First White Settler in Manitowish Waters

HISTORY . . .

By — Michael J. Dunn, III

Where Indians paddled blueberry-laden canoes or camped to barter with fur traders only three generations ago, sun tanned teenagers now skim gracefully over the water on skis or their elders relax in comfort to forget the press of business. That in a nutshell is the story of Manitowish Waters.

The red man appeared back beyond the reach of recorded history, and when he faded from the local scene his doing so was so gradual that he left no exact date to mark his passing. The first white folk to settle here watched him paddle across Island Lake in summer, his canoe low in the water with the weight of the wild berries it bore. Families still gave him wide leeway; some Indians were still a threat, especially to children of the intruding palefaces. The Indians had an age-old gathering place on the eastern shore of Manitowish Lake. Here they met to trade, to distribute funds from Federal paymasters, to bury their dead. From here too, to propitiate their gods, they floated sacrificial offerings which always drifted to the tiny island that they came to regard as sacred.

Came then the white man, perhaps to trade for furs, to cruise the woods for timber, to settle on a homestead. The story of early Manitowish Waters rings with the names of colorful settlers and personalities. Abe LaFave, who settled in 1888 and became the predecessor of the resort trade that is now the lifeblood of our community; long gone is the island lodge he built on Island Lake as the first tourist accommodation in the area, but on the shores of that same lake his family today continues the tradition of resort keeping he originated. Dan Devine, who raised a family on Clear Lake, whence he paddled each summer on a month-long canoe journey to Madeline Island in Lake Superior to sell his furs. Peter Vance, a timber cruiser who came here in the 1880's and lies now in our cemetery, his grave marked by a stone recording his hundred years and his pioneer status. Stephan Stewart, once a Yankee soldier in the Civil War, who was sure he was the only white man for miles around as he surveyed for a timber company dam, only to run into Abe LeFave in these deepest northwoods.

The railroad penetrated the county in 1888. In its wake came the great logging days, a swash-buckling era during which you might have seen stuck into the ground in front of a tavern the pike-poles or canthooks of a hundred or more lumberjacks drinking inside. The Chippewa Lumber and Boom Co. opened the logging age here. In 1892 CL&B forces built the Rest Lake dam with heavy timbers, three spillways and huge iron bullwheels to control the gates; the same year its men also built a steamboat with a backbone of tamarack and cedar ship knees hewn on the Island Lake shore. For the life of the CL&B activities here, the most exciting event of the year was the log drive. For several weeks early each summer pine logs were sent through the spillways in great bunches and washed downstream with huge gulps of penned up lake water. The river then might be a solid mass of logs for many miles. Skilled drivers prodded them along. Leading and trailing the drives were wanigans or cook boats, built below the dam for each year's drive. It took almost all summer and the efforts of up to two hundred men to push the drive all the way to its Chippewa Falls area destination. The rest of the year lumberjacks who lived in long, low, log camp buildings below the dam labored to replenish the log supply held behind the dam in preparation for the next season's drive. They took only the finest of pine, so light that it could float indefinitely and was called cork pine; in the winters teams and sleds pulled the newly felled timber to the icebound shores; in summer giant wheels were used. On the waters of the lakes, raised up to sixteen feet above their original level by the new dam, and thus spreading over a much wider area, the steamboat worked almost round the clock to shepherd huge rafts of logs to the dam. The boom, however, could not go on forever, and by the early 1900's and certainly by 1906, the crude little paddle wheel steamer, its whistle stilled, lay pulled up on the shore where modern day water skiers stage their shows. A few families clustered around the dam, which deteriorated and even was left open for a while; the landing where boats met travelers was located on the present Ilg property. The horses, ponies and wagons were kept there and a man named James McKinney kept a tavern there before 1910.

The logging era revived when railroads drew closer to the lakes and could haul out hardwood logs too heavy to float downriver in drives. The Milwaukee Road built in to Boulder Junction in 1903 and on to its Papoose Junction Point by 1906. One leg of the wye at the junction point ran up to Buswell, a Papoose Lake mill village; another leg ran roughly along the present bed of county highway K to reach Riley's Hoist on the shore of Rest Lake just north of the present YMCA Camp. The daily local train of the Milwaukee was not only an important carrier of outbound logs consigned to sawmills further south. The mixed freight and passenger train was the carrier too of inbound supplies for the owners of summer homes on the lakes. At Big Lake Creek near Island Lake these supplies were transferred to barges for lake delivery. From Chicago & Northwestern near Powell a spur cut across Powell Marsh to reach a loading hoist between Star and the Grass lakes (now Stepping Stones). Yawkey-Bissell, Stange Lumber Co. and Brooks & Ross are just a few of the names of lumber or logging firms that cut in what is now Manitowish Waters. Hardwood logs were partially dried to ensure their staying afloat until another little lake boat, like the gasoline powered Skiddoo, could raft them to the two landings for loading on railroad cars. From the Star Lake spur track there also radiated little railroad spurs over which lightweight but standard gauge "Peggy" locomotives (geared locomotives, most likely of the shay or screwdriver variety) pulled in loads of logs from the woods; some of these temporary lines ran as far as Alder and Benson lakes. Big logging activity ceased between 1911 (when the last Yawkey-Bissell activity ceased; that firm's last local camp was near Mud Lake, now Fawn) and 1914, (when the last logs had been shipped from the hoist at Star Lake). In 1919 the Milwaukee Road removed its track along the north side of the chain; the spur to the C&NW was quietly taken up around the same time. The lone sawmills to operate after that era in the area were operated by Bob Loveless, who cut timber in the few pockets of virgin forest during the 1920's, and Marvin Loveless, who ran a small mill into the 1940's or 1950's.

The resort business developed alongside the homesteading that brought the early settlers to this area. First to offer hospitality to sportsmen and other visitors in a lodge was Abe LaFave. In 1892 George Buck settled some land at the narrows between Spider and Manitowish lakes, probably by homesteading it. He too developed a resort business, which stayed in the Buck family until it was sold in 1916 to the Koerners, who began operations under their name the next year. What is now Deer Park Lodge was begun in the 1890's by one J. A. LaMotte of Wausau; its succeeding owners included Jay A. "Dad" Paine, Max Engemann and Charlie Doriot. After spending several summers camping here, Henry Voss built his first cottage here in 1909 and opened an American plan resort in 1911 that is still operated by his family. Supplies were hard to get in those days and Henry Voss' establishment kept farm animals, including cows. For years he arose at four or five in the morning to deliver his milk to local residents and summer home occupants. His pantry had to stock not only supplies sufficient for the resort kitchen but also for sale to housekeeping cottage tenants and neighboring summerfolk.

Until motor travel was common, resort launches met guests borne by stage to the dam from trains at Manitowish or to Star Lake landing by Sherman's buckboard from the station at Powell. Road travel was eased considerable when a bridge was built across the narrows at Buck's, in 1912 and 1913; it replaced a makeshift ferry. Early vacationists were hardy souls, mainly sportsmen. They usually spent several weeks on their vacations in the early resorts, for most of them were people of means.

On the whole, farming has been neither very successful nor very popular in the Manitowish Waters area, with the possible exception of a little dairying. A few would-be farmers were lured up here by big city exploiters and land promoters, were soon disenchanted by the meagre results that attended their exertions, and abandoned their efforts.

In 1923 a new dam at Rest Lake was built; it now maintains a water level eight and a half feet above the original waters before 1892. In winter water levels are dropped by three and a half feet.

In 1927 local residents, chafing at what they felt was neglect by the town of Flambeau to which they then belonged, had a bill passed by the states legislature creating the new Town of Spider Lake. (The name changed to the more specific Town of Manitowish Waters in late 1938.) The new town built a town hall during 1929-30 and the present school the next year or two; the school has been doubled in size by a 1946 addition. The town board authorized a community cemetery in 1935; the earliest burial dates from 1936.

For a brief moment in 1934 the national spotlight focused on this locality, after the notorious desperado John Dillinger was detected hiding out at Little Bohemia. He escaped a dragnet in gun-play that cost two lives.

One of the most unusual activities in Manitowish Waters was the fish hatchery, claimed to be the only town-sponsored one in the state. It was built in 1932 and enlarged in 1936 to provide tiny walleye pike and muskie fry and fingerlings for planting in the chain of lakes. Peak walleye production was apparently 1942's 14,000,000 tiny fish, while the muskies of 1939 numbered 2,700,000. Records are incomplete but that must have been a peak year. The last records cover operation in 1942; the fate of the hatchery is given in a terse mention in minutes of a 1944 town board meeting, which states that the board authorized removal of the electric meter from the hatchery. A victim of wartime problems, the hatchery is still closed.

The postwar era has been one of tremendous growth and refinements in Manitowish Waters. Between 1949 and 1964 the tax list rose from 300 bill-receiving taxpayers to 565 owners. In 1943 the first chamber of commerce groundwork toward eventual construction of an airport came to light. The airport itself came to realization in 1945; it was enlarged soon after and in 1964 a lighting system was installed along one runway. A post office opened here March 1, 1949. Fire protection, a service authorized on a very small scale by a town meeting as far back as 1931, received a great boost with development of the present fully equipped volunteer department two decades later.

The Community Church and Catholic congregations were organized after the war. In an interesting display of religious cooperation both groups worshipped in the same facilities in the old town hall, the Catholics very early in the morning, the Protestants in the later forenoon. Ground was broken for the new Community Church edifice in 1954. The Catholic Church was built in 1958 and named Our Lady, Queen of Peace to honor dead soldiers of the 32nd Division, as a memorial to whom part of the construction funds were given.

Information Booth, Community Center Building

A new community center was built on the airport grounds in 1961. It provides permanent town offices and a gathering place for local functions ranging from elections and town meetings to wedding receptions.

Retail trade prospered; merchants in "downtown" Manitowish Waters enlarged their establishments and new stores appeared at the south entry into the township.

Industry and larger-scale commerce appeared in 1945 with the arrival of cranberry developers and the 1949 move to town by Trueflight Mfg. Co., an archery equipment firm. Both activities found Manitowish Waters a happy environment and have flourished here. Their stories are told elsewhere in the booklet. A smaller fabricating enterprise is Lyon Industries, which makes fiberglass boats and custom molded products. No longer operating are two industries of the early 1950's; an arrow-head factory and a producer of television antenna towers.

Places to go . . . Things to do

MANITOWISH WATERS . . .

CRANBERRY MARSHES — Southeast corner of Town of Manitowish Waters. Among the highest producing bogs in the nation. Seven growers operate marshes along or near Little Trout Lake. Most welcome visitors.

POWELL MARSH WILDLIFE REFUGE — Large plantings of native grains and grasses encourage migratory waterfowl to use area as a resting place. Overlook along Powell Road; access roads into marsh.

MANITOU ISLAND in Manitowish Lake—Every spring the Indians floated a raft of flowers to appease the Great Spirit that no drownings take place on that lake. There has been a record of no drowning on the lake.

OLD INDIAN FUR TRADERS' CAMP — Deer Park Lodge is now located on this site.

PUBLIC BEACHES AND PICNIC GROUNDS
Little Star Lake, Clear Lake, Alder Lake (for canoeists), islands in Island Lake (for canoeists).

FIRE TOWER — Near Rest Lake dam. Affords good view as far as the hills of the Iron Range on the north, across the Powell Marsh to the south.

PLAYGROUND AND SPORTS AREA — At Community Building. Features a golf driving range, baseball diamond, children's swings, climbing bars, merry-go-round. Young people and adults alike will enjoy playing on the brand new TENNIS COURT. Firing range for target practice, especially welcomed by hunters. Basketball hoops on the airport hanger.

WATER SKI SHOWS BY THE SKIING SKEETERS — Free, Wednesday and Sunday evenings during July and August.

WATER SKI TOURNAMENTS — Sponsored on two August weekends by the Skiing Skeeters are the Beier Barefoot Tourney and the Wisconsin State Barefoot Tourney—both interesting meets featuring spectacular barefoot water skiing activity.

REST LAKE DAM — Site of old loggers' dam, now replaced by modern structure with walkway beneath. Controls lake levels. Once had a fish lock to boost fish over the drop—ruins of it are still visible.

BEAR PITS — Watch Bruin and his family.

THE CHAIN OF LAKES — To see the beauty of the woods and the waters, take your own boat or rent a pontoon boat and take a party along—you can drive or an operator can be furnished. Take a picnic lunch along to eat at one of the many waterside picnic spots available on Island Lake or Alder Lake. Ask any of our tackle or boat shops about time and rates.

YOUTH CONSERVATION CAMP — On Statehouse Lake. Boys spend part of the summer here to work on woods improvement projects.

CANOE TRIPS — If you have access to a canoe, put in near Boulder and come down the lovely Manitowish River, where the rapids offer a bit of a challenge and the undisturbed scenery promises views of wildlife. Another interesting river trip is down the same river from the dam to Manitowish depot, on which course the river passes through small lakes and marshy areas favored by herons, ducks and animal life. Inquire locally about canoe rental and delivery.

ELSEWHERE . . .

Tired of FISHING, SWIMMING, LOAFING? Why not take a scenic drive through Vilas County? In Vilas County we have over 1000 lakes and streams, many acres of forest plantations, many acres of timber. Be on the lookout for wildlife—deer, bear, raccoons, fox, coyotes, woodchucks are most abundant. On some streams you may spot beaver dams. On your tour ask the various community information bureaus or business places for directions. The friendly folk will be glad to help you find the spots you are seeking.

On your drive you might look for —

UNUSUAL ROCK FORMATIONS — Near Presque Isle. Mica Schist deposit resembling a petrified tree, many thousands of years old. Presque Isle, formerly a booming lumber town, still has a tiny dam and the largest WALLEYE REARING POND in the state of Wisconsin. Hundreds of thousands of small walleye pike fry are reared to fingerling size to stock the lakes of northern Wisconsin.

VILAS COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM at Sayner — Interesting collection of local historical objects and displays explaining local lore. Also in Sayner are walleye rearing ponds, Len Weber's Wild life Farm, golfing at the Plum Lake Golf Course. Near Sayner are CRYSTAL LAKE BEACH and campground on a very clear lake, and MUS-SKI MOUNTAIN SKI HILL, with slopes for children, grown ups and sophisticated skiers.

INDIAN HOMES AND CEMETERY — Near Partridge Lake. This area has been inhabited by Indians since the beginning of time in Vilas County. At Lac du Flambeau see the old Indian village, browse through curio shops, visit the Grahl Mutation Mink Exhibition and see the weekly Indian Pow-wows, a feature attraction of the Indian Reservation.

MEDICINE ROCK — Lac du Flambeau. Scene of Chippewa-Sioux battle.

BOULDER JUNCTION — So named because the Milwaukee Road once ran two railroad lines that met in the community, now a tourist instead of lumbering center. Features are Shrimp's Wild Life Display and the unusually interesting and worthwhile AQUALAND live fish and wild life studios.

ARBOR VITAE — Once a lumber milling center, now site of Henkelman's Museum; nearby on highway 51 are Marchino Wild Life Museum and golfing at Trout Lake Golf Course.

WOODRUFF AND MINOCQUA — Though just out of the county, these communities offer many interesting things to see and do. Free water ski shows thrice weekly. Guided tours through Wisconsin Gardens, nature's workshop. Aqua-Rama, gala three day festivities in early August. Magic Spot. Squirrel Hill ski area. Golf at Minocqua Country Club; movies at three theatres; shops. Near Woodruff is the STATE FISH HATCHERY. Worth a visit, this hatchery hatches the eggs and rears them into fry, providing many of the fry and fingerlings planted in northern Wisconsin.

STAR LAKE FORESTRY PLANTATION — On the banks of the famed Star Lake near Sayner. The site was once an old lumber camp. The plantation itself was started in 1913 in an effort to show people that forest trees could be planted.

EAGLE NESTS — Throughout Vilas County. One on Highway "G" approximately 6 miles out of Eagle River is marked by a highway sign.

FIVE LAKE EXPERIMENTAL PROJECT — An experiment in fish habitat and production, on Nebish Road. Also along this road are forest plantations where it is common to see deer feeding in the evening.

LAC VIEUX DESERT — Near Land O' Lakes. On the north shore is an Indian village where Indians still live and carry out many of their customs of long ago; nearby are Indian burial mounds. On the south shore rises the hardest working river in the nation, the mighty Wisconsin River. At this historical spot, which bears a marker, Father Rene Menard (who later vanished without a trace down the river near Merrill) said the first Mass in what is now Vilas County. Picnic benches are now on this spot for the convenience of visitors.

THE MILITARY ROAD — Used during the Civil War. Passes through Vilas County, mostly through the Town of Phelps. A fire tower located on the Military Hill, just east of Phelps on highway 17, is one of the highest fire towers in the state. Open to visitors.

THE CONTINENTAL DIVIDE — Crosses highway "B" between Land O' Lakes and Presque Isle and crosses highway 51 between Mercer and Hurley. Streams and lakes north of this divide run or drain into the St. Lawrence watershed; those south of it drain into the Mississippi via the Wisconsin River.

CATHEDRAL POINT — Beautiful timbered point between Little Trout and Big Trout Lakes, along the east shore. Many of the existing pines are 120 to 130 feet tall. They are being grown on the site of what was once an Indian garden. This is a beautiful picnic area and should be especially appealing to children. Trout Lake Nursery is nearby; here millions of tiny forest seeds are grown into seedlings and transplants to help reforest the state. Also nearby is a historical marker commemorating the first forestry patrol flight, and pleasant picnic area.

TREES FOR TOMORROW CAMP — Eagle River. Camp for teaching conservation to young people and adults. Many enjoy the facilities each year. While at the camp don't miss the TALKING TREE.

NATURE TRAILS — Hiking trails in the Town of St. Germain. Stop at the information bureau for a guide to these interesting paths for the vacationist.

LAND O' LAKES — Airport is the only one in Vilas County which has scheduled airline service, summer only, by North Central Airlines. Boulder Junction airport has seaplane landing and servicing facilities. Other airports with scheduled airline service near Manitowish Waters are Ironwood (Mich.) and Rhineland. Rhineland also has an interesting LOGGING MUSEUM.

Vilas County is the site of much publicly owned land. NORTHERN HIGHLAND STATE FOREST, NICOLET NATIONAL FOREST, CHEQUAMEGON NATIONAL FOREST and the COUNTY FOREST make up most of this ownership.

Along the forest roads you will see extensive plantings of forest trees, blueberry patches and deer trails. Just before dusk is a good time to go riding in search of wild life. Driftwood picking is popular along the shorelines of the county's thousand bodies of water. Wisconsin River and the Rainbow Flowage have the most driftwood.

Vilas County is also known for its certified seed potatoes. The area north and west of Eagle River is especially adapted for growing potatoes for seed, and seed potatoes from this area have been shipped all over the United States.

SCENIC TRIPS OUTSIDE THE COUNTY — include enchanting Madeline Island in Lake Superior and Copper Falls near Mellen among many delightful destinations. In Upper Michigan there are open to visitors underground iron mines. Don't miss the Porcupine Mountains near Lake Superior, the river falls and scenic drives to Black River Harbor and Presque Isle Park. Little Girl's Point on the Lake Superior shore is also appealing.

The State of Wisconsin, owning many thousands of acres of land in the County, and thousands in our town, in 1962, established a Youth Conservation Camp on Statehouse Lake. This is one of two built in 1962. More are to follow. There are two sessions at the camp, for about 100 boys in each session. They work several hours each week on conservation projects, such as building dams, constructing fire lanes, felling timber, all with the idea in mind of teaching conservation. Attendance is offered on a competitive basis, with a limited capacity and those boys attending all indicate a liking for that type of career, and are potential Conservation leaders. Your visit will be most welcome, and the camp is so organized that a trip through its facilities is always available.

There are many other camps, both organizational and private in the neighborhood. All offer summer fun and discipline in many fields.

Camp Jorn operated by the Waukegan Y.M.C.A., is located on the east shore of Rest Lake, and was once the summer home of Charles Nash, founder of what today is American Motors. It is host to many children each summer, and their activities are well supervised. One of the features, later in the summer, is "family week", when families connected with the organization come for a vacation stay, enjoying all of the facilities of a modern camp. Visitors are always welcome.

Camp Manitowish at Boulder Junction is one of the largest, operated by Mid Central States Y.M.C.A. organization, but owned by the State Y. Weekends are excellent times for visiting, as there are apt to be more guides available to show you the fine facilities on Big Boulder Lake.

If you have sons or daughters of Camper Age, (almost any age to 18 or 19) why not plan on a real vacation—let the camps take over the children while you have a restful vacation, near by, in Manitowish Waters.

RED FEATHER LODGE

American Plan and Modern Housekeeping Cottages Conventions Welcomed

To really appreciate the wonderful work of mother nature one has to see the great job that she has finished at the Red Feather Lodge. Our beautiful beach was not just a hurry-up-job, it required many years of hard labor to complete, all sand bottom without any sudden drop-offs.

It took many moons to form a large body of water that formed the Manitowish Waters Chain. Rest Lake is just one of the fourteen lakes that formed the chain. She also stocked these lakes with the tiger musky, walleye and many pan fish.

To help mother nature complete these surroundings, we have added very modern cottages so that everyone can relax and enjoy her many years of toil.

To really enjoy and appreciate her work, one has to see it. We hope you will join the happy tribe at the Red Feather Lodge. We also have to add our delicious food which is tastefully prepared in our dining room.

Manitowish Waters Game Fish

Take a boy out fishing and he'll be a better man!

MUSKELLUNGE

DESCRIPTION

The general form of the muskellunge is similar to that of the common pickerel or northern pike. They reach a length of six or seven feet and specimens have been caught which weigh fifty to sixty pounds. Color is dark gray; sides having broken and unbroken stripes on a silvery background; the head is larger than that of the pickerel and both the cheek and the opercle are scaled above but unscaled on the lower halves.

GREAT NORTHERN PIKE

DESCRIPTION

This is an elongate slender type of fish with a color of greenish and bluish gray with more or less purplish luster on the back and sides. Yellowish below and white on belly. Sides with irregular rows of small round yellowish and gold spots. The top of the head is dark olive green; mouth slender and large. One of the most consistent marks for identification of this species is that the entire cheek is scaled while only the upper half of the opercle is scaled and the lower part is bare.

WALLEYE OR PIKE PERCH

DESCRIPTION

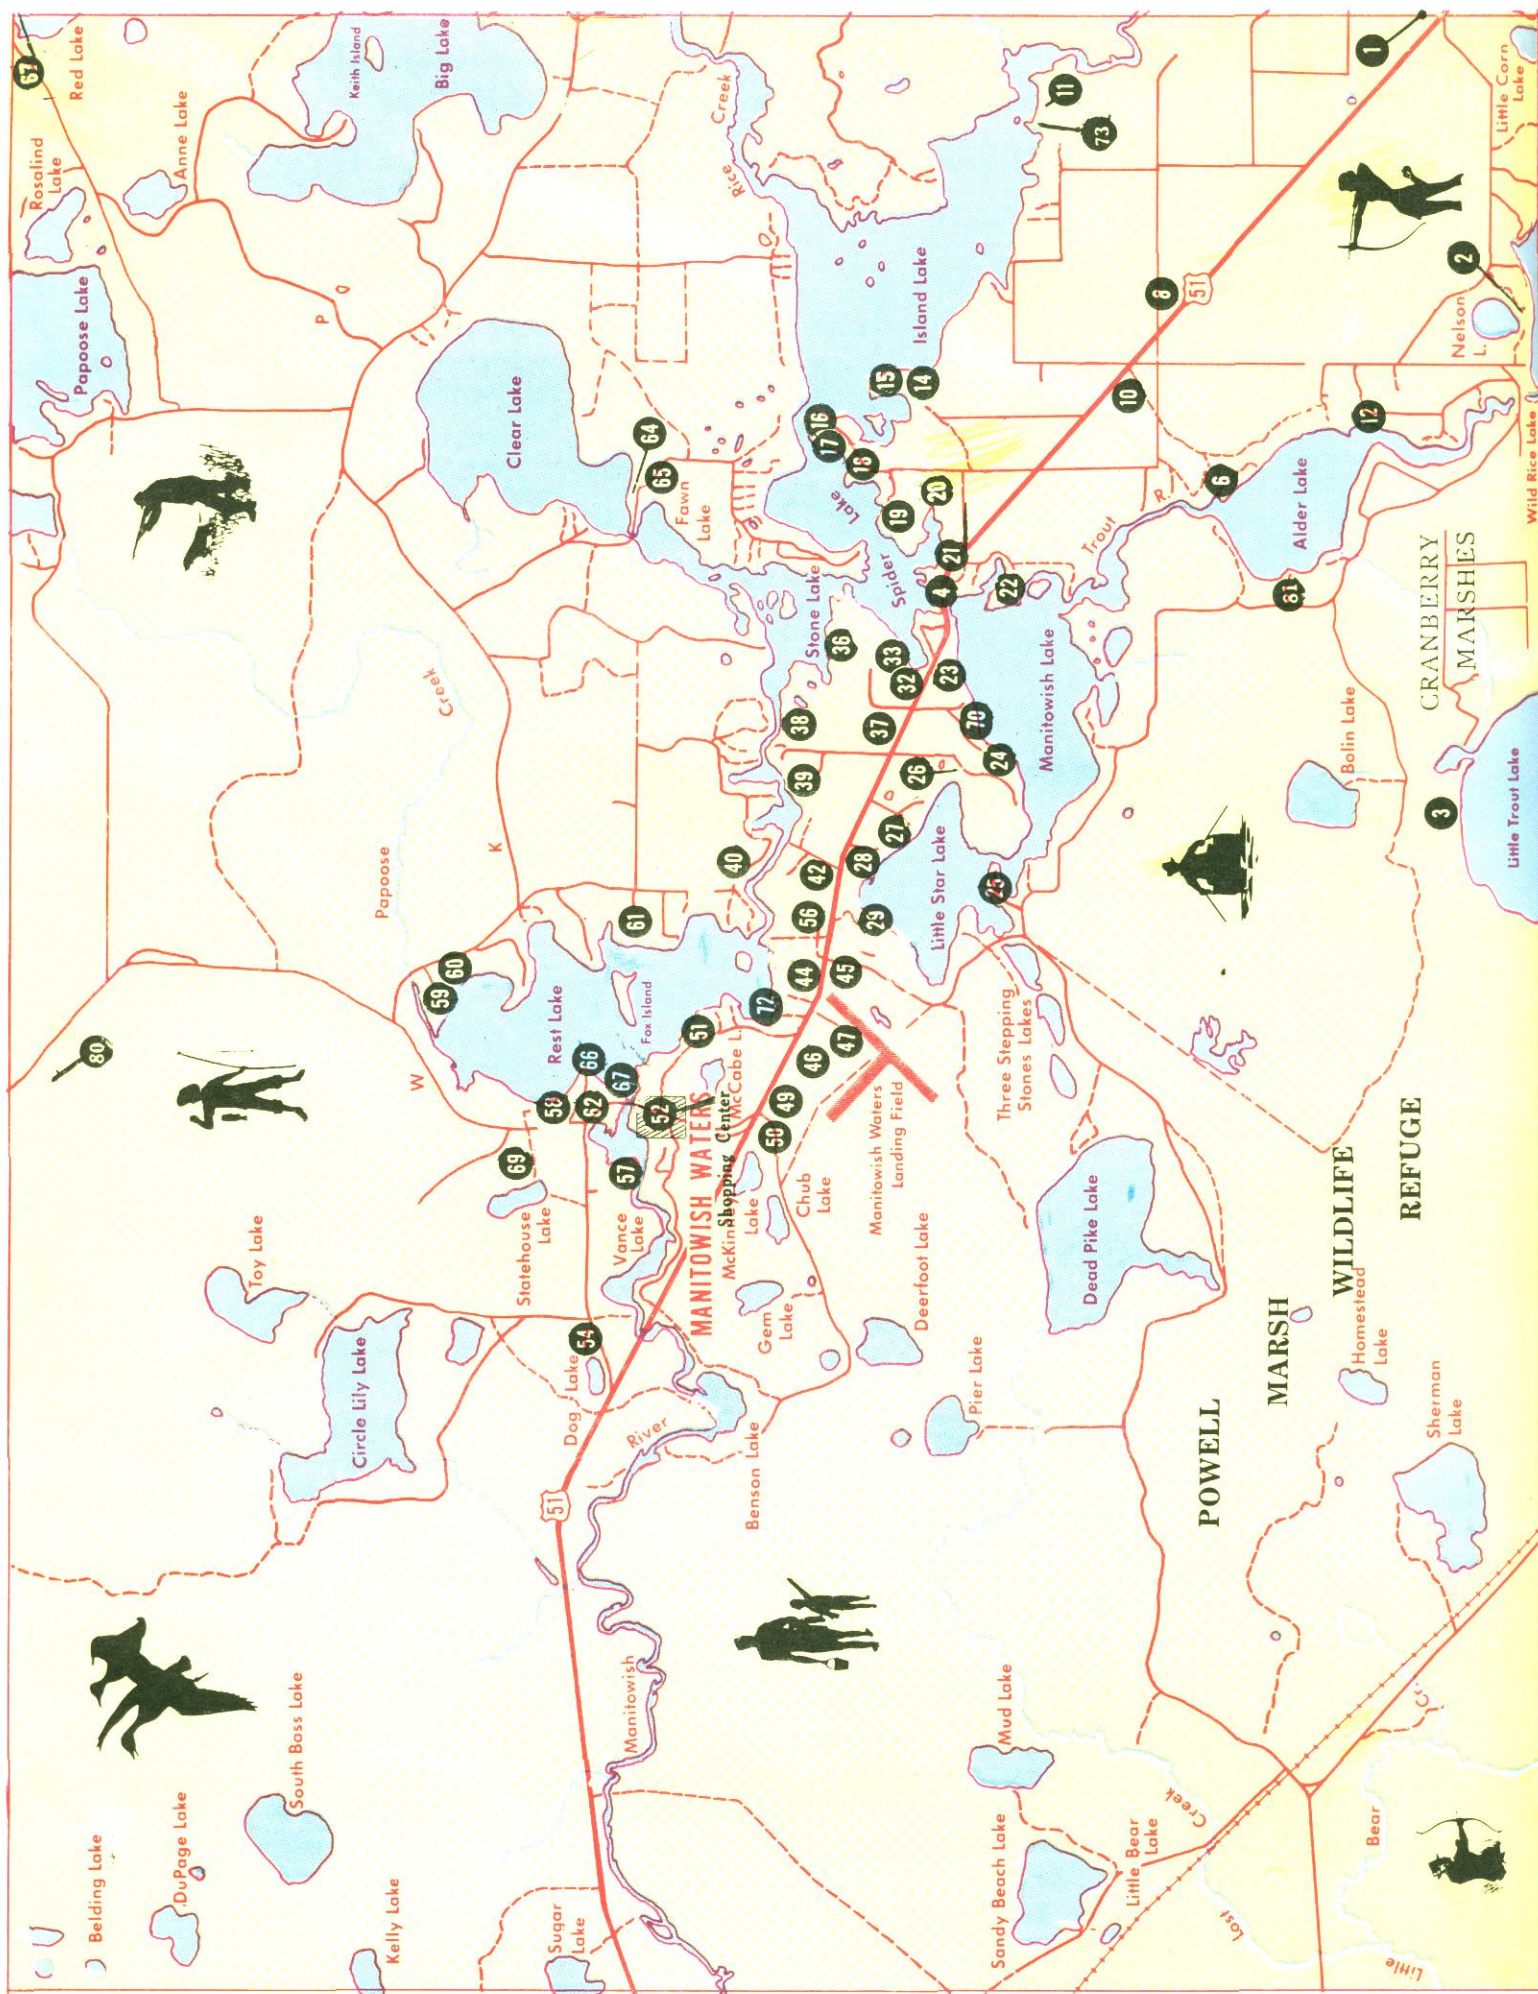

The walleye is a slender fish moderately compressed. Generally the color is brassy yellow and gold shading to olive and yellow mottled with brass. The belly and sides are white tinged with green; head is slender and tapered; lower jaw slightly shorter than the upper. It has two separate distinct dorsal fins and the mouth is well supplied with strong teeth. The flesh is white, firm, and delicately flavored.

SMALLMOUTH BLACK BASS

DESCRIPTION

The general color of the smallmouth black bass is dark golden green with a brownish luster which may be blotched with darker spots along the sides. The mouth is large but the corner of it does not extend past eye.

Outside of these two exceptions the two crappies are almost identical in appearance. They reach a maximum length of twelve inches and weigh slightly more than one pound.

The residents of the town of Manitowish waters have much interest in preserving natural woodlands, wildlife and our chain of lakes. In an effort to pursue our goal we formed the Manitowish Waters Sportsmens Club. The meetings are open to men and women alike who have an interest in conservation.

The members meet once a month during the winter at our Community Center to discuss the problem of keeping nature in balance and maintaining the beauty of our Northern Highland Forest. Guest speakers from the Department of Natural Resources and movies furnished by the department are part of our program.

Our purpose? Manitowish Waters Sportsmens Club and the Department of Natural Resources working together to help make the great outdoors more enjoyable for everyone.

Manitowish Waters, "Barefoot Water Skiing Capitol of the Midwest," in 1968 marks the 13th summer of organized water ski shows and activities on its lakes.

The Skiing Skeeters have as their predecessors the young members of the Manitowish Water Boat Club, a group established to foster water safety and interest in water sports. Skiers in the boat club presented ski shows on Manitowish and Rest Lakes and even at community celebrations elsewhere. The only boats and equipment used for the shows was owned by the skier-members or loaned by generous residents.

The present group is a 1961 revival that took the name, Manitowish Waters Skiing Skeeters. Summer residents and all-year inhabitants form a membership of over 50 individuals. Members are selected on the basis of interest and cooperation as well as skiing talent, and they move up the ladder from junior to senior or full membership status.

The club owns an elaborate dual-motored towboat and pick-up boat, extensive skiing, lighting and public address equipment, and maintains all its equipment at its own expense. Its only financial support comes from members' dues and voluntary contributions from the public. Its ski show bowl and headquarters are on Rest Lake near the dam.

The activities of the group lie in three spheres: entertainment, social and competitive.

Two evenings a week—Wednesdays and Sundays—the Skeeters and lovely Skeeterettes present free ski shows, each an eighty minute array of acts highlighted by jumping, barefoot skiing a pyramid and ever popular clown routines.

The club has been sponsoring weekly dances in the Community Center following the Wednesday shows. The dances are open to the public. Private activities include a corn roast, tournament weekend festivities and an annual banquet.

Annually in August they stage their barefoot competition, the Beier Barefoot Tournament, open only to club members.

The first statewide barefoot tournament held anywhere in the USA was sponsored by the Skeeters in 1964, and the club played host again in August, 1966 and 1967 to the 3rd and 4th Wisconsin State Barefoot Tournament, for which skiers from all over the state congregate at Rest Lake Ski Bowl.

The Skeeters' interest in barefoot skiing has given them, 3 of the five top barefooters in the state, the state champion barefoot team 4 years in succession and a reputation for keen competition in the most difficult of all forms of skiing. The nationwide publicity accorded to the club have established its claim that Manitowish Waters is the "Barefoot Capitol of the Midwest."

Plan to Visit Manitowish Waters During

Colorama Days

SEPTEMBER 15 — OCTOBER 15

Enjoy Beautiful Scenery
Cranberry Tours — Dance

EVERYONE WELCOME

Many people who know how beautiful our Manitowish Waters area is in the summer—with its high-land climate and its attendant freedom from most allergies—have never been up here during the fall season to see the brilliant colors which nature provides. It isn't always easy to predict the exact dates when coloring will be at its height, but usually from about September 20 until October 15 comes the period when the leaves pass through their fullest color. Maples, popple, birch, oak all contrast their vivid reds and golds against the dark green of the pines and firs to create a paradise for the color photographer.

Look out across our lakes and watch the opposite shoreline, morning, noon and especially at even-tide, when the setting sun hits the trees and brings out the full panorama of colors in our woods.

Fishing usually is good too, when the game fish are getting fattened up for winter and striking at lures and baits that they might ignore during the lush summer days. Sturgeon are in season in fall, and many fine specimens have been taken from our Manitowish River, below the Rest Lake dam. Each year the public celebrations planned for Colorama time are bigger and better, with many of our neighboring towns also participating. These include fish bakes, chicken barbecues, dances, color tours by road and lake, tours of cranberry marshes. All of these things are here to be enjoyed. Won't you make a reservation at your favorite resort for a week or weekend during the fall and give yourself a real treat?

TRUEFLIGHT MANUFACTURING CO.

Manitowish Waters Success Story

By — Michael J. Dunn, III

The name of Manitowish Waters is being borne all over the world, thanks to products of the Trueflight Manufacturing Co. In fact, across the seas the reputation of Manitowish Waters is exactly that of this unusual archery equipment manufacturer.

Trueflight was founded in 1946, and when it moved to our community in 1949, its owners decided to concentrate on processing the feathers used on arrows. They developed their own processes to split the shaft and cut the feather to size and dye it, and then themselves handcrafted the unique machinery to do the work. Manufacturing operations soon outgrew the original basement shop and spread to all other available space in town; packaging was done in their own homes by women employees. In 1957 the present large plant on highway 51 was built to consolidate the far-flung operations under one roof. So busy is Trueflight and its new subsidiary, Arrowmatic, Inc., that the new plant has always been operated on a two shift basis! Employment by the two firms is over 30, and additional local craftsmen derive income from work subcontracted to local woodworking and fiberglass molding shops.

The products of this firm are as interesting as its happy history. The firm was a pioneer not only in mechanically processing arrow feathers but has led the industry in marketing ready-to-apply feathers already die-cut to exact shape and size. It also markets bow accessories such as brush buttons to keep leaves out of the end of a stalker's bow as he travels in dense undergrowth. The company has shipped its wares to every continent on the globe. Europe is a major market for Trueflight merchandise; another important but surprising customer is Australia.

Following the name Trueflight across the nation and around the globe is the new name of Arrowmatic. This concern builds and installs archery lanes—indoor practice and competition archery ranges that feature shooting consoles, automatic foul-line equipment and unique push button automatic target returns which roll right up to the archer to allow easy retrieving of arrows.

Trueflight's far-shooting management is constantly at work developing new ideas into marketable products.

CRANBERRY INDUSTRY IN MANITOWISH WATERS

By — Michael J. Dunn, III

Manitowish Waters boasts one of the largest concentrations of cranberry marshes in the state of Wisconsin, and its production of between thirty and forty thousand barrels annually is a potent factor in making Wisconsin the second largest cranberry raising state in the nation.

The operations of seven growers cluster around or near Little Trout Lake, in the southeastern corner of the town of Manitowish Waters, occupying several hundred acres of lowland that until 1945 was unproductive and useless marshland. Cranberry raising came to Manitowish Waters two decades ago not by accident but only because this area, than not even penetrated by roads, fulfilled the unique demands made by the extremely fussy berry. These needs include suitable soil, flat terrain, nearby sources of sand, and perhaps most crucial, an adequate supply of slightly acid water, the only type water cranberries can tolerate.

The land did not automatically yield to cultivation, and when seven of the eight participating growers planted their first vines in mid-1946, the occasion marked the climax of a year of cooperation and hard work, and an earlier year of planning.

Early preparation, handicapped by lack of roads and utilities at the outset, included laying out an elaborate network of common ditches, roads and canals. Only by such pooling of efforts could the new operators afford the expense of opening up and draining a virgin cranberry area. Though the peaty soil made cranberry growing more promising, it meant months of work leveling beds, scalping off the top growth, and construction of sand dikes that would both contain water to flood the long narrow beds, and also serve as roads. Most of the growers have an area of about fifty acres under cultivation or development, but the team effort of 1945-46 prepared only the first ten acres for each grower; every operator has developed subsequent beds on his own. Long lean years still awaited the operators, since cranberries bear marketable yields of fruit only after 3 or 4 years.

Into the ground of a dry and newly prepared bed, cuttings mowed from vines in a successful bed are pressed; flooding then helps set the vines, and their rooting is further encouraged by thin layers of sand spread every few winters over the ice covering them. At the time of the spring thaw the sand gently sifts down, helping also to discourage the weeds. (Flooding beds every winter protects the vines.) If the vines grow too rambunctious, mowing the excess vegetation has the same effect that pruning has upon fruit trees: it forces the energy into fruitbearing.

Safe chemicals help the grower combat pests, diseases and weeds. Weather is his dread foe. Summer hail storms may arise with no warning, giving the grower no chance to protect his beds against a bombardment that might destroy an entire season's hard work. Blossoms and fruit are vulnerable too to frost, and warfare against the cold means a constantly drawn battle. The arsenal of the cranberry raiser includes three main weapons. One local man uses a wind machine to circulate the frosty layer of air. Others spray water over the beds; the falling water absorbs cold that might otherwise attack the fruit. Most growers flood the otherwise solid and dry beds at the first sign of a freeze. Giant pumps flood the beds and then can be reversed to drain the water. The beds must be drained by sunup lest reflected rays bounce up from the water and burn the fruit from beneath. Thus long successions of sleepless nights are no novelty to the hardy souls who grow the berries we enjoy.

Harvest occurs the last third of September and on into October. The beds are flooded to soften the otherwise harsh effect of machinery and hip-booted workers laboring among the vines. Ingenious many-toothed picking machines gently pluck the berries and discharge them either into boxes or little boats, which are then towed on trailers to each growers warehouse. There the berries are cleaned of chaff, dried and stored until milling. Milling mechanically removes bad berries and grades the suitable ones. Eagle-eyed inspectors check all the fruit visually before allowing it to be packed; by hand they remove any irregular berries that have sneaked by the grading machinery. Shipping time lasts beyond harvest, sometimes into November. Winter finds the growers busy flooding, sanding and repairing equipment.

The all season appeal which cranberries are developing can be seen from the many ways they are shipped. Much fruit is shipped in one pound bags or boxes—many housewives freeze these for later use. A much greater amount of fruit is shipped in huge bags to processing plants which make popular standbys like cranberry jelly or ingenious new creations like cranberry-orange relish. Other berries find their way to processors of prepared frozen dinners; still others appear on breakfast tables the year round in the increasingly popular cranberry juice drinks.
