GENERAL INFORMATION

Golden is only a few miles from downtown Denver, a 25-minute drive to Boulder (seat of the University of Colorado), 20 minutes on a non-stop freeway to Stapleton International Airport. A pleasant 30 minute mountain drive takes you to the Old Opera House at Central City, the ghost gold-mining town (now revived by the opening of the Opera House and the rebuilding of a few miles of the Colorado Central Railway replete with a steam locomotive). Golden is a hub of two trans-continental highways.

In a few years Interstate 70 will pierce the Divide with two 2-lane tunnels, making the vast recreational areas of the Western Slope more accessible...the ski slopes of Aspen, Vail, Arapahoe, Breckenridge, and Crested Butte. Great jeep trails go to Colorado's old ghost towns via the old toll roads built by the pioneers.

Fishing, sailing and trolling on the numerous reservoirs and riding the rugged rivers with rafts and canoes are other exhilarating pastimes. Other recreational pursuits are golfing, swimming, and mountain climbing.

Golden has two banks and a savings and loan association. Golden has a plentiful labor supply since it is near metropolitan Denver. Students are available for part-time or temporary work because Golden is situated in close proximity to several colleges and universities: Colorado School of Mines, the University of Colorado, Denver University, Colorado State University, University of Northern Colorado, Metro State College, Regis College, and Denver Community College.

In Colorado the weather is mild, the skies are deep blue, the average annual precipitation is less than 20 inches. This dry climate eases the effects of the few hot or cold days. The low humidity enables the snows to disappear more quickly and golf is played every month of the year.

Golden is the county seat of Jefferson County. It houses a large county library and has access to the Denver library of 1,115,900 volumes. The Colorado School of Mines has an excellent technical library.

The Cecil H. and Ida Green Graduate and Professional Center, to be completed early in 1971, will be the largest building on the campus of the Colorado School of Mines, and will have an auditorium large enough to seat the student body of 1,660 students. Construction cost is estimated at $3.5 million.

It also will house the modern Mines computing center, and the departments of geophysics and mineral economics.

The Center is named in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Green of Dallas, Texas. He is a director of Texas Instruments, Inc., and donated $1.4 million for the complex. Most of the funds to build the Center came from private individuals, industry, and foundations.

Museums in or near Golden are the Colorado School of Mines Mineral Museum, the Colorado Railroad Museum, the Buffalo Bill Museum, The Lamplighter Museum, the Colorado State Museum, the Natural History Museum, and the Wax Museum.

The utilities, both electric power and natural gas, are provided by the Public Service Company of Colorado.

There are churches which represent the major denominations.

Golden has one college campus type high school, two junior high schools, and two grade schools.

Golden has its own symphony orchestra, several service clubs, two local newspapers. It is situated near five television towers, thus assuring the best television reception in the state.

STATE TAX AND BUSINESS INFORMATION - Valuation of "freeport" merchandise for assessment purposes is 5%. Freeport status applies to all finished goods that move to destinations outside the state.

There is a reduction of valuation for assessment on all merchandise, materials, and supplies that constitute the inventories of a manufacturer or merchant. This reduction will take place in increments of 5% per year over five years from an assessment of 30% of actual value.

Colorado imposes a 3% sales and use tax. Home rule cities such as Golden are permitted by state statute to impose their own sales and use taxes. Golden has neither. Its taxes are derived from a city property tax levy of 17.5 mills, 15.5 mills for all municipal operations and 2 mills for Public Building Bond retirement.

The County School District levy is 69.8 mills and the Jefferson County levy is 10.96 mills. Total is 98.26 mills.

The state has an individual income tax which ranges from 3% on the first $1000 of net taxable income over $10,000. The law allows $750 per dependent exemption plus the full amount of federal income tax.

The corporate income tax rate is 5% on net income derived from sources within the state of Colorado.

Colorado has a financial aid to business which is governed by the Colorado Business Development Corporation. Through this corporation, most of Colorado's financial institutions, many of its businesses and other organizations have pooled their money to make loans available to worthy projects which do not qualify from conventional lenders.

Other industries are Dow Chemical Company, Rocky Flats Division, Speedster, Inc., Terrametrics, and Foss Company. The Foss Drug Store is one of the largest individually owned drug stores in America.

The State of Colorado's unemployment compensation law applies to employers of four or more employees. The rates range from 0% to 2.7% according to experience rating and are subject to adjustment. The Colorado average is 1.7% compared to a national average rate of 2% on taxable wages.

Employers of four or more workers are required to carry insurance for the protection of employees covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act. Employers may obtain their insurance from the State Fund, a private insurance carrier of their choice, or, if they employ over two hundred, they may provide their own insurance when authorized by the State Commission.

HISTORY

GOLDEN, COLORADO
"Where the West Remains"

Golden is a beautiful little city, nestled in the foothills of the Colorful Colorado Rocky Mountains--a city proud of its rich history, proud of the role it played in formulating the great State of Colorado and proud of the part that it had in opening the West and the mineral industry.

The first actual settler in the Golden area was D. K. Wall, who during the winter of 1858, settled here, obtained land, and planted the first garden, irrigated by the first irrigation ditch, in this area. Gold was discovered by George Jackson in the mountains early that spring. Thousands of pioneers passed through the Golden Valley in the spring of 1859, but none stopped to settle here for all were headed for the rich gold fields beyond. Golden City was founded on the banks of Clear Creek on June 12, 1859, by the Boston Company, headed by George West who organized a town company and laid out the town itself. By Act of the Territorial Legislature in 1872, the name of the town was changed from Golden City to Golden. It was said to be named after an early settler, Thomas L. Golden. The men of the Boston Company constructed the first building in the new town and the site of this building is now marked by a monument in Parfet Park at 10th & Washington. For several years after its organization, Golden was the leading town in Colorado. GOLDEN WAS THE STATE CAPITAL OF COLORADO FROM 1862 TO 1867, in a building still in use today as a grocery store at the corner of 12th and Washington. This building was erected by W. A. H. Loveland, one of Golden's most distinguished first citizens. In 1897, there were over 3,000 inhabitants in Golden and at that time, Golden was made a second class City by Act of the State Legislature. Golden was a very busy transportation center for the mining operations which were going on in the mountains to the west. Black Hawk, Central City, Silver Plume, Idaho Springs, Dumont, Empire, Georgetown and many other cities and boom towns were entirely dependent upon Golden for their needs and supplies in order to seek the precious metals that were in the rocks and streams. Wagon trains carrying materials, foods and supplies were the lifeblood of these towns. Then, when the railroads came, in the early seventies, Golden was an important rail terminus. At one time, there were 23 trains a day passing through the Golden switching facilities. There was much rivalry between Denver and Golden in the early days. About 1880, railroad officials took advantage of their superiority in their number of stockholders and office-holders and succeeded in having the railroad headquarters moved from Golden to Denver and Golden ceased to be a rail center. There were also two funiculars in operation in Golden. One west up Castle Rock, and the other went up to the top of Lookout Mountain. Buffalo Bill Cody, the famous Scout, hunter and showman, is buried on top of Lookout Mountain—it was his own request that he be buried there where he could eternally watch the plains that he loved so greatly. Each year, thousands of people visit his grave site and museum.

At an election held on April 12, 1879, a Mayor, City Treasurer and an Alderman from each Ward were installed as the first officers of the city of Golden. Sixty-eight years later, on October 11, 1947, the Electors adopted the City Council-City Manager form of Government which is now in effect. Under this system, Golden is divided into four Wards. Two Councilmen are elected from each Ward and one Councilman is elected at large. They are elected for a 2-year term on a non-partisan basis. The Council appoints the Police Magistrate, City Attorney and City Manager, all of whom serve at the will of the Council. A Mayor and Mayor Pro-Tem are elected from the Council by the Councilmen. All departments of the city, except the City Attorney and Police Magistrate are under the supervision of the City Manager.

In 1859, coal was discovered on Coal Creek, just 14 miles north of Golden. This industry flourished for some years, but by 1937, only 4 mines were producing coal for commercial purposes and their total annual output was 179,097 tons. The area of the city at the time of its incorporation in 1871 was 1,220 acres, most of which were south of Clear Creek. Ninety-two years later, the area had grown to 3,305 acres. Some 1,995 acres have been annexed since 1957.

Up to the year of 1884, the development and growth of Golden had been associated with the metal production industries, but with the decline of mining in the West, Golden was brought to the realization that in order to continue progressing, it would have to encourage expansion of industries based on other resources. In 1873, Adolph Coors, Sr., founded the Adolph Coors Company which is still Golden's leading industry. The Coors Company is the nations 9th largest producer of fine beer. The Coors Porcelain Plant, famed the world around, makes the best scientific porcelain products, utilizing the high-grade clay found in the foothills and mountains around Golden. The Colorado School of Mines, the world's most famous mining school, was founded during the mining boom of 1874, as a part of Bishop Randall Episcopal University. It was deeded to the Territory and $500 was paid to the Church for its interest in the building and grounds when the other buildings of the University burned in 1874. Mines was the first college in the United States to devote itself exclusively to the education of mineral engineers. The Colorado School of Mines Research Foundation is an independent "not-for-profit" corporation which does industrial research under contract for industry or government. It has done research on hundreds of different metals for many nations. Its research into paleontology, geology, geophysics, geochemistry and other areas have helped give the world many major oil and ore discoveries.

While Golden has not had the phenomenal population growth enjoyed by some of the other metropolitan cities, the growth has been steady and the city has been able to adequately support it, as well as make provisions for future increases and demands for expanded services. The 1960 U. S. Census population count for Golden was 7,118, with 1968 averaging about 8,761. The assessed valuation for 1967 was $15,003,670 and the 1967 Retail Sales averaged $40,682,040. The 1967 Municipal Levy was 18 mills. The City Area covers 3,529 acres and is located 5,675 feet above sea level. Climatically, Golden cannot be beat! There are four wonderful seasons-the air is clean and dry and pure making comfortable cool summers and sparkling winters! Located just short distances from summer and winter mountain resorts and parks and only 15 miles from Metropolitan Denver, Golden has the advantages of the city plus the beauties of the mountains! Golden with its ideal location, with plenty of bright sunshine and blue skies, is indeed "Gateway to the Rockies" a lovely town where "The West Remains" as the Welcome Arch across Washington Avenue so proudly proclaims!
