90th Year Begun by Msgr. Illig

"Boyhood dreams of long ago, say an altar fair,
Consecrated, trembling hands, lifted there in prayer.
Other dreams have I today, bright in spite of fears,
That this human heart may be, Christlike through the years.
Think of me when on your knees, that this dream come true,
Bowed before that altar fair, there I'll think of you."

SIXTY-FIVE years ago, June 21, 1891, the above prayer of a Catholic priest upon his first Mass was implored by a young student graduate of the celebrated Jesuit University of Innsbruck, Austria, Rev. Joseph B. Illig.

This month the beloved pastor of St. Brigid church in Midland, now the Rt. Rev. Joseph B. Illig by virtue of his investiture as a Innsbruck, Austria, Rev. Joseph domestic prelate on Oct. 25, 1945, entering upon his 90th year, saw more dreams come true as a committee of seven parishioners called upon him to present a gift in behalf of the St. Brigid Ushers club and to remind him of the esteem in which he is held by his parish.

A birthday gift was presented by Frank A. Delaney, Sr., recently elected president of the St. Brigid Ushers club.

Others on the committee to greet Msgr. Illig were: Gordon C. Smith, vice-president; Dewey E. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Wilkie B. Bush and Dale Madill, former presidents of the church body; and Gerald W. Woolever and James Van Wert.

Msgr. Illig first served at St. Paul Cathedral, St. Paul, Minn., and then became professor of Greek and Latin at St. Thomas College followed by a tenure at St. Edward University in Austin, Texas.

THE second parish which he served was St. Charles at Greenville, Mich., from which he was transferred to St. Brigid at Midland on May 2, 1922.

The Midland appointment by Bishop Kelly was the second pastorate for Msgr. Illig, and succeeding Rev. Edward J. McDonald at St. Brigid parish he has remained there for the past 34 years.

Under the administration of Msgr. Illig, St. Brigid school has expanded and the present St. Brigid Church at West Ellsworth and Gordon streets was built.

Investiture of Msgr. Illig as a domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend was made at St. Mary Cathedral in Saginaw by the Most Rev. William Murphy, first Bishop of Saginaw.

Praise Msgr. Illig In Funeral Sermon

The death last Easter Sunday afternoon of Msgr. Joseph B. Illig, pastor of St. Brigid's Catho-in response, the voice of priests' choir, directed by the Rev. Joseph Roach of St. Elizabeth's church, Reese, with the Rev. James Parent, CSSp., of Bay City St. Joseph's parish, as organist, sang the "Benedictus." The choir also sang the requiem Mass in Gregorian chant.

The casket was carried from the church to the hearse, and the clergy, having preceded it formed a semi-circle as the Bishop pausing briefly, again sprinkled it with holy water.

The brief service in Calvary cemetery included prayers by the clergy and the final singing of the "Benedictus."

The Very Rev. Hickey, now secretary to Bishop Woznicki and recently named rector of the proposed diocesan St. Paul's Seminary, is a native Midlander and a former member of St. Brigid's parish. He is the son of Mrs. J. P. Hickey, 215 East Ellsworth, and the late Dr. Hickey.

The funeral orator recalled that, as a youngster and a student at St. Brigid's parochial school, he learned to serve Mass under the able guidance of his pastor, the late Monsignor Illig. Through high school and seminary years, leading to his ordination as a priest and since that time, the Very Rev. Hickey said he sought and received the sage counsel of his former pastor and friend.

This he recalled as he preached, using as his text, the Introit (public opening chant) of the Mass of the Holy Ghost,

"It behooves us to glory in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom is our salvation, life and resurrection, by whom we are saved and delivered, alleluia, alleluia."

"We are here this morning, with the alleluias of Easter still ringing in our ears, to appreciate the example, to honor the memory and to pray for the soul of a man whose long career in the priesthood is bejeweled with victories and crowned with the hope of blessed rest in Him who is our salvation and our deliverance," the Very Rev. Hickey stated.

Stressing three points in his sermon, the speaker recalled the varied backgrounds of those who came to the services; first as priests to honor a distinguished colleague; secondly, as friends to honor a neighbor and thirdly, mostly, as spiritual children, gathered in sorrow about the departed pastor.

Briefly reviewing the Monsignor's life, the speaker traced his education, his ordination in 1891, at St. Paul, Minn., his 20 years spent as a curate - teacher, during which he was plagued with ill health; his first pastorate at Greenville, Mich., and his 36 years as pastor of St. Brigid's parish, including his service as diocesan respect of the human person. Cited also was the fact that his friends were not limited to the members of his parish and that a glad welcome always met the visitor at the rectory.

The Monsignor's interest in the City of Midland, its growth and progress plus his acquaintance and contact with various leaders of the city were mentioned also in the sermon detailing the pastor's life.

In summary, the Very Rev. Hickey stated, "We are here not only to recall the example, but especially to pray for the happy repose of the Monsignor's soul. His mortal remains are to rest at the foot of the Cross in Calvary cemetery; and in passing or visiting there, breathe a prayer for his soul."

"We all, as priests, residents of Midland, or his spiritual children, are saddened by our loss, but reminded that he goes from us to the land of God. We are certain that the cross of Monsignor's passing is the jewel-crowned cross of the Easter in which he died," the Monsignor's former altar boy, parishioner, priest and friend, concluded.

Death Ends 36-Year Pastorate at St. Brigid's—

Requiem Chanted for Monsignor Illig

MIDLAND—The Most Rev. Stephen S. Woznicki, D.D., Bishop of Saginaw, pontificated at requiem rites in St. Brigid church here Friday for

Rt. Rev. Joseph B. Illig. Monsignor Illig had been pastor of St. Brigid parish since May 2, 1922.

SERMON at the funeral Mass was given by Father James A. Hickey, rector of the new St.

Paul seminary and a native of Midland. Prior to the 11 a.m. requiem rites, priests of the diocese recited the Office of the Dead.

Interment was in Calvary cemetery, Midland.

Monsignor Illig was born in Erie, Pa., Jan. 7, 1867. He attended St. Mary's Parish school in Erie, and graduated from Canisius College, Buffalo, in 1885.

From that year until 1891 Monsignor Illig was a student at the University of Innsbruck, Austria.

On June 21, 1891, he was ordained in St. Paul, Minnesota, by the Most Rev. John Ireland, Archbishop of St. Paul.

MONSIGNOR Illig was first appointed an assistant in the Cathedral at St. Paul, and later assumed teaching duties at St. Thomas College in that city.

Ill health necessitated a transfer to Texas where he taught in St. Edward University at Austin.

In 1918 he accepted the invitation of a former Innsbruck schoolmate, the Most Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, then Bishop of Grand Rapids, to become pastor of St. Edward University at Austin.

On May 2, 1922, Bishop Kelly transferred him to the pastorate of St. Brigid parish, Midland, where he served until his death.

Monsignor Illig was a Diocesan Consultor from July 7, 1944, until July 1, 1953. He was named a Domestic Prelate and invested by the late Bishop Murphy in St. Mary Cathedral, Saginaw, on Oct. 25, 1945.

THE MONSIGNOR served almost 67 years in the priesthood, and 36 years in Midland.

He retained active administration of his parish until he was hospitalized in Bay City Mercy hospital on March 20. He died there April 6.

My dear Friends,

With deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks I want to acknowledge your congratulations and generous gift on the occasion of my consecration as Auxiliary to the Bishop of Saginaw. The Newman Club meant so much to my mother. I felt a part of it too, because as a child at home and, later, as a student, I listened with interest as mother prepared her various papers for presentation and, as every family, I shared in the usual arrangements that result when mother takes an afternoon off for her club!

I look forward to the work of the episcopacy trusting in your understanding and relying on your prayers.

Gratefully in Christ,

Mrs. Catherine Nehil

Pioneer resident will be 100

By Mrs. Betty Cochran
Daily News staff writer

The centennial birthday of a Midland woman, who has always found life more interesting by living in the present and looking ahead to the future rather than dwelling in "the good old days" of the past, will be observed Saturday.

Mrs. John Nehil, 1209 Helen street, who was born September 4, 1865, will observe her 100th birthday when she is guest of honor at a luncheon at the Midland Country Club Saturday afternoon. She will be feted by her children and all the grandchildren, and great-grandchildren will be present.

The spritely, silver-haired Mrs. Nehil has watched Midland change from a rugged lumbering community to a vast chemical center, having lived here since she was a young girl.

She is a "progressive thinker" and has always been interested in the activities surrounding her family, especially the younger generation in their educational and sports pursuits.

Until a few years ago one of Mrs. Nehil's favorite hobbies was Needlepoint. She also enjoyed baking and "turning out a batch of bread" occasionally for the family.

Although she now leads a more quiet and retiring life, she is still in relative good health and gets around with the aid of a walker. The well-groomed matron is quick of wit and still enjoys watching an occasional television program or visiting with family and friends.

Mrs. Nehil is the former Catherine (Kate) Reardon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John (Ann) Reardon, pioneer Midland residents. She came to Midland with her family at the age of 17. She was born near Birch Run in Saginaw County.

She married the late John F. Nehil in February, 1887, in Midland's original St. Brigid's Catholic Church, then located at Haley and East Indian. The church was built in 1871 and was later moved to its present location at Gordon and Ellsworth streets.

Following their marriage the couple lived for a short time in a home next to the present Dent residence on Main street, later buying a home on Ellsworth street between Cronkright and Townsend where all of their nine children were born. The Nehils later moved to 515 Grove street where they lived for over 40 years.

Mr. Nehil, lumbering pioneer, came to Midland in 1885. His first business venture here was a tub and pail factory which he operated a few years before launching a head ing mill enterprise near the Benson Street bridge.

He finally settled in the lumber business and erected his office and storage sheds on Ashman street, near the present New York Central Railroad tracks. It also included a planing mill. The business expanded until at the time of his death in November, 1929, it covered from Ashman to Rodd streets.

In June of 1951 Mrs. Nehil moved to her Helen street home where she resides with two of her daughters, Miss M. Ann Nehil and Miss Louise Nehil. Her other children include John Leo Nehil, Mrs. Charles E. (Katherine) Short and Mrs. Leo J. (Florence) Ronan, of Midland, and Reardon Nehil of St. Petersburg, Fla. Three children are deceased, Thomas E., Floyd A., and Dr. Laurence Nehil. She also has 12 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Nehil is an honorary member of the Newman Club, of which she was one of the original members, and has a life membership in the Midland Historical Association. She also is a member of St. Brigid's Altar Society and the American Legion Auxiliary, becoming a member when it was first organized.

In addition to the members of her family in Midland, out of town guests who will be attending the birthday celebration will be the family of the late Dr. Laurence Nehil from Louisville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. John Pickens and family of Devon, Pa., Mrs. B. E. McCann and family of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Nehil and Family from Milan, Italy, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cornelius and family of Park Ridge, Ill., and John T. Ronan of Washington, D. C.

Newman program marks anniversary

To mark the 45th anniversary of the club's founding, Newman Club members and their guests gathered at Northwood's Dubois Lounge on Tuesday afternoon.

The program chosen for the occasion by Mrs. William Clulo was a revival of a play she gave for Newman Club 15 years ago and one which has even greater significance now considering the current popularity of "A Man for All Seasons."

"The King's Servant" presented by Mrs. Clulo, was written in the early fifties by Felix Doherty when he was a member of the law faculty at Boston College. He wrote it to commemorate the canonization of Sir Thomas More. A winner of the Christopher Award, the play portrays the wise and witty Sir Thomas More, chancellor to King Henry VIII at the time he was seeking a divorce from Queen Catherine in order to marry Anne Boleyn. In the course of the action, the king attempts to force the chancellor to make treasonable statements but eventually More is tried, imprisoned, and sent to the block, a tempered punishment considering the custom of the time.

Mrs. Clulo revealed that more than a documentary, the play has romantic interest, comedy—in More's ability to laugh even in the face of death — and a dramatic theme building up to the climax when Henry's advisors conspire to trap the popular chancellor who was in reality "the king's good servant." Mrs. Clulo vividly interpreted the action of the play for the enjoyment of her listeners.

Mrs. William Bradley, president of the club, welcomed those in attendance. Following the program, the group gathered at the tea table. Those pouring were Mrs. Maurice Hommel and Mrs. Harold Goulet, both former presidents.

"GAY NINTIES REVIEW"

Webale Noeli!

It has been another fast year. And much has been done here at Butiti Parish — especially during our Year of Faith program. We had three-day retreats in each of the bigger villages; there are 16 such villages in this parish. During that time (and since then) many people who had not been practicing their religion have come back. Please, pray for them that they may be steadfast in their renewed relationship with God.

I had a great blessing this past July. My Mother and Father were here with me for two weeks. And with them were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Heller and their son, Jim, who will be ordained in Rome next year. We had a very good time together. They were able to meet some of our parishioners, and see again some of our priests whom they have known for several years. They also got a very good look at a hippo as it ran up to greet us and baptized our VW van with a little of its own blood.

The picture was taken this year at Katoosa. It is the biggest and by far the nicest church in my section of the parish. Sr. Demetria had come to help me with meetings before and after Mass. Eventually we hope to build a shrine here for one of the Uganda Martyrs — Carole. We don't have a big picture of him yet; but, as you can see, we have one depicting the martyrdom of Anatole.

I am soon expecting a change of assignment in the diocese. As of yet I don't know what or where it will be. So I am giving you an address that will reach me faster than the Butiti address.

Many thanks to all of you who have been supporting us through your prayers and material helps. I remember you daily, and will offer one of my Christmas Masses for you. May Christ bless you always.

Science, It's Wonderful

THE OLD JOKES about beauty and brains and how they don't mix are being revised on most college campuses today. At Alma College, for one, serious-minded male students of the sciences can look up from their microscopes most any time and find beauty at their elbow. Is this a distraction? Said serious students have not been heard to complain.

A few examples are cited on these pages. Marilene Handy, a junior and a beauty queen, had already embarked on one career, as a registered nurse, before she decided to work toward a science degree at Alma. Phyllis Moreen works summers as a U.S. Department of Agriculture science aide. She's majoring in biology. Lauralee Shaft hopes to earn a master's degree after graduating from Alma and teach zoology.

'Mary Queen of Scots' club topic

"Mary Queen of Scots," by Antonia Fraser was reviewed by Mrs. William Clulo at Newman Club meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Bradley. Mrs. Maurice Thompson was co-hostess.

The biography is a blend of warmth, sympathy and compassion for one of history's most controversial figures, Mary Queen of Scots. Fraser depicts the romantic color, comedy and tragedy that was woven into the life of the ill-fated queen who survived religious and political opposition in her native land only to be denied her freedom and even her life by rival and kinswoman, Queen Elizabeth I.

This account describes Mary as an intensely feminine, regal, yet tragic figure repudiating the popular notion that she was a violent and tyrannical ruler.

Next meeting of the Newman Club will be on December 1 at the home of Mrs. William Clulo when the Rev. Robert Bennett will offer a home mass for deceased members.

Recovery, Inc., is explained

Members of the Newman Club heard a panel discussion by four members of Recovery, Inc., at their Tuesday afternoon meeting. The idea behind Recovery is that a person can control his thoughts and impulses. Recovery only points the way toward an average life and gives the mental patient a chance for normal every day living, it was explained. Members use a technique in facing their problems. When they feel temper rising they stop and analyze the reason behind their tenseness and usually realize that the cause is not important enough to risk mental stability.

Recovery, Inc., a national non-profit organization, was founded in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low at the University of Illinois Medical School. For information address questions to: Recovery, Inc., P. O. Box 1245, Saginaw.

As background, Mrs. Ladd talked about the Indian tribes west of the Mississippi such as the Sioux, Tetons and Cheyennes.

Mrs. Joseph Mann reported on the annual spring luncheon which will be held at the Embers in Mount Pleasant at 1:15 p.m. May 19. Persons not present at the meeting are to call a member of the social committee regarding arrangements. 4-11-72

Mrs. John Nehil, 1209 Helen street was hostess for the meeting assisted by Mrs. Leo Ronan and Miss Louise Nehil. Guests were Mrs. Lillian Nehil, Miss Maude Thompson and Miss Francis Kleses. Mrs. Leo Solosky was chairman for the day.

Rev. Forbes Is Newman Guest Speaker

Highlights of a six-week's trip to the European seat of the Catholic religion were given to members of Newman Club Tuesday afternoon* by guest speaker The Very Reverend Eugene Forbes, pastor of St. Matthew's parish, Milwaukee, and chancellor of the Saginaw diocese.

In charge of the meeting were Mrs. William E. Ryan and Mrs. Leo Solosky. Mrs. William N. Bradley served as hostess.

Picture slides illustrated the Rev. Forbes' talk as he shared with the 35 Newman members his tour through eight of the Northern and Central countries of Europe.

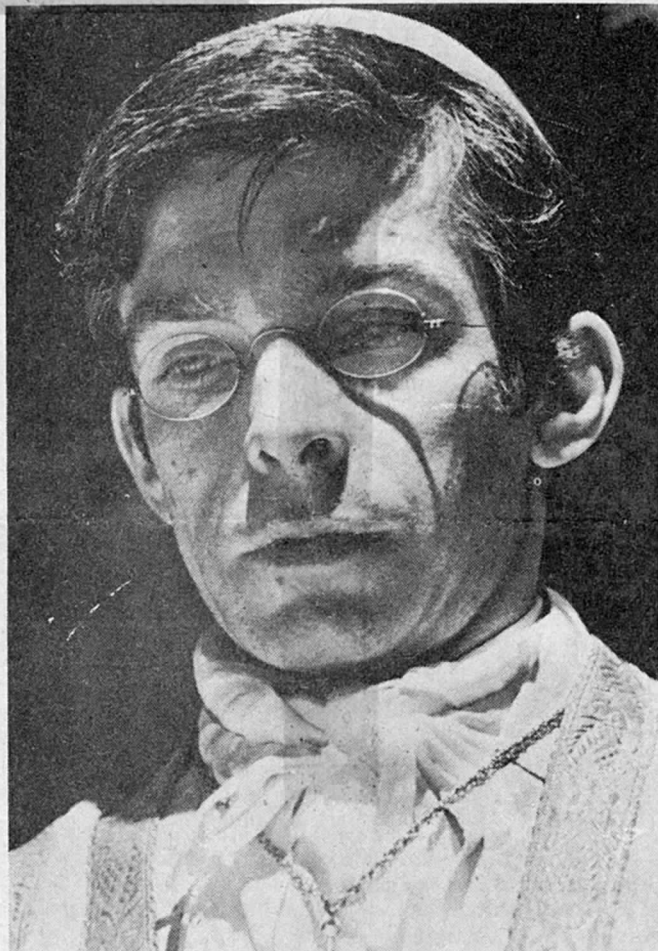

In touching various points of interest in France, he spoke of the faith portrayed by the thousands of visitors who daily make pilgrimages to the noted shrines of Lourdes, the Little Flower Shrine, and the well-known cathedrals.

In Italy, the places brought to the club's attention included Sacre Couer and Notre Dame cathedrals as well as the cathedral of St. Francis of Assisi, founder of the Franciscan Order. While in Vatican City, the Rev. Forbes was able to get vivid pictures of the changing of the Swiss Guard and many views of St. Peter's Church.

FILM ON BISHOP NEUMANN—In the forthcoming motion picture, "Neumann," actor Robert Brink (above) is an aging Bishop John Neumann, saying his final Mass. The Archdiocese of Philadelphia announced that the film on America's third saint—he will be canonized this year—will be available for distribution by mid-May. According to Harry Donahue, executive producer of the movie, "Neumann" will reveal a segment of the bishop's life of which most people have little knowledge.

A Parkway Mass for Neumann Canonization

PHILADELPHIA (RNS)—An early evening Mass on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway here on June 26 will be the highlight of local rites marking the canonization of Blessed John N. Neumann, C.S.S.R., fourth Bishop of Philadelphia.

Cardinal John Krol is expected to be principal celebrant for the outdoor liturgy at 5 p.m. on the Sunday after Bishop Neumann is canonized in St. Peter's Square in Rome by Pope Paul.

THE outdoor Mass—which will be offered at an altar on Logan Circle near the Cathedral Basilica of SS. Peter and Paul, a structure built by Bishop Neumann—will be the first ever offered on Philadelphia's wide esplanade which is modelled after Paris' Champs Elysees.

Other religious rites, however, have been held on the Parkway, including the opening night procession and Benediction for the 41st International Eucharistic Congress last Aug. 1 when a crowd estimated at between 300,000 and 500,000 jammed the entire length of the thoroughfare for more than three hours.

THE Philadelphia Mass will mark the end of week-long celebrations here in honor of the canonization of Blessed John Neumann.

On Sunday June 19, the canonization day, special Masses will be celebrated at St. Peter's Church, where Bishop Neumann is buried; and the Cathedral Basilica of SS. Peter and Paul, which he built, and at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of St. Francis in Glen Riddle, Aston. Bishop Neumann was a founder of the Franciscan Sisters.

Parish churches in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia will be encouraged to conduct liturgies paralleling the triduum of Masses in Rome on June 20-21-22 after the canonization.

Mrs. Clulo Gives Play For Guest Day

Nearly 75 members and guests of the Newman Club heard Mrs. William Clulo Wednesday afternoon at the Midland Country Club. Mrs. Clulo interpreted "The King's Good Servant," a play by Felix Doherty.

"The king's good servant, but God's servant first," was Sir (and later St.) Thomas More's explanation of the stand which brought him to his death. He was long in the service of Henry VIII and, even when the two disagreed, it was to the sorrow of each.

Mrs. Clulo prefaced her performance, in which she portrayed all the roles, with a brief explanation of the history of the times. She also told how the play was written in collaboration with the Jesuits at Boston College, who provided for the authenticity of the play. Many of the passages of the play were taken verbatim from documents of the times.

The story concerns Thomas More, who was friend and advisor to the king and whose allegiance to him was without qualification until Henry broke from the church in order to divorce his wife and remarry. The one time chancellor signed the oath of allegiance and succession, but refused to recognize the king as head of the church in England, and for this, was beheaded.

The guest day was in charge of Mrs. William Bradley and Mrs. A. T. Peters. After the program, tea was served from tables decorated with yellow snapdragons and blue iris and presided over by Mrs. Earl LeBeau and Mrs. J. H. Reilly.

In the second part of the program, Mrs. Leo Tellier gave highlights of the life of St. Issac Jogues, a missionary priest of the early 17th century in North America.

According to Mrs. Tellier, it was Jogues and his companions who first preached the gospel in what is now the Great Lakes region. Jogues feast day is celebrated on September 26.

Newman Hears Early History

The early history of St. Brigid's Catholic Church and of Midland was presented to Newman Club members in a taped program at Tuesday afternoon's meeting held at the Midland Country Club.

Mrs. William N. Bradley presented the program, which was taped during a visit to the Midland Room at the Grace A. Dow Memorial Library in the spring. Those participating included Mrs. W. E. Ryan, Mrs. Leo Solosky and Mrs. Glen Cummins, executive secretary of the Midland County Historical Association.

In her reminiscing, Mrs. Ryan, a native of Midland, told of the formative days of the Catholic Church in Midland and the first Mass to be held in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Keeley. The first visit of the bishop to Midland and the preparation beforehand are still memorable pictures in her mind.

In speaking of Midland history, Mrs. Ryan recalled lumbering days and activities of Camp 16, famous in those times as being most spoken of in lumbering circles. She took her listeners back to the days of bicycling, skating and dancing, all good times made by the young people themselves. Vivid memories were brought back to the listeners as the narrator progressed with her story, making the stories show that Midland County was hewn from the earth and forests and held a heritage to look at with pride.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Raymond Ladd announced final plans for the Christmas luncheon to be held at 1 p.m. December 13 at the home of Mrs. Elwyn Gidley.

Hostesses for Tuesday's meeting were Miss Louise Nehil and Mrs. Leo Ronan.
