PASSES AWAY

J. P. Williams, age 83 passed away last Friday morning at 10 o'clock at his home on highway 72 just south of Collierville. Funeral services were held at the resi-dence on Saturday afternoon with Rev. H. J. Rushing, pastor of the Baptist Church in charge, after which burial was in the Magnolia cemetary.

Mr. Williams was one of the best known citizens of this community, having spent his entire life here. He was preceeded in death by his wife about three years ago, and since that time his son and daughter had been mak-ing their home with him.

He is survived by the following children, all of Collierville: Ben, John and Osborn and Miss Effie and Mrs. H. W. Schrader, also eleven grand-children and three great grand-children.

In the passing of J. P. Williams this community has lost one of it's oldest and best citizens. He will be greatly missed by his many friends in Collierville and throughout this section. He was loved and respected by all who knew him. We extend our sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

The following served as pall bearers: Leslie Williams, Harry Williams, Romie Jones, Ray Russell, Duke Fletcher, and Elmo Morrison.

DAIRY CATTLE NEED ROUGHAGE

Constitute Important Part in Balanced Ration.

By DR. W. B. NEVENS (Chief in Dairy Cattle Feeding, Universities College of Agriculture.)

One of the new developments in dairy cattle feeding is the discovery. made in recent investigational work, that the roughage portion of the ration is by far the most important that the country of the c part. If dairy cows are supplied with liberal amounts of well-preserved, high-quality legume rough-ages, the balance of the ration is of little importance from the standpoint of the character of the nutrients.

One of the facts which has led to this conclusion is the finding that dairy cattle require vitamins A and D in large amounts and that these are supplied by the roughage or sunlight, the concentrated portion of the ration supplying little or none of either vitamin. As a rule, either the other vitamins are supplied in adequate amounts in the ration or dairy cattle have means of synthetisizing sufficient amounts.

Not only has vitamin A been found to be of tremendous importance in the health of dairy cattle, but dairy cows have the ability to convert a considerable portion of the carotene of the ration into vitamin A and to secrete this vitamin in the milk. In view of these facts, it has become increasingly important to make sure that roughages fed to dairy cattle contain large amounts of green color and that they are in excellent condition—that is, not meldy or musty—so that they can be completely consumed.

Sunlight obtained by dairy cows while at pasture or in their exercising yards or sun-cured hay are ordinarily the sources from which vitamin D is supplied. However, even during early spring, sunlight is very low in its power to impart vitamin D.

Sun-cured hay is probably the best source of vitamin D for dairy cattle large enough to consume at least 21/2 pounds of hay daily. Small calves, as a rule, do not consume this amount of hay and it has been found advantageous to supply them with one teaspoonful of feeding grade of cod-liver oil in the milk

Woodland Makes Poor

Pasture, Foresters Claim "Divorcing" the woods from the pasture and the pasture from the woods, has been recommended by foresters for many years.

One reason is that there's more danger of live stock being poisoned from plants in a woods pasture than in an open pasture.

Woodland offers poor pasture to cattle. Bluegrass pasture should yield 3,000 pounds of dry matter an acre, while woodland pasture yields only 450 pounds.

The productivity of the woodland and after several years the area is devoid of trees or contains only undesirable species such as persimmon and hickory.

For these reasons, the combined value of both woodland and pasture doesn't approach what the site would have produced either in woods or pasture separately.

Grazed woods can be restored to their original productivity by com-

Advise Special Care For Orphan Lambs

Orphan lambs should be fed milk from a recently freshened cow if possible, but warm drawn milk from other cows will do, according to P. A. Anderson of University Farm, St. Paul. If it is necessary to heat other milk do not let it come to a boil. About 98 degrees Fahrenheit is right. The cow's milk should not be diluted with water.

For the first three or four days feed the small lamb one table spoonful every two hours, increasing the amount and reducing the feeding hours until at the end of a week or 10 days three feedings per day are sufficient.

Overfeeding may cause scours. Induce orphan lambs to eat grain and fine hay. Place them in a lamb creep where crushed oats, bran and some corn meal are available and provide a rack for

U. S. Would Speed 'All Out' British Aid With Appropriation of Seven Billions; Landing of British Troops in Greece Adds Confusion to Balkan Situation

(EDITOR'S NOTE.—When epinions are expressed in these columns, they are these of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

With the labor situation in the defense industries much in the news these prominent labor leaders called at the White House to discuss with the President the formation of a national mediation board for settling all disputes in defense production. SPEECHES:

Two Leaders .

In an address that was carried by radio to all parts of the world, President Roosevelt called for an American "total effort" to provide nations resisting aggression with the war implements they need. Speaking before a gathering of the White House newspaper correspondents, the President declared in effect that the aim of the United States is "total victory" over the dictators. He said that this cannot be achieved without some very definite sacrifices on the part of the American people.

He called for a maximum output of war materials by the United States and stressed the high importance of national unity. He ex-pressed the thought that the British people and their Grecian allies needed ships, planes, food, tanks, guns, ammunition and supplies of all kinds. He followed this with the statement that America would provide them with all these things,

Day later Adolf Hitler spoke to his countrymen and told them that no amount of outside help would permit the British to defeat the Axis powers. He did not refer directly to President Roosevelt's speech.

Germany, according to Hitler, has been preparing throughout the past winter for a final drive to victory in 1941. He predicted that this final victory would come "on land, sea, or air or in any part of the earth."

BRITISH:

First Again

The British, who have been trying their utmost to get the jump on their Nazi and Fascist opponents since Germany made hash out of French and British armies on the West Wall, apparently had beaten the Germans to the punch on the northern Greek front

The story came, not from British sources, but from the Nazi officials in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. The move had two important objects, apparently, one to attempt the hopeless task of keeping Yugoslavia in line as a possible Nazi opponent in a drive on Greece, the other to put troops into position for a swift and powerful defense against a Nazi invasion from Bulgaria.

The story was that 100,000 soldiers, including shiploads of munitions, tanks and other mechanized equipment, sufficient for five full divisions, had been landed and were taking up positions on Greek soil opposite to the estimated 500,000 Nazis in Bulgaria.

The original informant said that official denials could be expected both from the Greeks and the Brit-

However, entirely unofficially, British authorities told correspondents in London that the reports of the landing of the British forces in Greece "probably were well found-

Germany immediately denied any knowledge of the movement, and as the Greeks were not letting newspaper men into that territory, but indeed were evacuating everyone in expectation that it would be a battleground, the entire story was impossible of positive confirmation. The same report said that Germany was wheeling her mechanized forces and her planes into position for immediate attack.

CHINESE:

For Britain

One of the most unusual dispatches, never confirmed, but never denied, emanated from Tokyo, and told how the Cainese nationalist gov-ernment was sending a million Chi-nese men to Britain's Malay possessions to serve as soldiers. The men, according to this story will be armed and outsitted for the Far East defense by American ship-ments of arms and ammunition.

According to reports brought to Belgrade by neutral diplomats, five ships a day have been coming into southern ports in Greece, and have moved forward to take positions in the central part of the country, readily accessible to the northern

Die Is Cast

The move by the British meant that they had cast the die, that they were going to move in full force to the aid of Greece, and hence that if Germany wants to force a separate peace with Greece it will have to be a real military victory, and not merely diplomatic pressure.

This move, together with the landing at Salonika, was not without a powerful effect on Turkey, which, unlike Yugoslavia, seemed to have some ability to stand out against the Nazi inroads, and to hold herself in alliance with Greece and Britain, in accordance with the wishes of the government majority.
While Berlin refused to confirm the reports, and refused to comment on them in any way, it was considered ominous that the statement should be made in a Nazi communique that "the moment had now come for a decisive act in German-Greek rela-

ENVOY:

'Means Business'

W. A. Harriman marched up to newspaper men on the Bristol, England, airport as a special representative of President Roosevelt and said these words:

"Believe me, the United States means business in this war."

They were cheering words to the English, and at the same time in this country President Roosevelt's lease-lend plan went zooming ahead. with congressional approval of the $7,000,000,000 implementation of the law a certainty.

It was within the same week of the passage of the British aid act that the house subcommittee swept into instant action and approved the amount.

President Roosevelt already had "sold" senate and house leaders that the amount was no figment of the imagination, thought up hurriedly, but was, rather, the carefully considered amount which would take care of a sizeable aid to Britain program for the life of the bill-July, 1943.

The newspapers printed careful breakdowns of the 7 billion amount, showed how this and that had been divided out, and how safeguards had been thought out as to the question of moving funds from one category to another.

It was all placed before the public succinctly and with his usual compelling power of oratory by President Roosevelt himself in an address to the nation. Without telling any secrets, or tipping off adverse powers, the President took the people into his confidence, and just on the eve of the consideration of the measure, too.

That clinched the situation, view of congressional leaders, who figured that in three days, at most, it would be all over, and the administration would have, practically intact except for some dozen amend ments, his fully implemented aid-to-Britain plan.

Industrial Lag Seen

So confident was the President of the outcome, based on the advices of those close to him and watching congress, that he issued an an nouncement even before his radio address, that he was planning to spend the whole huge sum within 16

William S. Knudsen, however, the head of Production Management, hinted at an industrial lag, and said that it would probabl; be two to three months before the whole British aid program would really get Collapse of opposition to 'Lend-Lease' Bill due to attitude of Senators' constituents . . . Statement of Britain's war aims helpful only to Hitler.

WASHINGTON.—Most people out in the country think that the opposi-tion to the lease-lend-aid-Britain bill conducted a long-drawn-out filibus-ter. There is a surprising amount of sentiment that the delay in the passage of this measure was in-

Putting to one side the merits of the opposition, the fact remains that the crumbling of the opposition, the sudden cellapse which permitted the final passage of the bill by the sen-ate on March 8, was a surprise and totally unexpected. Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, spearhead of the opposition, had been so confident in January that he was sure he could hold off a final vote until June! He missed his guess by three months.

The question is WHY? There was no lack of filibustering power. The debate could have been indefinitely extended.

Innumerable amendments could have been proposed, and each one of the opposition senators could have talked to the limit of his physical capacity on each one of them. There was no other plan than to do precisely this when the debate opened. What caused the abandonment of this fierce resolve on the part of Wheeler and his colleagues? WATCH 'HOME' SENTIMENT

To find out why the filibuster col-lapsed one has to look outside of Washington, and outside of New York: The simple answer is that the men conducting that filibuster, for that is what it started out to be despite all the denials, did not like what they heard from back home about the reactions.

A man doesn't get to be senator, except at rare intervals, without knowing a good deal about politics; without knowing just what a politi-cal organization can do and what it cannot do. Voting the way a particular constituent wants you to vote on some particular issue does not mean that he will vote for you next time you come up. But when you vote AGAINST what that constituent wants, particularly if he happens to think that particular issue is the most important thing in the world, is very apt to ke him vote against you the next ...me you run regardless of everything else.

Too many people, in too many states, thought this lease-lend bill and its bearing on the war the most important thing in the world. Lets of them did not bother to write letters, but every senator has plenty of listening posts. In a nutshell, that's the answer.

President Roosevelt Opposes Statement of 'War Aims'

Nothing is so annoying to President Roosevelt and his lieutenants in the field of war activities as the frequently repeated demand of many so-called intellectuals and commentators that the British government state its war aims.

"It reminds me," one very close and trusted advisor of the President stated, "of two men grappling in a death struggle. Each has almost reached his opponent's jugular vein. A casual passerby shouts for one of so you can take something off my the men to stop and state what he is fighting about. As though he could stop and face the fact that in that pause his enemy would almost certainly kill him."

There is no secret about this view of such demands in the administration. Authorized spokesmen in-high positions are saying it to small groups in off-the-record talks every few days. They are doing their best to make the country understand, without coming right out and saying so, that nothing in the world would serve the purposes of Hitler much more successfully than to have a statement of British war aims right

POLICY IS UNSOUND

It takes only a few moments' consideration of this problem to see why. Years back President Coolidge was fond of saying to inquirers about a certain policy: "I will tell you what I have decided to do, but not the mental processes by which I reached that decision. You may agree with the decision, but you might not agree with the mental

Take a look back at the last war. Obviously a majority of the people of the United States were in favor of going into it.

A strong minority, consisting of most of the German-Americans and pacifists, were opposed.

But suppose that the eventual terms of the Versailles treaty had been announced at that time! Then remember how many national groups in this country were bitter against Wilson in 1920 because of these terms!

on the other hand, what would be gained by a statement of war aims at this time? Whom would it please, save the Nazis and a few critics, most of whom have been apposed to U 2 aid for Britain anyhow.

AIR TRAVEL ON CREDIT

Seventeen air lines have an-nounced an installment plan for air travel. No down payment is re-quired. You get a ticket to go up if your credit rating proves you are the sort of person who will come down and make good:

The idea should bring many more customers. Lots of people would fly if they knew it wouldn't cost them a cent until after they had landed.

This is the first time in flying history that it has been possible to risk your neck on a credit basis.

It is almost like hoping, collecton-delivery.

And it is going to seem strange but highly satisfying to get out of a clipper and just say, "Put it on my bill."

This credit idea has already been introduced by some railroads. You can take a transcentinental choochoo ride now on the so-much-down-and-so-much-a-month basis, and the idea is proving popular. Americans like to travel on the cuff, and there is something highly satisfying in being able to owe a railroad money.

When you have to plank down your money before you even get by the iron gates at a railroad terminal it takes something out of the trip. No matter how good the scenery is you discount it on the ground that it ought to be better for that much money.

If you are jerked out of an upper berth by a green engineer or had brakes it is all the more exasperat-ing when you know the discemforts have been paid for in advance.

But if you owe the railroad for the trip it's not so annoying.

The same will be true of airplane travel. Your hair may stand on end at the thought of a cross-country flight, but it becomes much easier handle with a brush and comb when you know the company can't take a dime of your dough in ad-

And if you are dropping down by parachute, think of the satisfaction of knowing that it's all being done on the deferred payment plan!

There will be the kick, too, of getting a bill from the air lane company with a "please remit" notation and dashing off a little note: "Gentlemen: Your bill for flight to Chicago received and in reply I beg to state that I did not enjoy the trip. It was very bumpy, the plane was two hours late and it was so cloudy that I did not see half the scenery I was entitled to. I was not satisfied and hope there can be an adjustment. "P. S.-The hostess wasn't goodlooking, either. I should say she wasn't within $10 of the good looks of the hostess on my previous trip

bill for this, too." CAN YOU REMEMBER

Away back when an invitation to get off the earth was practically an isolated instance?

Defense workers are being housed in trailers in some parts of the country. After a night in a traile man must be pretty glad of a chance to go to the shop where he can get a good rest.

The horse seems to be finished in the army, but it requires a let of imagination to picture anybody shouting: "A tank, a tank, my kingdom for a tank!"

Two hundred thousand workers in the printing trades want radio advertising curbed. In this they have the hearty support of at least 90 per cent of the radio audience.

In this department's opinion radio advertising is, most of the time, offensive, annoying and a darned nuisance. Elmer Twitchell, for instance, is so bothered by it that he lists all the products bally-boosed on the air waves as he will hooed on the air waves so he will remember what NOT to buy.

"Hellzapoppin" was performed for the draftees recently. This gave the boys a chance to laugh at the jokes that cheered their fathers up 25

Anyway, Miss Oberon jumped at the chance of stay a modern, witty young wife in "That Uncertain Feel-ing," opposite Melvyn Douglas, be-cause she felt that it had something very special for her—a chance to be just herself. It's a Lubitsch picture.

Martha Scott won a horse in a raffle the other day—it cost her all of a dollar, and it's called Red Ember. Then the producer of "They Dare Not Love," in which she is co-starred with George Brent, saw the horse and announced that it was exactly what he needed for William Holden to ride in "Texas," which he is also producing. So Red Em-ber was signed up, and will earn $25 a day when he works.

If, when you see Margaret Hayes' face on the screen, it looks familiar. it will be because you've seen it before. She was a model for New York artists and photographers, and a well known one, before she went to Hollywood, and her name in those days was Dana Dale. She has the second leading feminine role in "The Night of January 16th," supporting Ellen Drew and Robert Preston, and look for her in "Skylark," with Claudette Colbert.

Rio Rita has had quite a career during the last two years as a band leader, singer and dancer; she's appeared on Broadway and at theaters throughout the United States. Paramount signed her up to appear as the tropical rival of Dorothy Lamour in "Aloma of the South Seas" and promptly changed her name to Rita Shaw! It was a case of necessity, though. Metro's just bought the screen rights to the musical, "Rio Rita," from RKO and will give us a new version of it.

It's simple enough to make a fortune these days. First, you write a play that's a success on Broadway; second, you sell it to the movies Recently Paramount paid $285,000 for "Lady in the Dark," in which Gertrude Lawrence gives a superb performance—Irene Dunne is probperformance—Irene Dunne is probably the only motion picture actress who could handle it. Shaking Liver Good Exercise For Mind, Body

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

A FRIEND asked me to look at an "exerciser" for which he had taken the agency. It consisted of a square box on which he asked TODAY'S me to sit or stand. I stood on the box he touched a REALTH button and imme-diately the box and I began to vibrate.

I told him that this was the same idea as the mechanical horse found on shipboard or in a gymnasium which "shook up" the whole body.

What about these mechanical seats or mechanical seats or they horses? Can they help the body?

There is no ques-tion but that the vibrating of the entire body in this manner is helpful. Move-ment of all kinds is stimulating which is just what many business men and others need after sitting for hours at a time at their desk.

Dr. Barton

For a long time I wondered how these men with country estates kept as well physically as they did, despite the fact that they were often very heavy eaters. It was only when I remembered that so many of them did a lot of riding that I found the answer. The jogging of the horse was just what was needed to stir up their liver, empty the gall bladder, and stimulate bowel action.

For years it was believed that exercise that shook up or squeezed the liver would make the bile flow and this was proven a few years ago by research workers at McGill university. In fact, I recently came across a rhyme in a little book, "By-ways to Health" by Wood and Danslill, as follows:

"A jaundiced young gent in an attic Once thought he had trouble hepatic (liver)

He bought him a flivver Which shook up his liver

And now his mentality's ecstatic." For those that are unable or unwilling to ride, and for those who are unable to take active exercise, anything that will shake up the liver will help them mentally and physically.

For the vast majority of the middle-aged who do not play golf or other games, a daily walk at a brisk pace, some bending exercises with knees straight, and not eating heavy meals should keep liver and bowels active and the mind free from depression.

Vaccines of Value In Preventing Colds

SOME years ago a survey was made from the northeast to southwest part of the United States (from Maine to California) to see just what effect the weather had on causing colds. Taking a strip of territory some miles wide, it was found that at certain seasons of the year, fall and winter, the number of colds in California was as large as in Maine.

Now it is not as cold in California as in Maine, so that cold weather, in itself, is not a cause of the common cold.

On returning from summer cottages it is the "usual" thing for many individuals to develop head colds. It is agreed that it is the leaving of the outdoors to live indoors whether in Maine or in California that is the cause of a great number of colds. It is not only losing the outdoor moist, fresh, "sunshine" air, but breathing the still, dry, dust laden air of the indoors that irritates the lining of the nose, throat, sinuses and bronchial tubes.

You are reading and hearing more about getting vaccinated against getting smallpox, hay fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever. What about the vaccines for colds? Will they prevent colds?

Dr. L. D. Bristol, New York, in the American Journal of Public Health. gives results of treatment of standard stock (cold) vaccines, in six different groups of factory workers (totaling more than 19,000). The time over which this treatment against the common cold was available varied from 17 months to five years.

"On the whole the study shows an apparent reduction in the severity of the attacks, their length, and complication arising from colds." It would appear then that as a 'part" of the treatment for colds vaccines have some value. QUESTION BOX

This Year's Easter Fashions To Be Dainty, Very Feminine

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ALL signs point to a lovely and colorful array of sweetly feminine fashions for Easter. This is definitely a year when emphasis is on "pretty lady" trends.

There is big news, in color, especially in the pastels for suits, coats and ensembles. The whole fashion world is expressing enthusiasm for the new monotone wools in light beiges, misted greens, the very new violet and mauve tones, muted pinks and pale grayish blues. Seen in fashion-first Easter costumes, they are ideal, especially for the long-coat costumes as shown in the illustration. Fresh flowers add chic to these attractive Easter outfits. Beaux please take notice! The lady of your heart will be queen of the Easter parade if you send a corsage of fresh white freesias to match the bouquet on her hat (note the model in the center of the picture).

If she is sophisticated, any beau may win her heart with a modernistic corsage of fresh gardenias. If you're away she will appreciate your wiring her local florist to include an extra gardenia or two to tie on her wrist bracelet fashion as illustrated to the right.

The newest idea of American designers is that fragrant - flowers should match the motif of gay print dresses with which they are worn. This Easter, romantic arrangements of roses, violets and lilies-of-the-valley will vie with orchids, gardenias, flaming hibiscus and camellias. Silvered and gilded leaves are a new and distinctive Easter fashion with appeal to those seeking the out-of-the-ordinary. *Speaking of flowers, milliners everywhere declare that myriads of flattering little flower hats are selling in unprecedented numbers. The significant message about these adorable little flowery confections is that you may wear them as correctly with your prim little tailor suit as you can with your dressiest dress-up costumes. (Quite a de-parture from the old idea which exacted a tailored hat with a tailored suit!)

The thought that is prevalent throughout this season's style program is that one should wear alluringly feminine and flattering accessories. This applies not only to flowery hats and colorful whimsical veils but also to "hankies," which are of the pretty-pretty type.

It is just such flower-bedecked hats as the one shown above (to the left in the illustration) that are lending "endearing young charms" to the Easter fashion picture this spring. Note the dainty handkerchief, designed by Burmel, which so artfully plays up a dainty petit-point garland encircling an embroid-ered full blown rose. You can get these "hankies" with violets or daisies or whatever flower you may choose. The other flower chapeau is typically an Easter bonnet. It is shiny straw in bon bon pink, trimmed with cherry blossoms, full-blown roses and wide green ribbons. The veil matches the straw.

Look to fashions for a new yield of vitamins Fruit has become an outstanding inspiration for design in the apparel field. Many of the smartest new prints are patterned with colorful fruit motifs: hats are trimmed with realistic looking fruit; lapel gadgets are replicas of fruit, and buttons that fasten our dresses and blouses, coats and jackets, are copies of fruits. The beige wool sport jacket here pictured is "vitamized" with fruit buttons, new this spring! A miniature dish of polished wood gives the button form. There's good news for tired clothes at your nearest button

These novelty buttons are durable, as well as attractive. Vieing for honors with the fruits are vegetables-carrots, onions, lettuce, etc.

Fads and Fancies

Young moderns are all enthusiastic over fringed play shoes that take their cue from Western cowboy fashions.

The inverted pompadour is a "last word" hair-do that is exciting much interest. The hair is brought down over the forehead, the ends turned under, which, when deftly done, gives every appearance of bangs. Not only is this ever so flattering, but it is very practical, for it stays neatly "put," with minimum care.

Something new for the bridal gown-white Nylon velvet, said to be very charming to the eye, and highly satisfactory in that it drapes beautifully and yields pleasingly to fabric manipulation.

Very new for spring are navy coats or capes that have small shapely collars of white caracul, broadtail or similar fabriclike fur. Other models in navy have simply a cluster of white ermine tails at the throat. White hat and accessories worn with these coats and capes key to the white of the fur.

To wear with your spring and summer print dresses, look up bead or flower necklaces, bracelets and clips that pick up one or more colors of the print.

Romantic, Whimsical You must wear a jeweled "gadg-

In every event, however, it will be a masterpiece of good workmanship, for even the novelty types are exquisitely wrought. CHRIST'S COMMISSION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:86-53.
GOLDEN TEXT—Beheld, I send the promse of my Father upon you.—Luke 24:49 .

Calvary and the darkness of the tomb gave way to the glory of the resurrection morning. Jesus had appeared to the two on the Emmaus road, and when they hurried back to Jerusalem to tell the eleven disciples, who were gathered behind barred doors, they found that He had already appeared, not only to the women, whose story they did not believe (see v. 11), but also to Peter (v. 34). While they were excitedly discussing this great wonder, apparently torn between belief and unbelief, joy and sorrow, suddenly Jesus appeared, coming through the Jesus appeared, coming through the barred door and greeting them with a blessed message of peace.

I. A Risen Christ for Fellowship

The disciples were bewildered and slow to believe. Perhaps we would have done no better.

Note how patient and gracious He was in dealing with these frightened—and, in a sense, stupid—disciples. He might have been so discouraged by their unbelief as to be short and sharp with them, but He was not. We need to learn of Him. There are weak brethren even in the church of Christ who need our tender and patient consideration (see Rom. 15:1; I Thess. 5:14). Christ died for the weak brother too (I Cor. 8:11).

What a blessed time of fellowship the disciples and the Lord had together. Such times are greatly needed for our mutual encourage-ment. Let us not forsake the assembling of ourselves together (Heb. 10: 25). In a day of need and trial those that fear the Lord should speak often with one another and with the Lord (Mal. 3:16; I John 1:7).

II. A Dependable Book for Guid-ance and Instruction (vv. 44-46).

Jesus gave His own endorsement to the Old Testament as a dependable record of the prophecies concerning His person and His work of redemption, The critics of God's Word must face the fact that their man-made theories are in conflict with the testimony of the Son of God. Of the two, we know whom we will believe!

Notice that an important part of the Lord's fellowship with His disciples was devoted to opening their minds so they could understand the Scripture. The word "opened" might be translated "disentangled." He took out the prejudices, the wrong ideas, and set them free to understand and appreciate the Scriptures.

III. A Great Message for Proclamation (vv. 47-49). Fellowship with Christ and a knowledge of God's Word which does not result in an aggressive witness for Him is quite useless. We meet Him and learn His truth that we may carry it out to all nations, not forgetting (note it!) to begin at the wicked Jerusalem which is right at our doorstep.

The business, and the only business, of the Church is that witness. We need to renew our commission. get it clearly in mind, and then proceed to carry it out. "But," someone may say, "we are not able for this great task." Of course not; but He is able, and will enable us.

"Power from on high" is the portion of God's witnesses. This world worships power-mechanical, political or military power. The greatest power of all is spiritual power, and God is ready to give it to His faithful witnesses

Note that the message is one of repentance and remission of sins "in His name." The gospel of Christ is the primary need of men and women, boys and girls, in your community and mine; yes, and to the very ends of the earth.

IV. An Ascended Lord to Worship (vv. 50-53).

The ascension of Christ is not often made the subject of a sermon or message in the church, but it is an important doctrine of Scripture. It marks the completion of the work of Christ, and His return to the place of honor at the right hand of the Father. There, before the Father's throne, He is the advocate of every believer, the pledge and assur-ance of a perfect and eternal fellowship between God and believing

The worship which the disciples gave to Christ as He ascended went on as they returned to their appoint-ed place of witness, for they continu-ally praised Him. Such should be the attitude of every true believer. In the temple of his own heart there should always be the joy of the Lord as He is there worshiped and

Now we have completed our study of Luke, but we cannot stop here, for the Gospel, according to Luke's own statement in Acts 1:1, was only the story of what Jesus "began both to do and to teach." The continuation of that account is found in the book of Acts, which we begin to study next Sunday.

Profanity is an abuse of speech. It is a nusiance and a pest, just as vile odors-are an offense to the nostrils or an ugly sight to the eyes. It jars upon and offends all right-minded people. It is said that once when a man began a coarse story in the presence of General Grant, he took that soldier by the collar and threw him out of the tent. It may not always be possible to resort to such means, nor advisable to do so, but dead silence may show the vulgar jester that his conversation is not admired.

Words become ennobled or disgraced by usage. There are words of good standing and of bad standing. The English language cleans house occasionally, and casts some of its material into. the gutter where it belongs. The world is a great and inexorable idealist and is always trying us by a high standard. We are all noted and marked socially, day by day, and men and wonen are known by their speech as much as anything else. We are better known to each other than we imagine. People lose or gain res pect, honor, business, clients, patients, hearers, trade, social standing by their words, by their style of conversation, by their jests, as much as by their manners or anything else. So important is language, so much a revelation of the inward nature, that we write ourselves down on the intangible air, and are read and known of those with whom we come in contact, whether our disposition be fond or fair.

What are we worth to the community in which we live? Some of us may be inclined to base the estimate of our value in spect on the social standing, but that has nothing to do with it. There is a more stable foundation on which to base our values than on wealth or position.

Our worth to the community is based upon our own qualities as individuals. The estimate the community puts upon a person is seen in the laws they make for one's protection, the advantages and opportunities given for better living. They belong to you as an individual, and if you are wise you will avail yourself of all that they proffer.

Draftees who may become soldiers realize that they have a value to the country; but they are not unique because of this Apart from all service that the may render in time of war, they have a value to the nation. No one is singled out because of sex or strength or station as being of value to the country. Each onof us, man or woman, boy or girl athlete or invalid, rich or poor, has his or her own place as a factor in the national wealth.

Will you be a big positive integer, helping to swell the catalogue of the nation's treasures? Or will you be a cipher, simple to fill an otherwise empty space, or adding to the value of others, but having no value of your own?

Ruskin says: "I have no pa-tience with people who talk about the thoughtlessness of youth indulgently. I had infinitely rather hear of thoughtless old age, and the indulgence due to that. Be thoughtless in any after years rather than now—though, indeed, rather than now—though, indeed, there is only one place | where a man may be noble thoughtless—his death bed."

Each individual is personally responsible for the vigor of the nation, for as he abounds or lacks in vital force in just that degree the attion abound or lack.

We have had exposures of corruption in business methods that have shocked our moral sense and grieved our spirits. Will there; be equal corruption in the business methods of the future? You young people are answering that question today.

You remember that in the old myth the world was held on the up our communities are the upbearers of the world. If any one fails in any degree, if you sink to a lower level of thought or conduct, the world sinks with you; but if you are strong in purpose How does a person's character nobler aspirations, lifting you upnobler aspirations, lifting you upward, ever so little, the world

The fireside chat by President Roosevelt on Saturday night certainly left no room for doubt as to what his course will be from here out. His speech was heard all over the world. In Amreica he was warmly greeted and strongly endorsed. In England and Greece his speech was received with enthusiasm and deep appreciation. The nations who are engaged in a hard fight with Hitler to save civilization and Democratic government are very grateful to the United States for the sympathy of its people and the help of the nation. Hitler and his associates are confused and disturbed, though Hitler, speaking on Sunday, again made bold to say that Britain would soon be defeated and crushed. From now on it is going to be a real fight, with chances in favor of England winning, ultimately.

Du Pont House Paint!

Painters, home owners praise this new Du Pont House Paint

IT's brilliantly white . . . tough . . . du-rable! Du Pont House Paint keeps houses beautiful because it stays cleaner! Here's why:-

Du Pont Prepared Paint forms a tough, durable film which protects the surface from rust, rot or decay. Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, how-ever, a fine white powder forms on the surface of this new paint. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carry-ing the dirt with it, and exposing a fresh white surface. This "self-cleaning" process starts after a few months of exposure under normal conditions of weather, but may be delayed under unusual climatic or dirt-collecting condi-tions. Because the "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the film are not abnormally affected.

Its economy lies in the fact that it stretches the time between paintings. Remember: Du Pont House Paint costs no more than other good paints. Ask your painting contractor to use it!

DOES LENT CHALLENGE YOUR COOKING ABILITY?

SPEAKING OF LENTEN VEGETABLES

Yes, speaking of Lenten vegeta-bles reminds us that the Lenten seawhen Lent challenges us as good cooks to produce something new and different something which will entice the appetite of the family—something that will perchance become something that will resource that come so great a family favorite that it will remain a "must" on our recthe list all through the year.

Such is the list of new ideas for ooking vegetables as contained in this column to-new ideas for cooking vegeta-bles — but also equally as much I think you will like some of the ideas for serving them. Note the canned peas as shown in the photograph above. Look good enough for any company dish, do they not, yet all that was done to dress them up was simply to surround them with onions and carrots and the carrots were garnished with tiny sprigs of fresh partiey.

Thus it is that everyday foods—foods full of nourishment and of food value become new favorites. Please from time to time, try each one of these recipes—you'll like all of them, I know.

If you've strange guests coming for dinner and don't know what vegetables they like, cover your confusion by letting them choose their own from this attractive arrangement of canned peas, onions and carrots.

French Fried Onions.

Use Spanish or large Bermuda onions. Peel and cut in slices 1/4 inch thick. Separate slices into rings, soak in milk for a few min-Drain and roll in flour. Fry in deep fat, which has been heated to 360 degrees F. hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 minute. When onions are golden brown, remove from fat and drain on abbroiled steak.

Want to Learn Some New

Of course you do—and it's the simple easy way of doing things as ferreted out by millions of homemakers that have been com-piled in this book, "Household Hints"—a book that literally ev-ery homemaker should own.

To get your copy, to learn the household tricks that for some reason or other you just haven't thought of before—send 10 cents in coin to Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois — ask for the booklet "Household Hints."

ered, until onions are almost tender (approximately 20 minutes). Take care to preserve shape of onions while cooking. Drain, and arrange cut side up in a buttered baking dish. Remove the center of each onion and chop fine. Mix with the soft bread crumbs, salt and pep-per, and bacon. Fill onion halves and top with the buttered bread crumbs. Cover bottom of the bak-ing dish with water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until onions are tender and bread crumbs have browned, approximately 1/2

Cauliflower a la Parmesan.

- 1 head cauliflower, cooked 3 tablespoons grated cheese 1 cup white sauce
- 1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Place cauliflower in greased casserole. Pour white sauce over cauliflower, and sprinkle with cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until crumbs are delicately browned. Serves 6.

Spinach Nut Ring.

- (Serves 6) 3 cups cooked spinach
- 3 eggs (beaten) ½ cup bread crumbs
- % cup nut meats (cut fine)
- 1/4 cup bacon fat
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Chop the spinach and add the beaten eggs and other ingredients in the order giv-en. Turn into greased ring mold and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes, or until it is platter.

Savory Glazed Carrets.

Cook until onions are tender: 2 tablespoons onion, chopped

2 tablespoons butter Flour carrots and saute with onions and butter for 10 minutes:

9 or 10 whole carrots, scraped (5 to 6 inches long) 2 tablespoons flour 1/2 teaspoon salt

Then pour on: 1 can consomme, diluted with 1/2 cup water

Cover tightly and cook until carrots are tender. Sprinkle with chopped parsley just before serving.

Corn Souffle. 4 tablespoons butter

- 6 tablespoons flour teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups canned corn
 1 tablespoon chopped pimientos
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped celery
- 4 egg yolks

Melt butter and add flour, salt and milk. Cook until very thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add corn, seasonings and egg yolks and beat three minutes. Fold in egg whites. Pour into buttered baking dish, set in pan of hot water an bake 40 minutes in moderate over

(350 degrees F.). Brussels Sprouts

Select light green, compact head One quart will serve six. Remove wilted leaves and soak for 15 minutes in cold water. Drain and cook uncovered for 20 minutes in boiling water. Add salt the last 10 min Drain and serve with Hol-Indaise sauce.

Protection From Sabotage Described as Inadequate

Civil Service Asks for More Investigators; Defense Heads Act to Avert Shortage Of Farm Labor This Summer.

> By BAUKHAGE National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

States, under the lease-lend law, literally becomes the arsenal of democracy, officials lament their lack of facilities for protecting that arsenal from the enemy within our

If you are a fist-rate saboteur or enemy agent you have only one chance out of three of being spotted by the Civil Service investigators before you are hired in a government plant or arsenal or navy yard.

That in substance is what Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming told a senate committee the other day when he asked for a supplemental $320,000 appropriation to increase the number of investigators who check the record of applicants for government defense jobs. Even with the close co-operation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the army and navy intelligence the records of only one-third of applicants put on the government payroll for these jobs can be properly examined, Commissioner Flemming revealed. Efforts are now being made to get congress to increase the funds for carrying on this important work.

There is always a certain routine checking on every worker who applies for a government defense job. The police department records in the applicant's home community are examined; the Federal Bureau of Investigation (the G-men, so-called) checks the fingerprints to see if they are identified with those of an of-fender. And finally the army and navy intelligence files are available to the Civil Service commission investigators in Washington.

This procedure identifies the enemy agent or criminal or other person with an unsavory record who has already run into trouble and been found out. But the previously unidentified and potential offenders have to be spotted by the under-staffed 13 district offices or the headquarters of the Civil Service mmission in Washington itself.

Commissioner Flemming told the senators that since starting to recruit civilian defense forces Civil Service investigators had disqualified 16 per cent of the applicants examined "on the ground of disloyalty or weak character.'

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts questioned the commissioner on the type of person disqualified. Flemming gave an example:

"One applicant for the position of gas welder in one of the navy yards, our investigation developed, was seen at communist meetings, attended a communist school in Wisconsin, was an active worker for the party, passed out communist literature and books."

Others have been found to have had bad records as far back as in the previous war. The Civil Service commission says it needs more money to stop the saboteur before he begins his sabotage.

Prepare to Avert Farm Labor Shortage

How are the farmers going to get those 3,000,000 extra farm hands they need in the summer months to get in the crops?

While the national defense program is snapping up a lot of farm-hands and getting them jobs in factories it is also trying to provide a practical method by which the farmer will get what he wants in the way of extra labor when he wants it. Of course what William Knudsen and Sydney Hillman need right now is men to make the wheels go round that turn out armament. But the defense heads point out that the method they have devised for getting the workers they want will also help the farmer in the long run. That method is registration of all surplus labor with the 1,500 full-time and 3,000 part-time state-operated employment offices.

The managers of these offices want all prospective farm hands to register at these offices, too, and are urging the farmers who are going to need help next summer to patronize these state employment agencies,

Defense demands may result in a shortage of farm labor later, but one of the big helps for the farmer will be the employment agency. If you inquire at one agency for a farm hand and that agency hasn't any

Spy From Korea

Advertises' His Work I have just had lunch with the only spy I ever met who advertised

We were sitting at a corner table in one of Washington's sublimated chop suey restaurants.

My spy was one of these plotters but he flaunted his plots before me quite openly. Some secrets may be hidden behind the smiling slits of eyes of Kilsoo Kenneth Haan, for that is his name, but he has convinced at least one senator that that information which he has turned in gratis to various secret agencies of the government is very welcome.

Hates Japanese. Haan is 41, short, engaging, an oriental cherub in glasses, with a cast of countenance that would make you think he was a Japanese (which, he says, some Japanese do). But his calling card says that he is head of the Sino-Korean Peoples' league. And Koreans love the Japanese as the Pole loves the Ger-

Briefly Haan's history, as he tells t, is this:

He was 10 years old when the Japanese took over Korea and his first memory of that tragic event is the view he got from his hiding place under a chicken coop when the soldiers marched into his vii-

Haan soon left for Hawaii. Then one day, five years ago, because he had been active among his fellow Koreans, he was approached by a member of the Japanese consulate in Honolulu who offered him a job helping to organize all Orientals in a sort of pan-Asiatic movement under the Japanese. The next year, when a delegation of American congressmen visited the islands to study the possibility of Hawaiian statehood, Haan told them all he knew in a public hearing.

A part of the documents he showed me was a letter from a senator thanking him for his services at that time in exposing the grandiose Japanese scheme. That was Haan's first advertising of his chosen profession. He was soon to get more. The Japanese press attacked him. He was spat upon in the streets. His was threatened.

The next year he came to America with one chief objective, he says, and it was in describing his purpose that he quoted the preverb about the lamp.

It is well known that Koreans, some of whom can pass for Japanese and many of whom live in Japan and in the occupied portions of China, maintain a voluntary spy system and grapevine telegraph. They still hope to win back their independence.

Haan claims that he wants to se cure the financial and moral support of the United States govern ment to create a real co-operative Korean spy system against the Jap-

He told me of his latest adventure over the chicken chop sucy and tea: From his Korean frie in Japan Haan said that he had learned that two Japanese reserve officers were on their way to the United States to prepare Japanese in this country for a war. They were bearing a notorious text book of propaganda and procedure, the translated title of which is "Three Power Alliance and Japan-America

Haan set out to locate the officers and get the book, first notifying cer-tain authorities in Washington of his intention. The task seemed so impossible that one man, who needn't be named, bet $25 that the indefatigable Korean couldn't succeed.

The book, according to Haan, is now in the hands of the proper au-thorities here and he has $25 in his pocket. How he got it is another story.

HOUSES of glass are realities today and, if you want to give any house a modern air, try to make the windows seem important. One way is to frame them in a group by covering the wall and leaving the glass exposed. A comparison of these two sketches shows that this may be done even though the windows are unevenly spaced. The cream colored walls, glass curtains and window shades are the came in both and the same two-toned green rug and the same two-toned green rug and the same lamp and pictures are used. The couch and cushions are also the same but the covers are new.

An inexpensive chintz with gray-green ground and a flower pattern is used for draperies and to trim the couch cover of heavier gray-green cotton material which is also used for the cushions. The glass curtains are hung on rods suspended from the picture moulding with picture wire and hooks. The side drapes are unlined but the valance is made over buckram. Both are tacked to pine strips and are hung with picture hooks. One end of the book shelves is closed in to make a head for the couch. The outside is painted gray-green and the inside dark green. The parchment lamp shade has green bindings.

NOTE: All types of curtains and drap-eries are clearly explained with cutting and making directions in Mrs. Spears' SEWING Book 1—draw curtains, lined draperies, pinch pleated curtains, cornice boards, valance boards, as well as stand-ard and period type curtains. Directions for modernizing a couch, various types of chairs, and a fascinating assortment of other useful-homemaking-projects are con-tained in Book 5. Copies are 10 cents each. Send order to:
