1956

Hoofbeat

1956 EDITION

Dedication

Through the past six years of Meeteetse High School, two people have left a lasting imprint on the minds and hearts of many Meeteetse students. These two people- teachers, friends and guides- have given much of their time and effort to all of us and to the community as well.

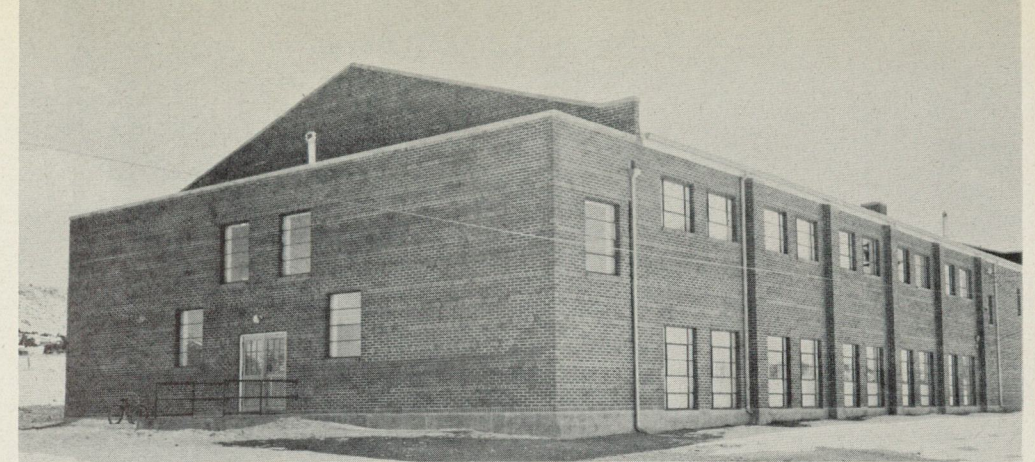

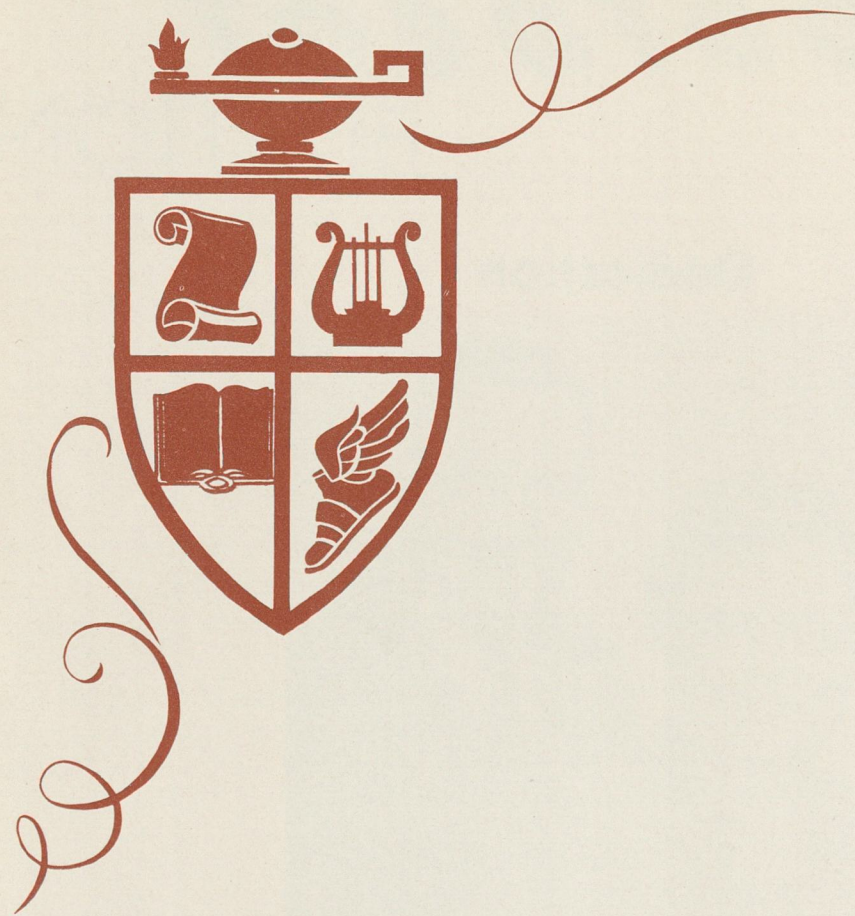

With a sincere feeling of appreciation for all they have done, and with best wishes for continued prosperity, success and happiness for them wherever they go- we, the staff of the 1955-56 Hoofbeat, dedicate this annual to MR. WALDEN H. GEORGE, and his wife, MRS. ARVA M. GEORGE.

Foreword

If in the future this yearbook brings back happy memories of many hours spent in M.H.S., the work of the annual staff has been well worthwhile. We hope you will treasure this yearbook always.

When School started this year there were fifteen students enrolled in the Junior class. Since then our enrollment has dropped to only eleven.

During the first semester the Junior class put on their play "Quit Your Kidding," which was a great success.

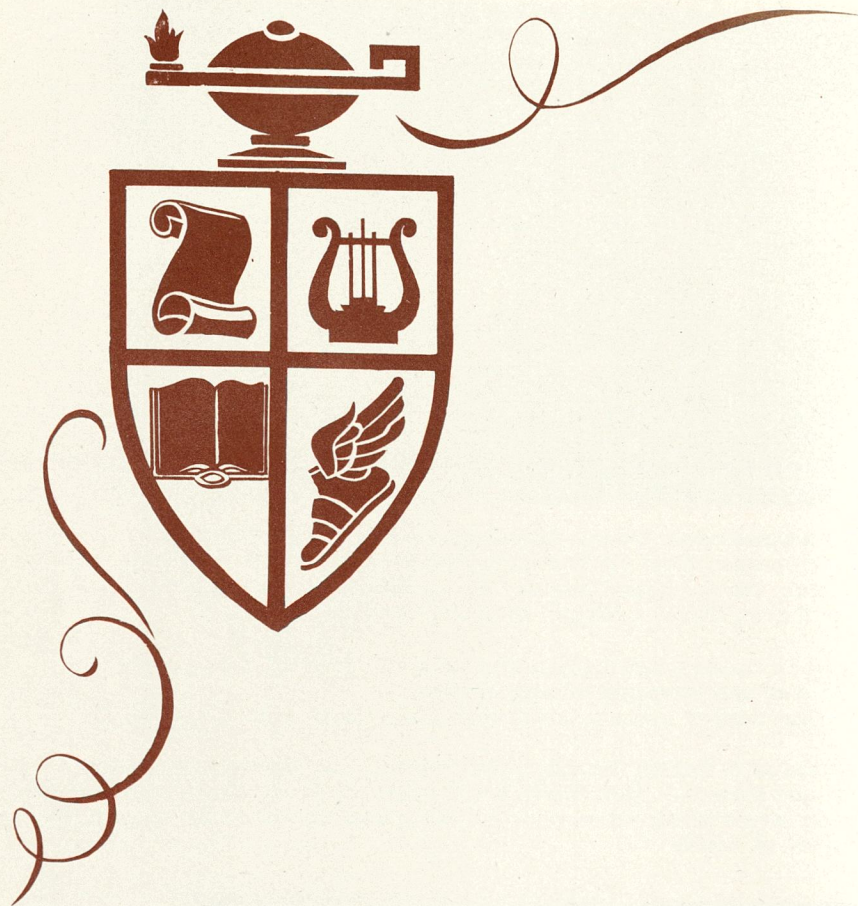

On April 6 we put on the Junior & Senior Banquet and Prom. The theme which was carried out was "Moon Light and Roses." Don Kindler's Orchestra from Cody provided the music. Jess Black and Serena Armstrong were crowned King and Queen of the Prom, and Serena was presented a bouquet of roses.

This year the membership in Pep Club started out at 21, but dropped to 16 by spring. The girls in Pep Club supported all home games in football and basketball and planned all of the Pep Assemblies. On Oct. 28, in conjunction with the M Club, they sponsored Homecoming festivities including adroll at the Homecoming game as well as the ceremony to crown the Homecoming King, Lon Hovey, and the Homecoming Queen, Serena Armstrong. That evening they sponsored a public dance.

The girls made new skirts this year of red and white and bought white blouses to complete their uniforms.

On Class Night, May 3, 12 girls received letters, earned during the year by regular attendance at all home games, in uniform, and by active participation in all Pep Club activities.

PLAY*

"Shucks! That otterman ain't got no business settin' where hit sets."

On November 17, 1955, the Junior class presented the three act play "QUIT YOUR KIDDING," by Felicia Metcalfe.

In this play, Miss Sophronia Buford, the rich aunt, writes that she plans to visit Mrs. Buford, her two daughters and her son, "Winnie." In her letter she hints that if all goes well, she will give each of the girls $5,000 apiece, but since she believes that Winnie is also a girl, and since she states that she dislikes boys very much, Winnie realizes that he is out of luck. In order to get his share of the money, he decides to dress as a girl.

While the Aunt is visiting the family, many things happen. Aunt Sophronia's bed falls down, distracting noises are heard, and eventually; after having fallen over the hassock--which has been such an obstacle to Camilla, the maid---Aunt Sophronia is taken to the hospital. At the same time, Winnie, dressed as a girl is the center of many amusing incidents. During Aunt Sophronia's stay at the hospital, she receives so much kind attention from the men and boys in the cast that she has a change of heart toward the male sex and boys in general. At the climax, Winnie takes off his blonde wig to assure her that he is a boy and is entitled to the $25,000 which she said she would like to give to a boy in the family, had there been one.

Cast of characters:

Wilbur Maxwell - Thirteen, full of life and action. is a pocket sized version of the atomic bomb. Small for his age.-Bobby Griffin.

Nina Quigley - Thirteen. She too, is very cute and sweet, and is the bright spot in Hercules' usually balckened eye.-Barbara Blankenbaker.

Frankie Nelson - Celeste's little sister, about eleven. Is really a live-wire, and her main love is mystery stories. She usually has an answer for everything, and is really quick with a repartee.-Anna Jensen.

Aunt Mary - Hercules' aunt; about thirty-five. She's the one stabilizing factor in the whole household. Is very sensible, sympathetic, and understanding.-Deanna Osborne.

Uncle Bob-- About forty or so. Although he's a mortician, he's jovial, loves his family and loves a good joke as well as anyone.-Lon Hovey.

Granny - Is about 75, Uncle Bob's grandmother. She's really a "ball of fire," is full of life, is always cracking jokes, is quite a hep cat.-Serena Armstrong.

Mr. Quigley - Over 75. He, too, is quite a hep cat, and is more concerned about this than the attempt that has been made on his life. Is very agile, and spends most of the play trotting around on the stage in a red nightshirt.-Roger Slack.

Dr. Brown - He's an immaculate dresser and has a nice appearance, which nicely matches his winning smile and cordial disposition.-Robert Bennion.

Madeline - Mr. Quigley's sister. She's austere, and has very penetrating eyes. Is middle-aged, and gives one the impression that she's never smiled.-Pat Jensen.

Harry Schuster - Lawyer, friend of Madeline. He's suspicious-looking, and is nervous, flighty, fidgety, and is incessantly scratching the corner of his mustache.-Eddie Higbie.

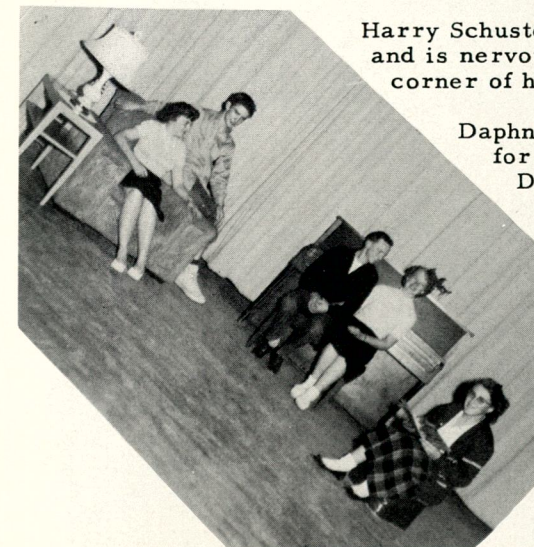

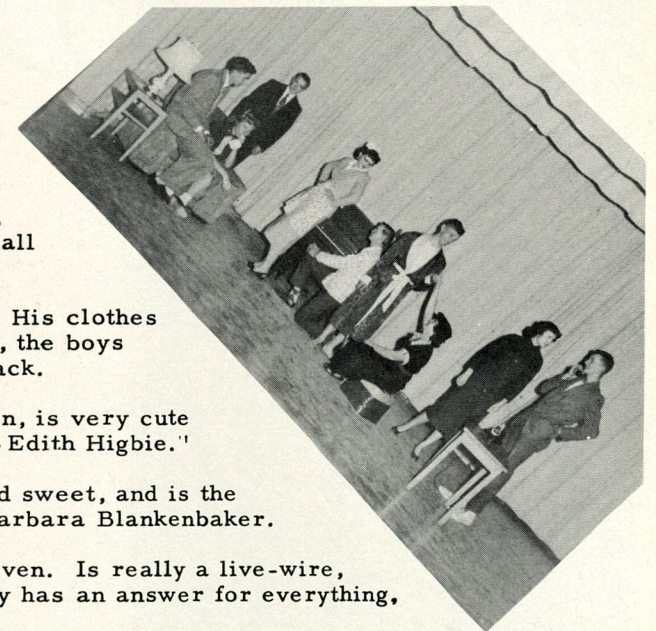

Daphne - The maid. Is probably about 50, but no one knows for sure. Is very quiet, and always has a forlorn look. Dresses 1910ish from hat to shoes.-Edna Sell.

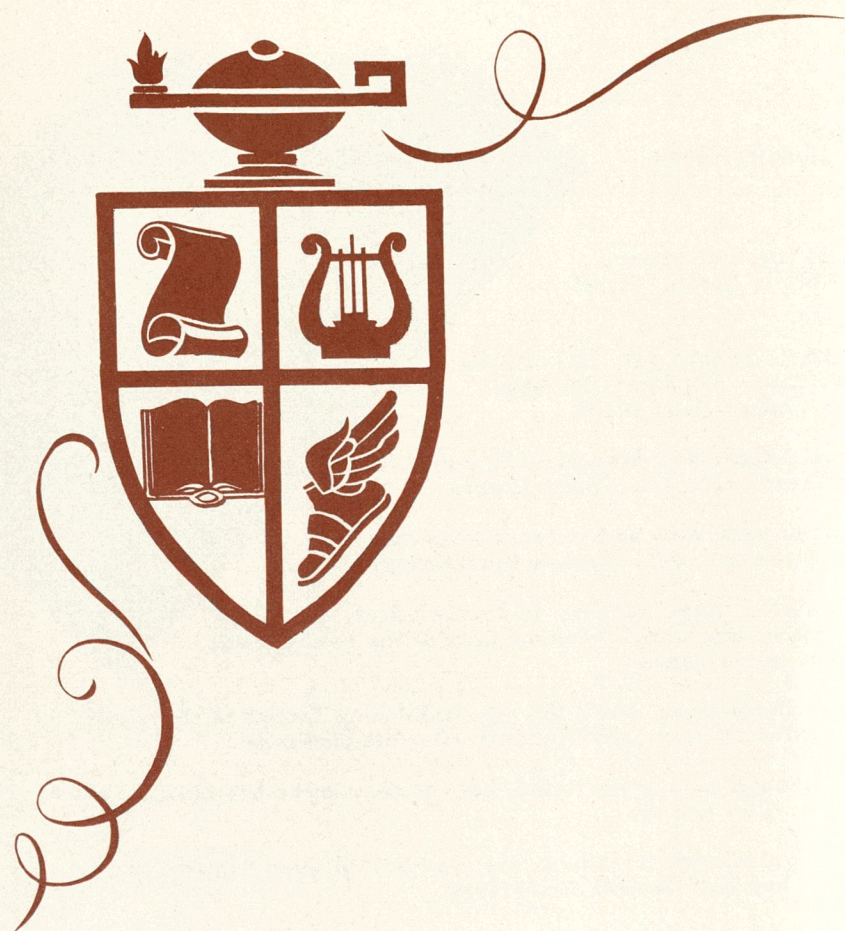

Claude - The caretaker. Is about 60. Is friendly, loves to talk and joke, and is always talking with a high-pitched but slow drawl.-Oscar Christopherson.

Henry - Claude's Helper.-Barney Roussan.
