Some Dots About W. T. Collier and Family

My father moved from N.C. in 1808. He thought he had stopped in Alabama (the country had not been surveyed yet) but when the lines were run by the surveyors, he was about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles in Tennessee.

I had 8 brothers and sisters, 5 girls and 3 boys. The oldest sister, Jane, married a man named Walker. The other two older than myself died when small. Those that lived were Jane, Tom, Albert, Ben, Harriett and Elvira. All married but Ben and Elvira. I was sent to school from six to sixteen. My father thought of making a civil engineer of me and if my old teacher had lived, I think he would have succeeded, but he took a drunk and died. I was sent to several teachers but they were not able to teach me in mathematics, so I fell short of my education.

My father went security for one of mother's brothers for $10,000 and had it to pay. That about broke him up. He thought of sending me to Huntsville to the University but was not able, so I had to put up with what I had.

I then went to work with my brother-in-law, Walker, at the carriage business. I worked with him a year, but didn't like the work and went to millwrighting.

I built a small mill for my father that did so well that it got my name up as a millwright and I got plenty calls in that line. I went to Wayne Co. and built some mills for two men named Hollis that did well and this still helped.

As a millwright from then on I had more calls than I could attend to, but I was not satisfied with the great waste of water on the water wheel then in use, so I set about a reaction wheel that would economize the water. I worked at it about five years of the best part of my life and finally got my present wheel. I spent five years and a heap of money but I succeeded at last. Now my wheel is in use in nearly all the mills in middle N.C. and I have put up some in Fla. and Ga.

My father and mother died about the same time and age -- 64. Then I went to Lincoln Co., N.C., and put in some of my mills. These pleased the people so I had more calls than I could attend to. They are now used in most of the mills in middle N.C.

One of Betty's cousins worked a good while with me. His name was Wilfong and he had a sister going to school in Ashville, N.C.

He had to go after her at Christmas, and there were more girls that expected to come out with him than could be well seated in the carriage he would have, so I went with him to assist him with my horse and buggy. I saw he was anxious to introduce me to his sister so I went with him. His sister and a young man named Copening were driving my horse and I didn't think he treated the horse right, so I drove him myself. This offended Miss Wilfong and she tried to slight me. Her brother took her in tow about it and she tried to apologise for it but it was no go. I saw she was too high tempered for me so I let her slide.

There came a man from Holly Springs, Miss. He clerked awhile in Newton their Co. seat. He was thought well of by the people and married Miss Wilfong and stopped with her mother 5 or 6 months. He then concluded to put up a store in Newton. Miss Wilfong had $1700 in cash, he took that and borrowed all he could and started for Charleston for his goods, but forgot to come back. You may think this irrelevent to the subject but I had a purpose for it. This put the Dutch there on the lookout for strangers so I had to show who I was and what I was before I stood high with the girls. This young Wilfong had been working for me a year or two and had brought me letters from my people from the post office. I opened them in his presence and let him read them. That satisfied him I was all right. He took some of the letters home and showed to the people. That satisfied them I was not a humbug (as Evans was that married his sister).

The first time I saw Betty she was with a negro woman making good time after a chicken. She saw me and dodged in a bunch of weeds and stayed hidden till I left. Andy Ramsour was with me and told me who she was and what she was. He said she was called the prettiest girl in the county and had been raised right.

That was in the spring of the year, sometime that summer Wilfong introduced me to her at a prayer meeting at one of her uncles. I walked to the house about 100 yds. I rode with her several times to preaching and finally we were married on April 5, 1849.

After we were married I put in several wheels in neighborhoods near and finally got that big Old Fort job. On that job I cleared about $1200.

About that time I was taken with a bad cough and Dr. Butt advised me to go to Fla. He wanted me to look at his mill at Cedar Keys. I went to the mill but I saw Dr. McIlvaine knew it all, so I said nothing.

The first mill I built in Fla. was for Alexander Andrews -- a grist mill. The next was for John Smith, a saw mill. I then built several more mills and finally one for Col. Gibson. He was pleased with it and he proposed to sell me half his steam mill. I told him I had not money enough to pay for the mill, he said he didn't want any money, but proposed to sell me half the mill and fixtures for $1000 and take it in the first lumber that was sawed. Betty's father advised not to take it as it was a risky business, but I knew what I was doing. I took half the mill. Col. Gibson had run the mill for two years and sunk money on it, so he was anxious to get me into it. I went to work. In three months I had sawed enough lumber for my part to pay him, then half of the mill and teams was mine and paid for. The bargain was I was to control the whole affair, he to have nothing to say about the mill. His sawyer that he had before I took hold, cut a great many crooked lines and a big pile of half priced lumber, that for all rough purposes they would go to the half price pile. I was selling but little good lumber. I stopped the mill and set all hands to taking off this bad lumber and burning it. Col. Gibson drove up. "Collier what in the hell are you doing?"

I said, "What is the bargain with us? I thought I was to manage this affair."

"Well, go on and you will see what you will come to."

I didn't see Col. Gibson again for a week. I cleared after Col. Gibson was paid, $2000. I moved the mill next year about a mile. Sometime in the fall Col. Gibson said, "There is no use of cutting up this timber and letting it rot on the ground. I think we had best shut down."

He proposed to make a give or take proposal to me. He said, "You may set the price and I will say what I will do, or I will set the price and you can say what you will do."

I told him to set the price. He went home and said he had put it at $3,200 for everything -- books, lumber, mill and everything belonging to the mill. I said he might take it, so he gave a cheque for the money and I went home.

I had 400 acres of pine land near Quincy, Gadson Co. The gale had blown-down the most of the timber on my land and it was rotting on the ground. I went to New York and bought an engine and mill. That year I sold $6,600 worth of lumber and my expenses were $2,200.

I then sold the mill and fixtures to Dr. Lipford and put in operation for $3,000. I then went to Clearwater Harbor and bought Old Ft. Harrison property. I also bought a negro man and about 100 head of cattle.. I was doing well but the war came and I could not stay there. I went to Hernando Co. and got Betty's father to look after my folks, and I joined the army. I was under Bragg all through that Kentucky Campaign but did not get in a pitched battle in the whole war. I was in several skirmishes but not in a regular fight.

I was a Lieut. and in every fight I was detailed to guard a wagon train or bridge or something.

John Darby and I bought a steam mill on the Suwannee River for $4,000. I went there and paid for it and afterwards sold out to Darby for cost. I then bought half of a steam mill on Hatchet Creek near Gainesville and this is about what I owned when the war ended.

It was soon burned down and I had nothing. A company made up money to build a big mill near Palatka. I went to New York and bought a mill and engine. I got a situation on the St. Johns River and put up a fine mill. It did well. I had two hands that were not good hands at the mill and they wanted to quit the mill, so I went to Savannah, Ga., to get some good hands in their place. I saw a man and he told me there were some good hands at a mill that were not satisfied with the place they were at and if I would come there about sundown they would come that way and I could see them. I went to the place appointed and saw the man sitting on a log. We sat there till it began to get dark. He said the men must have gone some other way.

We started up town and passing near the corner of a plank fence someone struck me with something that struck me down and the next thing I knew I was in the hold of a vessel. How long I was in the vessel I cannot say -- some two or three days, I think. If the man I first saw was with them I did not see him. They finally put me off on a small island -- one of the Bahamas I afterwards learned. They got from me about $100 in cash, a fine watch and gold pencil, the whole worth about $200. They had not got out of sight when a vessel hove in sight which proved to be a bark bound to Vera Cruz. I made signs to them, they hove to and took me on board. They treated me very kindly.

There was a small schooner going to Galveston when we got to Vera Cruz and the captain of the bark got them to take me to Galveston. The crew of the bark gave me a few dollars. When I got to Galveston, I found no work I could do in my line of business, but was told I could get work at Houston. I went to work in a railroad shop and got $3.00 a day. I wrote home as soon as I got to Houston and told them that I would be home as soon as I could.

When I got home I found the mill badly run down. I straightened it up and sawed some lumber, built the schooner R. E. Lee and went to Smyrna on the Mosquito River. W. D. Collier will tell the rest.
