FACTS and FICTION BEING a little bit about anything

"Read not to contradict and confute, nor to find talk and discourse, but to weigh and consider."—Francis Bacon.
By Harry Williamson

"Eugene Lindsey, 15, was sentenced to four years in the State Industrial School by Judge D. T. Spaulding of the Juvenile Court, and Howard Smith, 20 year old son of Chet Smith, was bound over to the Grand Jury by Judge Y. Q. Caldwell Wednesday morning when the two were arraigned and charged with stealing fruits and groceries from box cars in the N. C. & St. L. Railway."

So ran an obscure news article on an inside page of a daily paper. Young Smith will doubtless plead guilty, and be given three to five years in the State Penitentiary.

While serving their time the boys may have occasion to wonder why the law was dealt out so firmly to them while men able to secure for their own use some six million dollars of State funds are not even under arrest, and doubtless will not be.

It is going to be difficult for the average southern farmer to realize that King Cotton has been dethroned,—or like the Kaiser of Germany did he abdicate? At any rate the feeble monarch is modestly resting in retirement while the United States Government joins with the business men and the farmer in trying to induce his majesty to assume once again his kingly state.

With an eight million bale carry-over from the 1930 crop; with India and Russia making new efforts at establishing a cotton industry that may rival our own South; and with the great Rayon industry manufacturing from trees garments that the women prefer to those made of cotton, what has the southern cotton farmer to hope for in 1931?

It is the united opinion of those most capable of knowing that he has nothing to hope for but low-priced cotton. So far we have heard of no prediction for more than seven cents, and many believe that it may be cheaper than that.

What is the farmer to do? Simply what he ought to have been doing all these years,—MAKING HIS LIVING AT HOME. With an ordinary year, any man on a farm in this section of the South can live almost exclusively at home. On a few acres of well cultivated land plenty of peas, beans, corn, cabbage, turnips, and both kinds of potatoes can be raised. A cow for milk, hogs for meat, and a few chickens for eggs are within the reach of any man who is willing to work, and work hard.

In this section winter gardens may be grown which will provide all the green vegetables any family needs.

With plenty of meat in the smoke house, corn in the crib, sacks of peas and beans, Irish and sweet potatoes hilled up in the garden, and with turnip greens, collards, kale, parsnips and other winter vegetables growing in the garden, just how much will a farmer have to worry over the price of cotton?

A committee from the United States Senate roved about over the country last summer investigating the "Red Menace." We have no idea how much of the people's money these gentlemen spent, but we are sure that the amount would finance their activities would materially help in the drouth relief work now being done. If this committee is interested in finding our greatest Red Menace let them look at the millions of bushels of wheat in warehouses for which the farmer can not get the price of production while millions of people are hungry. Let them look at the millions of bales of cotton stored up and held by cooperative organizations and individuals with the price below the cost of production, while millions are in rags. Let them look again at the few millions of people living in luxury in palatial palaces with retinue of servants attending their wants. They can sit in their offices in Washington and make this study, and give what they

JUDGE CAMILLE KELLEY TO ADDRESS LOCAL P.-T. A.

Meeting to Be Held on Next Friday
Instead of Thursday

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Collierville school will hold the regular February meeting on next Friday afternoon, the thirteenth, beginning at 3 o'clock. The committee in charge, with Mrs. A. E. Guy as chairman, is planning a most excellent program for the occasion.

The outstanding feature of the program will be the address given by Judge Camille Kelley of the Juvenile Court, Memphis. Judge Kelley, with her ability to grip and hold the attention of any audience, will no doubt give an address that will be most important, and every parent, every citizen, who is interested in child welfare, is urged to attend this meeting.

Other attractive features, including musical numbers, are being arranged for the afternoon's entertainment which will be followed by the serving of refreshments.

You are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn and sons, from Rossview, were here last Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Crawford.

would spend in roving about over the country to those who need it. "Ill fares the land, and to hastening ill is a prey, Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

Good news for the farmer after all! Roger Babson, eminent statistician, and big-business prophet, says the farmer will be the first to come out of the depression that now grips the country.

"Christian Scientist believe that pain is an illusion," we are told in "Time." The tooth ache illusion is the most effective we have experienced.

They have proposed to cut the teachers' salaries and pay them the twelve months in the year in Elizabeth City, North Carolina. The Superintendent of Education there says that if they do this, the checks will not be large enough to pay him to write them out.

Presidents' wives evidently live longer than the presidents do. We now have seven living. Mrs. Harrison, 72; Mrs. Taft, 69; Mrs. Cleveland, 66; Mrs. Wilson, 59; Mrs. Hoover, 56; and Mrs. Coolidge, 52.

Did you know that we are still in the grip of the longest drouth in the history of the U. S. Weather Department? Not since last May have we had sufficient rain to really wet the ground. Weather department officials are considerably worried over our failure to get rain. We are about twenty inches short at this time. Our annual rainfall is only about fifty inches. When we realize that our shortage is almost half of that amount, the seriousness of the condition may be realized.

General Smedley Butler, the fighting Marine who would have cleaned up Philadelphia if they had let him alone, is into trouble now because he "told tales out of school" about Italy's Il Duce. We hope he comes out of his court martial trial.

Charlie Chaplin is out with a new silent picture, "City Lights." Our famous custard pie artist does not like the talkies, and refuses to give up his role of silent comedian for the more noisy method of making moving pictures. At an advance sale of tickets for this his newest picture, which was shown in a brand new theatre in Los Angeles, (and the tickets were $10 each), the house was sold out long before the date of showing. The beauty of being a sure enough star is that you can make folks take what you want to give them. If Charlie Chaplin doesn't like the talkies, we will be glad to see him in the old silent picture.

COLLIERVILLE 4-H CLUB ORGANIZES

At a recent meeting of the 4-H Club girls the following officers were elected: President, Velma Strong; Vice-President, Ruth Hamner; Secretary-Treasurer, Mamie Russell. Rivers Anderson and Nannie Barber were named as the program committee. Doris Strong was chosen as leader.

The Club will meet the second Tuesday of each month. A very interesting program is being planned for the year.

Under the able leadership of Doris, the Collierville Club is looking forward to the best year it has ever had. Doris has been a club member and leader for several years, and last year she was chosen as one of the two Tennessee representatives to the National Club Camp at Washington. She was also named as Shelby County's most outstanding leader among the girls.

Already the club members are making plans to send one of the members to the State club camp at Knoxville this summer. The following girls have taken the 4-H pledge, and are planning their work with much enthusiasm: Mary Bernice Northcross, Mildred Dunn, Dorothy Jamison, Eunice Crenshaw, Willie Powell, Ora May Free, Mamie Russell, Velma Strong, Ruth Hamner, Frances Russell, Doris Strong, Louwanna Collins, Rivers Anderson, Ruby Lester.

Miss Nellie Bryan is acting as sponsor for the club.

METHODIST STEWARDS ENJOY FISH FRY

The Stewards of the Methodist church were treated to an old-time fish fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williamson on Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. A combination of crapple and channel cat was served. Since Mr. Williamson was not at the services Sunday, it was the opinion of the Stewards that he went fishing instead. At any rate, all of them—including the preacher—partook of the fish regardless of the suspicion of when they were caught.

GERMANTOWN CHICKEN DINNER

The Germantown Chapter of the Eastern Star will entertain with a Chicken Dinner, Bridge and Puncio Party on Saturday evening, February 7th. The dinner will be served from 6 to 8, and then the games will be played.

Everybody is invited to come. The admission will be 50 cents, which will entitle one to dinner and game.

Mrs. Sammy McMahan, of Tusculum, Alabama, visited with friends here Tuesday.

SENDS HELP TO NEEDY COLORED TENANT FAMILIES

In response to a letter written by Mrs. R. D. Wilson to her sister, Mrs. Kate Harris Walker, of Perry Point, Md., telling her of the condition of colored tenant farmers here, Mrs. Walker circulated a petition among the people of her town and raised the sum of $90.00 which she sent to Mrs. Wilson. As a result of this generosity, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were able last Tuesday to distribute five barrels of flour, five barrels of meal, 250 pounds sugar, five cases of lard, and 100 pound of meat among 26 colored families.

Mrs. Walker, who will be remembered as Miss Katie Harris, is taking a very active interest in welfare work, and is especially interested in her home town of Collierville.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN FARMERS EVENING CLASSES

The Evening Classes which are being held in the Vocational Department in the interest of farming, are attracting much favorable comment, and the attendance at the last two meetings was unusually good, proving that interest is steadily growing.

On Wednesday evening of last week the subject of discussion was "Classing and Grading Cotton," and Mr. Vandever, the speaker, gave the 58 citizens present a very instructive talk.

On Saturday evening another important topic, "What the Federal Farm Board Plans to Do for the Farmer" was ably discussed by L. J. Kerr. There were thirty-five present at this time. W. E. Robertson, Vocational Teacher, appreciates the co-operation that is being given him in this work.

TWO MORE BUSINESS HOUSES RECEIVE SPRING DRESS-UP

The Collierville Service Station looks all "dressed-up" this week, and is all ready for the Spring and Summer with its new coat of paint and new signs. It looks very attractive.

The Superior Service Station, now under the management of Morris McGinnis, is also being given a new coat of paint, and a spring-cleaning, with all the lamps, and everything, being entirely gone over.

And in the meantime, quite a few men have been given employment by the City for cleaning up the Park, and the streets. Such clean-up improvements are great, and there can't be too much of it. It makes us feel better and look better.

Hear Judge Camille Kelley at the school auditorium Friday afternoon, February 13th, at 3 o'clock.

Collierville Basket Ball

BOLTON WILL BE HERE TONIGHT

Continuing the county league basketball schedule, the Bolton High School will meet the Collierville Basketball team in the local gymnasium Friday night, February 6th, at 7:30.

The Bolton girls are reputed to be among the best in the county, being contenders for the county championship. The Bolton boys are fast players, and both teams will assure the fans of their money's worth.

COLLIERVILLE WINS DOUBLE HEADER

After seeing their opponents pile up a score of 9 to 1 during the first half of the game between Bartlett and Collierville in the local gymnasium last Friday night, Collierville girls came back with a winning determination that defeated the visitors by a score of 16 to 14.

Suffering not only with an inability to hit the goal when the opportunity afforded, the local sextet was unable to head off the winning spirit with which the Bartlett lassies entered the game. But after ten minutes rest, acting Captain Bess Crawford brought her battle-worn gladiators on the court with the slogan "they shall not pass"—and Bartlett did not pass. Seldom have Collierville fans witnessed a more exciting scrap, and one that seemed more uncertain.

The Collierville boys experienced very little difficulty with the lads from Bartlett. At the half, with the score badly lopsided in Collierville's favor, Coach Hudgens withdrew all his first string men and sent in five substitutes. The second-liners held the visitors to a slow gain until the game was almost over when the varsity boys went back in for a final warmup. The game ended with a score of Collierville 38, and Bartlett 19.

SOMERVILLE HIGH DIVIDES HONORS WITH COLLIERVILLE

In two basketball games, replete with excitement, poor shooting, bum playing, and an occasional flash of real ball playing, Collierville and Fayette County High School divided honors on Tuesday evening with Mr. O. C. Hopping acting as official foul caller.

In the girls game the Collierville lassies got off to a nice start while the second stringers for Somerville were on the job. However, when the first team representatives of Fayette High went into action, the score for the visitors climbed up, and the game closed with the score-dometer reading 31 to 19 in favor of the visitors.

The boys game belonged to any

YES, WE CAN USE IT AT THE LUNCH ROOM

If you have anything you can spare—turnips, chickens, eggs, milk, money of any denomination, canned goods, bread, pies, meat—or in fact anything that satisfies the want of human beings when they are hungry, we can use it at the lunch room.

Please bear in mind that it is as much your job as it is any one else's. The drouth and depression brought on the condition that made it necessary for some sixty children to be given free lunches each day at the Collierville school.

There are no special days for gifts. We accept ANYTHING at ANY TIME.

The chain stores will remain in business if the decision is left to the two members of the Sophomore class who handled the negative side of a debate held last Friday morning in the school auditorium.

The question was: "Resolved: That the Chain Stores are a Menace to the United States." Miss Ruby Crawford presided. The affirmative was handled by Jessie May Godwin and Guy Simmons, and the negative was debated by Ruth Hamner and Maury Ballard. The judges were Mrs. J. P. Walker, E. F. Moreland and Walter H. Harris. Both teams presented excellent arguments, but the judges decision was two in favor of the negative and one for the affirmative.

WAS REPRESENTATIVE TO THE GRAND LODGE

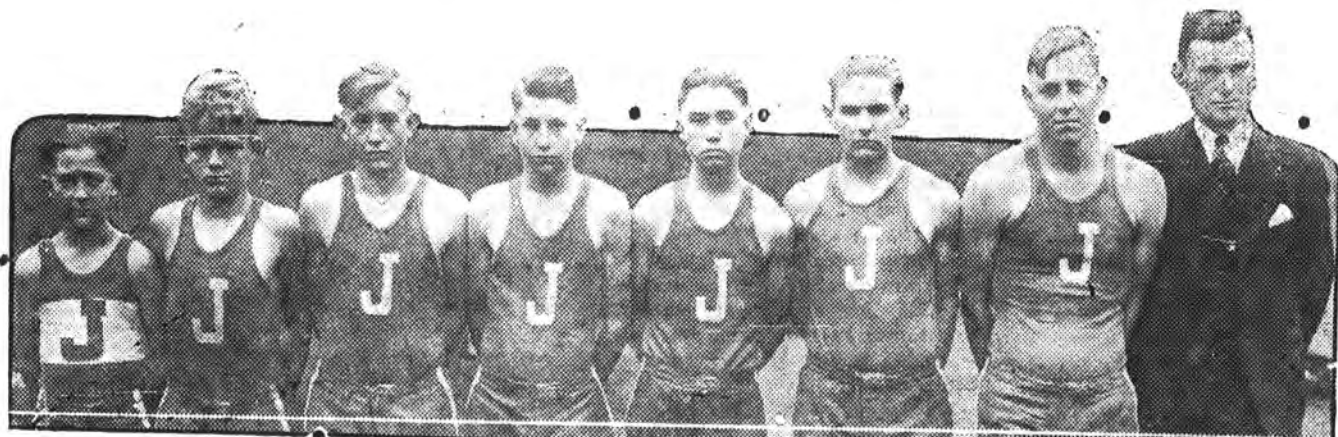

Rev. J. P. Horton, Master of the Collierville Masonic Lodge, returned home last Friday from Nashville, where he had been attending as representative of the local Lodge, the session of the Grand Lodge. The attendance at the session was good, and reports showed the lodges in the jurisdiction in excellent shape and doing good work.

Rev. Mr. Horton reports the new officers of the Collierville Lodge all interested in the work, and the attendance at the meetings is showing a steady increase.

one for quite a time, the score being tied, or near tied, for some time during the third quarter. The Collierville boys were determined to win, however, and with Ray Seward playing his first game as Captain, he went into the last quarter with a will to win that swept Somerville's best defense out of the way.

The game ended with a beautiful come-back on the part of Collierville with the score of 30 to 24.

The girls' team, the photo of which we were unable to obtain, won the junior county championship among the girls, teams. The lassies forming this team are: Valden Perkins, center; Hazel Seward, guard; Mary Priddy, forward; Hazel Biggs, forward; Catherine Reid, forward; Mary Summers, guard; Elizabeth Griffin, guard; Susie Rutledge, center; Virginia Priddy, center; Everett, coach.

The George R. James Junior High basketball teams ended a very successful season by winning the county championships from the Millington Juniors. The Millington teams had come through winners among the junior teams of the senior high schools and the James teams survived in the league for junior high schools proper. The James boys won two straights from the Millington boys in the play-off, scores 16 to 12 and 15 to 11, while the James girls dropped the middle game 24 to 17. However, they won the first and third 17 to 12 and 18 to 11. The James boys won 12 games during the season and lost one. The girls finished with a record of 13 wins and one defeat.

The school is justly proud of the records of both teams, this being the first year it has operated as a junior high school. The teams were honored with a banquet at the school, and were presented handsome loving cups by the Shelby County Athletic Association. Mr. John S. Everett, Coach, deserves much credit for the victory of the teams.

Times are getting better. We hear it and read it every day. So that is not news. They can't get much worse, so some think.

Times got better after the Civil War. They improved through the Reconstruction days until they finally reached a point of prosperity.

Now we are back—back where we started, with times, in a way, even worse than the Reconstruction Period in that the depression covers the whole United States—some parts less, some parts more.

We are in an unprecedented abnormal condition—a condition which it is dangerous to allow to exist, a condition which should be stopped even at great cost.

Unusual or abnormal conditions can only be combatted with unusual or abnormal methods.

An unusual method would be for the U. S. government to pay off a debt which it owes, to pay this debt now and not wait fifteen or more years; and to pay this debt in full that the receivers may have a little extra money so that they may feel able to spend a bit for luxuries. We say a part for luxuries because the makers of these luxuries require laborers or employees the same as the manufacturers of necessities, and it will take the operations of both manufacturers to relieve the present unemployment situation.

The debt which the Government owes is to the soldier of the late War. And this soldier, if he is hungry, will sell his certificate of debt, or bonus, or insurance (call it what you may) at a sacrifice, or at its present actual value which amounts to about 63% of its face value.

BUT only those who are in dire distress will sacrifice their certificates for less than face value, and the proceeds from the ones cashed will be spent for only absolute necessities. This will allow the seller to exist for possibly another year without any charitable aid, but the country as a whole, and the present depression will be helped very little. If the Government were to pay in full NOW, the present depression would be helped greatly, for the amount of money paid out would certainly make business better. Regardless of the justice of the bonus, it is a debt that is owing. It must be paid at some time. The ex-service men have the signed certificates of the Government that it will pay IN FULL, but there is one condition: The soldier must die or wait fifteen years.

Congress can remove this condition, and the most pessimistic person will admit that a payment in full NOW would help the present financial state of affairs.

POLITICAL COMMENTS

And how does the head of the Government feel after his Wicker-shampoo?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"WE WILL—WE ARE"

The Wickersham commission's report recalls the company of infantry who were being harangued by their gallant Irish captain just before going into battle. "Boys," he shouted, "will ye fight or will ye run." And the men yelled, "We will!" Mr. Hoover asked the Wickersham commission, "Are you wet or are you dry?" And almost two years later the embattled 11 mummur, "We are."

The historical "Era of Good Feeling" under President Monroe now has its antithesis in the "Era of Ill Feeling" under President Hoover.

Henry P. Fletcher, Chairman of the Tariff Commission, according to a Washington political writer, appeared at a local bal masque recently in the character of Disraeli, so perfectly made up that he could not be identified for a long time. What character could have been more appropriate? Disraeli didn't know anything about the tariff either.

SOPHOMORES WRITE EDITORIALS

In an editorial writing contest featured by the Sophomore Class, the following editorial written by Leo

Hill was selected as among the best:

Benefits Derived from Depression and Droughts

It is to be hoped that the South has learned that we can not live on cotton alone. Most of us think we can raise cotton right up to the front door and prosper. We have found by sad experience that this is not true. We should now know that we will have to raise most of our food and the feed for the stock if we hope to be independent. When we raise all cotton we have to turn right around and buy food with the money we got from cotton. Why not raise food for ourselves, and then have the money to spend for something else? We try to be smart but, as a rule, we fail. This year most of us will raise our food because cotton is worthless, but when cotton goes up we will all start raising more, and then we will have another year of depression. We are like the dog chasing its tail, we never get anywhere. We must raise food for ourselves and our stock whether the price of cotton is high or low.

The South has never become a country of savers. We need to form a habit of putting away some of our savings in the bank. Our seven fat years ought to help us through our seven lean ones, if we have that many, and then when the times are hard we will have some money to fall back upon.

We must prepare for a depression or drought, not just this year but every year.

We must not feel so bad about the condition of the United States. Although conditions are hard, if this drought and depression will change the South from a country of one crop cotton farmers to an independent people who live at home, it will be worth all the trouble and misery it is causing.

CHICAGO OPERA CO.
BRINGS OUTSTANDING
ARTISTS TO MEMPHISThree Performances Will Be Given in Municipal Auditorium.

The Chicago Civic Opera Co., which has been heard many times in Memphis during the last decade, will make another visit to that city on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13 and 14, bringing opera to music lovers of Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Southern Missouri.

Three performances are scheduled, with the beloved operatic twins, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci."

Maria Olszewska as Octavian
in Der Rosenkavalier
Chicago Civic Opera Company

"I Pagliacci," opening the engagement Friday evening; Richard Strauss' gay comedy, "Der Rosenkavalier," being the matinee bill for Saturday afternoon and the engagement closing with a performance of Ambrose Thomas' "Mignon" Saturday evening.

The Chicago Civic Opera Co., which is one of the outstanding operatic organizations of the world, is being presented in Memphis by the Memphis Opera Association, of which W. R. Herstein, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, is chairman. The performances will be given in the Memphis Auditorium.

Double Bill Scheduled.
In the cast of "Cavalleria Rusticana," Claudia Muzio will be heard as

Tito Schipa as Wilhelm Meister
in Mignon
Chicago Civic Opera Company

Santuzza, Jenny Tournel as Lola, Constance Eberhart as Lucia, Antonio Cortis as Turiddu and Desire DeFrere as Alfio. Roberto Moranzoni will conduct.

In "I Pagliacci," the cast will include Hilda Burke as Nedda, Charles Marshall as Canio, Giuseppe Cavadore as Beppo, and Desire DeFrere as Silvio. Frank St. Leger will conduct.

These two operas, which are frequently combined on the same bill because they are both short, have the same general theme—jealousy—though their stories differ widely in detail. The scene of "Cavalleria" is Sicily. Santuzza has been seduced and abandoned by Turiddu, who has gone to his former sweetheart, now the wife of Alfio. She does all in her power to shield her faithless lover until he tries her beyond endurance by jeering at her in the presence of her rival. Then she tells Alfio of his wife's affair with done by Turiddu, who has gone to his former sweetheart, now the wife of Alfio. She does all in her power to shield her faithless lover until he tries her beyond endurance by jeering at her in the presence of her rival. Then she tells Alfio of his wife's affair with

Frida Leider as Princess

Turiddu. The men fight, and Turiddu is killed.

In "I Pagliacci," the jealousy is a man's. Canio, one of a troupe of strolling players in Italy, discovers his wife's betrayal of him just before the show is to begin. During the show, he is exasperated by Nedda, his wife (also a member of the troupe) into forgetting his part; but the audience believes his jealousy to be a part of the play almost up to the moment when he stabs Nedda and her lover Silvio.

Gay Viennese Comedy.
Opera lovers of this community this season will have the first opportunity of any outside Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia, of hearing Richard Strauss' gay comedy for music, "Der Rosenkavalier," at the Saturday matinee. The opera has been given a cast such as probably could

Charles Marshall as Canio
in I Pagliacci
Chicago Civic Opera Company

not be duplicated by any opera company in the world. Frida Leider, the great German dramatic soprano, cast in the role of Princess von Werdenberg, is one of the outstanding singers of the last half century. Maria Olszewska, Viennese contralto, who sings the role of Octavian, knight of the silver rose, has made this role distinctly her own. Thelma Volpka, American lyric soprano, has just the voice for the music assigned to the role of Sophia; Alexander Kipnis, one of the greatest comedians of the operatic stage, is much at home in the part of the gross Baron Ochs, and Robert Ringling is perfect as Faninal. Theodore Ritch, Russian tenor, has a delightful bit as the Italian singer in the first act. Emil Cooper will conduct.

"Der Rosenkavalier" is a gay comedy in the Viennese style. The Princess von Werdenberg is having a

in I Pagliacci
Chicago Civic Opera Company

love affair with Octavian, a young man who is fascinated by her mature but fast fading beauty. Her cousin, Baron Ochs, an old libertine, needs a young man to carry the silver rose to his betrothed, Sophia von Faninal, according to the Viennese custom at betrothals. The Princess has the whim to send Octavian, but immediately regrets it, knowing that he will prefer the younger beauty to her. The rose is delivered, and Sophia, who is the daughter of a newly rich plebeian, falls in love with Octavian, who falls in love with her. A plot is concocted by Octavian and other enemies of the Baron to discredit him, Octavian juring him as a chambermaid. The plot succeeds; Faninal is disgusted with the Baron, and the Princess unites the lovers.

LOEW'S STATE

Beginning Friday, February 6th, Loew's State presents Paramount's spectacular epic of the Empire Builders, "Fighting Caravans." Zane Grey's own immortal story of the fight to conquer the West, with Gary Cooper, Lily Damita, and Ernest Torrence. Gary Cooper as the reckless young scout of the expedition gives one of the convincing portrayals of his interesting career, with Lily Damita as the lovely heroine, a reincarnation of the pioneer womanhood whose courage will always be one of the wonders of history. "Fighting Caravans" has a great theme, it is a great love drama, beautifully acted, superbly directed, and interestingly told. A talking picture that inspires, invigorates and incites your cheers. Loew's "Ace" Vaudeville, your favorite entertainment, offers five big acts of added enjoyment.

LOEW'S PALACE

Saturday, February 7th, Loew's Palace presents "The Man Who Came Back" with Janet Gaynor and Chas. Farrell, America's two most popular sweethearts in a royal romantic drama. Farrell as the ne'er-do-well son of New York's king of finance, falls from grace. Improperly trained to face the world, he sinks, step by step until he finally reaches the lowest dive in Shanghai. There, drawn by natural forces, he is attracted to a girl, one rung above himself in degradation. Together, hand in hand, impelled by their new found faith, their courage reborn in misery. And clinging to each other, they climb to a seventh heaven through love. How the love of these two down-and-outers gives them strength to drag themselves from the mire, and climb upward into the sunlight, makes one of the most powerful stories ever brought to the screen.

LOEW'S STRAND

Beginning Monday, February 9th, Loew's Strand presents the Fox Movietone "Once a Sinner" with Dorothy Mackaill, Joel McCrea, and C. Henry Gordon. The story deals with a girl, orphaned at an early age striving and struggling to make a living as a model. She refuses a wealthy man's offer of marriage because she has no love for him. After a time she encounters her first real love with a young inventor who marries her. Then the question of her past, as a model, arises which invariably ruffles their matrimonial happiness, however, they are a happy couple in the end.

Thursday, February 12th, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Great Meadow," will be offered starring John Mack Brown and Eleanor Boardman. This feature is another thrilling and romantic American history, a tale of pioneer love, pioneer courage and pioneer hardship. It is indeed interesting to follow a pioneer bride and groom on the strangest honeymoon the world has ever known.

HEALTH COLUMN
By Dr. Wallace P. Moore"FROM FLIES AND FILTH TO FOOD AND FEVER"

In the prevention and control of flies there are four practical methods for community protection. In preceding issues of the Herald we have outlined and discussed briefly, (1) The prevention of fly breeding, at the source of the breeding, by prompt removal of manure weekly or treating same with chemicals. (2) The destruction of adult flies by poisons, swatting, fly papers and traps.

The third step, which we are to outline presently, is the protection of human discharges from access of flies.

The Collierville school community has made a great deal of progress in the construction of sanitary privies which has the value of preventing access of flies to human discharges. However, the problem in the community is a long way from perfection and much remains to be done.

The use of the old style open back privy, where the bowel discharges are deposited on the ground, exposed to flies, fowls, and animals, makes the spread of disease easy. This foul material contains many dangerous poisons thrown off from the body as well as the germs of diseases. The clean and sanitary deposition of this dangerous matter is most important because it renders the occurrence of Typhoid Fever, intestinal worms or parasites, summer bowel complaint, and other diseases spread by filth less likely. It also does away with the unsightly place and gives the home premises a much more neat and clean appearance.

No home is safe where there is an insanitary privy. We must not only think of the beauties of a clean front yard filled with flowers, but the consequences also of a filthy back yard from which a fly brings many diseases and actual deaths into many of the homes. Yes, the fly comes directly from the filth in the back yard and crawls across the face of your sleeping baby and leaves the filth and fly specks on its lips. A few days later your baby has dysentery. You may call it summer complaint; some call it fly complaint, but as a matter of fact, it is your failure to provide well for your household.

The simplest and cheapest form of privy suitable for use in the rural sections and small unsewered towns is the pit privy. This consists of a hole in the ground over which is placed a seat and privy house. The privy floor, seat and seat riser must be fly tight and the pit so built that flies can not reach the contents. Such a privy can be built at a very small cost and with reasonable care it will last from three to five years before it needs moving. A great advantage of the pit privy is the fact that it can be home made. It should be remembered though that a poorly built privy, not fly tight, and not proof against animals is a waste of time and money.

Our unemployment situation in Shelby County could be partially solved if every property owner would install, or have installed a sanitary privy at all rural and urban property.

Mr. J. T. Patrick, Mayor of Collierville, or any member of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, will gladly furnish information in detail relative to plan which has been developed by the county for installing the concrete slab type of privy.

Mr. D. E. Dugan, our County Health Department representative, will confer with property owners to furnish any information desired relative to the work.

Little Misses Jasca Rose Williamson and Montine Treadwell Celebrate Birthdays with Delightful Party

On last Friday afternoon, in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williamson, Mrs. Williamson gave in honor of the birthdays of her young daughter, Jasca Rose, and her friend, Montine Treadwell, a most wonderful party to a large group of friends which included the boys and girls of the First Grade.

Upon the arrival of the enthusiastic guests they were ushered by Mrs. Williamson into the dining room where they found a lovely birthday cake had been placed in the center of the dining table, and at one side of the cake sat Jasca Rose, and at the other side sat Montine. The twelve candles—six for Montine and six for Jasca Rose—were gaily burning as the children marched and lustily sang "Here We Go Round the Birthday Cake." Then to the young honorees the happy children sang "Happy Birthday to You!" This was followed by the presentation and opening of birthday presents. Other pleasures were had in the front lawn where an hour or two passed swiftly in the playing of interesting and exciting games. One of the most delightful features of the afternoon took place in the late afternoon when Mrs. Williamson served refreshments that were very delicious. The guest list included about forty little boys and girls.
