IISTORY.

by Michael J. Dunn, III

Where Indians paddled blueberry-laden canoes or camped to barter with fur traders only three generations ago, sun tanned teenagers now skim gracefully over the water on skis or their elders relax in comfort to forget the press of business. That in a nutshell is the story of Manitowish Waters.

The red man appeared back beyond the reach of recorded history, and when he faded from the local scene his doing so was so gradual that he left no exact date to mark his passing. The first white folk to settle here watched him paddle across Island Lake in summer, his canoe low in the water with the weight of the wild berries it bore. Families still gave him wide leeway; some Indians were still a threat, especially to children of the intruding palefaces. The Indians had an age-old gathering place on the eastern shore of Manitowish Lake. Here they met to trade, to distribute funds from Federal paymasters, to bury their dead. From here too, to propitiate their gods, they floated sacrificial offerings which always drifted to the tiny island that they came to regard as sacred.

Came then the white man, perhaps to trade for furs, to cruise the woods for timber, to settle on a homestead. The story of early Manitowish Waters rings with the names of colorful settlers and personalities. Abe LaFave, who settled in 1888 and became the predecessor of the resort trade that is now the lifeblood of our community; long gone is the island lodge he built on Island Lake as the first tourist accommodation in the area, but on the shores of that same lake his family today continues the tradition of resort keeping he originated. Dan Devine, who raised a family on Clear Lake, whence he paddled each summer on a month-long canoe journey to Madeline Island in Lake Superior to sell his furs. Peter Vance, a timber cruiser who came here in the 1880's and lies now in our cemetery, his grave marked by a stone recording his hundred years and his pioneer status. Stephan Stewart, once a Yankee soldier in the Civil War, who was sure he was the only white man for miles around as he surveyed for a timber company dam, only to run into Abe LeFave in these deepest northwoods.

The railroad penetrated the county in 1888. In its wake came the great logging days, a swash-buckling era during which you might have seen stuck into the ground in front of a tayern the pikepoles or canthooks of a hundred or more lumberjacks drinking inside. The Chippewa Lumber and Boom Co. opened the logging age here. In 1892 CL&B forces built the Rest Lake dam with heavy timbers, three spillways and huge iron bullwheels to control the gates; the same year its men also built a steamboat with a backbone of tamarack and cedar ship knees hewn on the Island Lake shore. For the life of the CL&B activities here, the most exciting event of the year was the log drive. For several weeks early each summer pine logs were sent through the spillways in great bunches and washed downstream with huge gulps of penned up lake water. The river then might be a solid mass of logs for many miles. Skilled drivers prodded them along. Leading and trailing the drives were wanigans or cook boats, built below the dam for each year's drive. It took almost all summer and the efforts of up to two hundred men to push the drive all the way to its Chippewa Falls area destination. The rest of the year lumberjacks who lived in long, low, log camp buildings below the dam labored to replenish the log supply held behind the dam in preparation for the next season's drive. They took only the finest of pine, so light that it could float indefinitely and was called cork pine; in the winters teams and sleds pulled the newly felled timber to the icebound shores; in summer giant wheels were used. On the waters of the lakes, raised up to sixteen feet above their original level by the new dam, and thus spreading over a much wider area, the steamboat worked almost round the clock to shepherd huge rafts of logs to the dam. The boom, however, could not go on forever, and by the early 1900's and certainly by 1906, the crude little paddle wheel steamer, its whistle stilled, lay pulled up on the shore where modern day water skiers stage their shows. A few families clustered around the dam, which deteriorated and even was left open for a while; the landing where boats met travelers was located on the present  $\lg$  property. The horses, ponies and wagons were kept there and a man named James McKinney kept a tavern there before 1910.

* The logging era revived when railroads drew closer to the lakes and could haul out hardwood logs too heavy to float downriver in drives. The Milwaukee Road built in to Boulder Junction in 1903 and on to its Papoose Junction Point by 1906. One leg of the wye at the junction point ran up to Buswell, a Papoose Lake mill village; another leg ran roughly along the present bed of county highway K to reach Riley's Hoist on the shore of Rest Lake just north of the present YMCA Camp. The daily local train of the Milwaukee was not only an important carrier of outbound logs consigned to sawmills further south. The mixed freight and passenger train was the carrier too of inbound supplies for the owners of summer homes on the lakes. At Big Lake Creek near Island Lake these supplies were transferred to barges for lake delivery. From Chicago & Northwestern near Powell a spur cut across Powell Marsh to reach a loading hoist between Star and the Grass lakes (now Stepping Stones). Yawkey-Bissell, Stange Lumber Co. and Brooks & Ross are just a few of the names of lumber or logging firms that cut in what is now Manitowish Waters. Hardwood logs were partially dried to ensure their staying afloat until another little lake boat, like the gasoline powered Skiddoo, could raft them to the two landings for loading on railroad cars. From the Star Lake spur track there also radiated little railroad spurs over which lightweight but standard gauge "Peggy" locomotives (geared locomotives, most likely of the shay or screwdriver variety) pulled in loads of logs from the woods; some of these temporary lines ran as far as Alder and Benson lakes. Big logging activity ceased between 1911 (when the last Yawkey-Bissell activity ceased; that firm's last local camp was near Mud Lake, now Fawn) and 1914, (when the last logs had been shipped from the hoist at Star Lake). In 1919 the Milwaukee Road removed its track along the north side of the chain; the spur to the C&NW was quietly taken up around the same time. The lone sawmills to operate after that era in the area were operated by Bob Loveless, who cut timber in the few pockets of virgin forest during the 1920's, and Marvin Loveless, who ran a small mill into the 1940's or 1950's.

The resort business developed alongside the homesteading that brought the early settlers to this area. First to offer hospitality to sportsmen and other visitors in a lodge was Abe La Fave. In 1892 George Buck settled some land at the narrows between Spider and Manitowish lakes, probably by homesteading it. He too developed a resort business, which stayed in the Buck family until it was sold in 1916 to the Koerners, who began operations under their name the next year. What is now Deer Park Lodge was begun in the 1890's by one J.A. LaMotte of Wausau; its succeeding owners including Jay A. "Dad" Paine, Max Engemann and Charlie Doriot. After spending several summers camping here, Henry Voss built his first cottage here in 1909 and opened an American plan resort in 1911 that is still operated by his family. Supplies were hard to get in those days and Henry Voss' establishment kept farm animals, including cows. For years he arose at four or five in the morning to deliver his milk to local residents and summer home occupants. His pantry had to stock not only supplies sufficient for the resort kitchen but also for sale to housekeeping cottage tenants and neighboring summerfolk.

Until motor travel was common, resort launches met guests borne by stage to the dam from trains at Manitowish or to Star Lake landing by Sherman's buckboard from the station at Powell. Road travel was eased considerable when a bridge was built across the narrows at Buck's, in 1912 and 1913; it replaced a makeshift ferry. Early vacationists were hardy souls, mainly sportsmen. They usually spent several weeks on their vacations in the early resorts, for most of them were people of means.

On the whole, farming has been neither very successful nor very popular in the Manitowish Waters area, with the possible exception of a little dairying. A few would-be farmers were lured up here by big city exploiters and land promoters, were soon disenchanted by the meagre results that attended their exertions, and abandoned their efforts.

In 1923 a new dam at Rest Lake was built; it now maintains a water level eight and a half feet above the original waters before 1892. In winter water levels are dropped by three and a half feet.

By 1927 area residents were chafing at what they felt was neglect by the town of Flambeau, to which our present day Manitowish Waters then belonged, and they succeeded in having the state legislature pass a bill creating the new Town of Spider Lake. The new town built a town hall during the next biennium and a modern school soon after. That school was outgrown and was enlarged twice before it was replaced in 1971 by a new, complete plant on highway K that is a consolidation of the grade schools for several north Lakeland communities. The town board also authorized a community cemetery in 1935, and the first burials date from 1936.

The Thirties brought the town new distinctions. One was the distinction of having its own fish hatchery, said to be the only municipal fish hatchery in the state. It was built in 1932 and enlarged in 1936 to provide tiny walleye pike and musky fry and fingerlings for planting in the chain of lakes. Peak walleye production was apparently 1942's 14,000,000 tiny fish, while the muskies of 1939 numbered a high 2,700,000 -- records are incomplete but that must have been the peak musky year. The last records cover operation in 1942; the fate of the hatchery is foreshadowed in minutes of a 1944 town board meeting, which state that the board then authorized removal of the electric meter from the hatchery. Its career a wartime victim, the hatchery remained closed and was finally razed two decades later. Few traces remain at the old site, just below the Rest Lake dam.

It was also in the early 1930s, 1934, to be exact, that desperado John Dillinger brought the area instant notoriety. Detected hiding out at Little Bohemia, he fled lawmen in a shootout that cost two lives.

Manitowish Waters was a more appropriate name for the chain of lakes area, and in 1938 the name of the town was changed from Spider Lake to Manitowish Waters. The Post Office Department gave the name added recognition when it established the new Manitowish Waters post office in 1949. (It served much of the area previously served by the post office at Manitowish station, nine miles distant, and in subsequent years both the railroad station and post office named Manitowish disappeared from the scene).

Airport Firehouse

The past quarter century has been an era of tremendous growth and refinements in Manitowish Waters. Between the late 1940s and the early 1970s the tax list rose from 300 bill-receiving taxpayers to 800 propertyholders. Chamber of Commerce efforts towards developing an airport -- which date back to 1943 -- began to bear fruit in 1945 when the airport was cleared and graded. It was soon enlarged to a two-runway facility and received lighting in 1964. Fire protection, a service authorized on a very small scale by the town authorities as far back as 1931, received a great boost with development of the modern fully equipped fire department and ambulance operation two decades later.

The Community Church and Catholic parish were organized after World War II. In an interesting display of religious cooperation both groups worshipped in the same facilities in the old town hall for a number of years, the Catholics very early on Sunday mornings and the Protestants in the later forenoon. Ground was broken for the new Community Church edifice in 1954. The Catholic Church was built in 1958 and named Our Lady, Queen of Peace to honor dead warriors of Wisconsin's 32nd Division as a memorial to whom a portion of the construction funds were donated.

A new community center building was erected on the airport grounds in 1961. It provides permanent town offices and a gathering place for local functions ranging from town meetings and elections to wedding receptions and an annual summertime art fair that draws artists from all over northern Wisconsin.

Retail trade has prospered. Merchants in "downtown" Manitowish Waters enlarged their establishments and a variety of new boutiques and retail businesses opened. New stores appeared as well at the south entry into the township. The year 1972 saw several of the downtown businesses in new quarters, clustered around LaPortes' super market. This complex was built in 1971-72 to replace a predecessor shopping center destroyed in a summer, 1971 fire.

Industry and large scale commerce appeared in 1945 with the arrival of cranberry developers and in 1949 with the advent of Trueflight Manufacturing Co., an archery equipment firm. Both activities have found Manitowish Waters a happy environment and have flourished here.

Few areas have seen more change in the years that settlers and tourists have known it, but the one bond that unites everyone from the first settlers to the most modern vacationists is the ability to say, about Manitowish Waters, "We like it here."

You will too.

Colorama Days In Manitowish Waters

4th SATURDAY IN SEPTEMBER

Cranberry Tours - Muskie Dinner

Many people who know how beautiful Manitowish Waters area is in the summer with its highland climate and its attendant freedom from most allergies - have never been up here during the fall season to see the brilliant colors which nature provides. It isn't always easy to predict the exact dates when coloring will be at its height, but usually from about September 20 until October 15, comes the period when the leaves pass through their fullest color. Maples, popple, birch, oak all contrast their vivid reds and golds against the dark green of the pines and firs to create a paradise for the color Fishing usually is good too, when the game fish are getting fattened up for winter and striking at lures and baits that they might ignore during the lush summer days.

Each year the public celebrations planned for Colorama time are bigger and better, with many of our neighboring towns also participating. These include fish bakes, chicken barbecues, dances, color tours by road and lake, tours of cranberry marshes. All of these things are here to be enjoyed. Make a reservation at your favorite resort for a week or weekend during the fall.

Manitowish Waters winner of the 1983 World Championship Musky Classic -

Wayne Kwiatkowski, Manitowish Waters accepting traveling Classic Trophy from Jim Ashley, Boulder Junction.

Ken Writz of Athens, WI, took the Musky Classic Record with his 30 lb., 10 oz. - 47 inch long musky on Manitowish Lake.

Manitowish Waters Sno-Skeeters

The Manitowish Waters Sno-Skeeters Snowmobile Club was first started in 1968 by a group of local people interested in snowmobile safety and progress in Northern Wisconsin. Since they started memberships have tripled with more and more people gaining interest in this active sport.

The Club maintains some of the most picturesque trails in Northern Wisconsin. These trails are a part of Northern Wisconsin trail system which will also connect you to trails leading into Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Our trails are groomed by the Manitowish Waters Sno-Skeeters. Most of our trail system is financed by the Club. The funds for these trails are raised through the Lumberjack breakfasts, the 4th of July brat stand, & trail funding containers located in numerous local establishments & numerous other activities.

MANITOWISH WATERS AREA

THE MANITOWISH WATERS SKIING SKEETERS

Manitowish Waters, "Barefoot Water Skiing Capitol of the Midwest," offers organized weekly water ski shows and activities on its lakes.

The Skiing Skeeters have as their predecessors the young members of the Manitowish Waters Boat Club, a group established to foster water safety and interest in water sports.

The present group is a 1961 revival that took the name, Manitowish Waters Skiing Skeeters. Summer residents and all-year inhabitants form a membership of over 50 individuals. Members are selected on the basis of interest and cooperation as well as skiing talent, and they move up the ladder from a junior to senior or full membership status.

The Skiing Skeeters take pride in their new 19 foot Master-craft competition water ski boat with a 351 cubic inch powerslot engine used for top of the line performance and competition skiing. The club also owns a 16 foot checkmate pickup boat powered by a 115 h.p. Johnson outboard motor, extensive skiing, lighting and public address equipment, and maintains all its equipment at its own expense. Its only financial support comes from members' dues and voluntary contributions from the public. The Skeeters new location is two miles off of Hwy. 51 on County trunk W on Rest Lake.

Two evenings a week - during July and August at 7 p.m. - Wednesdays and Sundays - the Skeeters and lovely Skeeterettes present free ski shows, each an eighty minute array of acts highlighted by jumping, barefoot skiing, a pyramid and ever popular clown routines at their new Rest Lake Ski Bowl.

Annually in August they stage their barefoot competition, the Beier Barefoot Tournament, open only to club members.

The Skeeters' interest in barefoot skiing has given the three of five top barefooters in the state, the state champion barefoot team four years in succession and a reputation for keen competition in the most difficult of all forms of skiing. The nationwide publicity accorded to the club have established its claim that Manitowish Waters is the "Barefoot Capitol of the Midwest."

Take a boy fishing and he'll be a better man!

MUSKELLUNGE DESCRIPTION

The general form of the muskellunge is similar to that of the common pickerel or northern pike. They reach a length of six or seven feef and specimens have been caught which weigh fifty to sixty pounds. Color is dark gray; sides having broken and unbroken stripes on a silvery background; the head is larger than that of the pickerel and both the cheek and the opercle are scaled above but unscaled on the lower halves.

GREAT NORTHERN PIKE

DESCRIPTION

This is an elongate slender type of fish with a color of greenish and bluish gray with more or less purplish luster on the back and sides. Yellowish below and white on belly. Sides with irregular rows of small round yellowish and gold spots. The top of the head is dark olive green; mouth slender and large. One of the most consistent marks for identification of this species is that the entire cheek is scaled while only the upper half of the opercle is scaled and the lower part is bare.

WALLEYE OR PIKE PERCH

DESCRIPTION

The walleye is a slender fish moderately compressed. Generally the color is brassy yellow and gold shading to olive and yellow mottled with brass. The belly and sides are white tinged with green; head is slender and tapered; lower jaw slightly shorter than the upper. It has two separate distinct dorsal fins and the mouth is well supplied with strong teeth. The flesh is white, firm, and delicately flavored.

SMALLMOUTH BLACK BASS

DESCRIPTION

The general color of the smallmouth black bass is dark golden green with a brownish luster which may be blotched with darker spots along the sides. The mouth is large but the corner of it does not extend past eye.

KNOW YOUR FISH!

CRAPPIES

DESCRIPTION

There are two species of crappies in Wisconsin known as the common or white crappie and the back crappie or calico bass. The chief difference between the black and white is that the white has six spines in the dorsal fin and a plain anal fin while the black has seven spines in the dorsal and a strongly reticulated anal fin. Outside of these two exceptions the two crappies are almost identical in appearance. They reach a maximum length of twelve inches and weigh slightly more than one pound.

BLUEGILL

DESCRIPTION

Length sometimes reaches ten to twelve inches but they are a comparatively short and compressed fish. The nose is upturned in appearance; the color light to dark olive with luster of purple to lavender; belly yellow or rich yellowish brown. Head short; mouth small and oblique; the operacular flap is very broad and of a rich velvety black color; side with three or four broad dark greenish bars; fins are all greenish.

Be a good sport.

Obey the fish and game laws and have more fun.

MANITOWISH WATERS AREA

Manitowish Waters "Swanee River"

The deep south no longer has the exclusive rights to use of the song "Swanee River." Residents of Manitowish Waters in northern Wisconsin can now sing of their own river, using the same title.

Nineteen English royal mute swans, the "royalty in feathers" spend from December to March below the dam on the Manitowish River.

The swans have wintered here for four years now. There were only six of these beautiful birds the first year. The open water below the dam which controls the water level of the fifteen lakes in the chain, provides an ample supply of eel grass, a staple food for the swans.

Imported from England, where they are highly protected, the swans began a westward movement from New England about 100 years ago and now are seen in several midwestern states.

The birds can be observed from the bridge or right from shore where they will greet you as long lost friends if you happen to have a handful of crumbled bread.

OUR SWANS

We natives wait their annual trek In brilliant white with outstretched neck They sweep in low out of the north A December day our swans come forth.

In bitter cold is when they come They seek not the tropic sun Why come here we do not know To find this place in ice and snow.

One wonders how they navigate How they find this far off lake Nature has not revealed this plan To the creatures yet, but not to man.

Could it be they use the stars Saturn, Venus, the Moon and Mars Some how they're homed on Vance's pond So sleek such grace these vagabonds.

What weight these hollow bones must lift To get airborne they skip and twist I'd say you witnessed quite a sight If you saw these birds take flight.

Of royal blood we make no claim I doubt it pulses in our veins But royalty we have as guests We give them all our very best.

Oh yes, we do make quite a fuss It could be why they come to us No doubt they know these lakes are clean They chose this place to primp and preem.

Down stream from the falls they lie Join with us and feast your eye Buena Vista if I may say For all of you who pass this way.

What down they have to keep them warm The winter's blast can do no harm At minus thirty-five degrees They don't even seem to freeze.

Imagine Audubon's delight When he first saw the swans in flight I fret that Monegar is gone Who else but he to paint the swan.

Come March it's now time to mate The air has warmed, the winter is late The cob will know the time, the day On a south wind they will fly away.

No other sound captures the essence of the North better than the loon.

Residents of the north country are becoming concerned that the loon population is diminishing and have volunteered to study and collect data to give to Wisconsin Project Loon Watch researches.

MANITOWISH WATERS AREA

Powell Marsh Wildlife Area

The gross project area is 13,000 acres in size. Approximately 7,500 acres are under long term lease from the Lac du Flambeau Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indians and another 5,000 acres are owned by the Department of Natural Resources.

The Powell Marsh, a broad, shallow, open bog enclosed by sandy deposits, is of glacial origin. The general character of the area has remained unchanged through the years because of poor drainage and repeated fires, the effect of these periodic blazes was dramatic as large flocks of migrating geese descended upon the freshly burned area to graze upon the tender grown shoots which spring up through the blackened moor.

In 1957 the area was established as a game management project with the management objectives aimed at manipulating this northern bog to achieve results similar to wildfires, but on a controlled basis.

To permit draining, flooding, controlled burning and a limited amount of farming on over 6,000 acres of the marsh, some 15 miles of ditches and dikes have been constructed to date. It is anticipated that as funds become available, approximately 2,000 additional acres will be developed.

Powell Marsh is not only used by geese but is frequented by most native species of wildlife and maintains one of the last flocks of sharptailed grouse in northeastern Wisconsin.

Although the Powell Marsh Wildlife Area has been developed with the hunter in mind, the observation of migrating waterfowl during both the spring and fall is of great interest to many of our visitors.
