Let's Watch Our Conduct

When young people have entered college it is time for them to lay away childish things and develop some poise and dignity. Recently we have laid aside our good manners and have become rathcer noisy and boisterous at the wrong times. The greatest complaints are about chapel behavior. In every issue of the Collegian you will find a list of the chapel programs for the next two weeks; look at them and if you know beforehand that you are going to be bored, then don't come to chapel, but if you come it is your duty as a member of that audience, to be quiet and courteous.

When we have guest pianists, don't clap until they have taken their hands from the keyboards and have laid them in their laps or beside them. Artists become quite irritated with such rudeness; and we should watch ourselves.

Guest speakers find it quite annoying to have their audience chatting merrily on when he would like to have your attention.

So, just remember when dealing with other people, when you are a member of an audience always be polite and courteous, kind and considerate.

Sorry we had to break the list, but with so many of our sons in Uncle Sam's uniforms it's quite evident why it was necessary.

Several familiar faces appeared at A. C. recently to remind us of of days gone by. Cpl. Wayne Ritter, who is now stationed at Camp Swift, Texas, came to chapel with a friend, Chuck Bartley, well-known by Ashlanders. Wayne seemed to revert to his younger ideas by dating our blonde senior Wheezer, who used to do the honors quite regularly.

One of our younger sons, A/C Loris Miller, a freshman last year, also came back to visit a couple days before Thanksgiving. Loris is stationed at Big Spring, Texas. He says, "It certainly looks better around here than it did last year." Wonder if he meant the increased student body or the increased freshmen girls.

A letter from Lt. Robert Barnhill, O-777985, Box 499, Luke Field, Phoenix, Arizona, sends a plea to "anyone who slightly remembers him." He asks that they drop him a line, because he's "fairly starved for news." Bob recently graduated, and at the present time he's teaching Chinese cadets, who, he says, "are a little slow to react, and in formation flying your hair turns grey, that is if you haven't pulled it all out."

Lt. (jg) J. Garber Drushal writes a little about some of his experiences. "For fifteen months I was in the Caribbean at a naval air station with various and sundry duties. I have now been assigned to the recognition office of the Naval Air Operational Training Command which has headquarters here." (Jacksonville, Fla.)

From the Alexandria Army Air Field in Louisiana comes word that Lt. James E. Miller has been assigned as an instructor at this Flying Fortress combat crew training center. He has seen 12½ months service in Europe. He was awarded the Air Medal with 9 clusters.

Bob Kurtz, now a Midshipman at Cornell University, sent a card that all Navy men should see. Sorry I can't publish it. Anyway, on the reverse side he expresses the hope that the war will end soon so he can return to A. C. again.

Just two addresses that were handed to me and then I must stop or this column will monopolize this issue too. Sgt. Robert W. Wolfgang, 15400744, 484 B. G. 826 B. S., A. P. O. No. 520, o/o P. M., New York. Lt. Robert E. Shively, U. S. M. C., TAG No 16, NPO 3245, o/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, California.

Till next time, I remain
Your Daughter of the Pines,
Barbara Hulit.

MY DAY

—Louise

Has anybody here seen Louis? He got so lost in the crowd at the Mexican Fiesta that I still haven't been able to locate him. Caramba! (she said as she twirled her mustachios.) Oh, well, he'll turn up. Now it's time to get back to you chilluns.

On hand for the lecture, and taking in "the long and a slow one" were a number of experts, namely the Joe Brubakers, the Keith Baileys, the Ab Perrys, and the William Solomons, our campus brides and grooms. Perhaps the new couple of Frannie (Neterer) and Dannie (Baker) were there, too, to get a few pointers.

The same night, but elsewhere were Grace Stull escorted by Tommie Shannon, and Marvel (Cook) squired by Bob Hess. Apparently Gracie applied to fill Tommie's ad for skating was in order the next evening.

These freshmen get around so fast that my head simply spins. Now it's li'l Lillian who can't make up her mind. First it's Ivan and therein a certain taxi driver, Bob Shartle, no less. Looks like you'll have to get a motor skooter built for two before you'll hit the top again, Ronk.

Early one Saturday morning, I caught two guilty pairs sneaking off to Cleveland on an all-day jaunt. Closer inspection revealed that it was Bob-Skip twosome, plus Nelson and Jean. No need to ask if they had a good time.

When the one and only Loris Miller the Great appeared on campus, I expected complications galore. However, he was only here one day, and Ella rated his attentions for the evening. And guess what—she wasn't even campused. However, this time she was smart. She took along the house council prexy, Jan, escorted by the campus's greatest playboy, Tommie.

The high school play stirred up more romances than those on stage. For instance, Wayne Ritter breezed home and swept Wheezer off her feet for the occasion. And many were the frustrated couples who tried to get tickets and could not, notable among them being Edie Conwell and Bill Gorham. In a sadder state was poor Annie Miller, who had the ticket but who had no Mann to take her, since a cold germ knocked Jim out of the picture for the evening.

On Thanksgiving, I don't go much for turkey, since it seems a bit on the cannibalistic side, but I enjoyed watching the way you students vamosed for home and added pounds. By the way, if any of you feel in need of a chaperon, Trudy, alias Muscles will be glad to offer her services. For references, see Sam, alias Junior. Seems Sam had a bad time of it when he and Beth rode to Mansfield accompanied by big sister.

I also learned that Anne Gilbert could hardly bear to be separated from her "Shining Auer." Boy, ain't love grand? And I ought to know.

Seems like there ought to be more to say, but I can't think of another thing, so I'll put away my pen, and get out a blanket to wrap around my feet. Believe me, this is snow time to go barefooted. Louise would like to see (and hear:)

1. Another Chapel Choir musical of all the old familiar tunes, with Johnny Handley doing a Frank Sinatra act.
2. A grand and gala reopening of the "Eagles' Nest."
3. An all-school skate.
4. A Christmas Carolling party.
5. A continuation of the school spirit and enthusiasm displayed at the Mexican Fiesta.

Xmas Cheer

sent to those out of the country. Since the Y. W. has no funds from which to draw, we have asked that each group divide the cost of the box among themselves. Very lovely boxes can be packed by using more ingenuity and less money, and the boys will really appreciate the personal touch. Cookies, I hear, are always more than acceptable!

If your group has not yet packed its box, you better get busy—time's a-wastin'. And we want them to reach our A. C. boys by Christmastime!

Beneath the Gavel

Betty Hood

Beneath the Gavel ebtaG(.OF,

"Will the meeting please come to order!" With these familiar words, five organizations met for their regularly scheduled meetings during the past two weeks.

The Girls Gospel Team united with the Y. M. C. A.-Men's Gospel, Tuesday, November 21 to hear a most inspirational talk by Rev. Swoyer, pastor of the Mansfield Lutheran Church.

Tuesday, November 28 Y. W. C. A. met to hear the second of two addresses by Rev. Klingensmith. Relating numerous examples of South American hospitality, he pointed out the characteristics and graciousness of her people. He also displayed examples of Argentine needlework, beadwork from Porto Rico, and souvenirs from Bolivia, Virgin Islands and various other lands south of the border. Mr. Klingensmith's remarks have created a better understanding, and more tolerable attitude toward these peoples.

Mr. Miley gave Footlighters some pointers on stage action and stage business at their November 28 meeting. Tom Quong's team was reminded to "pay up" as they were losers in the ticket selling contest for "Papa Is All," and Trudy Boardman was named eligible for a steak dinner, by virtue of selling the most tickets on Quong's team.

Musicaglia met Wednesday, November 29 with the following people appearing on the program: Piano numbers were presented by Lois Clawson, Eleanor Lyon, Norma Jean Moree, Barbara Shilliday and Marilyn Plank; while vocal selections were given by Marvel Cook, Beth Boardman, Glorene Hale, Wilma Johnson, Sam Richmond, Eileen Richey, Beatrice Stuckey and Jane Weltmer.

With Christmas vacation only two weeks away, the following scheduled meetings will take place before December 15.

Tuesday, December 5
7:00—Annotators will present a round table discussion on the Negro problem.
8:00—Y. M. C. A.-Gospel (Mens).
8:00—Girls Gospel offer a special Christmas program.

Wednesday, December 6
4:00—Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting.

Thursday, December 7
7:00—Student Council.
8:00—Game A. C. vs. Wittenberg.

Tuesday, December 12
7:00—F. T. A. (?)
8:00—Fine Arts (?)
8:00—Game—A. C. vs. Capitol.

Thursday, December 14
7:00—"Pine Whispers" Staff.
8:00—Game—A. C. vs. Camp Perry

"Y" Sponsors Glamor Party

Have you noticed the charming, alluring, enchanting beauties on campus today? There is a good reason for it too. It is the result of the Y. W. C. A. glamour party, held Thursday afternoon in 5L.

Mrs. Howard Maxheimer, local agent for the Peggy Newton cosmetic line, demonstrated her products, giving beauty tips to the girls. Mrs. Maxheimer attended the Warner College of Beauty Culture at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and prior to her marriage, managed a local beauty shop.

Following the demonstration, the girls were given an opportunity to purchase any of the cosmetics, with a large portion of the proceeds going to Y. W. C. A.
