 in the first edition of the congressional directory for the second session of the Fortieth congress. In the compiler's note it is called a 'proof edition,' and has approximately 235 biographies of senators, representatives, and territorial delegates.

"It is referred to as being incomplete, and in 1868 was replaced by a second edition which contained a few more sketches. The directory for the third session, printed in 1869, contains approximately 280 biographies.

"The work of preparing and publishing a biographical directory to include all the preceding congresses was first undertaken by Charles Lanman in 1859. It bears the imposing title, 'Directory of the United States Congress.' There have been at least six subsequent editions, which were intended to give up-to-date and authentic biographical data. Since Mr. Lanman's last volume, however, the succeeding compilers appear to have done little more than to add such information as could be obtained from the congressional directories published during each session of congress. It seems that no effort to correct, revise or perfect the work of former compilers was ever attempted, and thus original errors were perpetuated."

Filling in some of the "blanks" in the new directory would have been easy, though, for the compilers, if all of the dead congressman had been buried in the congressional cemetery established for that purpose in the early days of the Republic. That cemetery is one of the most interesting and historical spots in the city of Washington today. In 1807 Christ Episcopal church in Washington first established this burying ground, and a few years later it was chosen as a place of burial for senators and representatives who died while in office. Since that time 100 government officials have been buried there and monuments have been erected over a hundred of those graves. In addition 85 cenotaphs have been placed in honor of members of congress who have been buried in other cemeteries.

Up to 1835 practically every member of congress who died in office was buried there. Means of transportation were so limited that few families were able to convey the bodies of their dead from the capital. But as transportation facilities grew better this practice finally ceased. By an act of May 23, 1876, congress abolished the custom of erecting cenotaphs and provided that thereafter monuments should be authorized only when the deceased congressman was actually buried in the cemetery.

The first congressman to be buried was Ezra Darby, of New Jersey, who died January 28, 1808. George Clinton, Vice President of the United States, was first buried there, and years elapsed before his body was taken to his old home in New York. But other notables still sleep there. One of them is Tobias Lear, the faithful private secretary to George Washington. Near by are the graves of Push-Ma-Ta-Ha, the noted Choctaw chief; Scarlet Crow, another famous Indian warrior; William Wirt, an attorney general of the United States, and Abel P. Upshur, a former secretary of state and secretary of the navy. One monument has a particular romantic interest. Beneath it, side by side in a single grave, rest the bodies of Capt. Beverly Kennon and Abel Parker Upshur, victims of an explosion of a gun aboard the American frigate, "Princeton," in 1844. Both were natives of Virginia, and the two men formed a friendship in early youth that lasted until the grave.

Standard Time

The United States Naval observatory has three standard clocks running in constant temperature vaults, electrically wound and sealed to keep the air pressure constant. Meridian circle observations of selected stars are taken regularly on clear nights, and from these observations the errors of standard clocks are determined. The observatory sends out time signals. Correct time is given over radio networks as an advertising device.

Dairymen Gain by Better Ways

Increased Butterfat Production Brought About by Right Feeding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Owners of dairy cows in California have added $64,297,051 to their income over a period of seven years by raising the average butterfat production per cow for the entire state from 183 pounds in 1920 to 239.2 pounds in 1927, says B. H. Crocheron, director of co-operative extension work in California, in a statement submitted to the United States Department of Agriculture.

On Way to Goal.

At the beginning of the effort in 1920 the California extension service set up as a goal, to be reached in ten years, a state average production of 265 pounds of butterfat per cow. Seven years' concentration on a dairy improvement program, including proper feeding, breeding, and culling, has brought them well on their way to accomplishment of the goal within the time set.

During the seven years the number of cows under test in the regularly organized cow-testing or dairy-herd-improvement associations increased from 30,000 to over 70,000. The work of these associations is the basis for the improvement program. From the testing records is derived the information necessary for proper feeding, breeding, and the detection of unprofitable animals in the herd.

Other Big Factors.

Other factors in bringing up the average in butterfat production have been competitions both in individual production and community records, efficiency studies of individual herds, use of better breeding stock, improvement of health of herds, provision of better facilities for care and management of herds, and the introduction of better management methods and better stock through the dairy work of boys and girls who are members of 4-H clubs. Only the sustained effort of the extension staff and dairy cattle owners on a long-time program, however, Director Crocheron believes, has made it possible to thus move forward the entire production of a state and collectively influence the average of over half a million animals.

Alfalfa Pasture Great Help in Producing Pork

Alfalfa pasture will produce more pork per acre on the average than any other forage crop. It is one of the earliest pasture crops to be available in the spring and if kept clipped when necessary during the summer, it will provide good forage until late in the fall. Under average conditions an acre of alfalfa will pasture from 10 to 20 shotes, depending on the conditions previously mentioned. It should not be pastured too closely as it does not stand very heavy foraging. It probably would be best to pasture it in such a way as to permit the cutting of two small crops of hay during the season in addition to the pasture furnished. Alfalfa is a crop that is high in protein and mineral matter, both of which are very necessary in animal growth and which are decidedly lacking in corn, the feed that forms the basis for practically all hog rations. For this reason alfalfa is doubly valuable as a forage crop.

Testing Seed Oats for Germination Is Advised

Testing of seed oats for germination is advised by L. F. Rickey, of the University of Illinois, who says that samples of seed oats received at the university have shown a great variation in germination. Quite a few oats were "bin-burned" in storage and the heat so generated was sufficient to destroy the life of a large part of the oats. Samples tested at the university tested as low as 9 per cent.

A quick test of 200 or 300 kernels in soil or moist cloths may be made in the house, an assurance thus secured as to the vitality or lack of vitality of the seed before planting.

Short dresses worn by some of the maidens of Buchan, Czechoslovakia, were responsible for the severe cold spell in Europe. So declared the preacher of the Buchan church recently. He announced from the pulpit that a spirit appeared to him and explained about the weather and the dresses. His pious congregation accepted this interpretation of the phenomenon.

Bell as a Memento
When the ship John Milton was lost off the eastern tip of Long Island seventy-one years ago with her skipper and crew of twenty-three men, the vessel's bell was tossed among the rocks on the shore, resting in such a position that wind and waves made it toll dimly. The bell now is to be placed in the tower of the New Montauk Point Community church. Cigar Store Man Had Acquired Some Wisdom

A resident of a suburban town, returning from a business trip, was astonished to see painters at work on the front of a cigar store owned by a friend. He entered and sought out the owner.

"See here, Joe!" he exclaimed, "didn't you have your shop painted just a week ago?"

"Yes, I did."

"Then why, in tarnation are you having it done over again?"

"It's just a case of human nature," responded the dealer. "When the job was done the painters put up the usual 'wet paint' signs. And as usual nobody believes in signs. The result was that the next day the whole front was covered with so many finger marks that it looked worse than before."

"But what if the same thing happens again?"

"It won't. There'll be no signs put up this time."—New York Sun.

Silk Coats Ever on Fashion List

Black, Blue and Prints Add Interest in Fashionable Separate Wrap.

The silk coat is established as a favorite whether it be black or navy. Black appears to have more distinction for afternoons when women cling to the thoroughly sane practice of having one good-looking black frock in their wardrobe even though living in a color-mad age.

The entrance of the silk coat really adds zest to the usual interest in separate coats, without which no spring or summer is possible.

The trick of making a coat appear to be a part of the ensemble of at least one costume is a good one to learn so that it may be put into practice. The printed-summer coat worn with either a printed or plain dress is not of such immediate concern as the good-looking coat of lightweight cloth or heavyweight silk. Sports coats have little in common with those in question.

The fur collar is minus on so many coats that were it not for some stunning contradictions one might be inclined to advocate the coat sans fur. The extremes of fox and gyalak are indulged in by those who feel more at home, not to say more chic, in a fur collared coat.

Coats with scarf collars and coats without anything much by way

Frock of Pale Yellow, Oasis Green Felt Hat

This smart frock of pale yellow with an oasis green felt hat is worn by Mary Philbin, the popular "movie" star. The one-piece sports frock is slightly bloused and the skirt is plaited. A finger coat with diamond pockets is used with the dress.

Ensemble With Coat of Navy Kasha; Frock of Shaded Tones.

of a collar and intended to be worn with a silk scarf appeal to women economically inclined. One may always add fur when desired by wearing a fox scarf, still a most thoroughly approved practice.

An attractive ensemble is composed of a coat of navy blue kasha with a frock of shaded tones. The dress is a one-piece affair with simplicity of lines. Matching scarf and purse give added smartness to the ensemble.

To Remove Grease Spots From Shoes, Bags, Belts

The best way to remove grease spots from leather shoes is to employ any one of the several commercial quick cleaning fluids which is neither inflammable nor explosive—that is, which contains no gasoline nor kerosene with their attendant natural greases. These fluids are composed of various solvents other than gasoline. A small quantity is applied directly on the grease spot. Immediately it must be drawn back out of the leather by working over the spot from all sides with a piece of dry turkish towel so as to absorb into the towel the cleaner together with the grease spot. The solvents in the cleaner of course remove the natural oil from the leather at that spot. These should be restored by rubbing leather lotion into the shoe.

Since so many bags and belts are made of identical leathers, they should be accorded the same treatment. Most of them, especially those made of glazed leathers, can readily be washed with suds of any of the noncaustic soaps and then polished with wool cloth.

Matching Brooches Are in Fashion Limelight

Matching brooches are attracting unusual attention this spring. On the two-toned scarf is a large dagger brooch, while the close-fitting hat holds a matching jewel. Bars of black onyx make the center details in these pieces, while baguette diamonds are ranged on either side and diamond triangles finish the end of the decorative sections.

The scarf warrants special notice. It is one of those new scarfs with bands of two colors running the full length of the neck scarf. This one is in black for one side and white for the other. Satin is the chosen material.

Lesson for June 9

THE STORY OF THE RECHABITES (Temperance Lesson.)

LESSON TEXT—Jeremiah 35:1-19. GOLDEN TEXT—We will drink no wine.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Strong to Do the Right. JUNIOR TOPIC—Loyal to Do the Right.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Accepting a High Moral Standard. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Forms of Modern Persecution.

I. Who Were the Rechabites? (1 Chron. 2:55).

They were Kenites of Hemath of the family of Jethro, Moses' father-in-law (Num. 10:29-32, cf. Judges 1:16). They entered Canaan with the Israelites. It seems that in order to preserve their identity they chose a nomadic life. Saul was considerate of them (1 Sam. 15:6). They were characterized by:

1. Abstinence from strong drink (35:8). 2. Voluntary poverty (35:9). 3. A nomadic life (35:10).

II. The Rechabites Tested (vv. 1-5).

In the days of Jehoiachin the Lord charged Jeremiah to bring the Rechabites into the house of the Lord and test them regarding the drinking of wine. This he did in a place where the people might behold them, the aim being to teach Judah by example. The father of the Rechabites had given the command that they should not drink wine. Their filial obedience put to shame the children of Judah for their lack of obedience to their Heavenly Father. Jonadab, the father of the Rechabites, was only a man, but the commands which Judah disregarded were from the Almighty God, their Creator and Savior. They stood the test. They were loyal to the traditions of their fathers, even turning away from the luxury and degeneracy of Judah and maintaining their simple life. It is God's plan that every man be tested. Being a free agent, he can have character only through testing. It was for this reason that God placed Adam and Eve in Eden and permitted the devil to test them. While we should be concerned about the removal of temptation from men, we should be more concerned with showing them how to overcome it.

III. The Filial Loyalty of the Rechabites (vv. 6-11).

Though they were out of their own country and among a foreign people, they refused to drink wine, declaring that they had been true to the instructions of Jonadab all their lives. Obedience to his instruction had been practiced by the men, women and children. It is a fine thing when children keep in mind their fathers and render obedience to their commands.

IV. The Loyalty of the Rechabites Contrasted with the Disloyalty of Judah (vv. 12-16).

1. The appeal (vv. 13, 14). This appeal was made on the basis of the filial loyalty of the Rechabites. He reminded them that though their father had been dead a long time, the Rechabites remained loyal to his command. The prophet appealed to them not only on the ground of this example, but on the ground of God's earnest entreaty through the prophets.

2. The ministry of the prophets (vv. 15, 16). When the people failed to render obedience to God, He sent them prophets who pleaded with them to amend their ways by turning away from idols. Matthew Henry indicates the points of contrast as follows:

(1) The Rechabites were obedient to one who was but a man. The Jews disobeyed the infinite and eternal God. (2) Jonadab was dead long since and could not know of their disloyalty or correct them concerning it. God is all-wise, lives forever and will punish the disobedient. (3) The Rechabites were never put in mind of their obligations, but God sent His prophets who rose up early to remind Judah. (4) Jonadab left the charge, with no one to bear the expense of the charge, but God gave Judah a goodly land and blessed them in it. (5) God never tied up His people to any hard task as did Jonadab, but God's people disobeyed Him, while the Rechabites obeyed their father.

V. Judgment Upon the Jews for Disobedience (v. 17).

God declared that He would bring judgment as pronounced against them.

VI. The Rechabites Rewarded for Their Loyalty (vv. 18, 19).

Because they had been true to the commands of Jonadab, they should have continued representation before God.

Walk While Ye Have Light

The people answered Him, We have heard out of the law that Christ abideth for ever; and how sayest thou, the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man? Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth. While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be children of light.—John 12:34 to 38.

Uncle Sam Offers His Employees an Outing

Uncle Sam is preparing an outing for his employees this summer, through the co-operation of the Alaska railroad, which is operated by the government.

The outing embraces a specially conducted tour from the Capital to Fairbanks, Alaska, leaving Washington August 25 and returning 32 days later. The expenses of all kinds will be grouped under one lump sum, which will be between $520 and $550.

The entire round trip will total 11,000 miles of travel and will include both rail and steamship journeys. If sufficient people arrange to take the trip, special trains will be run from Washington to Seattle, and steamers from Seattle to Alaska will be run exclusively for the excursionists.

While Alaska is the principal goal of the trip, efforts will be made to show as much of the western part of the United States as possible. One day, for instance, will be devoted to sightseeing trips around Salt Lake City, and Columbia River gorge, in Washington, will be on the itinerary. The northern trip from Seattle will be through the famous scenic inside passage.

French and American Cities Closely Linked

An American city was officially represented at the impressive ceremonies held in Orleans, France, in celebration of the five hundredth anniversary of the raising of the siege of Orleans by Joan of Arc.

The city is that which the French colonists of Louisiana founded in 1718 and christened La Nouvelle Orleans.

The two cities of Orleans, old and new, have long maintained friendly relations. On the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of New Orleans her sister in France took part in impressive ceremonies, and in the following year received from New Orleans a bronze medal and later the embroidered silk flag of the city. The flag now hangs in the Hotel de Ville at Orleans. On anniversaries of the battle of New Orleans, old Orleans takes the flag out and flies it from the rooftop.

Too Much Advice

"It is not wise to give too much advice to the young," was the advice given to English adults by Lady Astor. "I have learned from my own children that it is not wise to give them too much advice, but instead, if you put before them the wiser point of view, they will be wise enough to follow," she said. "Women," she added, "are in the happy position of being on an equality with husbands, brothers, and other menfolk, except in the house of commons, where menfolk have not yet learned anything."

Shocked Husband

Senator Moses said in Washington during an argument about a new bill: "We must look at these appropriation bills unselfishly. Selfishness in this matter would shock the country like—well, like the story: "A loving husband sat at his wife's side while a palmist read her palm. "This line here," the palmist said to her, "tells me that you are doomed, alas, to wear widow's weeds." "Oh, my gracious!" she moaned, "for how long?"

The Forward March

"Even perfection can be perfected." Commander Richard E. Byrd was praising, at a New York banquet, the advance made by aviation. "There is room for improvement everywhere," Commander Byrd went on. "This was well understood by a Norfolk girl. "Give me," said a Richmond girl, "the man who can drive with one hand." "I, for my part," said a Norfolk girl, "prefer the man who asks me to drive."

Opportunity knocks more than once at everyone's door

No age limit on success if you keep fit

PEOPLE used to think that if you hadn't made your mark by the time you were 40, you never would. "That's all bunk," people say today. There's many a man who'll tell you he was past 50 when he made his first big success. Their experience runs something like this.

"I'd been going through life, always just missing out on everything. Worked like a dog, too. But never seemed to get anywhere.

"It was a doctor who put me wise to myself. Told me not to blame it on luck. That the trouble was with me—right inside myself. He recommended Nujol. I took it for three months. Never missed a day. And, say, I began to feel like a younger brother myself. Decided there was life in the old dog yet. When my big chance came, I was all ready, waiting to grab it. And I did."

Nujol keeps your body functioning just as Nature meant it to, under all conditions. Contains no drugs or medicines. Just a pure substance that works normally and naturally. It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal. These poisons slow you up mentally and physically, dull your whole outlook on life, make you half-hearted.

Buy a bottle of Nujol today. Perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Ave., New York. In scaled packages only. Your druggist carries it.

Mysterious Jewelry

Little Betty was very fond of rings, and her fingers were always bedecked with all sorts of them. One day after she had visited her aunt she told her mother that she wanted a ring just like auntie's. When asked what kind of a ring auntie wore, she replied, "a musical ring."

"A musical ring," inquired the mother, "and what kind of a ring is that?" After turning this over in her mind without a solution, mother got the aunt on the telephone, and much to her amusement learned that auntie was wearing a "band" ring.

Going Far Back

In the study of cosmography—in observing the nebulae of extra galactic space—we are witnessing scenes and events which occurred in past ages. When we look out into the depths of space we are gazing back into history. The nearest star we see today as it was four and a half years ago; the nearest nebulae, the irregular Magellanic clouds, as they were 100,000 years ago; the frontiers of the known universe, as they were 200 million years ago back in the carboniferous age of the geologists.—Edwin Hubble, in Harper's Magazine.

Hi-Y Notes

The Hi Y organization gave its annual Banquet in the lunch room May 29. The room was beautifully decorated with crepe paper and flowers. The tables were arranged in the shape of their emblem, a cross with a triangle around it. Blue candles, the only light, cast a mellow glow over the room. Tom Chandler, the President of last term, was toastmaster. This banquet was in honor of the faculty and there were about forty present in all. Three lovely courses were served after which Mr Warr, a Hi-Y work gave a very interesting address. He complimented our club highly by saying that it was the best in the county. Mr Ralph Hunt, formerly of her made a short talk and several of the faculty made talks also. Joe Wallace, the President for next term, told what the club helped to accomplish in the future and thanked the boys for electing him President.

Mrs Smith, county agent, and Miss Guthrie, food specialist gave a meat demonstration to the ladies Wednesday at the home of Mrs A W Morrison.

Dr J W Blackard presiding Elder of the Jackson District, filled the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning holding the second quarterly meeting of the year for La Grange circuit.

P.T.A. Honors Seniors

Thursday, May 30, the Seniors were the guests of honor at a delightful luncheon given by the P. T. A. This association gave their annual luncheon and card party on this date, and the Seniors were seated at a special table. The tables looked lovely with a beautiful bowl of flowers for the centerpiece and tall candles burning around it. The favors were tiny pink baskets filled with mints. Three courses were served after which the tables were cleared and several games of rook and bunc were enjoyed. Jans Finn won the high score at one table and Ida Marton at the other.

Senior Play

"Bashful Mr Bobb" being the senior play was put on last Thursday night at school auditorium. Everyone enjoyed it very much. It was directed by Miss Maragret.

Graduation Exercises

Eleven Seniors received diplomas at Germantown last Friday morning. They were: Wynona Bryan, Tom Chandler, Willard Colebank, Ella Furr, Bessie Furr, Grace Lacroix, Ida Marton, Billy McPherson, Madelyn Moore, Gladys Sandridge, and Frederick Snover.

The Commencement address was an inspiring address by Rev. John L Horton, Pastor Baptist Methodist Church, on "The Power of Thought."

Certificates for attendance were given by Miss Batt.

Elish Smith was awarded the cup she won in a Latin contest Wynona Bryan won medal for proficiency.

Wynona Bryan was Valedictorian and Frederick Snover was Salutatorian of Senior class.

Jokes

"I can't bear to have my children kissed by strangers."
"Neither can I, but I can't do anything about it, they are all over eighteen."

Old Lady, "My man, you should have put something away for a rainy day."

Tremp, "That's the trouble, lady. I wiped an umbrella and judge gave me thirty days and I've seen a bum ever since."

Jane, "I'll never marry a man whose fortune hasn't at least five ciphers."

Snover, "Oh, Darling mine is all ciphers."

Mrs Satliff, "Mrs Jones says there is lots of cream on her milk bottles every morning. Why is there none on mine?"
Milkman, "Im just too honest. I fills my bottles so full there ain't no room for cream."

"Hello, Tom," said Rev Drake to Tom who was mowing the lawn
"Is your mother home?"

"By yourself," said Tom, "do you think I'd be mowing this lawn if she wasn't?"

Mrs Wells. The program was on "Broken Homes Rebuilt" and was presented by Mrs A F Foster and at the close, a delicious ice course was served.

Draw on All Sources for National Music

National music . . . has to be discovered and clad in beautiful forms, just as popular myths and legends are brought to light and crystallized into immortal verses by great poets. All that is required is a good ear, a good memory, and a faculty for molding fragments of past generations into a harmonic whole. A few days ago I read that Brahms, according to his own words, took folk-tunes as motives for his new collection of songs and arranged them for piano. Liszt in his rhapsodies did the same, and Schumann in his "Two Grenadiers" used the Marsellaise. The Irishman Balfe used a Hussite choir in his "Bohemian Girl," although nobody knows where he got it from. Thus sooner or later popular music attracts the attention of and finds its way into the works of great composers. . . . I know that the question whether inspiration drawn from some stray melody or folk-song is sufficient to lend higher musical works a national character has not yet been solved. Neither is it certain whether national music as such deserves priority. I for myself believe firmly that that music which is the most characteristic of a nation deserves the greatest recognition.—Dvorak in a Letter Written From America.

Danger in Overdoing Changes in Business

A man who has had great success in tuning up business organizations and who has accumulated a fortune from this line of work, has learned something worth passing on. "Never picture any new idea, any new plan, and new course of action as terribly important," he declares. "And never feed out more of an idea at one time than the people you are dealing with can absorb. You must avoid frightening them. You must take carefully into account the mentality of each man affected by whatever you propose to do. Make things look easy to them. Get them to feel that they can readily adapt themselves to the different way of doing things. Nurture their confidence. By using these methods it is astonishing how smoothly the functioning of an organization can be readjusted even radically." That sounds sensible, to avoid asking employees, or anybody else, to digest far-reaching, brand new ideas all at once. In driving an automobile we do not expect it to jump from low speed to high speed; we first put it into second.—Forbes Magazine.

Age and Exercise

Amounts of physical activity required by healthy persons at different ages, as computed by various authorities, are summarized in an article on exercise by Dr. James O. Nall. The program quoted calls for: Four hours daily at the age of five, five hours daily from seven to nine years, six hours daily from nine to eleven years, five hours daily from eleven to thirteen years, four hours daily from thirteen to sixteen years, three hours daily from sixteen to eighteen years, two hours daily from eighteen to twenty years, and one hour daily for persons over twenty years of age.

Dutch Bricks as Ballast

Many an ancient house in and about New York is said to have been built with imported Dutch bricks. The little American vessels that traded with the West found it cheaper to ballast with Dutch bricks and sell them in New York for a trifle than to ballast with stones, a scarce article in Holland anyhow, and dump them in the harbor. So good Rotterdam bricks might get into a New York chimney; as for similar reasons bricks loaded in London might help rear a Virginia planter's stately mansion on the James, with local brick kilns near.

The "High Hat"

It had always been Sambo's ambition to own a fur coat, and after years of saving he was at last able to buy it. As one morning he was strutting down the street, a friend approached him. "Mo'nin', Sambo," the friend remarked. "Pretty col' day, ain't she?" Sam offered his chin haughtily from the depths of his fur collar. "Ah really can't tell 'bout the weather," he replied carelessly. "Ah ain't looked at de paper today."—Boston Globe.

Yukon Territory

The Yukon territory was set up as such in 1898 by an act of the Canadian parliament and provision made for its local government by a legislative council composed of a commissioner and six others. This territory has an area of about 207,000 square miles. The Yukon river is navigable for 2,000 miles in the United States and Canadian territory and the territory itself is not only rich in metals but has much arable land.

Just a Few Services Electricity Renders In the Home—

Along the slim, electric wires leading into your home flows current which furnishes power to serve you instantly in many ways. Here are just a few of the services it renders at the turn of a switch:

- Floods any room—or the whole—with cheerful light.
- Cooks toast, waffles, or an entire meal, without fire.
- Preserves the food in your refrigerator at a constant temperature, without ice.
- Cleans the rugs, draperies, furniture, without broom or duster.
- Quickly does a week's washing, without drudgery for the housewife.

The modern home is incomplete without Electric Service.

"I must leave this house at once," she exclaimed. "He recognized me. He is here to rob, and if I tell Mrs. Grant he will revenge himself. You see I dare not remain."

Captain Sutton only knew she was beautiful and had rather the grand manner with her. "Miss Dupin," Trent declared, "is going to stay here until her affairs are more settled."

"She will probably want to help you in the house. Let her. It will do her good. Don't let her sit alone and mope."

When Trent returned to the big room Mademoiselle Dupin had written a note regretting her hurried departure, and informing Mrs. Grant that she could be addressed at the general delivery, San Diego, California.

CHAPTER VII

The Letter From Nowhere.

Albert Thorpe, the butler, was the first in the house to awaken. Since Mrs. Grant had ordered him to obey Yeatman implicitly, he slept uncomfortably on a camp-bed drawn across the door of the footmen's room and might not even rebuke them for snoring since his errand was a secret one.

Broccoli Is Kin to Cauliflower

Excellent Flavored Vegetable Is Good Source of Calcium and Iron.

Broccoli is not a newly discovered vegetable, but until lately it was not well known or widely grown. Of European origin, it has long been familiar to the French and Italian household, and it was doubtless introduced to Americans through these nationalities.

From Cabbage Family. Broccoli is one of the forms of the large brassica or cabbage family. Cauliflower, cabbage, brussels sprouts, kale, and kohlrabi are its nearest relatives, botanically speaking.

Resembles Cauliflower. Analyses show that sprouting broccoli is a good source of calcium, phosphorus, and iron in the diet, resembling cauliflower in this respect.

Changes in Feed Must Be Done Quite Slowly

Chicks should be given the starter for the first two or three weeks but as they grow they can handle a feed with more bulk to it, so mix the starter with a good growing mash, gradually changing the proportions until you are feeding the growing mash straight.

Catch Weeds When Young to Improve Vegetables

Weeds in the vegetable garden can be destroyed with least effort when they are in the seedling stage, advises the Farm Journal. There is a great loss of ground, seed and labor every year because many gardeners lose interest when the weeds get the best of the vegetables in the garden.

Young Breeding Stock Should Not Be Fattened

Pigs retained for breeding purposes should not be fed and handled in the same way as those to be sent to market. Young breeding stock should be grown rather than fattened. Strong feet and legs and strong backs are more essential than fat in the development of gilts for brood sows.

Considerable Damage Is Done Pastures by Stock

Considerable damage may be done to pastures by turning the stock on too early in the spring. If the pastures are protected until a cow can get a good mouthful, the forage will be much more vigorous and will stand much closer grazing.

"Whiskers" on Red Clover Due to Bug

Potato Leaf Hopper Always Attacks Smooth Variety.

Red clover in the United States grows "whiskers" that stand straight out from the stems of the plants, while in England the ancestral form of the American type is still comparatively free from hairiness.

A reasonable inference, says Doctor Pieters, may be drawn from what is known to happen today, and from the known facts the most reasonable answer to the question of why American clover is hairy is that the constant attacks of the leaf hopper carried on for more than one hundred years gradually eliminated the smooth form by keeping down the production of seed, while the rough hairy form produced more seed than the other, and so constantly increased.

Favor Sodium Fluoride to Destroy Parasites

Sodium fluoride ought not be used on setting hens just before chicks or poults are hatched, because this chemical does act as a very positive irritant to the lungs and breathing apparatus of the young birds.

Always Worn Out, Too

Teacher—Now give me the names of some pieces of clothing. Children—Coat, hat, shoes, blouse. Teacher—Now a piece of clothing for the hands. Fritz—Trouser pockets.—Faun, Vienna.

Two Important Factors in Development of Pigs

Pigs which make good gains during the suckling period will be ready for market earlier and usually return greater profit. The two most important factors which determine the development of pigs during the suckling period are the ability of the sow to produce milk and proper sanitary measures to provide healthy conditions for the pigs.

Agricultural Squibs

Good potatoes never grow from poor seed. A barn protected by lightning rods can laugh at a thunderstorm. High production means little unless it is accompanied by careful marketing.

WILL DO ALL IT CLAIMS TO DO

Mrs. Steele Says of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pratt, W. Va.—"I was so weak and nervous that I was in bed most all the time and couldn't sit up and I am only 30 years old. I saw your advertisement in a magazine and after I had taken three doses of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could feel that I was better. After taking two bottles I began doing my work and I feel like a new woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and say it will do all it claims to do and more. I will gladly answer all letters I receive."—Mrs. S. E. STEELE, Pratt, W. Va.

Many Persons Unable to Distinguish Colors

It is a curious fact that color-blind persons are not often aware of their defect of vision. Even scientific men frequently fail to detect this defect in themselves. The following is a favorite theory to account for the cause of color-blindness. The eye is capable of four distinct color sensations—blue, yellow, red and green.

Use for Cuttlefish

Teeth which from any cause—smoking, neglect, medicine, and so on—are in a very bad black state should be cleaned with powdered cuttlefish. This should be used three times daily until the teeth are clean. After that, any good dentifrice.

A wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends will be that of Miss Janie Leake, charming young daughter of Mr and Mrs Elgin Leake, who will become the bride of Mr Edward Hudgens of Cookville Tenn., on Wednesday evening, the twelfth of June at eight o'clock.

The ceremony, which will take place at the Christian Church, will be performed by the Rev. Mallard Leake, uncle of the bride. Miss Leake has chosen for her maid of honor, her cousin, Miss Doris Dudney, who will wear a frock of orchid tulle. Miss Jean Craig, bridesmaid, will be similarly gowned. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a bridal robe of ivory lace over Satin, with a veil of bridal illusion falling from a coronet of orange blossoms and will carry a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies. Little Misses Mary Frances and Katharina Lynch, wearing pink tulle and carrying pink baskets of flowers, will serve as flower girls. Mr Harvey Drater of Cookville will serve Mr Hudgens as best man, Mr Aubrey Johnson and Dr Sidney Weinstein as ushers.

Among the lovely affairs that have been given the past week, honoring an attractive bride elect Miss Janie Leake, was a beautifully planned crystal shower in the home of Mrs Cecil Cox, Thursday evening, tendered by Mrs Cox and Mrs Walter B Mebane. Two unique contests were enjoyed in which Miss Lena Leath and Miss Dolly Leake won prizes. The consolation fell to Miss Lester Scruggs of Germantown. The lovely young honoree, wearing one of her trousseau frocks of pink and green chiffon with a corsage of pink sweet peas, was seated in a bridal chair of white ornamented with a pink tulle bow when many beautiful gifts were presented to her in a huge pink and white basket. The hostesses were attractively gowned for the evening, Mrs Cox wearing a filmy gown of blue chiffon. Mrs Mebane wore yellow crepe. An ice course in pink and white was served the forty guests who had the pleasure of being present.

Saturday afternoon Miss Angela Monteverde complimented Miss Janie Leake with a bridge tea in her home on Garden Place Memphis. Rose tinted gladiola decorated the rooms, the central feature being a huge white wedding bell festooned with pink hearts. Miss Leake, was very lovely in a black lace ensemble with shoulder bouquet of orchids with which she wore a black picture hat. The hostess presented to the honoree a piece of silk lingerie.

Miss Janie Leake, who has received much attention preceding her marriage to Mr Edward Hudgens on Wednesday June the twelfth, was again complimented when Misses Margery and Jean Craig entertained Tuesday afternoon in her home. Garden flowers in pastel tints decorated the rooms. The many attractive gifts of linen presented to the popular young honoree, were suspended from a white clothes line held by tiny decorated clothes pins. For the afternoon the bride-elect wore a red and white silk sports ensemble with small red hat. An attractive salad course was served the twenty-five guests later in the afternoon.

Misses Eule Leake and Doris Dudney entertained with a silk shower in their home Wednesday afternoon honoring Miss Janie Leake. Pink gladiola and white roses carried out an attractive color scheme. The lovely gifts were piled high in a large pink slipper constructed of satin and ornamented with fluffy tulle bows. The hostesses wore attractive sports ensembles of crepe. The honoree was gowned in a model of taffeta and chiffon in red and white with which she wore a becoming hat. An ice course in a slipper design was served at the close of the afternoon.

"Here's Hoping"

Sometime ago Mr Anthony placed an ad with the Herald of sweet potatoes but after the second issue he phoned us to take out the ad, all the 'taters' were sold. Monday tho, he sent us a sack of the very finest Certified Nancy Hall Yams. They are truly delicious and we appreciate them and the fine cabbages and onions included in that same big sack. Thank you. Mr. Harry Williamson and Jacobs left Tuesday for a fishing trip to Reelfoot Lake. They told us to prepare for a fish dinner today. Here's hoping.

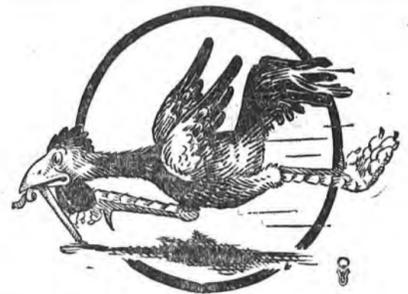

Delightful Luncheon

One of the most delightful of the commencement occasions was a beautiful luncheon given to the members of the senior class and the fourteen faculty members by Mr and Mrs Harry Williamson on Wednesday afternoon May 29th.

The guests assembled at one o'clock in the lower hall of the high school building where the delicious three course meal was enjoyed. Mrs Williamson was assisted in serving by Mrs Vance Roy, Mrs Will Hughes, and Miss Lena Leith.

A color scheme of pink and white was very artistically carried out. The tables were beautifully decorated with crystal baskets of pink roses, sweet peas, and larkspur.

Humorous impromptu speeches from faculty members and graduates added to the enjoyment of the hour and at the close Mr Williamson expressed his gratitude to the seniors and faculty for the part each had played in making the closing session one of the most successful and enjoyable that he had ever known and expressed the confident hope that the coming session might be still better than this had been. Mr Jacobs responded in behalf of all present with an expression of thanks to Mr and Mrs Williamson in which all heartily joined with a rising vote.
