

FEDERAL OFFICERS ARE MOVING TODAY

Officers of This District Will be Located in the Federal Building Instead of Montana Block.

J. B. ADAMS IS COMING

A change is being made today in the local offices of district No. 1 of the forest service. The offices of district officials formerly located in the Montana block are being moved into the federal building. This will bring practically all of the administration offices of the district to the federal building. It is believed the work can be handled better in this manner.

P. R. Hicks, in charge of forest products, and Dorr Skeels, logging engineer for the district, are the men affected by the change. Their offices will now be on the third floor of the federal building opposite that of the district forester. This change is made possible by the officials here dispensing with a conference room and by the fact that soon many of the men now working in the offices here will be sent into the field to be gone practically all summer.

District Forester F. A. Silcox of this district has returned to Missoula after holding a series of rangers' meetings in Idaho. Mr. Silcox came to Missoula to meet J. B. Adams, assistant forester, in charge of the appropriation apportionments for the various districts of the service, who is expected to arrive from Washington this evening. He will spend several days in Missoula and Mr. Silcox will present figures to him showing the amount needed to carry on the summer's work in this district.

After the visit of Mr. Adams, Mr. Silcox will again go into Idaho and hold more rangers' meetings. The district forester is pleased with the interest that the men in the field are showing in the forestry work and believes these get-together sessions are doing a vast amount of good in helping keep the forest service an aid to the general public.

A New Method

of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

Try a can and be convinced

FIRST MOVE MADE TO NEW QUARTERS

Forest Service Shifts From Hired Basement to Federal Building.

First shift to be made possible with the remodeling and enlargement of the federal building here was made today.
The closed files, various stores and stocks, and the multigraph duplicating equipment were moved from the basement of the Montana block to the second floor of the federal building. Several hundred cases of files were involved in the move.

It is the intention to have all federal agencies in Missoula in the two buildings on East Broadway when they are completed for occupation. Thus much rent now being paid for quarters in various buildings, where the forest service, the bureau of public roads and other agencies are scattered, will be eliminated.

The forest service will occupy the new building east of the present structure, which is being erected by the Lovell Construction company, and will also have rooms in the old building, where it now has its quarters.

SHOWERS.

From upper Grant creek and along the ridge, westward from there, report comes, this morning that the shower which was barely a sprinkle in Missoula last evening was a heavy rain there for an hour or so. Local weather prophets forecast rain within 36 hours. The barometer, and the flies combine to make this prediction a cinch, they say.

Mrs. E. R. A. Cary has returned from Dixon, where she has been spending a week at the ranch home of Professor and Mrs. G. A. Gross.

FROM LOLO.

J. M. Davis of Lolo came down Saturday on a trading trip.

The result was that, in the course of about 90 years, New Brunswick had developed a fine lot of citizens. Her people were her pride. She did not view with alarm, but rested confidently in her belief that her future was assured.

Therein lay New Brunswick's fatal error. Even as she basked placidly in the expectancy of the joyous celebration of her 100th anniversary, the blow fell which shattered her hopes and set her back about 75 years in her prospects. It was shortly after New Brunswick had passed her 90th anniversary that the trouble began.

First came the emigration of some of her best citizenry to western Montana. This was followed by a general heglra, which transplanted from Frederickton, St. John and Upper Kenwick and from Charlotte county, so much of the sturdy manhood of the province that things looked desperate.

And the exodus didn't stop until Missoula, Montana, was populated and started upon its growth into the fine city which it has since become. Right at the mouth of Hell Gate canyon that tide of New Brunswick's best people paused in its flight. It paused and then stopped. And it has never moved since.

For 40 years or more, New Brunswick has been hustling to try to make good the loss which she then sustained. She has done wonderfully well, but the handicap was so great that it will take at least another century to restore the province to the pre-eminent position which it occupied before the heglra began from St. John harbor to Hell Gate river, just below the mouth of Blackfoot.

That's why today is an important anniversary date for Missoula.

FIRE FIGHTERS GO ON EVERY TRAIN

No Change, for the Better, at Least, Is Reported in Fire Conditions of This Field District.

One hundred men from Great Falls and Kalispell to a fire in the Blackfoot forest; 45 men from Missoula to Soudan and Stark; 25 men from Missoula to Bonita for the Gilbert Creek fire; 45 men from Missoula to Iron Mountain and Superior for a fire near Quinn's spur and six from this city to Clinton.

This is the forenoon record of the employment today of fire-fighters, showing where they are to be used by the forest service. Every train out of the city is carrying fire-fighters. Last evening the service sent a crew of men and a car of horses up the Bitter Root valley in special cars. Calls are coming all the time and today the forest service alone has fully 1,500 extra men in the field fighting fires.

distinctively Montana picture. It would add greatly to the interest in the exhibit and would direct attention to the unusual work which Mr. Pakso is doing in preserving scenes and incidents of overpowering importance in the history of the northwest.

CANADA PRISONERS OF WAR CAPTURED

Four Men Who Escaped From Detention Camp Are Taken in U. S.—Likely to Be Returned.

ESCAPE BY TUNNEL

Calais, Maine, Jan. 20.—A situation of international interest developed today, when four men, alleged to be prisoners of war, who had escaped from a detention camp at Amherst, N. S., were captured on the American side of the border. They crossed the ice on the St. Croix river, two miles above this city, from the New Brunswick shore. Three of the men had fled to Exeter Junction, where they were about to board a west-bound train when H. C. Gillis, a United States immigration inspector, arrested them. Another was caught here.

Agents of the Canadian government in this city said formal proceedings would be started at once through the administration at Ottawa and the British ambassador at Washington, seeking the return of the fugitives to Canadian soil.

The men apprehended here gave their names as William Schroeder, Gustave Hartwig, George Kleinworth and Hans Neu.

The escape from the camp at Amherst was effected by tunneling 50 feet under the walls to a point beyond the sentry lines.

A NEW INDUSTRY

At a general meeting of the Missoula Chamber of Commerce, held last evening at the Elks' temple, a plan for an automobile highway from here to Kooskia, Idaho, by way of the Clearwater, was presented by Major Frank A. Fenn, assistant district forester. Major Fenn was called to Washington after outlining his scheme in detail and his manuscript was read by Assistant District Forester Rutledge. Major Fenn's plan is to build the proposed road from Lolo Hot Springs, where the highway now ceases, over the mountains and down the Clearwater to the end of the Idaho road, 15 miles above Kooskia. His paper said that a rich country would be opened up by such a thoroughfare. A committee was appointed to investigate this plan: C. L. F. Kellogg, George Weisel, W. H. Smead, Major Fenn, J. R. Daily, Frank Bonner and Thayer Stoddard.

The new industries committee of the chamber of commerce presented the plan of the Hastings Casket company of Hastings, Minn., to establish a branch in Missoula. The company asks that a site be donated and that local capital float a first-mortgage loan of 50 per cent of the investment, which is to total $60,000. The committee reported last evening that sites have been located and that negotiations are under way. A complete report will be made later.

Harry Shapard urged that local capital assist the Missoula Creamery company, and President Woods was authorized to name a committee to look into the situation Mr. Shapard outlined.

Another general meeting will be held within two weeks.

CLARK RESIGNS FOREST DUTIES

Chief of Improvements Quits Service of District No. 1 to Enter Business; Successor Is Not Yet Announced.

District Forester R. H. Rutledge has received the resignation of Fay G. Clark as chief of improvement in district No. 1 of the forest service, who left the district headquarters here October 15 to enter Y. M. C. A. service, has entered into business at San Bernardino, Cal., his family home, and will remain there, instead of returning to Missoula to resume his duties, as had been expected. His family, which formerly resided here, is with him at San Bernardino.

Mr. Clark came to Montana several years ago from the University of Michigan, where he was a noted football and track star, being a member of Fielding Yost's famous eleven of 1909, which defeated everything in the west. For some time after his coming he was forest examiner, then was detailed to the Missoula forest on special work, being placed in charge of improvement in the district a little over two years ago.

Mr. Clark was a highly specialized worker, his duties involving the solving of many technical points, but was considered an excellent practical worker and an efficient organizer, district officials expecting much difficulty in replacing him. As the resignation was received only today, no plans for obtaining a successor have been made.

Mr. Clark was in Chicago, on his way from the coast to go overseas as a Y. M. C. A. athletic director, when the armistice was signed and his orders were cancelled.

Helena, Jan. 24.—Special.—Today's session of the legislature was devoted largely to routine, although in the senate, there was a rather spirited passage between Donlan and Smith over the disposition of certain bills. Cone, Craig and Gallwey were named as senate members of the committee to handle all normal school bills, while among the more important measures introduced were those of Foster, providing security for bank deposits; Booth, taxing auto and truck hire operated for hire; Morris, authorizing a $15,000,000 bond issue for improved highways, and Slatery, extending time for repairment of loans made by the state council of defense.

In committee of the whole, Smith's bill relating to the assessment of corporation stock was sent back to the committee on judiciary at the suggestion of Donlan, while Smith's similar motion respecting Donlan's bill defining murder was defeated, it being recommended for passage, as were the Edwards' companion bills authorizing the incorporation of county farm bureaus and providing for work in agriculture and home economics by counties.

THE FOREST FIRES.

In the evenings these days, especially as the sun gets low, we can see a haze of smoke from the forest fires that are burning in western Montana and over in Idaho. However, we do not worry, for we recall the smoky days and weeks and months of last season and grateful that the situation is so well in hand. We look back a few years farther to the fires of 1910 and we listen to old-timers' tales of the days when there was no organized protection against forest fires and they blazed undisturbed throughout entire seasons, until finally put out by the first snows.

Last year had a bad fire season. Its forest-fire toll included three deaths, injuries to two hundred, all of them engaged in fighting the 1,957 fires which destroyed $1,863,452 worth of timber. The fire-fighting expense of the year was $1,233,539, making the monetary loss $3,156,991, according to figures from the state capital.

Last year the U. S. forest service did good work and this year a long, wet spring has aided Uncle Sam's men in keeping the inevitable forest fires under control. The human element has been eliminated, to a great extent, in the causes of forest fires and human efficiency has been increasing in extinguishing them, but the elements are not to be controlled, and lightning sets most of the fires of today.

straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting," he said. "It is no time for wobbling."

A physical measurement of the importance Governor Cox attaches to the League issue is in the fact that he devoted to it three thousand words of the ten thousand words of his speech today.

The Democratic nominee did not state his stand as to the wet-or-dry issue as clearly as he did his League position. He did not mention the prohibition amendment or the Volstead enforcement act in a specific way, although he did promise strict enforcement of laws generally. "Morals," he said, "cannot easily be produced by statute," and, again:

"The Constitution is the license and limitation given to and placed upon the law-making body. The legislative branch of government is subjected to the rule of the majority. The public official who fails to enforce the law is an enemy both to the Constitution and to the American principle of majority rule. It would seem unnecessary for any candidate for the presidency to say that he does not intend to violate his oath of office. Anyone who is false to that oath is more unworthy than the law violator himself."

For the other points made by Governor Cox, The Sentinel refers its readers to the news columns of this edition. The entire address will be found there.

A QUEER DIVORCE CASE.

Mother love is what makes the world go 'round and keeps the family together. However, mother love was the cause of the divorce of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Sullivan of Chicago. The mothering instincts of Mrs. Sullivan have broken up her home. She had no children of her own—and much money. So, she went into the slums and gathered up little children and brought them home. At times she was caring for ten or fifteen at once. Her husband objected—not to the money spent, but to the noise of the great nursery. He settled a large amount of money on his wife and went away. She has just been granted a divorce.

It is up to Tennessee to see that the women vote. Somehow we have more confidence than usual in the Tennessee legislature when it comes to this.

The other day a man went insane in a big-town restaurant. It is reported informally that he ordered raspberries and got more than a dozen.

Remember the Missoula Woman's club dance at Union hall Monday evening for the city's new swimming pool. It is your pool.

The Missoula Chautauqua begins tonight. It is a fine cultural institution and Missoula welcomes it annually.

For a world that is at peace, we have a good many wars.

Governor Cox did not exhibit any surprise today.

THE MARIGOLD.

Cruelty in love is the meaning of the marigold in the language of flowers.

The name, it is said, was derived from the early Christian custom of prefixing the name of the Virgin Mary to anything that was exceptionally beautiful. The name of the flower heretofore had been golde. As it was one of the most admired flowers, it became known as mary-golde. It is dedicated to the 25th of March, when the Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin is celebrated.

Signified Riches.

To dream of marigolds, it was believed, would bring riches, success, and a happy marriage. An old Breton superstition says that if a maiden touches the flower with her bare foot, she will understand the language of birds.

The Mexicans call the marigold the flower of death, as it was believed that it sprang up from the blood of the natives slain by the early Spanish invaders in their lust for gold.

DISTRICT NO. 1 OF FOREST SERVICE IN MISSOULA NOW 20 YEARS OLD

1928

Established in December of 1908. Four Office Employees Remain.

Twenty years ago this month the district offices of the United States forest service were established in Missoula, by order of Gifford Pinchot. William B. Greeley was named head of the Missoula offices of district No. 1, including Montana, Northern Idaho and Western Washington, which were opened on December 1; situated in the Hammond block.

Of the district headquarters employees who were located here then, but four are now in the service at Missoula. They are O. M. Wold, chief of the fiscal department; P. J. O'Brien, law enforcement officer, and the Misses Eve and Mathilde Ammen, who came from the East on the establishment of the district headquarters at Missoula to join the staff.

Of the field forces, Elers Koch and W. W. White, then supervisors, and two rangers, George Ring and Daugs, are yet in the service, though both Koch and White are at present members of the force at district headquarters.

Additions have been made to the national forests of the district and its geography has been changed to some extent since its early days. The force has increased and there have been many changes in personnel. Fred Morrell is now the district forester, and before him Richard H. Rutledge and F. A. Silcox were in charge of the district here. Mr. Greeley, the first district forester, went to Washington in 1911 and later served as chief of the national forest service, until entering the coast lumber business this spring.

CHOPPING DONE EARLY BY MANY

Signs of Christmas—scores of Christmas trees, mostly evergreens, brought into the city Sunday by motorists who visited the nearby woods. Anticipating a rush of Christmas tree seekers, a number of Missoula people did their chopping in the woods early and today were boasting of their trophies.

Eighteen shopping days, 18 mailing days, left until Christmas. The post-office has been sounding off warnings about mailing early for weeks, with fair ly outlined, but the campaign has brought in new issues which might make a lively session out of one which ordinarily would be very dull.

CONGRESS STARTS ON SHORT SESSION

Farm Relief—Tariff.

At the very outset there was a dispute over the questions of farm relief and the tariff. Some wanted farm relief right away. Some wanted tariff revision—upward—immediately, and some wanted the two issues separated with farm relief now and tariff legislation later. Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee undertook to settle the issue by calling his Republican colleagues into session to determine what should be done. The Democrats had little to say and but few expressions have been heard from them since the Hoover landslide.

As the Senate and House gathered, a farm relief bill was in the making, without the McNary-Haugen equalization fee which has proved so distasteful to President Coolidge. Efforts will be made to push it through. Nevertheless, there is a formidable group on Capitol Hill which insists that President-elect Hoover has promised an extra session for a farm program of his own and this group had determined the matter should be left over for consideration during Mr. Hoover's administration.

Appropriation Bills to Fore.

So far as known there has been no Hoover spokesman to convey to the members of the Senate and the House the views of the man chosen to succeed Calvin Coolidge at the White House, and all arguments have lacked the authoritative choice of both Mr. Coolidge and his former secretary of commerce.

On the face of it, the major task of the house was to pass the nine appropriation bills for the various departments of the government. It had during the last session shunted to the Senate such problems as the Boulder dam Colorado river development bill, the naval construction measure and others. Miscellaneous Shoals, however, an annual problem, still remained to be solved as the result of President Coolidge's pocket-veto of the bill passed last spring.

In the Senate the Boulder dam bill, in the hands of Senator Johnson of California, has preferred status. It faced a stormy passage unless radically changed, but had a fighting group behind it anxious to press it through the Senate and send it to President Coolidge for his signature.

WEST SIDE CLUB WILL HEAR FORESTRY TALK

Field Equipment to Be Explained by Foresters.

Locating and combatting of forest fires and a demonstration of the equipment used by forest service men in the field, will be explained to members of the West Side Women's club Friday afternoon, when the club holds a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. building. Assistant Supervisor John Clack of the Missoula national forest will be the principal speaker and he will be assisted by other forest service men.

Included in the equipment which will be shown and explained to the club women will be maps, range finders, portable telephone outfits, field cooking outfits and a miniature model of a standard lookout cabin. The means of locating and stopping forest fires will be explained in detail.

Mr. Clack left here this noon for Bonita, where he is supervising the construction of a new ranger house to replace the one which was destroyed by fire. He plans to return to Missoula Friday afternoon in time to address the meeting, which is to open at 3 o'clock.

MANY PRISONERS BOOKED AT JAIL

Cold Weather Increases Vagrants, Undersheriff's Report Shows.

One hundred and twenty-five prisoners were booked at the county jail during November, according to the report filed with the county auditor by Undersheriff R. J. Whitaker this morning. Of the total number, 86 were booked as vagrants, the report shows.

Board of prisoners during the month cost the county $179.70.

Cold weather is responsible for the large increase in vagrants booked at the county jail, Undersheriff Whitaker stated. Scores of "bums," en route through Missoula via side-door Pullmans, voluntarily give themselves up as vagrants just to obtain a warm place to sleep and a warm meal in the morning, he said. All are "floated" by justices of the peace the morning following their incarceration when they plead guilty to vagrancy charges.

Of the other prisoners held at the jail, several were held for larceny, petit and grand, one for burglary, one for wife desertion, several for being drunk and disorderly, several for investigation regarding their sanity and for

FIRE CASUALTIES IN PACK STRINGS

Horses and Mules Slip Off Steep Trails. Five Are Victims.

Of nearly 300 horses and mules used for pack train duty during the past fire season by the forest service in this district, five were casualties, victims of the battle, though none of them was scorched by flames.

Intricate and narrow systems of pack trails led up to the fire front in many instances. Some of these were cut by the crews fighting to get near the flames burning in the wilderness. And these trails along steep mountain sides proved too much for four of the pack animals.

Two horses and two mules did a goodie with their packs down steep hill-sides after slipping off the trail or being forced off by unruly mates in the pack strings. They broke necks and limbs and were casualties. Three such cases occurred on the trails from Powell, in the Lochsa district, and another in the Holland lake region, on the switchback trail known to those who have ventured into that region. Another horse was the victim of an inexperienced packer on the Lothrop trail. Tied to a bush with a slip-knot he was choked to death.

So the forest service is paying $135 for three horses and a mule. The other mule was a conscript from the army and cost nothing, it being all in the family.

U STUDENTS TRY OUT FOR PLACE IN PLAYS

Preparatory to an unusually active year in the Little Theater on the State University campus, tryouts are being held this week for students interested in dramatic work who would like a part in one of the scheduled productions.

William Angus, director of dramatics, has urged all students to try out, and is conducting the tests individually, so that the obstacle of self-consciousness may be reduced to the minimum.

The Montana Masquers will present three major plays during the school year, and at least one bill of one-act plays each quarter. Mr. Angus also plans to broadcast several of the one-acts over station KUOM.

During the spring quarter the Masquers, in conjunction with the music department and Miss Mary Laux' classes in dancing, plan to present Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

The fourth annual Little Theater tournament will be held during the interscholastic meet in May.

MONEY TO CARRY ON BEETLE FIGHT

Extra $6,000 Will Permit a Fall Campaign in White Pine Stands.

Impressed with the necessity of saving white pine timber in the Kootenai forest in Northwestern Montana, the forest service has made an additional allotment of $6,000 for control work there, advices received at district headquarters state. This extra appropriation will permit carrying on essential work this fall in that region, where there is much valuable commercial timber.

Control work was carried on this spring in the Bear creek and west fork of Quartz creek sectors of the Kootenai, with 1,500 infected trees being removed in each. So effective was the work that the attack, according to latest advices, has now been confined to but 30 trees in Bear creek, and 60 on the west fork of Quartz creek.

Next spring the customary control work is to be continued, with the new appropriation being used this fall for crews to get into the timber. The mountain pine beetle is working on the white pine trees in that region and has made itself felt in the last couple of years to alarming extent.

N. P. RATES FOR GAME AT BUTTE

Special Train Is to Be Feature of October 18 Jaunt.

A rate of a fare and a third for three days from Missoula to Butte and return for the big Grizzly-Bobcat football game next month has been granted by the Northern Pacific railway. Application has also been made for the customary one-way rates for the round trip for the day of the big game, October 18.

The Northern Pacific will run a special train to Butte from Missoula the day of the state title battle, returning that evening. It is hoped to get the one-way rate for this train, which will undoubtedly carry close to a thousand people. Last year there were about eighteen-hundred Missoula people in attendance at the Butte contest between the State University and the State College, and, with greater interest than ever, this number should be increased this year.

The rates of a fare and a third for the Butte game will be in effect October 16, 17 and 18, with a return limit of October 21. Many Butte students will be able to spend the week-end at home by taking advantage of this rate.

BEAUTY-SHOP RACKET RUNS INTO TROUBLE

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A vigorous police message was prepared today for beauty-shop racketeers. Four men are under arrest. Police construe the actions of these men in attempting to organize beauty-shop owners as a plot to extort $90,000 in "initiation fees" and $18,000 a month in dues.

There are approximately 9,000 beauty shops in Illinois. The plot, as police declare it, was to compel these shop-owners to join the "Master Beauty Shop Owners' association," paying $10 initiation fee and $2 a month in dues thereafter. Threats of bombs and other violence were the clubs held over the heads of the shop-owners to force them into the organization.

One of the four under arrest, Emory T. Erickson, was said to be secretary of the beauty shop owners' organization. After state's attorney's men had questioned the four at length last night, orders were issued for the immediate arrest of Pete (Dynamite) Cuniff and Ray H. Williams.

Ten thousand dollars worth of sawed lumber has been bought by the Forest Service to be used in the erection of 100 lookout houses which are to be used in the summer of 1931 as added protection facilities.

On December 22, the Forest Service is to open bids at Missoula for $20,000 worth of emergency rations. Canned meats will compose the principal part of the food to be bought.

During the winter, the warehouse crew at Missoula will be busy packing 25,000 emergency rations. These will be distributed to the Forest Service districts throughout the United States.

The lumber for the lookout houses is at the Spokane warehouse, where it is being cut and baled into pack-horse units. Then it will be distributed to various forests and taken into the mountain timberland by packhorses.

"U" HAS TWO NEW RULINGS

Upperclass Standing, Honor Roll Requirements Raised.

This 1930 News article has the Remount station fairly well built — too many give the C.C.C. credit for this. Later May 1933 on they did a lot of maintenance at the station. The Big C.C.C. job was a triple expansion of the Remount acreage. Picking many tons of rock, fencing and irrigation.

Ready for the installation of the new two-division curriculum plan.

The two-division plan was announced last spring and has the following regulations: Any student who, at the end of the quarter in which he acquires 96 credits, has 20 or more credits in excess of positive grade points, shall not be admitted to further work in the University. This rule will apply to freshmen and sophomores now in attendance at the University.

The other new rule raises the honor roll requirements so that students must have a "B" average in order to win a place on it, although students with an index of two and one-half will be granted a place on the list. This plan fixes a sliding scale which will give all students an equal chance of recognition for scholarship. Students now on the honor roll are also now permitted to carry 20 hours without petitioning.

Last July an airplane dropped half a dozen bombs near Providence where it is estimated that $100,000 damage has been caused by violence as a result of labor troubles in the mines, though no damage was caused by that plane.

Western Mother Knew Best

WISE mothers find the things that keep children contented happy, well. Most of them have learned they can depend on one thing to restore a youngster's good nature when he's cross, fretful, upset.

The experience of Mrs. Walter E. Cross, Littleton, Denver, Colorado, is a typical one. She says: "I have used California Fig Syrup with Thora for eight years and with June since she was a tiny baby. Whenever they're the least bit constipated or restless, I give them a little. It has then comfortable, happy, well in a jiffy. Their splendid condition proves I knew best when I decided to use this."

Fires Sweep Western Forests

Millions of Acres Swept by Flames as Lives, Communities, and Homes Are Consumed

THE searing tongue of fire, up to August 31, had ravished millions of acres of forest land in America. For relentless destruction and tragedy the season is surpassed only by such red years as 1910 and 1929. At the time of going to press the United States Forest Service reports 520,000 acres have been burned over in the National Forests alone this year. For the entire year of 1930 only 205,000 acres were burned over. During August alone 270,000 acres were burned in the National Forests, while in eleven days ending August 31, 135,000 acres were burned, at an expenditure of $900,000.

Reports from state and privately owned lands burned over are incomplete, but the extent of the terrific loss may be judged by scattered reports from California where 1,000,000 acres of forest, brush lands and forage area, not including National Forest and areas not protected from fire, have been burned over. Twelve lives were lost in the State.

Reports up to September 8 indicate that most of the great fires particularly in the fire torn and weary Pacific Northwest, are under control, the grim fire-fighters having been aided by heavy fall rains. In the Rocky Mountain States the same condition exists at high elevations. In California and the Southwest, however, the situation is still critical.

With the most damaging drought in years prevailing, and in the grip of extreme heat and strong winds, northern Idaho, eastern Washington, and most of Montana have suffered more than any other region. So great was the peril in Montana and Idaho that several hundred National Guardsmen were called into duty. In Idaho, two towns were leveled by the flames, Quartzburg and Granite Creek, while a hundred ranches were reduced to ashes. A cluster of mining settlements in the Boise Basin were destroyed altogether or badly damaged.

At the height of the disaster late in August, hundreds of men, women and children fled from their homes, and the problem of caring for them became so acute that the Red Cross and Salvation Army took charge of the situation. As towns and communities were evacuated—principally Pioneerville, Grimes Pass, and the Golden Age Mine, all in Idaho—fear was held that many of the refugees had been caught in the smoke and flame and perished. Forest rangers and National Guardsmen headed rescue parties into the inferno, and while a definite check has not been made, it is felt that most of the refugees were saved, although many were seriously burned and injured.

Although the actual number of fire-fighters killed in action is not known, a score or more deaths have been reported by Forest Service officials. Nearly twenty lives were lost in fighting fires on state and privately owned lands. On all fire lines, more than 300 men were injured, many seriously.

In the Yaak River region of Idaho three deaths are reported by the government. Anton Obermayer, a fire guard, (Continuing on page 616)

NOISE BAD BUSINESS SAY TWO SCIENTISTS

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A scientist and a medical man warned here today that the world is growing too noisy.

The automobile horn, sound picture and loudspeakers were cited as signs of the progress toward bedlam.

"Americans, to a large extent," said Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, physicist and acoustics expert at the University of California at Los Angeles, "are paying in a shortened tenure of life, lowered mental faculties and reduced efficiency for the noise amid which they just work and live."

"One can be drunk on noise," added County Health Officer Dr. J. L. Pomeroy. "Noise causes injury to the ear drums, disturbs digestion and gives high blood pressure. It is one of the causes of gangsters. Records show that most automobile accidents occur at noisy intersections."

AERIAL MAPPING ON A VAST AREA

Flint Covers 2,000 Square Miles From Air During Summer Season.

Two thousand square miles of forest land in the St. Joe, Kootenai, and Blackfoot forests have been covered by aerial photographic mapping conducted by Howard Flint from the Mamer planes this summer. Mr. Flint was in Missoula Monday, and said that approximately 400 square miles remain to be covered in this fashion from the air.

Only four forest patrol trips for fire danger were necessary out of Spokane this summer, Mr. Flint, who has been observer for air patrol in this region since its inception said. Supplies and material were flown to inaccessible regions, with Robert Johnson of Missoula last week completing the transport of a 40-foot lookout tower to Cayuse, on the Clearwater forest.

Mr. Flint has been serving as liaison officer for the Forest Service with the Fort Wright district of the Conservation corps, which has 45 camps in Northern Idaho. He said that the movement of 70 per cent of the enrolled men from New York, New Jersey and Missouri in that district, who are leaving the corps, will begin Tuesday from Spokane. They will be returned to the East. Construction is starting on six winter camps in the North Idaho country and two others will be installed later.

VETERAN RANGER NEAR JOB'S END

Frank Haun Will Complete
Forest Service Work at Close of Year.

Another veteran ranger of the Forest Service, who has served in Western Montana territory for these many years, is anticipating retirement with the end of 1933.

Frank Haun, who for 27 years has been the ranger on the Savenac district, is due to retire then under the government regulations for field men. He has been in the Forest Service for more than 30 years.

On the Savenac district, Mr. Haun has charge of hundreds of thousands of acres of the most primitive forest terrain in the state. It was through that district that the Wallace fire swept in 1910, devouring timber, killing firefighters, forcing residents to flee. Ranger Haun was one of the men who earned everlasting fame in the annals of the service by his staunch stand in the path of the fire which swept to St. Regis before it was checked.

For many years the Savenac district was part of the Lolo forest. Some years ago it was consolidated with the Cabinet forest, however.

LIGHTNING WAS FOREST MENACE

Caused More Than Two-Thirds of Fires. Costs
Relatively Slight.

Lightning's bolts caused 67.4 per cent of the forest fires in Montana and Northern Idaho during the summer season. The reports compiled at regional headquarters show that 632 blazes followed electric storms. Smokers were the next most dangerous factors, causing 147 fires or 19.5 per cent of the aggregate.

The season brought 929 forest fires, or about three-fourths as many as in 1932. The area burned over was 8,886 acres. The average cost of suppressing each fire was in excess of $59, a relatively small figure, indicating the efficiency of the forces awaiting fire outbreaks.

The Selway forest in Northern Idaho had 102 fires, of which 78 were started by lightning. The Lolo forest had 88 fires in Western Montana and nine in the Powell district which it administers in Northern Idaho. The Deer Lodge forest had 80 forest fires.

Forty-four fires spread to more than 10 acres in extent.

The food and drink consumed by the average man each year weighs about a ton.
