A sampling of books held in the Dartmouth Libraries, those which were printed in Portsmouth, New Hampshire between 1756-1766

This sample check list of Portsmouth imprints (1756-1766) was produced from records in the Dartmouth College online library catalog. The search strategy isolated printing dates and the place of printing, and, through consolidation of searches, resulted in a complete listing of titles identified in their catalog records as having been printed in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

The document and paragraph labels (in bold) are remnants of the online catalog record (Dartmouth catalog uses a BRS system) which are left in the checklist to illustrate the organization of data fields in the catalog.

THE writer of the foregoing pages having taken considerable pains to ascertain a few historical facts, relative to the newspapers, which have been printed, in Newhampshire, submits the fruit of his researches to the public.

PORTSMOUTH.

The first printing office, in this state, was erected for the use of Daniel Fowle. It is still standing and is at present improved as a dwellinghouse. Mr. Fowle came to Portsmouth, in 1756, and published the first number of THE NEW-HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, on the 7th October. Samuel Hall, who is a printer and bookseller in Boston, was with Mr. Fowle and executed the first impressions in the state. From the 25th May, 1776, to the 31st May, 1777, the paper was carried on under the superintendance of Benjamin Dearborn. It was then called THE FREEMAN'S JOURNAL. This paper was at first conducted by Daniel Fowle, and then by Daniel and Robert Fowle. Daniel Fowle, however, was ever the proprietor of the paper to the day of his death, which happened, in 1787. For several years before this period, John Melcher carried it on for him. Upon his decease, Mr. Melcher became and has ever since continued the proprietor of the paper. This has ever been the state gazette. It is published every Tuesday. Motto. My country's good shall be my constant aim. No. 1 vol. 49, issued 30 December, 1800, and at that time the whole number was 2341. The above facts are mostly from the information of Mr. Melcher.

The United States' Oracle of the Day

Is published every Saturday morning by Charles Peirce printer of the laws of the United States, in Newhampshire. Motto. Of all the dispositions and habits, which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. Washington's Legacy. No. 11, vol. 11 27 December, 1800, and whole number 531. It was instituted, 4 June, 1793, and was published, twice a week, till 1 January, 1796.

The Republican Ledger

Was begun, in September, 1799, by George Jerry Osborne, who deceased last summer. It is now conducted by Nutting and Whitelock. It is published every Tuesday. Motto. When you shall these deeds relate, speak of them as they are. Nothing extenuate nor set down ought in malice. No. 19, vol. 2, 30 December, 1800, and whole number 71.

The Portsmouth Mercury and Weekly Advertiser

Was printed, in Portsmouth, by Thomas Furber and Ezekiel Russell in the years 1765, 6, and 7.

The Newhampshire Mercury

Was published about four or five years, between 1780 and 1790, by Robert Gerrish.

The Newhampshire Spy

Was published for five or six years and, most of the time, twice a week, by George Jerry Osborne, jun. and was discontinued early in 1793.

The Federal Observer

Was begun 22 November, 1798, and ended 12 June, 1800. It was first printed by William Treadwell and Samuel Hart, and finally by Treadwell alone.

EXETER.

The first who attempted to carry on a paper, at Exeter, was Robert Fowle. He was succeeded in the business by Zechariah Fowle. Melcher and Osborne began the Exeter Chronicle in June, and ended in December, 1784. Ranlet and Lamson began a paper in 1784 and continued it for several years. Stearns and Winslow printed the American Herald of Liberty, about two years. Ranlet printed the Exeter Federal Miscellany about two years. Lamson and Odiorne printed the Weekly Visitor. Ranlet again printed a paper. This is the best account the writer can give, and he is sensible of its imperfection.

CONCORD.

The Courier of Newhampshire

Is printed every Friday, at Concord, by George Hough, printer of the laws of the United States, except those which relate to commerce, for the district of Newhampshire. No. 48 vol. 11, 26 December 1800, whole number 563.

A few years since, a paper was printed at Concord for about two or three years, by Elijah Russel and Moses Davis.

The Concord Mirror

Was printed by Moses Davis. Our documents will not admit of being more exact.

DOVER.

The first paper in Dover, entitled the Political Repository and Strafford Recorder, was published by Elisha Lett Ladd. It was begun, 15 July, 1790, and ended, 19 January, 1792.

The Phoenix, under the same editor, was begun 23 January, 1792, and continued to 29 August, 1795. From March, 1794, to that time it was published by Samuel Bragg, jun.

The Sun Dover Gazette and County Advertiser
Is published, every Wednesday, by the last mentioned editor. It was begun, 5 September, 1795. Motto. Here truth unlicensed reigns. No. 17, vol. 6, 31 December, 800, and whole number 278.

GILMANTOWN.

The Gilmantown Gazette and Farmer's Weekly Magazine

Is published every Saturday by Leavitt and Clough. Motto. By knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches. Moreover the profit of the earth is for all. The king himself is served by the field. Bible. No. 18, vol. 1, 26 December 1800.

The Gilmantown Museum

The Amherst Journal and Newhampshire Advertiser

Was published, immediately before the Village Messenger, by Nathanael Coverly, and was begun 16 January, 1795.

KEENE.

The Newhampshire Sentinel,

Which was begun, in March, 1799, is published every Saturday, by John Prentiss. Motto. My country's good, a faithful watch I stand: Vol. 2, whole number 93. 27 December, 1800.

The Newhampshire Recorder

Was published from August 1789, for about two years and half, by James Davenport Griffith. The same editor published from 1 January, 1792, the Cheshire Advertiser, which continued about one year.

The Columbian Informer

Was published by Henry Blake, and Co. from 3 April, 1793, for two years. It was then carried on for four months by William Ward Blake.

The Rising Sun

Was published from 4 August, 1795, till March 1798, by Cornelius Sturtevant, junior, and Co. From that time it was published three months, by Elijah Cooper.

WALPOLE.

The Farmer's Museum or Literary Gazette

Is published at Walpole, ever Monday, by David Carlisle, for Thomas and Thomas. It was till lately edited under the superintendence of Joseph Dennie, the reputed author of the Lay Preacher. Motto.

Hither, ea huc eck, the peasant shall repair

To sweet oblivion of his daily care.

Again the farmers' news; the barber's tale

Again the woodman's ballad shall prevail. Goldsmith.

Vol. 8, 29 December, 1800, whole number 404. This paper was first called the Farmer's Weekly Museum and Newhampshire and Vermont Journal. From February 1799, for one year, it was called the Farmers Museum, or Lay Preacher's Gazette. Its proprietors were first Isaiah Thomas and David Carlisle, secondly Carlisle alone, and then Isaiah Thomas, and now Thomas and Thomas.

HANOVER.

Alden Spooner, now printer at Windsor, in Vermont, is said to have printed the first paper at Hanover.

The Eagle or Dartmouth Centinel

Was published by Josiah Dunham, A.M. from 22 July, 1795, to 23 February, 1795. It was then published from 2 March, 1795, to 30 March, 1795, by John M. Dunham. From 6 April 1795, to 13 March, 1797, it was published by Dunham and True. From 20 March, 1797, to 24 July, 1798, it was published by Benjamin True, under the same name. From that period it was published by True, with the title of the Eagle, but under the superintendence of Moses Fiske, A.M. till the first week in June, 1799, when it was stopped.

The Dartmouth Gazette,

Which commenced, 27 August, 1799, is published every Saturday, on the college plain, by Moses Davis. Motto.

Here range the world, explore the dense and rare

And view all nature in your elbow chair.

Vol. 2, 27 December, 1800, whole number 70.

H A V E R H I L L .

Some years ago Nathanael Coverly published a paper for about six months, at Haverhill. Three or four numbers of a magazine were, two or three years since, published by Moseley Dunham, at the same place.

In 1799, the prospectus of a paper, which was to have been published at Charleston, was issued, but the paper was never carried into effect.

The foregoing historiette, in some instances, may perhaps be erroneous. It is however, as correct, as our materials would admit. In collecting data, the writer has been assisted principally by Mr. Charles Peirce, editor and printer of the United States' Oracle of the Day.
